KUID To Start Monday

KUID - FM University radio station, will, "with luck," begin operations next Monday, Gordon Law, head of the Department of Communications, said yesterday.

The radio station was scheduled to begin broadcasting yesterday, but installation of antenna parts on the roof was held up by bad weather, he said. No one "would want to crawl around on a roof" in this weather, he said.

Work on the roof "should be finished today," he said.

As soon as the work is completed, "we're ready to go — the programming is ready," he said. Crockett Supervises Programming Programming for KUID-FM is being done by Radio-TV students in the program planning class under the direction of James R. Crockett, Radio-TV instructor, Law said.

A daily plan which will be followed on a weekly basis includes: 6 p.m., on the air with Easy Listening, a music program; 6:45, news and sports; 7 p.m., variety shows; 7:30, music, including choral, jazz and blues; 8:15, special interest shows including topics such as literature, poetry, University news and a report from the staff; 8:30, Musical Masterworks and Radio Theater; 9:55, news; 10 p.m. sign off.

Broadcasts Four Hours

KUID will be on the air from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Several faculty members, including Carlton L. Iiams, assistant professor of languages; Louis B. Hall, assistant professor of English; and Floyd C. Tolleson, assistant professor of English, will have their own programs, Law said.

The call letters, KUID, stand for K-University, IDaho, he said. Five choices of call letters were submitted to the Federal Communications Commission, but the first choice, KTRS, had already been assigned to a ship radio. Other choices submitted were KERS, K-Edication, Research, Service; KDRT, K-Donald R. Theophilus; and KUBR, K-University Board of Regents.

Idaho Places In U. Debate

The University of Idaho was edged for the 27th annual Inland Empire Debate tournament trophy by Washington State University in a tie-breaking sixth-round Saturday.

Whitman College of Walla Walla was third among the 11 Idaho, Washington and Montana schools which sent 35 teams. Gonzaga University, last year's winner, did not compete this year.

Idaho and WSU had undefeated teams after the regular five rounds of debate. University debaters Rick Beebe and Jack Patrick paired against the WSU team and the Idaho team lost.

The two-day tournament consisted of 85 debates judged by visiting faculty, University faculty and former University debaters. Each team debated the affirmative and negative position of the questions: "Resolved: that Non-Communist Nations Should Form an Economic Community."

The Oregon - style cross-questioning system of debate was used. Each debater was given the opportunity to ask and answer questions.

No Campus Chest Carnival This Year

Campus Chest will be changed somewhat this year with the usual carnival being replaced with a stag dance; the reason for the replacement was lack of interest according to Bob Howard, publicity chairman for the event.

The dance will be Saturday evening, Feb. 16, with all proceeds going to charity. There will be entertainment furnished by various living groups throughout the evening.

The annual auction of living group offers of exchanges, work parties, etc., will be held the afternoon of the 16th. A minimum bid of $15 has been set.

Six Finalists To Compete In Speech Tourney Wed.

Six finalists will compete for prizes in the final speaking program for the students in Speech 51, Fundamentals of Speech, at the University of Idaho. The program, sponsored by the Speech Department, will be held in the Music Building auditorium tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead will moderate the program, introducing each of the speakers who will present 10 minute persuasive speeches on topics of their choice. A group of advanced speech students will evaluate the speeches and speakers and choose a first, second and third place winner.

David's Department Store will award the first place winner a $10 gift certificate, the second place winner a $5 gift certificate, and the third place winner a $2.50 gift certificate.

To appear in the final program the speakers had to be chosen to represent their section of Speech 51 and to be selected from the field of fourteen semi-finalists. Each of the sections not only chose a speaker but also a judge to participate in the semi-final round.

The judges and speakers were divided into three semi-final groups so that no judge was asked to evaluate the speaker from his own speech section. Each of the three groups of judges selected from the speakers in their group two speakers to participate in the final round.

Dr. Whitehead stated that this

Idaho Cow Tops Production Mark

A University of Idaho Holstein cow recently topped a production mark of 150,000 pounds of milk, approximately six times the lifetime output of the average U. S. dairy cow.

Idaho Tritomia Violet 2623032 (EX) now has a lifetime production record of 161,823 pounds of milk and 5,435 pounds of butterfat in the official testing programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Her production to date has averaged nearly 300 pounds of milk daily since she was two years old.

A raffle is also planned for the event with tickets being sold at 25 cents each.

