Permits To Be Mailed Out

Students registered at the University this semester will be mailed a permit to register for the fall semester during August if they are eligible to continue their schooling.

Students who have been in school for consecutive semesters will not be required to fill out permit applications, according to Registrar F. L. O'Neill.

The permits will be mailed to the permanent address listed on the students' official registration card. Students who have changed their permanent address or have questions regarding their address should call at the Registrar's office at their earliest convenience, O'Neill added.

Students should notify the registrar's office of a change in address before the permits are mailed during August. A $1 fee will be charged for each duplicate copy.

Students who are not eligible to return to the University for the First Semester of 1963-64, as a result of grades earned the Second Semester of this year will receive a letter of disqualification from the Registrar's office.

Students who were interviewed listed some of the reasons why

Forum Begins Mother's Activities

Mother's Day activities this weekend range from a faculty forum to a turtle race to the traditional May Fete. The forum, "The Future of Higher Education in the State of Idaho," is sponsored by Silver Lance, senior men's honorary. It will be presented at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Music Building Recital Hall, Gary Carlson, publicity chairman, said. "It will conclude in plenty of time for the Turtle Derby," he said. Forum panelists are Duane LeTourneau, associate professor of agriculture; Max E. Fletcher, associate professor of economics; Mrs. Frances Maib, professor of education; M. L. Jackson, head of chemical engineering; and Raymond K. Kooi, director of adult education. LeTourneau will moderate the discussion. Audience To Query Each panelist will present a five minute opening talk, then the forum will be open to questions from the audience, Carlson said. Fletcher's opening talk will include the costs of education and the financial benefit to the state from the education of its youth. Mrs. Maib and Jackson will discuss pressures for higher education in Idaho and Kooi will discuss the future of adult education and extension work in Idaho. Turtle Derby Follows The Turtle Derby will follow the forum at 11 a.m. in the Turtle Downs (Phi Delt parking lot). Turtle racing from a central slet to the other rim of a ring will be the major attraction, with sidelights provided by turtle cheering sections, cheerleaders and betting. All receipts will go to the Moscow Opportunity School. Odds will be posted in front of the Phi Delt house daily. Each women's living group turtle trainer was presented with a turtle Sunday and Monday night when Phi Delt serenaded each living group. Banquet Fetes Trainers The serenades will be followed tomorrow with a banquet at 6:30 p.m. for the turtle trainers, according to Larry McBride, Phi Delt. Thursday night the Phi Delt are sponsoring a parade and street dance at 6 p.m. on the Phi Delt corner. Friday night the emphasis switches from turtles to songs at the Song Fest, sponsored by the Spurs. The Song Fest will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. Groups Sing Eight groups will perform in the final competition Friday night. In the women's singles division are Forney, Hays and the Alpha Gams. Men's singles are Willis Sweet and the SAEs. Mixed groups are the Gamma Phis and Fijis, Kappas and Sigma Chis, and Tri Deltas and FarmHouse. Four traveling trophies and four permanent trophies will be awarded to the four top living groups, Sue Solomon, co-chairman, said. Barbara Ware, Kappa, is the other Song Fest co-chairman. Committee members are Sue

Nelson, Gamma Phi, and Linda Nelson, Tri Delta. May Fete Tops Bill The top event Saturday afternoon is the traditional May Fete, which will begin at 2 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. At the May Fete, awards are presented to outstanding students and two honoraries tap new members. Ron Houghtalin, former ASUI president, and Idora Lee-Moore, past AWS president, will lead the processional. Queen's court members are Lynda Knox, maid-of-honor; Myrna Wills, page; Sherry Logan, Kathy Anderson, and Joel and Mark Chavez, attendants, according to Mary Ann Dalton, Mortar Board member. # Profs Donate To Test Oath

More than 100 University professors have pledged money for a court test of the loyalty oath and half of them have consented to be plaintiffs in the action which attorney Louis Racine has said he will file in federal district court today.

Dr. R. A. Postweiler, president of the University chapter of American Association of University Professors (AAUP), declined to reveal the amount of money pledged or the names of the persons who consented to be plaintiffs.

4 Excerpts Of Williams Are Slated

Four student-directed excerpts from Tennessee Williams plays will be presented Thursday and Friday nights in the U-Hut. Curtain time both nights is 7:30 a.m.

Two of the productions will be presented as intimate theater, or theater-in-the-round, and two will be presented in a conventional stage situation, said Dijon Davidson, one of the directors.

Sets and costumes are kept to a minimum, using mostly contemporary costumes. Stage sets are basic, using draperies instead of flats, and no flats or draperies are used for the theater-in-the-round.

The audience will shift from the stage area of the U-Hut to the open arena area for each of the four presentations. While a play is progressing in one area, changes in set properties can be made in the other without requiring intermissions between selections, Miss Davidson said.

Because of the small area, only 75 seats are available. No one will be admitted at the door unless they have made reservations in advance at the U-Hut, she said.

The four student directors are usually drama majors who are doing the direction as part of their coursework and for the practical experience, she said. The studio productions are presented twice each year.

