Fees Built Local Lyceum Says Regent At Banquet

By KIP PETERSON
Argonaut Associate Editor

Student unions are part of the University's education because they serve as modern-day Lyceums, Regents President Ezra M. Hawkes said during his dedicatory address at the SUB Friday.

"The first student unions were not always known as such, but they were there. The first university, called the Lyceum, was established at Athens in about 300 B.C. and it had a student union of sorts—a pillared promenade where students used to stroll and talk informally among themselves and with Aristotle and other members of the faculty," Hawkes said.

is not geographically conducive to unity, the University bolsters unity through research, service and the students whom it draws together from every county, he said.

ASUI President Bill Frates echoed Hawkes' remarks, predicting that:

"The Student Union will be a state community center in the future."

No State Funds

The SUB was not built from state funds, although it does serve as the showcase of the University and provides a convention center for state, service and independent groups.

"Student funds have been responsible for many other buildings at the University, and in too many cases citizens of Idaho are not aware of this fact," Hawkes said.

Completing the dedication ceremonies of the newly doubled SUB, the Vandaleers performed twice: a selection of light semi-classical then closed the program with a medley of Idaho songs, including "Ode to Idaho" by Hall M. Macklin, head of the Department of Music.

Our Community Center

As an informal gathering place the SUB provides a University community center, Hawkes said, and added that it should also serve as a plan of community living.

In a state such as Idaho which

Hawkes Dedicates New Complex

Ezra Hawkes, president of the Board of Regents, dedicated Wallace Complex last Saturday. University President D. R. Theophilus served as master of ceremonies.

Among those attending were members of the Board of Regents and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell from New Meadows. Campbell Hall is named for Mrs. Campbell, a past member of the Board.

Mr. Hawkes highlighted the growth of the University in his dedicatory address. He said:

"Within a 24-hour period this weekend, the University will have dedicated buildings costing more than all the buildings constructed on the campus within the first half of the institution's life. I refer to the Student Union Building addition, costing about $2 million, and the Wallace Residence Center, costing $3.75 million.

"In both cases, financing was done through Regent's bond issues. You may ask: Do the Regents have confidence in the future of the University? The answer is found in the $5.75 million worth of brick and mortar and steel which has just been added to this campus.

"I would point out, too, that financiers who deal in University of Idaho bonds have equal confidence. The University recently became the first institution of higher learning ever to have a revenue bond issue rated by Moody's Investors Service of New York."

Hawkes pointed out that the four-story Wallace Residence Center, providing rooms for 424 students and cafeteria service for 900, is unique in design on the Idaho campus. The rooms are arranged in suites, complete with bathroom facilities, for four students. To develop better group unity, each two floors are considered a living group.

Engineers Use Displays At Lab Party

A lab party, centered around scientific and engineering displays, will be held at 7:30 Friday evening at Kirtley Engineering Laboratory No. 2.

This party, sponsored by the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, will present such displays as a working model of the famous "Sidewinder" missile from the US Naval Test Station, China Lake, Calif.

Several scale models of space vehicles, including the Bomarc, Minuteman Missile, Dyna-Soar Space Glider and the Saturn Booster of Boeing Aircraft Company will be shown.

Idaho's Engineering Experiment Station will display several phases of its current research project on snow measurement that utilized radio isotopes and an extensive telemetry network.

Seating will be limited in this James Thurber production to 500 each night so students should pick up their tickets in the ASUI office, according to Cary Ambrose, publicity chairman.

The play, under the direction of Jean Collette, head of the Drama Department, is a series of 17 sketches including one about Thurber himself.

Scenery was designed by Edmund Chavez, assistant professor of drama and technical director of the play. Two turntables have been set up to revolve with different backdrops for each sketch.

Members of the cast may play roles in several of the scenes. "The Night the Bed Fell," Milton Slavin, the man; "The Wolf Door," Linda Steigers, narrator; Bonnie Branson, daughter; Barbara Ware, mother; Mike Wetherell, father; and Wally Lewis, Wolf.

QUIET VILLAGE, MAYBE — But Saturday night, Martin Denny and his group added a touch of Polynesian life to our Northern campus. About 800 couples attended the concert and dance in the Student Union Ballroom.