Pat Killien has been selected as chairman of the event by the Activities Council. Most of the proceeds will be given to Idaho charities, with the remaining going to national fund drives.

Class Petition Goes To Exec Board Wed.

Alyce Joy Taylor, Exec Board member, will submit the petition to eliminate class officers from the ASUI constitution to the Exec Board Wednesday night, Bob Hahn, instigator of the petition, said yesterday.

Hahn said he hopes to get 500 signatures on the petition before the E-Board meeting. It now has over 480.

The petition is being submitted to E-Board "as a formality," Hahn said, "to let the elected officials know what is going on."

No action has to be taken by the E-Board. The ASUI Constitution stipulates only that an amendment to the constitution must be initiated by either a two-thirds vote of the ASUI Executive Board or by a petition bearing the signatures of at least ten per cent of the student body.

Area Director Interview Slated

Interviews for a sixth Activities Council area director will be held in the Executive Board of the Student Union Building Thursday, according to ASUI Vice President Bill Bowes. They will begin at 7 p.m.

The directorship, created by a revision of the council's structure, will deal with Student Union Building public relations, committee personnel recruitment and similar duties.

Cafeteria Plans Move Before Spring

Hot meals from the Student Union Building kitchen will end April 6, the weekend prior to Spring vacation, when workmen move into the SUB bucket area to remodel.

Dean Vetrus, SUB food service director, hopes that the cafeteria crew can serve "light" lunches in the new SUB addition, but plans for sandwiches and coffee haven't been worked out yet.

When the cafeteria crew temporarily moves out of the present Student Union, the old section will be completely vacant for the builders.

Charles Decker, dean of students, said that exact moving dates are not known because moving will be done "to stay ahead of the workers." A tentative schedule has the bookstore moving in early March to temporary quarters in the new billiards room in the basement of the new addition next to the bowling alleys.

The new ballroom on the second floor of the new addition will be ready for occupancy when Louis Armstrong and his band visits the Idaho campus Feb. 15.

Some time between Armstrong's visit and April 6, the bookstore and banquet facilities will be moved to the new SUB. Vetrus said that he planned to serve banquets in the new addition from the present kitchen facilities. Workers will be remodeling the old ballroom, so ban-

Introduction Of ISC Bill Will Be Soon

BOISE — The chairman of the Senate Education Committee said yesterday that legislation to change the name of Idaho State College to Idaho State University will be introduced in a few days.

Sen. Dick Smith, R-Madison, said the measure will be introduced in the Senate first this year. Two years ago a similar bill was introduced in the House, passed there, then bogged down in political skirmishing in the Senate where it was defeated.

The change has been endorsed by both political parties, Gov. Robert E. Smylie, and University President Dr. D. R. Theophilus. Smith said that it might run into some opposition though.

The measure in addition to changing the name will make some changes in procedure to permit broadening of the curriculum, Smith said.

Gem Pictures Deadline Set

Students must have any pictures taken that they wish to be used in the "Gem of the Mountains" yearbook by Feb. 1, Warren Reynolds, editor, said yesterday.

No oversize or undersize pictures will be used, and the pictures must be taken at Rudy's or Hutchison's or be of comparable quality, he continued. Three by four inches is the acceptable size, he said.

One hundred pages of duo-tones, color work and general pages will be taken to Caxton Printers in Caldwell Jan. 27, he said. There will be a total of 376 pages in the "Gem" this year.

Reynolds said that the colored work, historical sections and layout are on schedule, but that the first shipment is slightly behind schedule.

There will be a special section in the "Gem" featuring the new Student Union Building addition, he said, which will include three or four colored pictures.

Legislators Tour U-I, Discuss '63 Budget

Members of the joint Appropriations-Finance Committee of the Idaho Legislature are touring the University of Idaho campus this morning to view and discuss the school's needs and budget requests.

Stopping at the University during a trip to all of Idaho's state-supported medical and educational institutions, the legislators were feted at a banquet of University and Moscow Chamber of Commerce officials last night. This morning they had breakfast with members of the ASUI Executive Board.

Class Office Need Sought Last Night

Class officers exist primarily to carry out various class projects, but a lack of opportunity exists for undertaking the projects, the officers commented during a meeting with members of the ASUI Executive Board last night.

Much of the discussion dealt with suggestions of ways to "attack" a petition seeking to abolish class offices from the ASUI Constitution. This week the petition received enough students' signatures to place it on the ASUI election ballot March 2.

