Suit Filed By Student For Tuition

A 46-year-old retired Air Force colonel filed suit Wednesday against the Board of Regents challenging non-resident fees, as the fees apply to him as "unreasonable, arbitrary, capricious, improper and discriminatory."

Elmer R. Canfield, a student from Genesee, filed the suit in Second District Court requesting that the court award him $655 refund from fees paid from 1961 through this fall.

Always Are A Non-Resident

Canfield challenged the portion of the Regents definition of non-resident students which says:

"Any person who is properly classified as a non-resident student retains that status as a student without regard to age or years of attendance at any institution of higher learning in Idaho."

In his complaint Canfield said that he first enrolled in the University in September, 1960, and has paid non-resident tuition every semester since.

From the school year 1961-1962 Canfield said he "sought to register as a resident student."

Owens Genesee Home

He stated that in August of 1960 he bought a home in Genesee and has not returned since to either his last military residence in Germany or to Kansas where he lived prior to his military service.

In the spring of 1962 he petitioned the University for a change of status from non-resident to resident.

"In April, 1963, this request was officially denied by the University of Idaho and the Board of Regents," Canfield said.

Asks Court Judgment

Canfield asks in his complaint that he be declared a resident of Idaho, that the section under which a student retains non-resident status throughout his enrollment at the University be determined as unreasonable and discriminatory, and that he be allowed to register as a resident and be awarded a $655 refund of back registration fees.

The $655 refund would be for the four semesters of 1961-'62 through 1962-'63 at $125 per semester and $155 for the fall semester of '63-'64.

Canfield is represented by Cope R. Gale of the law firm of Martinson and Gale, Moscow.

Policy Talks To Begin

Leaders Retreat To Lutherhaven

Students, faculty members and Chamber of Commerce members will depart with sleeping bags, warm clothing and new ideas for Camp Lutherhaven, Coeur d'Alene, at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

The suggestion was finally voted down after a discussion during which several Exec Board members said they felt the group should stay together at the camp and try to keep people from going into town.

In past years, many of the older students and some faculty members have gone into Coeur d'Alene to visit night clubs and taverns, Karen Smith said, leaving those not of age and those who preferred not to go, alone in camp.

Miss Finney volunteered to arrange a program for Saturday night, but it was decided that people would rather roam around without having to attend specified functions. Johannesen estimated the cost of the retreat at more than $325. Bill Longeteig said that $400 was budgeted for the retreat.

The annual Student-Faculty Retreat will be attended this year by approximately 50 persons to discuss topics under the theme, "U of I, Idaho's Primary Institution."

C of C Men To Go

A new innovation to this year's retreat is the attendance by three Chamber of Commerce members from the city of Moscow and three International students. These people were added to the list this year to plan improved relations between the University and the City of Moscow and between American and International students.

Also attending will be 26 student leaders and 27 members of the faculty and administration.

Chairman Carl Johannesen, Campus Club, outlined to the Exec Board plans for six group discussions and a faculty forum Saturday evening on the Kennedy Tax Cut Proposal. Two Exec Board members will lead each discussion group with two discussion groups being held Saturday afternoon.

Entertainment Pondered

Debate about what entertainment should be provided during the Student-Faculty Retreat occupied a major portion of a short Executive Board meeting Tuesday.

The retreat will be held Saturday and Sunday at Camp Lutherhaven on Lake Coeur d'Alene.

Debate centered around after-meetings and after-forums activities. Marlene Finney, Garima Phi, suggested a cruise from Camp Lutherhaven to Coeur d'Alene, then further entertainment at a supper club.

KUOI Equips Two Dorms

McConnell and Shoup Halls have been equipped recently with radio transmitters and are set to receive the first broadcasts of KUOI, the University station, next Tuesday.

Tomorrow seven other living groups will receive transmitters: Alpha Phi, Sigma Nu, Delta Gamma, Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Theta Chi and Phi Delta Theta. The remaining residences will be equipped after Tuesday.

Radio announcers, particularly those with experience, are needed by KUOI, and all students interested in radio may inquire in the KUOI office on the third floor of the Student Union Building between 4 and 6 p.m. on weekdays, or call Buzz McCabe at TU3-2302 after 6 p.m.

KUOI staff and announcers will have a meeting 7 p.m. Monday in the KUOI office.

KUOI is owned and operated by the students of Idaho and its management is their responsibility.

Tryouts Set For 4 ASUI Yell Leaders

Men and women students with vocal and gymnastic ability are urged to try out for ASUI cheerleader positions which are now open, Bill Frates, ASUI president, said Thursday.

Four positions are open, he said, two for women and two for men to act in conjunction with the U of pompon girls in leading cheering sections at football and basketball games.

Tryouts are slated at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 10 in the Student Union ballroom and all students are eligible for participation.

Mel Cook, Phi Delt, a former ASUI cheerleader, will conduct the tryouts and act as coach for the group after selection. Students interested in trying out should contact Cook before Thursday, Frates said.

Mailing Delays Hamper Foreign Student Program

A suggestion to let the Office of Student Affairs send out material to foreign students in the future instead of entrusting the job to the Publications Office was made by international students chairman Dave Lindsay.

Lindsay wrote in a report to the Executive Board Tuesday night that because a packet of information materials for foreign students was mailed too late in the summer, three programs did not function.

A pre-school residence program designed for foreign students to stay with Moscow families until dormitories opened was arranged through the Chamber of Commerce.

C of C Help Unused

The C of C arranged for 20 students to stay in private residences but students were unable to take advantage of the program because they weren't informed in time.