The directors and their plays are: Terry Bolstad with "The Last of My Solid Gold Watches," Dijon Davidson with "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," Nancy Hood with "Lord Bryons' Love Letter," and Joe Basque with "The Rose Tattoo."

TOO MANY DEAD About 78,150 persons died in Hiroshima, Japan, when an atomic bomb fell there.

Student Leaders Attend Conflab

Four University student leaders returned early Saturday morning from a three-day Pacific Students President Association convention at Sun Valley, bringing with them a lot of new ideas concerning the problems and philosophies of student government.

Former ASUI President Ron Houghtalin, ASUI Prexy Bill Frates, ASUI Veep Carvel Whiting, and E-Boarder Mary Lynne Evans attended the annual convention.

Houghtalin, who attended last year's convention, said that he thought it was superior to former conventions and that he thought the Idaho delegation gained a lot more from it than previously. He complimented former Idaho State College President Judi Day for her organization of the convention. He says there may be some hope that the organization "will climb

Postweiler said he didn't want to disclose the prospective plaintiffs until Racine received a list of their names by mail today. 'Sufficient Funds' Available He said the initial action in federal district court would cost "approximately $1,000" and that "they had sufficient funds."

Most of the money was in the form of pledges and little cash had been received, he said. "A few people sent in checks and cash," he added.

A group of 50 Idaho State professors announced a week ago they would challenge the oath. The ISC AAUP chapter voted to give financial support for the court test, which it estimated at about $3,500.

The University AAUP chapter unanimously voted last Wednesday to join the ISC chapter in protesting the oath. The decision stemmed from an executive committee meeting on Monday. Forty-four of the 125 member AAUP group met Wednesday. Another 20 faculty, not AAUP members, also pledged their support.

The AAUP circulated mimeographed forms asking for donations and the names of faculty willing to be named as plaintiffs. Replies were channeled to Herbert A. Berman, professor of law.

35 ISC Students A group of 35 ISC students said Saturday they would distribute posters with containers for collecting money to support a legal test of the oath.

This is not a radical group, one of the group, Sam Lang, an ISC student from Boise, said. "We don't want to picket or accuse people. We will pursue the matter in a rational way, but against the law."

Contact Idaho Student Lang told the Associated Press his group planned to contact students at the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Larkin, Park Village, voiced support for the court test, but so far there has been no organized backing.

Racine has not said what aspects of the oath he plans to contest or who he plans to name as defendant in the suit.

Orchesis And Helldivers To Perform For Mothers

"Tour d' Arts" and "A Night on the Town" will be featured by Orchesis and Helldivers, respectively, during the Mother's Weekend activities. Orchesis, modern dance honorary, will join with pre-orchesis to present a total of 10 selections. Each of the selections features choreography by student members.

Special accompanists are Angelt Sherbonou, pianist, and Linda Werner, drums. The piano has had the strings altered to provide an additional dimension in sound. With the accompanists, Orchesis members will tour the various forms of art through dance. Art forms emphasized include abstract poetry, modern and traditional art and architecture, primitive and recent dance music, poetic satire and sculpture. Choreographers, with their art forms, are Dorce Baldrige, Sculpture; Jeanne Bryer, Music; Anita Cox, No One; Evelyn Taek, Pears; Judy Stickney and Marty McCullen, Architecture; Miss Baldrige and Anita Cox, Little You; and Chet Adkins and Mary Bjstrom, Blue Boy and Pinky.

AC Schedules Interviews For Student-Faculty Groups

Interviews for 10 student-faculty committees and for two Activities Council areas will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the SUB. Activities Council interviews will be held both tomorrow and May 15. Slated for tomorrow are the services area and recreation area committees, with interviews for publicity area, homecoming and cultural-educational committees next Wednesday.

Student-faculty committees seeking student members are the Athletic Board of Control, Borah Foundation, Commencement, Men's and Women's Discipline, Public Events, Recreation, Student-Faculty, Traffic Safety and United Nations, according to Carl Johannessen, Exec Board member.

Between 15 and 20 students are needed for these committees, he said. Interviews for student-faculty committees will be held in the ASUI presidents office. Activities Council interviews will be in the Exec Board room and the new conference room. Interviewing for the services area committees will be Arlene Ulician, services area director. These committees are the campus calendar, hospitality and open house committees. Kris Wales, recreation area director, will interview for the committees of films, indoor recreation and off-campus programs.

ROTC Review

Cadets Begin Morning Drill

Early morning drill practice in preparation for the ROTC spring review began this morning for 1,300 ROTC cadets.

The cadets are to be on the drill field every week day morning at 6:50 a.m. until May 17th. The results of all of the drill and preparation will be seen May 17th at 3 p.m. when the Air Force ROTC-sponsored Spring Review will be held in Neale Stadium.

The Spring Review is the final all-ROTC review of the year. Awards will be presented to outstanding ROTC cadets at this time. Brigadier General James M. Trail of the Idaho Air National Guard will be the reviewing officer.