Thirteen of the 16 class officers, ASUI President Ron Houghtain, Vice President Bill Bowes and six other members of the board attended the meeting, which was called, according to presiding Exec Board member John Ferris, "to find some purpose for class officers."

"All Wrong" Referring to Ferris' statement, Junior Class President Jim Olson said he felt "you're tackling this problem all wrong. We won't accomplish anything if we, as class officers, have to find a purpose." Instead, he said, the other class members should find reasons for the officers' continued existence.

Warning the officers that because of the petition, "you... will be faced this spring with a campaign to justify yourselves," Exec Board member Fred Warren suggested that the officers go on a visitation program to living groups to explain some of the things that make the class offices worthwhile.

"E-Board had a program to visit living groups, too — and I wonder what happened to their idea?" Junior Class Vice President Gene Harder remarked.

Hard To Schedule Exec Board member Cliff Eldred replied that the board had been visiting houses, but that it was difficult to find dates on which living groups could schedule the visitations.

Ferris asked for further ideas on how "you feel we should attack the petition," and Freshman Class Vice President Tom Bates suggested that a move be made to bring the petition supporters into the open. No action was taken on the proposal.

The officers' two purposes, Bowes, said, are to unify the class and take on various projects. He added that he would like to see the officers exist to accept any projects that come up, but that this probably isn't enough to justify their existence.

No Opportunity Senior Class President Ron Kuhl commented that the biggest problem was a lack of opportunity to handle something, and that the opportunity just wasn't there.

Exec Board member Carvel Whiting replied that the opportunity exists and that there are "all kinds of things" for the officers to do.

Houghtain agreed, commenting that "you have overlooked the fact that you are included in the ASUI structure." The class presidents are ex-officio members of Exec Board, he pointed out, and added that although there are numerous things for the officers to do, the first thing they should do is to determine why they are supposed to exist.

Foundation Gives Research Money

The National Science Foundation has announced the awarding of a $24,900 grant to the University of Idaho for work toward the development of a new research tool which may allow scientists to follow the course of rapid chemical reactions.

The award was made for research under the direction of Dr. M. L. Jackson, head of the Chemical Engineering Department, and G. E. Lightner, chemical engineering instructor.

"Many chemical reactions, even those employed commercially, are not fully understood and take intermediate paths about which little is known," said Dr. Jackson. "This is because the life of intermediate products may be very short, of say 1-1000th of a second."

The new instrument is called a rapid scanning spectrophotometer and employs a television camera

as part of the detecting equipment. The data from the scanning circuits are complex, and will be interpreted by analog and digital computers.

"By means of this type of equipment we hope to follow rapid chemical reactions such as those occurring when a photographic flash bulb is discharged or when the fuels of a rocket motor burn. It would have application to many types of chemical reactions. It is hoped to explain better the mechanisms which occur and ultimately to be able to better design chemically reacting systems," said Dr. Jackson.

The project will last for two years. Some work has already been completed and equipment assembled. Certain disclosures have been filed which are expected to result in the issuance of several patents.

New Formal Concert Dress To Be Used By Band, Choir

Formal concert dress, acquired last fall by the Music Department, will be used for the first time Sunday when the University of Idaho band and brass choir make their first appearance of the 1963 concert season.

The brass choir, conducted by Phillip Coffman, assistant conductor, appearing in its first public concert in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Four brief pieces from 16th and 17th century brass literature, performed by the brass choir, will open the concert at 4 p.m. The concert band, under the baton of Warren Bellis, will continue the program with a wide variety of music. Feature work of the concert will be the seldom-heard Ballet Music from "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" by Richard Rodgers. Soloist will be Travers Huff, a sophomore music major.

The 75-member concert band will present a variety of music ranging from the European march, "French National Defile," by Turllet-Seredy, to a contemporary work, "Divertimento for Band," by the American composer Vincent Persichetti.

The program will close with the monumental "Finlandia" by Jan Sibelius and a march, "Thunder and Blazes" by Fucik.

Any 'Nuts' Volunteer?

What would be the reaction if, say, a fellow were to stand up in front of a microphone in the Bucket of the SUB some afternoon, and for no particular reason begin giving his opinion on anything he happened to feel like talking about?

"Who's that nut?" someone would mutter to a friend, and everyone else in the place would sort of wonder the same thing.