Lindsay's report also said that Director of Dormitories Robert

Last Day For Mancini Ticket Sale

Today is the last day that the Henry Mancini ticket sale will be limited to University students. Monday tickets will be available for WSU and Moscow residents.

A 22-foot stage extension, special risers and additional lighting are being prepared for the Oct. 11 concert.

For the 2 hour and 45 minute program, the Memorial Gymnasium stage, now 50 feet by 18 feet, is being extended to 50 by 40 feet, according to Gale Mix, Student Union manager.

Risers to accommodate the various instruments of the 41-musician band will occupy most of the stage, Mix said. Lighting, being prepared by the Physical Plant, will be run by technicians who travel with Mancini.

Sound will be improved in the gym by the use of 48 new speakers, with microphones placed throughout the orchestra.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the gym. An Academy Award medley of songs by Mancini will include "Moon River," "Buttons and Bows," "Three Coins in the Fountain" and "High Noon."

Tickets may be purchased at the ASUI office in the SUB. Approximately 2,200 student tickets are available, and include both floor and balcony seating.

"This week students get their choice of seats. Next week they'll have to take what's left," Mix said.

Prices are $2.50 for student first-floor seats, $2 for student balcony seating, and $3 for adults. Mix noted that this price is about half as much as most Mancini concerts.

Gems Delayed Because Of Bindings

Distribution of the 1963 Gem of the Mountains, student yearbook, has been delayed until early next week.

The Gem was to have been distributed Wednesday, but due to binding difficulties with Caxton Printers, Inc., publishers of the yearbook, the Gems will not arrive until the weekend.

"Because the Gem was a bigger book this year, it couldn't be bound in time. The book is bigger, the pages thicker and we wouldn't accept a hand-bound book. They must be bound as per contract," said Gale Mix, ASUI general manager.

This year's edition of the University of Idaho publication will commemorate the Idaho Territorial Centennial, using old-time pictures depicting University life at the inception of the school.

The old-time pictures are contrasted with modern full-color photographic processes and duotone reproductions of the new Student Union Building.

The yearbooks should be distributed next week, unless there is a further delay with the printers.

ROT C Figures Down For Basic Course

Since voluntary enrollment in ROTC became effective this fall, registration in basic courses has fallen, but advanced corps registration has increased, Col. George W. James, Army, and Col. Robert Ogletree, Air Force, said Thursday.

Air Force figures indicate that first semester enrollment will be 185 — 74 freshmen, 69 sophomores, 32 juniors and 19 seniors. In 1962 there were 23 juniors and 16 seniors in the program.

Enrollment in Army this fall will be just over the 275 mark, Col. James said. The freshman class will be 115; sophomore, 75; junior, 50 and senior, 35. There are also ten students enrolled in the Army Aviation Flight Training Program, who are working for their private pilot licenses at the Moscow-Pullman Airport.

No major program changes will take place in either program until at least 1964, and probably until 1965, James said Thursday, because the bill which covers changes in both programs is pending before Congress now, and may not be voted on for some time.

Classroom presentation of the Air Force program will be based on informal discussions, and will allow for greater personal contact, Ogletree said.

Army cadets will see an improved weapons system, James said. This year they will work with and practice using the M16, the gun issued to regular troopers.

The Navy ROTC program enrollment is up 20 per cent.

New Student Forum Draws 1100 Students

Over 1,100 students participated in the new student-faculty forum which ended the new Student Days program Wednesday.

Men's living groups met in women's living groups to discuss social, academic and activity aspects at the University. Each group was moderated by a student and faculty leader.

"The forum was a tremendous success with the largest attendance in the history of the program," said Ted Burke, Delta Sig, New Student Days chairman.

Some of the groups were interested in continuing the forum program later in the semester.

"Most faculty members were enthusiastic about the acceptance in the living groups," said Burke.

Each group leader encouraged students to build up a close relationship with their instructors. Others' emphasis was placed on how to study and the grading system at the University.

All living groups participated in the forums except the Fijis, Lambda Chis, McConnell and Borah residents.

The forum ended nearly two weeks of orientation activities for new students.

Nickel Hop To Be Oct. 12

The Spurs Annual Nickel Hop will be held Oct. 12, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. at all women's living groups.

Each male visitor will deposit one nickel as he enters a living group, entitling him to 15 minutes of dancing. If he desires to stay longer, the rates remain the same. Men students are encouraged to rotate among the houses, as the principal purpose of the "Hop" is to meet new people and get acquainted with the campus.

Last year the Spurs cleared $587 from the Hop, which is their only money-raising project all year. Its receipts finance numerous projects including the support of a Korean war orphan, founders' day breakfast, big and little sister picnic, tapping of new Spurs and the Spur - Intercollegiate Knight banquet.

Traditionally Spurs will serenade all men's living groups next Tuesday and Wednesday during dinner to encourage their participation at the Nickel Hop.

SUB Movies Begin Tonight

"The Devil at Four O'Clock," first Student Union film of the semester, will have three showings this weekend, according to Ron Post, Sigma Nu, chairman.

Showings are at 7 p.m., 9:15 p.m. Friday, and 8 p.m. Sunday. Admission will be 35 cents per person or 65 cents per couple.

"The Devil at Four O'Clock" features Spencer Tracy as a priest and Frank Sinatra as a convict. The two men, thrown together on a Pacific island clash, but later join forces to attempt to reach the sea and safety when the island's volcano explodes.

The movie planned for Oct. 11 has been cancelled because of the Henry Mancini Concert that night.

Other films scheduled for the semester include "Third Man on the Mountain," "All Young Men," "The Mouse that Roared" and "Midnight Lace."