A partial list of the awards to be presented was available. The ROTC Gold Medal, presented to students in each branch of the ROTC will be presented to Air Force students Daniel W. Robinson, off-campus; Patrick W. Muldoon, Phi Delt; Bruce W. Bevan, off-campus and Richard Kunter, Chrisman.

Navy cadets receiving the Gold Medal are Gerald D. Hulbert, Theta Chi; Brian P. Sack, Lambda Chi, and Rick L. Hicks, SAE. Army cadets receiving the Gold Medal will be Clarence E. Chapman, off campus; Jimmy K. Olson, FarmHouse; Paul J. Anderson, off-campus; and David L. Frysock, Upham.

Receiving the Superior Cadet Ribbon will be Army cadets Donald L. Neil, Sigma Nu; John E. Schaufelberger, Willis Sweet; Douglas E. Miller, Kappa Sig, and John M. Ayers, ATO.

Russell M. Scarborough, no address given, will be the recipient of the Idaho National Guard Award.

James C. Wecker, Delta Sig, will receive the Air Force Association award. The Armed Force Communication and Electronics Award will go to two students, Army cadet Garth W. Eimers, ATO; and Air Force cadet Larry G. Loughmiller, off-campus. The Association of United States Army Award will go to Gerald K. Pressey, Phi Delt.

Clarence E. Chapman will receive the P.M.S. award given by the Army ROTC. James T. Bounds, Beta, will receive the Air Force P.A.S. award. The Navy P.N.S. award will go to Jerry K. Okeson, Beta.

This year's commencement proceedings will be televised on KUID to all campus living groups and to the Moscow area as are other campus-originating programs.

The reason is that the graduates and their families take up all the seating space in Memorial Gymnasium, leaving no room for alumni and other friends and relatives who would like to view the procession.

The center has obtained some spare equipment from KXLX of Spokane and is presently in the process of making this equipment workable. They are stringing a video cable from the gym to the center where the program will be put on the air.

Phi Kappa Phi To Initiate 29 Members In SUB May 20

Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society, will initiate 29 members May 20 in the SUB ballroom. A banquet will be held in the New Idaho Hotel at 6:30 p.m. following initiation.

Students were selected from the top 10 per cent of their class on their accumulative grade point. Tapped members are Lana Al-

Two graduate students and two alumni will also be initiated. They are Donald Copes, graduate; John Morford, graduate; John Crowley, alumnus; and Dr. Ella Woods, alumna.

Prof. D. A. Marshall, associate dean of the College of Agriculture is the president of the honorary. Edith Betts, associate professor of women's physical education, is the secretary.

Recruiters Stress High Academics

By JOYCE ARTHUR Argonaut Staff Writer Most students who do student recruitment stress high academic standards, according to recent survey.

Most students do personal recruiting by talking to high school seniors as a group or individually while home over vacation. Many students find out what fields the seniors are interested in and tell them what the University can offer in these fields.

Students from various sections of Idaho tend to attend different colleges. Students interviewed from southern Idaho report that the high school graduates attend Utah schools and Idaho State University more than the University of Idaho. Students from the Boise Valley are drawn to Boise Junior College, College of Idaho, and the University. Students from Northern Idaho usually attend the University of Idaho although there is some competition for students from Lewis and Clark Normal School, Oregon and Washington schools.

Students who were interviewed listed some of the reasons why

University had this to say, "There are more planned activities here and more opportunities for an independent to take part in campus life and in their own living group than at Idaho State University."

Dear Jason

Wishy-Washy

Dear Jason:

I have always felt it my duty to keep informed. During the recent Idaho legislative session, I read everything on the headlines: subjects, education appropriations and sales tax. To my everlasting shame and embarrassment, I recall reading only two articles on the loyalty oath: an editorial in the Idahoan which I stupidly thought was an academic discussion of the subject, and the news item that the governor had signed the bill making the loyalty oath law. My ignorance cost me the chance to protest before the fact; now I can only squawk after the fact.

I am a loyal American. But I bitterly resent being forced by law to sign an oath to continue teaching. It violates the freedom of choosing to sign. Why should the state require only state employees and teachers to sign? Why should it not require every citizen to sign?

If we give up one freedom without protest, we will find it easier to give up the next freedom. In the end, we won't have to worry about the Communists subverting us; we will have allowed ourselves to be subverted by ourselves.

The super patriots will decide the minds of youth are so impressionable that books explaining communism should be removed from library shelves. Does this sound far-fetched? Several years ago, a group in a mid-western city was agitating for the removal of Robt. Hood from the school libraries because the deeds of Robt Hood were communistic; he robbed the rich to help the poor. At the time I laughed; I laugh no more at such incredibly narrow and warped thinking. It scares me stiff.

If my family depended on my income, I could not afford the luxury of my convictions. However, I teach only part time. I enjoy teaching and my association with college students and faculty. But I can quit. My other choice is to compromise my convictions and join the signers, many of whom cannot afford the luxury of their convictions and too many of whom are wishy-washy boobs who will mouth convictions if no inconvenience or sacrifice is involved. If I appear on the campus next year as an instructor, everyone will know me for what I am—a wishy-washy boob.