In Executive Board last Tuesday, it was suggested that Idaho try something similar to Washington State University's successful Friday afternoon Popcorn Forum, during which a microphone is set up in the student union and anyone is allowed to say anything about any topic—criticism of the school administration, some unorthodox political philosophy or anything else. Reaction has varied from applause to serious discussion to angry debate.

If it wouldn't work at Idaho, though.

Quite a bit of the U of I personality is made up of conservatism and conformity, and nobody's about to be enough of an "oddball" to get up and begin speaking his mind, especially about anything offbeat.

Maybe A Few Wisecracks

But what if a student were to get up to speak? From his audience of SUB coffee sippers he might hear a few snickers and a couple of wisecracking comments on his mental stability. Probably not much else, though.

There are other means for a student to express his opinion. He can take his views before Executive Board, but there are plenty of topics about which it doesn't have the time or the business to concern itself. He can write a letter to the Argonaut, but a newspaper must limit the length of the letters it receives, and it provides no opportunity for free, immediate debate.

On a campus where you can't sneeze without first organizing a committee to study the sneeze's ramifications and possible results, it would be nice to be able to get up in front of a group of people and tell them whatever you feel like in an unrehearsed, unorganized, unscheduled, impromptu manner. Nobody in particular would be expected to attend and nobody would care if you were student body president or someone opposed to all student government.

Too bad it wouldn't work out.

Private Pilot Ground School Will Be Conducted By Kooi

A private pilot ground school degree in military science will be conducted by the University of Idaho Division of Adult Education Feb. 12 to May 28, Dr. Raymond Kooi, director, announced.

All persons who wish a private pilot's license are eligible to take the course. Classroom is designed to present comprehensive background material for all subjects covered in the FAA Private Pilot written examination.

Capt. John J. McFaul, Jr., USAF, will be the instructor. He holds the bachelor of science degree in military science from West Point; was graduated from the Squadron Office School of the Air University, and has taught the private pilot ground school course at the University. Capt. McFaul holds the rating of senior pilot in the Air Force.

Fee for the 15-week course, which meets from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays, is $40 per student. Students may register in person or by mail at the University Adult Education Office. Enrollment will be limited to 20 students.

Dr. Borning Discusses Cause Of Communists' Dispute

By BILL MARTIN
Argonaut Staff Writer

Red China's desire to become the leader of the Communist bloc is the most important cause for the growing dispute between Russia and Red China, Dr. Bernard C. Borning, professor and chairman of political science, said in a recent interview.

Although Red China is definitely making a drive for power, any predictions at this time that the USSR and Red China are about to blow apart would have to be described as "wishful thinking," Dr. Borning added.

Hopes For Prestige Gain

By criticizing the USSR's policies, he said, Red China hopes to gain prestige among the other nations of the Communist bloc.

"The conflict is presented to the public in ideological form," said Dr. Borning. "Words that are used in public are polite, but I will bet the fur really flies behind closed doors."

Red China has publicly accused the USSR of compromising traditional Marxist doctrine, he said, which favors the inevitability of war with capitalist nations. The Red Chinese have criticized the USSR for following a "revisionist" doctrine, which favors co-existence with capitalist nations, said Dr. Borning.

A recent event in which Red China publicly criticized the USSR's policies was the USSR withdrawal of her forces from Cuba. Red Chinese leaders have openly said that they felt the USSR should not have yielded so easily to U.S. demands, he said.

Another incident which implies Red China's ambition, said Dr. Borning, was her movement into Indian territory. This placed the USSR in the uncomfortable diplomatic position of being an ally of Red China, while at the same time, trying to establish friendly relations with India.

Growing Independence

The growing independence of Red China may be leading the USSR to withdraw much of her technological aid to Red China, said Dr. Borning.

This "cutting of the apron string" indicates that the USSR is aware of Red China's ambitious plan, Dr. Borning commented.

Dipper, Stereo-Room Hours Tentative; May Be Changed

Tentative hours have been established for the opening and closing of the dipper, but they may be changed at the students' request, Mrs. Richard Farnsworth, ASUI Assistant General Manager, said yesterday.

In an interview she said, that a great many "rediculous rumors" have been rife about the hours and other management aspects, such as the lights in the dipper may not be dimmed because the Dean of Women prohibited it.

This, Mrs. Farnsworth said, was not true, and that the Union was for the students' use and they may have access to it whenever they wish.

She added that the actual move had been made into the new addition approximately two weeks before it was ready and that some problems had developed because a maintenance and cleaning schedule had not been established and that there were not receptacles in all areas for paper cups, etc.