IK Book Sale Takes In $4,000

Intercollegiate Knights have found themselves busy with the books since selling, not studying them. They have taken in $4,000 to date and the sale will continue through 4:30 this afternoon.

Spokesman Chuck Walton, Phi Delt, said there are still many books to be sold, and that if there are enough useable books left over, the sale may re-open Saturday.

WHERE'M I GOIN'? — Confusion was the order of the day for registration this fall as it has been every semester. Once you get over the big hurdle of getting into the gym, the next problem seems to figure out which gate to enter first.

The Golden Fleece By Jason

Soon after the new students were settled at the University a certain amount of "functioning" began to take place.

Walks, doors, pillars, etc. have been painted, toilet paper has been strewn over lawns of living groups and water fights have been held.

This type of functioning, although juvenile, does not really harm anyone and is better way to let off steam than some others I could name.

But such activities always lead to something a little worse. Lights are stolen, electricity turned off, garbage cans absconded with and other malicious forms of conduct result.

The humor of the situation ends quickly when a living group discovers that damage amounting to hundreds of dollars has taken place. This isn't innocent college-type fun, it's pure vandalism.

What Can Be Done?

What can be done about these situations? Should the Office of Student Affairs begin drastic legislation?

We find this a nonfeasible solution to the problem. In the first place, it would be impossible, almost, for them to discover who does these things. In the second place, it should not be their sole responsibility.

Logically, it should be the responsibility of the individual. Realistically, however, the individual will not accept the responsibility.

Therefore, the responsibility lies with the living group. Not only to stand up in IFC, Panhellenic and RHC and make a speech, pass a motion and figure that the problem is solved.

But anytime anyone takes the responsibility of being a leader in his living group, he automatically accepts the responsibility for each of his members. It is up to the officers of the living group, then, to discover if anyone in their living group is responsible for such actions, and then take such action as deemed necessary to reprimand them.

Idaho is a unique campus in that it is a residential school with a large majority of the students living in campus housing. It is easier here than anywhere else for the living group to control these activities. It is also their responsibility, because it is a living group-oriented campus, to take strong action and control them.

Not Only Vandalism

Such a responsibility lies not only in the area of vandalism, however. It is also true in other situations on this campus.

For example, I, for one, was disappointed with a few of the students who attended the Boise game last weekend. Not a majority, mind you, but a few. Any University student who attended the game and the activities following it were automatically representatives of their University and their living groups.

I strongly doubt if the adults who attended the activities at the Elks Club following the game looked adversely at drinking. I'm sure, however, that if they saw a student walking around glassy-eyed they wouldn't be too anxious to send their son or daughter to the University or urge others to attend.

Therefore, I hope in the future that the living groups on this campus will urge anyone attending the game, or anyone intent on a little "functioning" activity to watch his step.

The responsibility rests with the individual, but the living group must assume it.

Idaho Editors To Be Guests At SUB Fete

Approximately 50 of 100 editors of Idaho newspapers who were invited to attend the dedication ceremonies of the new Student Union Building have accepted, Gale Mix, ASUI general manager, said Thursday.

The editors were invited by University President D. R. Theophilus to attend the ceremonies, meet University officials and see the Idaho-San Jose football game Oct. 26.

University director of information Rafe Gibbs and Bert Cross, chairman of journalism, will take charge of the editors while they are on campus, Mix said.

The editors will hold a first meeting at noon Friday, then a social hour for editors and wives Friday afternoon.

Friday night, the editors will attend the dedication banquet in the Student Union ballroom as guests of the SUB.

Another meeting will be held Saturday morning and Saturday noon the editors will lunch with President Theophilus.

After lunch, the newspapermen will be guests of the President at the football game. Following the game, the editors have the option of attending the dance featuring Martin Denny and his group in the Student Union ballroom.

Just News

This year, as in years past, the Argonaut has received innumerable complaints about some person's pet story not making page one or being inserted into every issue.

This is not surprising, considering that anyone connected with an activity or an organization is more concerned about their organization than any others.

However, if the Argonaut were to answer every plea for page one coverage with "you bet," the Argonaut would be nothing more than an accumulation of printed fliers with eight column banner headlines on every story on this campus.

This is a unique newspaper for the size of campus we have at the University.

This is also a unique campus. There are possibly more activities on this campus than the majority of campuses of its size throughout the nation. Because of this there is a large amount of news that needs to be printed.

It is up to the editors, then, to discuss what story deserves prominent play and what story should be placed on an inside page, or what story should be left out to give another story coverage.

Granted, it seems unfair that the editors of any newspaper should hold that much power. It also seems unfair when your particular pet item does not receive print.

But anyone who disagrees with this policy is welcome to think of another. He is also welcome to begin working on the paper, to discuss his situation with us and explain his side of the story.

We will make mistakes, just as every editor of the Argonaut has and just as every editor of every newspaper in the nation does. If we are wrong, we will be more than happy to admit it. If you feel we are wrong, you are more than welcome to express your feelings to us personally, or correspond to the Letters to the Editor column in this paper.

On the other hand, there has been in the past, news on this campus that is not particularly beneficial to the organization. It is not our business to make the news. You and your organization made the news — we are only printing it.

A Lewiston Tribune editorial of last year stated:

"We are quite familiar with those persons who will stand on a soapbox on Sunday and preach freedom of the press — then come down to our offices on Monday morning to keep their name out of the paper."

So are we, and so are editors and writers of every newspaper in the world.

But, if you make the news, whether favorable or unfavorable, we will print it. We won't try to make news on our own—that is not the 1963-64 policy.