Mrs. Glen W. McKie

Not So Sacred

Dear Jason:

In the interest of fair play and truth let's take a look at the other side of the bogus coin presented by protesting "professors." This group of the highest paid residents of the state invoke the American Association of University Professors. We can see at a glance from what holy source this association originates by reading the Congressional Record, the speech and extension of remarks made by the Hon. Francis E. Walter, Democrat of Pennsylvania, of Oct. 10, 1962, on pages 21830-32. This article should be marked with a red pencil.

Mr. Walter, Chairman of the Com. on Un-American Activities first discusses the Prof. Richard Reichard case, in which this man was discharged from the George Washington University, after he had invoked the Fifth Amendment on the questions of joining the Communist Party at Harvard; about being a Communist organizer at Harvard and if he then were a member of the Communist Party. Mr. Walter says in part that "The AAUP brazenly accused George Washington University of 'gross irregularities' in this case."

According to the Congressional Record, Mr. Walter further says of the AAUP, "It has censured the University of Washington for the 'dismissal of two faculty members whose sole offense was membership in the Communist Party'. It has censured the University of California, because, by adopting a policy of not employing members of the Communist Party, it failed, says the AAUP, to maintain conditions of 'freedom and tenure'." It censured Ohio State University because, by adopting a policy of excluding from the faculty, not only Communists but persons suspected of Communism. It has adopted a double standard to 'ACADEMIC FREEDOM'."

Other examples of fronting for Communists are given by Mr. Walters and several quotations from loyal educators, such as from Raymond Moley, "The American Association of University Professors resolved this month in annual convention, to nail its pink flag to the mast and go down fighting."

For brevity I have taken only a small part of this Congressional report. Students should look it up for themselves.

We're Verbose

Dear Jason:

Being one of those encouraged by a member of the English faculty to do some writing on my own, I should like to debarb briefly from the status quo of conspitation of the pen and embark on a minor literary endeavor. In all due deference to those who labor untriflingly for little or no monetary rewards to bring us the news twice a week, I would like to opine that a lack of immediate comprehension of some of the current parlance in your rag (as it has been called recently) may perforce drive us to our dictionaries, to our pens, or even to the local evergreen tree watering hole.

Because the consensus is that extenuating circumstances may preclude the latter possibilities, inviting as they might be, may I also suggest that, perforce, intransigence or vacuity leads most of us to skip over them their big pretentious words and/or phrases. Apparently vocabulary for vocabulary's sake could indeed debilitate efforts to communicate.

Although the situation may not be exigent, be not impatient. Expunge them that unnecessary big words. Relegate them to the authors' ashcan or leave them in the thesaurus and hold forth with pithy but simple and direct words. Hemingway managed to do it; how about you?

On-Campus Too

Dear Jason:

Today I read the Argonaut, as usual, and found that three of our most active residents were living "off-campus."

Hays Hall may be at one end of the campus but we are, by no means, off-campus. Marilyn Muir, a newly selected Pom-Pon alternate, Carol Hussa and Gail Nystrom, new members of Phi Upsilon Omicron, all live in Hays Hall. I'm sure they are just as proud to live here as the rest of us are proud to have them live here. Please, give us credit where credit is due.

Keep Working AWS

The Associated Women's Students moved last week to allow men into their living groups on week nights to study. This is in itself a commendable move and is indicative, we hope, of a coming of age of the AWS.

It was a realistic move made after some living groups had allowed it on their own. The restriction was enforced but has now been repealed. This is but one of several rules and/or regulations that are of provincial origin. By that we mean rules that were put into effect even as short a time as a decade or 15 years ago. The mores and ideas of society outside the University community change a little faster than some are willing to admit.

There is really no good reason why men should not be allowed to study with coeds in their living groups. Just as there is really no good reason why coeds should have to be locked up safely by 10:30 on week nights or why those legally of age should not have the right to choose their living quarters or why the permissions a coed's mother gives in her freshman year should be applicable four years later.

We hope that AWS and Misses Linda Kinney and Karen Fisher will continue to strive for liberalization, though that word has had connotations, of the rules governing them. We hope that they will connotations, of the rules governing outlook on their circumstances by both themselves and by the administration.—J.M.

No Finer Junk

It's time for the annual Exec Board Blazer-Battle, that halcyon time set aside each year for the board to argue about what colors its blazers are going to be, where they'll be bought, what they'll be made of and so on ad infinitum.

While the members were solemnly mulling over this topic last Tuesday, Marlene Finney disclosed that she's currently negotiating a deal to buy, at greatly reduced cost, a surplus stock of one of the blazers from one of Spokane's finest haberdashers.

None other, I'm proud to announce, than Alaska Junk Co. E-Board could be the first student governing body to sport buckskin blazers. And maybe it could get the cloth for free if it would have "Alaska Junk Co." sewn on the back of the coats. Wouldn't that be sporty?