The tentative hours for the Dipper are from noon until closing hours. The stereo-listening room will be open the following hours: weekdays, 12:30-5 p.m. and 6:45-10 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, noon-5 p.m. and 7 p.m.-midnight; and Sunday, 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

A staff member must be in the stereo room to operate the equipment when the room is open but this is not the case with the Dipper.

Mrs. Farnsworth encouraged students to make known their comments and opinions on the hours and management of the new Union and emphasized that changes can be made.

Ed. Adds Course Of Foreign Tour

An educational travel tour has been added to the education course work, Dr. Francis Maib, professor of education, said.

"The International Educational Scene," education X73 and X173, will allow travel tours anywhere in the world, she said.

This year's tour group will visit Europe, leaving June 18. England, Holland, Germany, Denmark.

Tour costs, about $1100, may be partially defrayed by work in different countries. Those interested in either the study tour or the work program should contact Dr. Maib.

Where To?

Over $42,000. That's a lot of money. That is what is taken each year from student fees to build, maintain, improve and run the Student Union.

It seems not unreasonable to ask that students should have a voice in directing how this money be spent. And even less unreasonable to ask that they have some say in how the building that was built with their money for their use almost exclusively is run.

The article on this page may dispel some rumors about the management of the addition of the Student Union which have been especially critical.

Such items as the selection of records for the stereo listening room and the hours the Dipper and the listening room should be open should be made by students or at least with their advice. They are after all, the ones who will be using the facilities and who will be forced to follow the regulations. One wonders how far it will go.

The fact remains that decisions about opening and closing hours were made without first consulting students. Granted that the channels are open to change them now if it is desired but this would not be necessary if they were consulted first.

The ASUI officers who are concerned with this and the Activities Council are generally mature, intelligent students who have been here for three or four years and know a great deal about the activities evolving around the SUB. That's why they were elected or selected in the first place. That's why an Activities Council was formed originally.

Many of these students are supposed to be members of a Student Union Board which has faculty members in its memberships. Their purpose is to consider problems and aspects of running the SUB such as the hours the Dipper should be open. Over the last few years a trend seems to be developing; minutes are no longer taken; and students are no longer invited.

What is it leading to?

E. K. Lindley, Idaho Graduate, Writes Book Concerning Speeches Of Secy. Dean Rusk

The newest book produced by a University of Idaho graduate is "The Winds of Freedom—Selections from the Speeches and Statements of Secretary of State Dean Rusk."

The book, published by Beacon Press, is edited by Ernest K. Lindley, special assistant to the secretary.

Son of the late Ernest H. Lindley, who was president of the University of Idaho from 1917 to 1920, Ernest K. Lindley was editor in 1919 and 1920 of the Argonaut, student newspaper. He went on to become a Washington correspondent for more than 28 years.

He holds the Overseas Press Club award for the best interpretation of foreign affairs in the American press, and is the author and co-author of several books, including the first biography of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his introduction to the book on Secretary Rusk, Lindley writes:

"In this book may be found a central philosophy rooted in American history and ideals; analyses of the nature of the world struggle; a set of objectives designed to protect and enhance the security of the United States and all free peoples; a grand strategy for pursuing those objectives; and the application of grand strategy to many concrete problems. The reader may see the relationship of the parts to the whole and that the ultimate goal of American policy is a world-wide victory for freedom."

Shortcourses Will Be Held About Dairies

Four separate one-day University of Idaho dairy shortcourse meetings will be held in southern and southeastern Idaho Jan. 29 through Feb. 1, according to R. H. Ross, head of the Dairy Science Department.

Dates and locations for each one-day shortcourse are: Jerome, Jan. 29; Twin Falls, Jan. 30; Pocatello, Jan. 31, and Rexburg, Feb. 1.

Each day's meeting will cover all aspects of dairy production, including feeding, breeding, mastitis control and the production of quality milk. Each session will also feature a speaker from the American Dairy Association who will talk on the association's promotional program.

Conducting the four daily shortcourses will be R. H. Ross; K. R. Johnson, dairy scientist; and George Cleveland, extension dairyman.

Dear Jason

The recent editorial on "Controversy" in the Argonaut was a confused and misleading statement, as well as a sinister interpretation of academic freedom.