But we will print news, as news, not as publicity, whether favorable or unfavorable—whatever the case may be. —K. S.

John's Turning Over

In the columns of today's Argonaut is a letter to Jason written by a woman from Hayden Lake, Idaho, which takes to task Rep. Ralph Harding (D-Idaho) for his criticism, on the floor of Congress, of former secretary of agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for speaking at a meeting of the John Birch Society in California.

Harding, Benson and the Lady of Hayden Lake are all members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon).

One gathers, from reading the woman's letter, that her basic criticism of Harding is his falling out with another member of the Mormon Church.

Benson, she says in the letter, was given permission by LDS President David O. McKay, to speak at the John Birch Society meeting. David O. McKay, she says, is a fine man, respected and beloved by all members of the church.

Harding, she says, is wrong in criticizing so prominent a member of the church and one who, she adds, has performed such a service to his country as former Secretary Benson.

In criticizing Benson, she implies, Harding is also criticizing President McKay.

Such an implication can hardly be based on fact.

President McKay has publicly come out in opposition to the John Birch Society and similar organizations. It can no more be implied that his permission, if actually given at all, to Benson to speak at the meeting carries his personal or official approval of the John Birch Society than can permission by the United States government to a tourist to visit Russia carry an approval of Soviet Communism.

It is unfortunate, in a nation where separation of church and state is a basic principle of our being, that individuals such as the Lady of Hayden Lake feel compelled to bring an organization dedicated to the worship of God into so political an arena.

The author of the letter to Jason closes with a rebuke to Harding for finding fault with the John Birch Society which, she says, is a fine organization, dedicated to love of liberty, individual responsibility and less government.

The John Birch Society was organized in the 1950's in the memory of John Birch, a Christian missionary who was killed by Chinese Communists while serving in the Far East.

President or chairman of the organization is John Welch, a candy manufacturer who must have grown tired of paying income taxes.

Although the Society cannot be pinned down to specific aims and means, the general idea seems to be reducing the threat of communism by calling everyone who disagrees with it a communist.

While the organization seems to be strongest in the East and Southwest, evidences of its influence can be seen in Idaho around Coeur d'Alene and Hayden Lake.

If the organization began as a tribute to the memory of a Christian missionary, it has been debased in recent years by extreme right-wing influence of alarmist control.

An interesting parallel can be drawn between the do-away-with-government theme of the John Birch Society and the communist international theory of violent overthrow of capitalistic governments.

Adolf Hitler, leader of the Nazi party in Germany, was violently opposed to communism. A reading of "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" shows that the Austrian corporal used many of the same alarmist methods which, with little change, are employed by the John Birch Society in the United States today.

Benito Mussolini was fond of calling his opponents "Communists."

In Idaho, a person with liberal views is wise to keep them to himself if he searches for popularity, although Idaho now seats a Congressman and a Senator who are widely known for their liberal politics.

It is not so much a division of the Republican view from the Democratic view, because in Idaho both parties are conservative. Idaho is a state which is badly in need of development, education and progress. Her legislature may be looked upon as a model of conservatism, even reactionism.

Her industry, with a few exceptions, is slight. Taxable revenue is sparse. Her future, in view of her conservative disposition, is questionable.

Could the John Birch Society help? —M.B.

LDS Woman Protests Talk

Editor's Note:

The following letter concerns the controversy between Rep. Ralph Harding (Idaho) and former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson over the John Birch Society. The letter was mimeographed and apparently mailed to every newspaper in the State of Idaho and perhaps Utah. Although the Argonaut does not usually print mimeographed letters, we feel this particular letter was of interest to many Argonaut readers. Pro or con comments on the subject would be appreciated.

Dear Jason:

The Apostle Paul in Galatians 4:16 said "Am I therefore become your enemy because I tell the truth?"

Recently, the President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints President David O. McKay, beloved and revered by us Mormons the world over, gave permission to Ezra Taft Benson to speak at a John Birch Society dinner in California. Ralph Harding, Representative from Idaho, disagreed with what Elder Benson said in his speech. Instead of informing Elder Benson personally and quietly of his difference of opinion Mr. Harding chose to publicize his views in a speech from the floor of the United States House of Representatives. Mr. Harding's remarks are now entered in the congressional record, they have been publicized the nation over, evidently it was important to Mr. Harding to have as many people as possible know of his evaluation of Elder Benson and the John Birch Society.

Ezra Taft Benson is a patriotic American and a dedicated and honored church member, he has proved his loyalty to his church and to his country. The John Birch Society is one of the most effective, if not the most effective anti-communist organizations in the world. The enemies of the free world know this and have used every possible means to smear the Society and through all the smears the John Birch Society has grown by leaps and bounds. Mr. Harding has also chosen to smear the John Birch Society and Elder Benson. When the enemies of the free world wish to render an individual or a group, usually with little or no regard for the truth, they work diligently and persistently at it, reference the smear on the John Birch Society. The aim of the enemy is to make the individual or group seem so bad that no one will listen to them, thus making them ineffective. Through this method of subversion dissention is created among the members of an organization such as a church, they begin arguing among themselves, they choose sides, their attention and energies are taken away from fighting their real enemy. Elder Benson and the John Birch Society are both very effective in helping people become aware of the dangers from communism. The enemies of the free world want them stopped at all costs.

When Mr. Harding found out that he was to smear Ezra Taft Benson and the John Birch Society from the floor of the United States House of Representatives I wonder if he knew that they are working for (1) more individual responsibility, (2) less government and (3) a better world?