I'm A Rocketeer

When I filled out an application for Air Force Officers Training School a few months ago, I listed my preference of a career field according to what I've picked up in college, naturally. My first choice was public information since I'm majoring in journalism; my second was intelligence, even though that doesn't sound very appropriate for me; my third choice was personnel since that seemed like a field safe for someone who isn't especially sharp in anything. Last week I heard from the Air Force people, who told me that congratulations, it's their pleasure to inform me I've been selected for career training in weapons control.

Career training I'm gonna need by the bucketfuls. In weapons control I'll be told how to use radar and computers and radio communications devices so I can be an air traffic controller or a radar watcher, which means that first I'm going to be filled with knowledge of electronics and math.

I have a phobic fear of math. The reason I haven't taken a single math course in college is because it was by worst subject in high school. My mother teaches it in high school (I was in someone else's class), but the aptitude wasn't inherited and the kid was born a moron in mathematics.

According to the Air Force, I'll be a vital link in our nation's air defense and retaliation program. So when a blip suddenly appears on the radar scope I'm watching, I'll make a hasty, inaccurate mathematical computation and press that red button in front of me; and a Nike-Zeus missile will obediently rise from its launching pad and make some poor, unsuspecting American Airlines jetliner with 137 aboard suddenly go poof. Or else that majestic rocket will take off in a beeline for Leningrad, which will just barely have time to send a few of its missiles on express flights to New York and Los Angeles. And thus some ignoramus of a U. S. Air Force lieutenant will have gotten Armageddon rolling all by himself.

Makes a person feel kinda important.

Only 40,000 Or So

I'd hate to be one of the poor jokers who has to begin checking over the names of people who must sign the loyalty oath by the May 18 deadline. Now that it's thought that all county, school district and even irrigation district employees have to sign the oath in addition to people living off the state payroll, there'll be about 40,000 people or more who'll have to sign. The oath was patriotically passed without much provision made for administering it, and the secretary of state's office is going to be hopelessly swamped in another week or two with signatures nobody knows what to do with for sure.

And, if the idea behind the oath is to be accomplished, the backgrounds of each of the 40,000 or more will have to be checked to see if they committed perjury, to find out if they actually have belonged to an organization plotting to overthrow the government. And that's gonna be a helluva job, too.

Applications Will Be Due For Blue Key

Applications for Blue Key membership and for a scholarship to be awarded by the upperclassmen's service honorary are due tomorrow, according to Jimmy Olson, FarmHouse, Blue Key president.

Applications for the $100 dollar annual Blue Key scholarship are now available in the Office of Student Affairs in the Administration Building Annex.

The scholarship will be awarded to a male sophomore on a basis of leadership, campus activities, scholarship and financial need.

Three candidates will be selected by Blue Key, Thursday, and the winner will be chosen by the University Committee on Awards and Scholarship, when it meets this spring.

Blue Key membership applications are due tomorrow noon and should be turned in to the ASUI office in the Student Union Building.

New members will be chosen Thursday.

First and second semester juniors are eligible for membership in the honorary.

KUOI's On The Air—But For How Long?

KUOI, the student-owned and operated campus radio station is back on the air. At least, six living groups will receive KUOI's signal for the next two weeks.

Last year KUOI operated sporadically. This year it hasn't operated at all until now.

Two years ago KUOI was booming. Then station manager Jerre Wallace reportedly had a choice of disk jockeys. They weren't up to professional standards, maybe, but they were vigorous and had a fair listening audience on campus.

But then KUOI developed technical difficulties. And during the spring staff members started missing shifts and then not showing up at all.

By next fall the technical problems are to have been ironed out and supposedly all campus living groups will receive KUOI's programs.

However, present station manager Perry Olson is worried about a staff. He has even suggested that the radio honorary, Alpha Epsilon Rho, should take over the radio station and be responsible for its getting on its feet. The proposal is that the station manager and the program director be members of the honorary. Olson says the honorary is needed to instill student interest.

Some people, on the other hand, have suggested that KUOI be abandoned. They argue there isn't enough student interest to make KUOI a successful station and that the new FM station will use the same personnel.

Yet neither the function nor the personnel of the FM station and KUOI are the same. Gordon Law, acting chairman of Communications, has said that only in a couple of situations will a student work on both stations. The FM station will operate as a commercial station selecting its audience from Moscow, Pullman and the Lewiston-Clarkston area. Few students have FM sets. The station will be aimed therefore at a non-student audience.

There is a need for KUOI as a campus station, featuring campus news and student-oriented programming.

However, if there is not enough student enterprise without needing an honorary and its accompanying select membership and control then maybe we should think about junking KUOI.

Another Phase Added To The Retreat

The ASUI Executive Board's zeal in building strong campus-community relations might have been overplayed last Tuesday when the board decided to invite three Moscow businessmen to the Student-Faculty Retreat.

The retreat, held annually at Camp Lutherhaven on Lake Chatelet, is always limited to 60 persons because of physical facilities. An addition three individuals, outside the University family, means three students, faculty members or administrative officials will have to be cut.