It does not require any courage or integrity today to invite racists, statist, militarists, chauvinists, anti-internationalists, anti-communists, or champions of the HUAC (House Un-American Activities Committee), CIA, FBI, etc., to speak on a campus. These have been flooding the universities for years now. And very few protested openly or vehemently against them around here. They of course have a right to talk. And I, for one, am always curious to know what they have to say.

However, we have been listening too long to these gentlemen. And for the sake of controversy we are entitled to a change, or at least partial change in our academic diet. The real test of academic freedom on the campus today would be to listen to a LBJ, King, a Gus Hall, a pro-Castro Cuban, an East Berliner, a Russian communist, a red Chinese, etc., etc. This, I believe, would be a novel and educating experience in the sense that it would challenge our intellectual processes and throw new light upon our conceptual thinking, as well as test our ability and willingness to examine thoroughly and objectively the problems confronting us today, which constitutes the essence and real purpose of modern higher education.

Academic freedom does not consist of a bland diet or steady exposure to arch-conservative, pseudo-liberalism and endless apologizing for the status quo and its establishment. It is based on continuous, critical self-examination and objective analysis of events and situations. It means breaking through the shackles of racial prejudice and national bigotry, intellectual confusion and mental atrophy, of public hysteria and private hypocrisy.

INFERIORITY CAN BE FUN

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is inferiority feelings. (The first gravest problem is of course, the recent outbreak of moult among sorority house canaries.) Let us today look into the causes of inferiority feelings and their possible cures. Psychologists divide inferiority feelings into three principal categories: 1. Physical inferiority. 2. Mental inferiority. 3. Financial inferiority.

Vandals Meet Improving Cougars Tonight

The Idaho Vandals, fresh from a two-game series win over the University of Oregon Ducks in Eugene, enter another round of the "Battle of the Palouse" tonight when they tangle with the Washington State Cougars at 8:05 p.m. in a home game at Memorial Gym.

The Vandals hold three previous victories over the Cougars and have already cinched the Palouse title for another year. The frosh squads from the two schools will play the preliminary tilt.

Idaho's pair of wins over the Ducks pushed the Vandals' mark to 10-2 for the season. Coach Joe Cipriano's club has yet to lose with center Gus Johnson in the lineup.

Johnson made his presence felt in the Eugene series. The 6-6 pivot man scored 36 points in the two games. Friday night, Johnson's defense and scoring and the clutch foul shooting of reserve forward Chuck Kozak led the Vandals to a 62-61 win in an overtime contest.

Johnson led all scorers with 20 points and was tough defensively underneath. Kozak sank a pair of gifters in the overtime to win it for Idaho, and then came back seconds later to ice it with two more charity shots.

The game was tough and go all the way. Idaho held a 25-20 lead at halftime, but the Ducks battled back to tie up the game with seconds left. Oregon center Glen Moore missed two free throws in the final seconds with the score 58-58 to send the game into overtime.

Foul Shots Hurt

In the extra period, Oregon at one time had a five point lead, but inability to hit from the line once again cost the Ducks as Idaho fought back to take the lead on Kozak's shooting.

Saturday's contest was a different story, as the Vandals jumped into an early lead and went on to dump Oregon 81-58. The hot-shooting Idaho team shot 45 per cent from the field and had a commanding 34-20 lead at intermission.

The Ducks' shooting warmed up in the second half, but Idaho continued to out-shoot coach Steve Belko's team. Oregon finished with 37 per cent for the evening.

Johnson scored 16 points and fed Chuck White time after time for easy shots. White led the Vandals with 19 points while Steve Jones had 18 for Oregon.

Could Be Tight

Even though the Vandals have three wins over tonight's foe, the game could be tough. Idaho was hard pressed to down the Cougars 75-67 in their last meeting. In addition, WSU snapped a losing streak with a 80-65 win over Montana State Saturday night. MSC beat a highly regarded Seattle U. team last week.

Friling A Star As Skiers Take Third

The University of Washington picked up victories in both Alpine events and captured the top spot in the Idaho Invitational Ski meet here Sunday.

The Huskies won the slalom on Saturday and the downhill on Sunday to edge Montana State College, 358.7 to 380. Idaho finished third on the strength of a team victory in the jumping.

The University of British Columbia was fourth and Montana State University, which entered teams in the Slalom and downhill only, was fifth.

Friling Receives Award

Arnie Friling of Idaho received the skimeister award, which goes to the man compiling the highest number of points in all four events.

In Sunday's action, Washington won the downhill, but the individual first went to Mike Buckley of Montana State U. with a time of 92.6. Jack Morbeck of Washington was second with a 93.6, and Dave Turner of British Columbia was third with a 95.4.