On the second of July, 1839, the Prophet Joseph Smith said "That man who rises up to condemn others, finding fault with the Church, saying they are out of the way, while he himself is righteous, then know assuredly, that that man is in the high road to apostasy and if he does not repent will apostatize, as God lives."

Sincerely,

MAKING ALUMINUM SLIPPERY-ER

Industrial designers are excited about a great advance in lubricants from G-E research. Aluminum, though popular with metal fabricators, has always been tough to lubricate. A new family of lubricants now developed has friction coefficients about 1/5 those of conventional lubricants. This produces an affinity for aluminum which assures a wear-resistant film that adheres to the surface.

Living Groups Open Doors To Five New Housemothers

By JOYCE ARTHUR Argonaut Staff Writer

Five women became new heads of the household in living groups on the University of Idaho campus this fall.

The new housemother at the Alpha Phi house is Mrs. Jane Ackley who is from Boise. Mrs. Ackley who has taught school worked for the Bon Marche in Boise before she came to Idaho. This is the first position of this kind that Mrs. Ackley has held.

Mrs. Ackley has one married daughter and three grand children who live in Boise. She graduated from Northeastern Oklahoma A and M as an elementary school teacher.

Acting as housemother at the Gamma Phi Beta house is Mrs. Delcie King who is a graduate of University of Idaho. Mrs. King who is a graduate from the College of Business lived in Moscow and attended school from early elementary grades through college. She now lives in Spokane and until this year she has been a high school commercial teacher in Cornell, Wash. She wanted to "do something different from teaching so I accepted the position as housemother at Idaho."

Mrs. Betty Ashe is the new housemother for the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Although she has never had previous experience as a housemother, she gained insight into girls by raising six children of which five were girls. One of Mrs. Ashe's daughters, Gwen Tupper was a Kappa at the U of I 11 years ago. Before she came to Idaho she was a model for Frederick and Nelson in Seattle and Myron and Franks in Portland. As a model she had the opportunity to work with and train girls for modeling and in social graces. The grandmother of 13, she comes from Spokane and at one time was the owner of a dry cleaning establishment.

A lady that traveled the longest distance to become a housemother at Houston Hall is Mrs. Virginia Smith from Rock Island, Ill. Mrs. Smith, who wanted to see the northwest and be a housemother, is the mother of two married daughters and a son. Before she became housemother, she was a legal secretary at an insurance company in Rock Island for 15 years.

Beginning her second year as an Idaho housemother is Mrs. Otto Clements who will be in the new surroundings of Campbell Hall. She was housemother for McConnell Hall last year when it was a women's dormitory. A graduate in art from Montana State University, she has taught art and English in high school. This lady who will be working with 106 girls comes from Kellogg.

Five couples begin their first year as hostesses and proctors in men's residence halls this fall. Peggy and Wayne Thiessen will act as hostess and proctor at Campus Club. Wayne is a graduate student at the University in biochemistry and soils and Peggy is majoring in social science and plans on being a high school teacher. Peggy is from Nampa and Wayne is from Lewiston.

Hostess and proctor at Christian Hall this year are Georgia and Gary Snow. She is from Florida and he is from Moscow. He is doing graduate work at the University in psychology and Mrs. Snow is a dental assistant in Moscow.

Upham Hall's hostess and proctor are Carolyn and James Jackman who are from Sandpoint and Flint, Mich. He is a history major and she works part time.

McConnell Hall, which is a men's living group again, has as hostess and proctor Bethel and John Simko. Bethel teaches fifth grade in Moscow and John is a law student. Bethel is from Weiser and John is from Chicago, Ill.

Karen and Leland Corey will act as hostess and proctor to Stevenson Hall for men. Mrs. Corey is from Fontana, Calif., and Corey is from Jerome. Leland, a graduate student in chemical engineering, graduated from University of Idaho last year. Mrs. Corey is majoring in Spanish at the University.

Deadline Slatd For Congressional Fellowship

Political scientists, journalists and law school faculty members may win an opportunity to work in Washington, D.C., under the 1964-65 Congressional Fellowship program sponsored by the American Political Science Association.

December 1 is the deadline for application for the program.

The Fellowships carry a minimum stipend of $4,500, most of which is tax-exempt, plus traveling expenses. Winners are brought to Washington for a year of full-time work in the offices of members of Congress or on the staffs of Congressional committees.

A nation-wide competition is held to select the winners, who are picked by an Advisory Committee made up of congressmen, Washington newsmen and political scientists.

Preference is given to applicants between the ages of 23 and 35 who have had superior academic training and practical experience.

The purpose of the program, sponsored by the Association since 1953 and financed largely by a Ford Foundation grant, is to equip outstanding young political scientists, newsmen and law teachers with a better understanding of the national legislative process.

About 17 Congressional Fellowships are selected each year, with the bulk of the awards divided equally between political scientists and journalists. One or two awards are available for law school faculty members each year.

Applications or further information may be obtained by writing to the Association at 1726 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036.

Idaho Men Write On Experiment

Devising simple experiments to illustrate basic facts in chemistry often poses problems for teachers. When a new experiment is found that doesn't require elaborate equipment, it is welcomed by the profession.

A simple kinetics experiment for the college general chemistry laboratory has been originated by a University professor and a graduate student.

The paper explaining a new method that cuts days from the original experiment was written by W. H. Cone, professor of chemistry, and R. A. Hermens, who received his Ph.D from the University in June, and was published in a recent issue of the Journal of Chemical Education.

Dr. Hause Conducted Study Tour

Dr. E. Malcolm Hause, associate professor of history and political science at the University of Idaho, conducted seven summer school students through an equal number of common market countries this summer.