In previous years, the retreat has been held primarily for discussing problems peculiar to the campus. For example, so of the topics in the past have been "grades, before activities?" "the setup of student government," and etc.

Since members of the Moscow business community have been included, the range of discussion topics also should be expanded to include campus-community problems.

However, if E-Board figures campus-community perplexities should be included in the retreat's agenda, the mayor, chamber of commerce president and manager are the right people to participate in the discussions.

APPLY All foreign students attending the University of Idaho must receive a work permit if they expect to work for wages during the summer months, according to H. A. Winner, foreign student advisor. Applications will be available from Winner after May 15.

College girls seem to know what they want. We get a lot of ideas about ring styling from American campuses. If there is such a thing as a consensus, it would sound like this: conservative styling, with a difference.

That's what we've designed into Tropic Star...the newest of the beautiful Artcarved diamond engagement rings. Like all Artcarved rings, it's styled for lasting beauty...guaranteed in writing for permanent value. Is Artcarved's beautiful new Tropic Star for you? See for yourself.

Forest Products Use Will Outstrip Production Says Miss Shaddock

Within the foreseeable future the use of forestry products by this nation will outstrip the capacity to produce them, said Miss Louise Shaddock, executive secretary of the State Department of Commerce and Development.

Miss Shaddock told approximately 120 Associated Foresters and guests at the annual Associated Foresters banquet Thursday evening that we would be using less forestry products per capita but we will use more as a body due to the estimated population of the United States at that time.

Commenting that forestry in Idaho is based only on agriculture and should solve their own problems.

Miss Shaddock praised Fitch Forests Inc. and Boise-Cascade Corp. particularly for their research on wood products uses.

She added that Weyerhaeuser Company had also put much into wood products uses research.

Concluding her speech Miss Shaddock said, "For you young people who have put your future into forestry, this theme, 'Research or Retire,' will mean a lot."

R. H. Seale, associate professor and assistant to the dean of Forestry, announced several of the awards and honors that forestry students had received over the past year.

James Crawford, off-campus, was named as outstanding senior in Forestry. Timothy E. Schwelbert, off-campus, was the recipient of the Henderson Foundation Scholarship. This scholarship provides $3,000 for a four year period. There were many other awards and scholarships that have been received during the year.

Idaho faces many problems, but Idaho's problems are good problems," she said. "Among the problems is deciding where research is to be used. Research can be misused," she warned. She said that due to the fact that Idaho has limited monetary resources we must be careful to apply research carefully and correctly.

She said that Idaho people can

Art Auction Proceeds Split For First Time In 40 Years

Approximately 60 paintings were auctioned for a total of $350 at the 40th annual Art Club Art Auction, Sunday, in the Student Union Building.

The proceeds will be divided with half going to the artists and half going to the Art Club scholarship fund.

This is the first year that a share of the proceeds has been given to the artists. In the past all the money has gone in the scholarship fund.

It is also the first year that the auction has been held in the SUB. Art Club is the student organization for art and architecture majors. Each year it offers a $200 scholarship for art and architecture majors.

Applications for the scholarship are made through Theodore J. Prichard, head of the Department of Art and Architecture.

Priest To Discuss Religion In Marriage Tomorrow At 7

The Rev. Raymond J. Peplinski, Roman Catholic priest, will speak on the "Religious Dimension of Marriage" at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Union Ballroom.

Father Peplinski, who is taking graduate work at the University, is the administrator of Bishop Kelly High School in Boise. His lecture will cover the place and importance of religion in marriage. He will also speak on the problems brought about by inter-faith marriages.

"Father Peplinski was a parish priest in Boise for a number of years following World War II and has specialized in marriage counseling," the Rev. Chad Bolick, Westminster Foundation director, said.

"He brings a great amount of experience in the field, and the students will find his lecture interesting as well as informing," he said.

Along with his graduate study, Father Peplinski is assisting Father Schmidt of the Moscow parish.

The coronation of Miss Moore as Queen of the May Feté by Houghtalin.

The awards presentations will be emceed by Bill Frates, ASU president.

Awards include Spur of the Moment, Knights of Knights, Pan Hellenic scholarship, AWS scholarship plaques, announcement of the outstanding seniors by University President D. R. Theophilus, Women's Recreation Association outstanding senior, American Association of University Women award, Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary award, and introducing of the new AWS officers.

After awards are announced, the University Singers will present selections from "Brigadoon" during intermission.

Intermission is followed by introduction of new Iks and Spurs, tapping for Silver Lance and Mortar Board and the recession-al.

Recruiters Stress Academics

The competition for students in other states keeps students in their own state. As Barbara Collins, Gamma Phi, of North Hollywood, California said, "Most of the students there attend California schools, although interest in the University of Idaho has increased in West Covina, California due to the efforts of a University of Idaho professor. For about six years four or five students have come to Idaho from West Covina."

University of Idaho students are interested in seeing students from their high school come to the University of Idaho. They feel that the University has much to offer from academics to social life. The beauty of the campus, the size of the campus and campus living, seem to them desirable characteristics that encouraged them to come here to school in preference to another college.