Washington's winning team included Morbeck, Sky Records and was second, Montana third, British Columbia fourth, and Idaho fifth.

Bob Trent finished 10, Arnie Friling, 15th, Steve Kimball, 18th and Daver Iverson, 19th.

In the jumping, Idaho nabbed first, followed by Washington, Montana State and British Columbia. Individual honors went to Tom Nord of Washington. Tor Fageraas from Montana State was second and Rolf Prydz of Idaho was third. Arnie Friling took fifth, and Per Jenssen took sixth.

On Saturday, Washington opened up with a win in the Slalom. Mike Teachout of Montana State, however, won the individual first spot. Idaho came in fifth, with Steve Kimble finishing 11th, Bob Trent, 13th, Dave Iverson, 15th, Arnie Friling, 16th, and Erik Friis, 22nd.

Transportation by car will be furnished, he said, but those who attend will be asked to pay $1.50 dues to help defray the gas expenses.

Babes Play WSU Frosh After Taking Road Wins

The University of Idaho frosh ran their record for the 1962-63 season to a 6 win 3 loss record last weekend when they won both of their games.

In taking the two games, the Vandal Babes defeated Lewis and Clark Normal 84-67 Friday night, in Lewiston, and then they turned around and defeated the Whitworth College junior varsity by the same score, 84-67, in Spokane.

Frosh coach Ken Maren said that everyone played a good game, especially Jim McElroy, the 6 foot three inch forward-guard from Seattle. Maren also pointed out that Rod Shinko played a good game Friday night, but due to a sprained ankle, he did not play in the game Saturday night against Whitworth in Spokane.

The next game for the frosh will be tonight when they take on the WSU Couababes. WSU beat the Vandal Babes by four points the last time they played, and Maren said that "the Couababes have had their one win of the season over us, the game Tuesday night should be ours."

Maren also said that the Vandal Babes were "a loggy from the Christmas vacation and considering their superior height, they beat us, but it should be a different story in the coming game."

The next game for the Vandal Babes after the WSU Couababes will be against the Montana State University frosh Jan. 22, in Moscow.

CO-ED SKI MEET

There will be an important meeting of the girls ski team tonight at 6:45 p.m. in the new SUB lobby. ### FOOTBALL — 123 TO 48

In 1927, the University of Idaho football team scored a total of 123 points to its opponents' 48.

The Tekes and the Betas joined the Lambda Chi and Kappa Sigs atop League Two as they won their opening games in the intramural basketball competition. Thursday's action saw the Tekes drop the Sigma Chi 58-43 and the Betas move past the Theta Chi 45-31.

Nason led the Teke scoring with 28 points, which was also high for the night. Leading the Betas to victory was Pearson with 15 points.

Lindley Wins

The leading team in intramurals, Lindley Hall, showed no signs of letting up as they pasted the Campus Club by a 79-19 margin. Ron Pyke led the way with 25 points.

Willis Sweet also won big as they trounced Shoup Hall 76-29. Osborne and Thompson were the high scorers for Willis Sweet as they each canned 16 points.

Chrisman won their opener from Upham Hall 41-31. John Baker and Brent Hart each had 12 for the winners. In the other game Gault Hall defeated TMA by a 37-27 score. Dennis Almqvist led Gault with 17.

The ATO's defeated the Delta Sigs, 4-0 with Ed Exum leading the way with a 201 game and a 526 series. Dave Spores led Lindley Hall to a 4-0 win over the Delts with his 199 game and 504 series.

"A good offensive team can have a cold night. A good defensive team never does"—Coach Joe Cipriano.

Idaho gave Cipriano's theory a good test Friday night, and how.

That the offense went cold is hard to dispute. The Vandals were about as cold as the Idaho campus at 6 in the morning. Cip's club could score but 58 points in the regulation 40 minutes, as compared to their 71.2 average for the season.

However, the Vandals' great defensive ability, coupled with Oregon's inability to hit from the foul line under pressure, saved the day. If Glen Moore had hit either of his two free throws, it would have been all over. In fact, many Idaho rooters would like to run the unlucky Moore for "athlete of the week."

Seriously, however, Friday night showed the value of a good defense, and the value of a coach who is as dedicated to defense as Cipriano is. Any team, no matter how powerful it is defensively and how many great shooters it is blessed with, is bound to have a bad shooting night. When they do, they have something to fall back upon, and if its defense is poor, that team is going to lose, if the caliber to its foe is decent.