Under Hause's direction, the students will travel through France, Spain, Italy, Austria, West Germany and Holland. The students, ranging in age from 20 to 30 came from Oregon to New York City.

The European study tour, promoted by the University annually for 12 years, provided an opportunity for students to earn credit while traveling. The students taking the tour, which was equivalent to a full schedule of classes on campus, were assigned research topics on historical, political and economic characteristics of Western European countries.

Dr. Hause said, "It is more valuable to the student to take a course in European politics on the scene."

Later he added, "Travel erases intolerance and promotes a better understanding between peoples of different parts of the world. Our students get to know European customs much better by first hand observation. It promotes international peace."

The tour was handled for the University by Academic Travel Abroad, a non-profit agency.

1916 Forestry Grad To Lecture

A 1916 graduate of the University College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences, Bill Schofield, president of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, will return to the campus as a guest lecturer October 15-17.

Schofield served for many years as manager of the California Forest Protective association when he was primarily engaged in legislative work. He recently established the California Industrial Forest Consultants firm in San Francisco.

Meetings are planned with various forestry classes as well as open meetings on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon while he is on the campus.

James, professor of military science. The lady is Mrs. Todd, and representing the University is Academic Vice President H. Walter Steffens. Todd is now night manager of the Student Union.

Justices Plan Visit To U-I

Tentative plans for a campus visit Wednesday by the Idaho Supreme Court justices were announced Thursday by Philip E. Peterson, dean of the College of Law.

Chief Justice Emery T. Knudson, and Justices E. B. Smith, C. J. Taylor, Joseph J. McFadden and Henry McQuade will be at Lewiston Monday. The Supreme Court visits Lewiston every fall and spring to hear appeals. Oral confirmation of the judges' plans to visit the campus Wednesday has been received, Peterson said, but no official, written confirmation had been made by Thursday afternoon.

Plans include a lunch sponsored by Bench and Bar for law students and law faculty, at which Justice McFadden will speak on the subject of his own choosing. A reception will follow the luncheon.

HEART IS STRONGEST

A healthy heart is the strongest muscle in the body. Every hour it puts forth enough energy to carry a 150-pound man from the street to the roof of a three-story building, according to the Idaho Heart Association.

Former Prof Now Night Manager

By DIANNE WENINGER Major Harry E. Todd, former assistant professor of military science, is now the "biggest SUB student on campus," night manager of the Student Union Building.

Major Todd began his teaching career at the University by mistaking former head basketball Coach Joe Cipriano for one of his students. The student, a basketball player, hadn't attended a single class or even picked up his Army uniform.

One afternoon Coach Cipriano, wearing a basketball warm-up suit, stuck his head in Major Todd's office and asked where the Army was. Assuming this was the class-cutting student, Major Todd proceeded to "read him the riot act."

Cip Just Stared "Coach Cipriano stared at me and then walked away, leaving me floored at such insubordination. When I walked into my boss' office to tell him about it, the same young man was talking with him. He was introduced to me as the head coach of the Vandal basketball team, which was one of my most embarrassing moments on this campus," stated Major Todd.

During his three years as a professor, Major Todd also worked as drill team advisor. The highlight of his work with the drill team being their winning the Inland Empire ROTC Drill Team Championship in 1962. This position was occasionally frustrating as well as rewarding, such as the time he accompanied the Drill Team to Boise for the Montana State-Idaho game in 1961.

On the return trip the bus broke down in Baker, Ore., leaving him stranded with 25 concerned students, who were more intent on impressing the high school girls than ending the delay.

Major Todd is a 1944 graduate of Kansas State University and has done several tours of duty in Japan and Europe. He is now a "Joe College" working on his Master's degree in education, and plans to go into guidance counseling. He was presented in August with the Army Commendation Medal for honorable and meritorious service upon completion of 20 years of active military service.

Grads Study Blood Cells

Ever wonder what's so important about red blood cells?

Two University of Idaho graduates, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell are doing research on red blood cell membranes and metabolism at the University of Washington School on Medicine.

Mrs. Mitchell, the former Carolyn Dempsey of Hailey, is an official delegate this month at a Cambridge, England, meeting of the NATO Advanced Study Institute: Metabolism and Physiological Significance of Lipids. Her trip is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Mrs. Mitchell said, "The meeting will be closely correlated to my own research, which is concerned with the enzymes and lipids present in the red blood cell membrane. The problem of structure and function of the cell membrane is a vital one with respect to understanding the metabolism of the living cell. It is only beginning to be explored."

The first published conclusive evidence that the membrane of the red blood cell is completely separate from the hemoglobin contained in the cell came from Mrs. Mitchell's laboratory.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were honor graduates of the University of Idaho in 1960, she in chemistry and he in pre-med. She is in her fourth year of pre-doctoral studies. Mitchell has entered his fourth year of medical school.

While at the University of Idaho, the Mitchells did research under a Heart Association grant for undergraduates.

U. Of I. Home Economics Building Is Renamed

The Home Economics Building at the University has been renamed the Mary Hall Niccolls Home Economics Building.

President D. R. Theophilus said today that the Regents had authorized the name change to honor the late Mrs. Niccolls, an early day home economics student who recently left the University $433,034 from her estate to be used as scholarships for women taking home economics. When the Home Economics building was constructed in 1951, it has these words carved in bronze at the entrance:

"May this building be the loom that weaves the modern science and art of home economics into the fabric of a better home life."