Ladies Club Federation Opens Confab Today

The Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs will open its 45th annual convention in the Student Union Building this morning with the theme, "Our Idaho Heritage."

Several speeches will be given on topics connected with the state's territorial centennial observance during the 1 1/2-day convention, including a centennial address by Siegfried B. Rolland, associate professor of history at the University, tomorrow afternoon.

Forestry Talk Stated

A luncheon will be held at the Methodist Church this noon, followed by a business session this afternoon. At 2 p.m. Mrs. Allan Miller, secretary of the Idaho Forest Industries Committee, will talk on "Our Growing Products."

The banquet featuring Gary's speech will be at the New Idaho Hotel and will include an awards ceremony.

Another meeting at 9 tomorrow morning will include a speech on "The Forest Heritage" by Virginia Benson, information specialist with the U.S. Forest Service. It will be followed by a luncheon at the New Idaho Hotel at 12:15 p.m.

Last Session At 1:30

The concluding session will follow Rolland's address at 1:30 p.m.

A pre-convention agenda yesterday afternoon including meetings of the federation's executive board and board of directors and an informal reception.

James M. Lyle, University alumni secretary, will conduct delegates on a tour of the campus this afternoon.

Cougars Defeat Vandals 4-2

After a road trip in which they lost four games, the Vandals lost to WSU yesterday afternoon at McLean field, 4-2. The next game in the Idaho-WSU series takes place this afternoon in Pullman.

The first scoring in the game came in the Washington State top of the first inning. Tom Siedel singled, and moved up to second on Larry Schreck's single, he then went to third on a wild pitch by Vandal pitcher Mike Glenn, and then scored on Dave Pate's fly out to centerfield.

Golfers Battle Cougars

Idaho's varsity and frosh golfers take on the Washington State varsity and frosh in dual meet competition at the University Golf Course at 1 p.m. today.

The Vandal varsity will be facing a tough foe in the Cougars who defeated Oregon and Oregon State by sizeable margins this weekend. The best Idaho could do was to salvage a pair of draws.

The WSU meet will be the first for the Vandal yearlings, who have shown fine potential in recent practice sessions.

Two Ties

Ron Rognstad and Terry Gustavel were responsible for nine of the Idaho points in the 13½-13½ tie with Oregon State Friday afternoon. Rognstad was medalist for the day with a 71 and took his match 3-0. Gustavel fired a 74 to take his match 3-0, and the Rognstad-Gustavel best ball team won.

Leading the WSU team today will be Ted Naff, who fired consecutive 66 and 69 over the par 71 Clarkston course against the Oregon schools.

Bill Ballantyne scored 1½ points with a 75, while his best ball partner, Tom Sampson garnered a single point with a 76. Their best ball score was ½. Bill Goss had a 77 and Rick Jensen a 78, Jensen getting one point and the best ball team ½ point.

Bill Goss and Tom Sampson led the scoring Saturday as the Idaho-Oregon score was a repeat of Friday's. They each had 73s and picked up 2-1 victories. Rognstad also scored 2 with a 74.

Terry Gustavel picked up 1½ with a 74, while Rick Jensen was only able to garner ½ point with his 74. Ballantyne received ½ point for his 76.

Gustavel and Rognstad again led the way in the best ball department with 2½ points. Ballantyne and Sampson scored 2 points and Goss and Jensen picked ½.

Phi Deltas, ATO's Grinding For Crucial Softball Battle

The Phi Deltas and the ATOs posted big wins to stay out in front of League Two in intramural softball play. The Phi Deltas romped to an easy 18-1 win over the Theta Chis, while the ATOs were right behind with a 17-2 win over the Delta Chis.

Four Forfeits

The SAEs stayed in the running with a 20-0 triumph over Farm-House. In other action the Lambda Chis won 9-3 over the Sigma Nus in League One, the Kappa Sigs beat the Delta Sigs 19-4, and the Tekes squeaked past the Many contestants found out the way to win a horseshoe match was to come to the match. Four players picked up points without having to make a single pitch.

Marra, Phi Delt, Schade, Delt, Scheel, SAE and Strom, Beta all gained victories, via the forfeit route. In other action Cummings, Willis Sweet, defeated Benson, Kappa Sig, 2-0, and Twilliger, Fiji, downed Kaercher, Gault Hall, 2-0. Kroitch, Lindley beat Harte, Lambda Chi, 2-0, and Horn, Lambda Chi stopped Johnson, Teke, 2-0.

Carnefix, Prydz Nabfirsts; Thinclads Fall To MSU, USU

Once again, it was "same song, second verse" for Idaho's tracksters, who got good individual efforts from several men but still lost out in the scoring.

The thinclads finished third and last Saturday at Missoula, losing to Utah State University and Montana State University in a triangular track meet held in the Montana city.

Host Montana State garnered 77 points to walk away with first place honors. Utah State scored 49 counters to nose out the Vandals for second. Idaho scored 47.

Coach Doug Basham's team was able to pick up but two first places at Missoula. Rolf Prydz hurled the javelin 189 feet 2 inches to win that event.