This reminds me of an incident that happened in the NCAA Regionals a few winters ago. The University of Oregon was playing one of Utah's high-scoring machines. Darrel Imhoff, star center on Pete Newell's great defensive-minded California team that was to play the winner the next evening, started to leave the game before the first half was over. When asked why he was leaving so early, the California All-American said:

"They (Utah) are going to lose. They aren't shooting well at all and they can't play defense. When you can't hit and don't have a defense to carry you through, you're going to lose." Oregon went on to tear the Redskins apart.

Idaho fans like to rave about Gus Johnson's stuff shot, Rich Porter's long jumper, and Chuck White's moves under the basket. They like to sit at a game and speculate whether or not the Vandals are going to run up 100 points.

When you go to the game tonight, however, watch the Vandals on defense. Watch the way Porter and Lyle Parks harry the opposition's backcourt and the way the whole team is pressing when the Cougars move into forecourt. You may come back with the feeling that defense is Idaho's number-one asset.

It's true that the presence of Johnson in the Vandal lineup now that the Classic is over is one of the reasons that Idaho is once again winning. However, there is another Vandal that has been instrumental in Idaho's five-game win streak. His name is Chuck Kozak.

Kozak got his big chance when Johnson was ruled ineligible for the Portland tournament. Kozak and Jim Scheel were given the nod of trying to fill Johnson's spot.

If anyone felt that Kozak would return to obscurity with the big center's return, they were wrong. Kozak's play has been good ever since the Vandals came back from Portland, and with Jim Scheel once again out of action with an injury, Kozak has been remarkable relief for Chuck White and Tom Whitfield. Friday night, he filled Johnson's role about as well as Cipriano could have hoped for.

With seconds gone in the overtime, Johnson fouled out and Kozak was inserted in the Idaho lineup. With less than a minute left, the young sophomore found himself at the foul line on a one-and-one situation with his team one point down. Kozak made both of them, and seconds later made two more to wrap up the win. You can't ask for a better job than that.

Keep the name of Chuck Kozak in mind. You're liable to hear a lot more of him as the season progresses.

Von Tagen Smashes Pool Record; Finmen Finish Second At Missoula

Idaho's swim team led by the record-smashing performances by Carl Von Tagen and Gary Baker, captured second place in a four-way meet held Saturday afternoon in Missoula, Montana.

Utah State won the meet with a total of 76 points, Idaho trailing with 53. Host Montana State College was third with 44 points, and Idaho State was last with 18.

The Vandals lost to Utah State 52-43, were downed by Montana State 48-47 and swamped Idaho State 66-24. "One more third place would have given us a win over Montana State," commented coach Clarke Mitchell.

Pleased With Results

All in all, Mitchell seemed rather pleased in the Vandals' performance. "I was as pleased as one could be in losing," said the fin boss. "The team swam well."

Once again, inability to score seconds and thirds hurt Idaho's chances to pick up its first win of the year. The Vandals picked up six first places against Utah State, seven against Montana State, and nine against Idaho State.

"Our inability to take second and third in the events cost us the meet," said Mitchell. Idaho got good performances from several finmen, but it wasn't enough.

Breaks Pool Record

Von Tagen and Baker set four new varsity standards between them. Von Tagen set his two new marks in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle races. The sophomore sensation toured the 50 in :22.7 and came back to win the 100 in :51.5. Von Tagen's performance in the 50 freestyle broke the Montana pool record, according to Mitchell.

Baker set a new varsity record in the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:12.1 and smashed the old mark in the 200 butterfly with a 2:20.9 clocking.

Charles Edwards set another new record. Edwards broke the existing standard in the 100 yard backstroke with a :60.0 timing.

Mitchell had words of praise for several other Vandal finmen. "Larry Peterson looked good in the 200 yard freestyle," said the swim coach. Peterson picked up a second in that event.

"Gary Green did a fine job in the 200 yard backstroke," said Mitchell. Green was third.

The other Vandal singled out for praise was Dave Katsilom-ates. Katsilomates did a good job in finishing second in the 200 breaststroke. His time was three tenths of a second the varsity record," commented the Idaho coach.

Next action for the Vandals will be Saturday when they host Eastern Washington State college in a dual meet starting at 2 p.m.

John W. Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm earned $926,097 in 1962. His stable was fourth in earnings.