Dr. J. S. Kim, associate professor of physics at the University of Idaho, participated in the conference on artificial satellites at Virginia Polytechnic Institute Aug. 12-15.

The meeting was sponsored jointly by the National Science Foundation and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to bring together scientists with special interests in space research.

Dr. Kim directs a research program at the University in the physics of the upper atmosphere. He is studying the basic properties of the Northern Lights. An auroral radar station is maintained on Moscow mountain for collecting essential data.

FIRST FROM U-I — Second Lt. Ann Hendricks, a recent graduate of the University, was sworn into the Women's Army Corps by Col. G. W. James, professor of military science. Present for the ceremony were Capt. Evelyn P. Foote of the Portland, Ore., WAC recruiting center and Lt. Sally Groomer from the Spokane recruiting center.

Construction on the floats can begin Saturday, and Tuesday, 7 p.m. is the deadline for handing in float applications.

A meeting will be held for all float chairmen, 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Union Building.

Dr. Shreeve Delivers Paper

Dr. Malcolm M. Renfrew, head of chemistry, said concerning Dr. Shreeve's study, "The chemistry of fluorine compounds is of special interest at this time because of its potential use as a high energy fuel for space rockets."

Dr. Shreeve worked this summer in fluorine research with graduate and undergraduate students supported by the National Science Foundation and the Navy.

Idaho Meets Top Missouri Team In Columbia Tomorrow

Back, Lineman Awards Received

Rich Naccarato and Dick Litzinger received the back and lineman of the week awards as voted by the Moscow Vandal boosters after viewing the Utah films at their meeting Tuesday.

The film was preceded by a business meeting and brief talks by Idaho coaches John Easterbrook and Dee Andros. Easterbrook reported on the Missouri-Arkansas and gave his impression of the Missouri squad.

Andros gave a brief explanation of the Utah game and followed with his film. Naccarato received his award for the fine ground game he displayed and his alert defensive work.

Litzinger, though he is not a lineman but a defensive specialist, was awarded the lineman award. He had been a standout all afternoon, both on pass defense and on guarding against the end sweeps.

Jim Faucher's behind the scoreboard

While there is a lull in the athletic department before Idaho's big game this weekend with Missouri, we'll take time to come out from behind the Scoreboard to explain a few things. The first thing in today's lesson will be an explanation for the screwy name of this column.

Throughout the year I will try to give some type of reasoning for the score that appears on the Scoreboard. This will not only pertain to varsity and freshmen sports, but also to the intramural program. It is the duty of every person at the University of Idaho to know as much as possible about this University, and I feel this pertains especially to the athletic side of the picture.

Each year the University spends a great deal of money in recruiting, equipment, coaching, and other facilities for the athletic program, and whether you know it or not, this money comes out of your pockets. Thus, why shouldn't you know what is going on down in the corridors of the athletic department? This is what I will be striving to bring to you each week.

The commentary that appears with the facts is strictly that of an individual—yours truly—and, believe it or not, is subject to error.

FOR WOMEN ONLY

In some of the following issues of this newspaper, on this same sports page, the Scoreboard is going to try something new. A readership survey taken last year showed that less than one-fourth of the women who read the Argonaut read the sports page. What the reason for this is, I'm sure I don't know. It is realized that none of you women are Babe Zaharias or a Mickey Wright, but sports are important, even for the female sex.

We will attempt, and I use that word lightly, to let you know more about the fine "arts" of football, baseball, basketball, and maybe even volleyball and field hockey. The Scoreboard, of course, does not feel that all females are ignorant of the rules of the above games, but we do feel that through a simple explanation of the games you will enjoy them more, and maybe your date will too.

By the way, any comment that you may have to this suggestion will be greatly appreciated by the Scoreboard.

Vandal coach Dee Andros does not appear to be in the least discouraged about the coming game with Missouri tomorrow. He isn't saying Idaho will win, but he also isn't saying Idaho will lose. I would say that that is being pretty cagey. But that is his job. He will be leading a group of 11 men out on the football field tomorrow in Columbia, Mo., representing the University of Idaho. He can't afford to be pessimistic. In a way he should be.

Last weekend Missouri beat Arkansas, 7-6, Arkansas at that time was ranked eighth in the nation. If knocking off the eighth ranked team wouldn't give a team a swelled head, I don't know what would.

Arkansas lost the game on a missed extra-point attempt. For a team that was then ranked eighth in the nation, this should never have happened. But, if you will remember, Idaho also has had that problem every once in a while.

This weekend, in Spokane's Joe Albi stadium, two of Idaho's future foes face one another. Upward of 15,000 fans are expected to watch the Washington State Cougars go against the Wildcats from the University of Arizona. The Cougars have an 0-1-1 mark for the season, while the Wildcats have a 1-1 record.

Cougar fans in the Inland Empire (there may be a few) are anxious to see their team's improved ground defense in action. WSU has given only 125 yards per game on the ground so far and rates at the top of Big Six statistics in this department. The Cougars also are second in their conference.

Last year the Vandals defeated the Wildcats, 14-12, but they lost to the Cougars, 22-14. Vandal head Dee Andros has only one more game to win to better last year's record, and from behind the Scoreboard it looks like he may do it.

Tigers Simple Ground Team—Vandal Coach Easterbrook

The Idaho Vandals will take their two-win victory string against a strong University of Missouri eleven in Columbia, Mo., tomorrow.

Missouri, after losing to Northwestern in their season opener, came back last week to defeat Arkansas, who was ranked eighth in the nation, by a 7-6 score.

The Missouri Tigers have shown themselves to be a simple team that likes to stick with line plays and power sweeps. They reportedly go to the airways only when necessary.