Carnefix Wins

Junior sprinter Nick Carnefix blazed the 40 in :48.5 to win that event. The time was Carnefix's career best. In addition, the Vandal thinclad turned in a 48:2 clocking when he ran anchor on the mile relay team.

Jerry Howard turned in a :15.0 clocking in the high hurdles to take second. It was Howard's best time of his career.

In addition, Howard gained a second place in the intermediate hurdles with a time of :39.5. Vandals Pete Luttrupp and Zura Goodpaster finished in the same time, but Howard was awarded the second spot.

Paul Henden picked up second places in both the mile and two-mile. Nils Yebesen turned in a personal all-time best mark in the 880 as he toured the distance in 1:54.0. Henden's 4:16.0 mile clocking was his third best.

Best Effort

Butch Hubbard ran the 440 in :49.9. It was the first time Hubbard has been under 50 seconds. The Vandal mile relay team gained a second. Carnefix, Hubbard, Bob Johnson and Howard combined talents to run the race in 3:23.6, their second-best effort of the season.

Idaho's next meet will be a dual clash Saturday with Washington State University at Pullman. The Vandals and the Cougars will be meeting in a dual meet for the first time this season, although the two teams have met before this season.

Gary Peters Hurls Babes To 4-1 Win Over Coubabes

Idaho Vandal Babes downed the Washington State Coubabes yesterday, in a 4-1 victory. Gary Peters, yesterday's pitcher, held the Coubabes to four hits during the entire game.

In the third inning, Jim Swank walked, Mike Everett singled and Ed Haskins knocked them in with a triple. Haskins slipped in on a fly ball. The score of 3-0 held until the fifth inning, when Haskins again passed home plate changing the score to 4-0.

Idaho kept the Coubabes from scoring until the ninth inning when they scored their first and only run.

Idaho's frosh team faces Lewis and Clark Normal School here in a double header Saturday, May 11.

Vandal Netters Eye Bulldogs Today, Still Seek First Win

Idaho's tennis team once again lost as they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Whitworth Pirates in a contest played yesterday afternoon.

The Vandals had several close matches and even won two, but the effort was not enough.

Idaho will get an opportunity to gain a win when they meet Gonzaga today at 3 p.m. in Spokane. This will be the first meeting of the season for the two clubs. Coach Bill Logan said that the Vandals should stand "a good chance" against the Bulldogs.

The loss brought Idaho tennis to 0-12 for the season. The Vandals have not come close to victory thus far.

The Whitworth match, however, was one of their best efforts of the season, Logan said. All three doubles matches went three sets.

Last weekend, Oregon and Oregon State handed the Vandals losses in home matches. Friday, Oregon State downed Idaho, 8-1. The powerful Ducks defeated the Vandals 6-0 the following day.

Idaho's only win was in the doubles, and that came by default. The Vandals' number-three doubles team picked up a forfeit win when Beaver Jeff Woodside became ill and was unable to finish the match.

The Ducks defeated Idaho 6-0 when rain halted doubles play.

AP Garners Swim Contest

Alpha Phi came on strong to nose out Forney Hall and win the WRA swimming meet. Forney finished in the number-two position.

The meet was conducted under the direction of Georgia Cutler and WRA advisor, Miss Elizabeth Ross.

WRA softball is still on tap. Games this week find the Kappas playing French, and the Tri Deltas competing against Ethel Steel. The winner of the Tri Delta-Steel Contest will play the loser of the French-Kappa game May 9. The Alpha Phis and Hays play the same day.

Wednesday, the WRA goes against the men's faculty. Every coed who has participated in the tournament is eligible to play.

Alpha Kappa Psi Pledged 19 Men

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional businessmen's fraternity, formally pledged 19 men last night in the Student Union Building.

Those pledged were Don Swanson, Theta Chi; Tory Nelson, Bill Martin, and Allen Miller, Uham; Cal Howell, Delt; Bob Erickson, Fiji; John Lassey, Campus Club; Norman Fisher, Lindley, and Harold Sasaki, Chrisman.

Gagnon, Meyer, Nacarratto Lead Black Squad To Win

A black-shirted Vandal football team played well most of the morning but was not able to mount a sustained scoring drive. A second white unit under the quarterbacking of Gary Peters moved the ball well but could not gain entrance into the end zone. Peters twice hit end Joe Chapman with good passes.

According to Andros, fine defensive plays were made by every unit, but the black team was defensively the most consistent.

Andros liked the Vandals' running game, saying that the Idaho units moved the ball real well, but the coach was most impressed by the passing game.

"This was the best passing we have had since practice began," commented Andros. The Vandals had been having aerial problems earlier in the season.

Ragged Play
Adnros said that the Vandals' play was ragged at times, but he added that this was to be expected.

"This is the first time we have had referees, and it produced some mental errors," explained the Vandal coach.

The Vandals will be working on polishing up their game in preparation for the first round of the "Picnic Bowl" Saturday.

"We are looking forward to two more weeks on fine soaring football to wind up the season."