According to backfield coach John Easterbrook, who scouted the game with Arkansas, "Missouri is a team you can't make mistakes against, because you'll never get them back. They are a team that is drilled well in the fundamentals and likes to three and four-yard you to death."

Sophomore Quarterback
The field general for the Tigers is a 190-pound quarterback Gary Lane, who completed four of his eight passes for 55 yards last week. Spearheading the remaining backfield is another sophomore, 175-pound halfback Monroe Phelps, who is very fast and has great balance. He is noted for packing the ball on their power sweeps.

Gus Otto, a 220 pound fullback, is used sparingly on the offensive squad as he is rated among the top defensive backs. The line centers around another fine player, 212-pound Gene Oliver.

Not Defeated
As to Idaho's chances against the powerful Missouri squad, coach Dee Andros refuses to make any prediction except that no matter what happens "Missouri will know they've been in a heckuva game."

Andros says the Idaho players have acquired the healthy attitude that they are as good as anyone else until proven different, and if Missouri is going to win they're going to have to prove it.

A few of the Vandals who played in the big Utah win will be doubtful performers against Missouri tomorrow. Larry Strohmeyer received a badly swollen elbow, Bill Scott missed contact work this week with a hip pointer and Don Matthews has been nursing a bad ankle.

Players Hurt In IM Games

Two intramural football players were injured in games Thursday night. Richard Hurlbert, Theta Chi, may have suffered a slight concussion when he ran into another player during passing practice before the game. Hurlbert is a senior from Rochester, N.Y.

The other injured player is Robert Ashley, Lambda Chi. An infirmary nurse told the Argonaut before press time that he may have some injuries to his back, possibly a muscle or spinal injury. Ashley is a freshman from Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich.

Scott saw his first varsity action Saturday and did a commendable job, which included a 20-yard run.

Ready for full time duty against the Tigers will be Rich Naccarato, Galen Rogers, Mick Rice and Gary Mires, all of whom played fine ball in the Utah fracas.

Solid Line
Idaho's interior line, which has looked particularly strong this season, with the exception of Don Matthews, is in good shape, and will be ready to try and stop the potent ground game of the Tigers.

With Strohmeyer on the doubtful list, much of the defensive load in the secondary will be left to Dick Litzinger, who has shown excellent ability in diagnosing plays and hitting the ball carrier hard.

Also improving has been the pass defense of the Vandal secondary. As opposed to last year's squad, which wilted late in the game due to insufficient coverage, the present team has come up with the pass defense to stop the late rallies.

While Idaho is definitely going up against one of the top college teams in the country, coach Andros feels that the outcome will depend only on how much Idaho wants the victory.

'Hap' To Travel To Missouri

Hap Moody, the 78-year-old Vandal fan of 40-years standing, has been granted "traveling papers" by the University athletic department permitting him to attend the Idaho-Missouri football game with the team.

Hap, featured in the second issue of the Argonaut, is virtually a Vandal himself. For the majority of Idaho football fans who cannot attend the game, Hap will be there, wearing his red carnation and rooting the Vandals on to victory, as he has done so often in the past.

SKI TEAM MEETING

There will be a meeting for all those interested in the Vandal Ski team, Monday at 12:30 in the SUB lounge.

BACK OF THE WEEK — Rich Naccarato, 170 pound halfback from Spokane, was awarded the Back of the Week honors at the Vandal Boosters' Club meeting Tuesday night. Naccarato received the award for his performance last Saturday against the University of Utah in Boise. The Vandals won the game, 10-9.

Weber Dominates Big Sky; Idaho's Rice Leads Punting

Weber College gridsters, who engineered a 29-7 win over Oregon Tech for the Wildcats' third win of the season, continue to dominate individual and team statistics in the five-member Big Sky Conference.

Weber quarterback Lynn Smith added to his leads in total offense and passing by completing eleven of sixteen passes for 132 yards last Saturday. The Weber field general now has completed 27 of 50 pass attempts (54 per cent) for 420 yards. He has 436 total yards. He has thrown three touchdown passes, run for two more TDs and has kicked eight conversions for 20 points, second biggest point-getter in the league.

Wilker Leads In Rushing
His teammate, halfback Curtis Wilker, leads the Conference in rushing and scoring, and is second in total offense. Another teammate, Mike Webb, tops the Conference in pass receptions, and Frank Kaaa, also of Weber, is second in rushing.

Wilker has gained 279 yards in 39 carries (7.15 yards per carry) and has scored four touchdowns. He also has caught five passes for 134 yards. Kaaa has a 5.9 yards per carry with 188 yards in 32 tries.

Bill Shaw, Idaho State's running, passing and kicking quarterback, remained third in total offense despite his team's 19-6 loss to the University of Omaha. Shaw has rushed for 175 yards and passed for 92 more to gain 267 yards in 52 plays.

Vandal's Rice Leads Punting
In punting, Mickey Rice, Idaho, has a 38.7 average. The Vandal fullback has kicked for 232 yards in six tries. Christison has kicked the most — 16 times for 570 yards and a 35.6 average.

MCS's Wilber Fennal is tops in runbacks. The fleet Bobcat has returned six kick-offs for 119 yards (19.8 average) and five punts for 137 yards (27.4).

Teamwise, Weber has run up 12 total yards on offense, while holding its opponents to 475. Montana State University and Montana State College — other league teams which have played three games — have total yardage of 635 and 729 respectively. Each has a lone win.

Idaho State University (1-1) has gained 670 total yards and the University of Idaho is at the bottom with 578, although it has won both its games.