WSU Game

1776 Tickets Sold 700 More To Go

The annual "Battle of the Palouse" took on new aspects yesterday when a ticket sell-out was announced, President D. R. Theophilus announced that no school would be dismissed and Head Football Coach Dee Andros urged no extra-curricular activities following the game.

Athletic Director J. Skip Stahley said yesterday that 1,776 tickets, the annual number allotted for the WSU game, had been sold, but that 700 more would be available this afternoon in the ASUI offices in the SUB and in the Athletic Office in Memorial Gymnasium.

Two years ago the same number of tickets were allotted for the game and 792 tickets were sent back unsold. This year, 676 student tickets have been sold, 108 tickets given to the band, 110 complimentary tickets to the football team and football coaching staff and 882 tickets have been sold to adults.

Last year, Idaho sold student tickets at $2 and Adult tickets for $3.50. WSU raised the prices on ticket sales this year to $2.50 for students and $4 for adults. Idaho will meet the price hike next year, Stahley said.

"The lack of tickets is due to the fact that there was no demand in years before," said Stahley. "It wasn't a very good business practice for them to allot any more," he said.

Ticket allotments are made at the first of the year, as the athletic departments plan their games. Changes met after the first of the year are difficult.

In other events concerning the WSU game, President Theophilus issued a statement to the effect that no school will be dismissed Monday. Reason for the decision was that the Board of Regents feels that too much time is already spent on extra-curricular activities. Due to the late start this fall, they felt academics would suffer if school were dismissed.

Coach Dee Andros, also sent a plea to the students in this form of a Dear Jason in this paper, that no "extra-curricular" activities be held following the game, but that students fully participate with the University and authorities to make the game run smoothly.

Denny's Special-Gal Hip Swinger

An overflow audience watched Martin Denny's pre-dance floor show Saturday night.

The usual 1,200 person capacity of the Student Union Ballroom was filled, with on-lookers lining two walls. Denny's five-man group brought an extra: a hip-rotating, free swinging Hawaiian girl who captured the audience during her first — and on through her last — dance.

During intermission after the floor show, students swamped the Bucket for refreshments while the chairs were removed in preparation for the dance.

Airline Has Student Rep.

Beginning the fall quarter West Coast Airlines will be represented on the campuses of Western universities by upper-class students with an aptitude for sales and public relations.

Jan Iseri, an accounting major from Payette, will represent the airline at Idaho.

Iseri will assist the company's district supervisors as resident sales representatives working with student groups and the faculty, arranging tour trips and assisting in airport ticket work.

Both parties, Campus Union Party and United Party, have presented class officers' nominations to the ASUI.

How Nominations Made

CUP's nominations were made entirely during the convention process, although many candidates declared their intent to run for nominations during the caucus immediately preceding convention.

United's nomination process began more than a week ago, with each house placing nominations for some of the offices.

Then, during a two-evening caucus Tuesday and Wednesday United narrowed the slate to four men and four women for each class.

Each primary voter Friday placed a 2 before his presidential and secretarial nominees in his own class and a 1 before the vice president and treasurer choices.

The Golden Fleece By Jason

It Could've, But It Didn't

Sometimes a dedication ceremony can fall flat. Sometimes it's just mediocre. The dedication Friday night of the new Student Union Building was an exception—it was well planned, well carried out and well accepted. Beginning with a marvelous dinner featuring prime rib, the President, Vandaleers and the speakers, all showed sincerity and excellence in their part of the program. Ezra Hawkes, president of the Board of Regents, claimed he was an unprofessional speaker when he rose to the platform. However, his presentation and material both gave sound arguments to the contrary. He presented factual, researched material, in a form that was not laborious to understand—nor dry and uninteresting. Jim Johnston, member of Executive Board, gave a reading on the "Role of the College Union," that we wish every student at the University could have heard. The Vandaleers let down their hair and sang light classical music and ended with a selection of Idaho songs that gave a case of chills to almost every student and guest in attendance.

But in all the congratulating of all the people—there was one person we feel was sadly left out—our own Daddy Gale Mix. No one in the University could have been prouder at that moment. No one worked harder, dreamed more and was cursed more often on the subject. Thursday morning, Gale was jumping around the Student Union like a kid with a new toy. "Shall we put the flowers in the cooler so they won't wilt . . . No, you can't read the telegram from JFK unless you dress for it . . . Why, I couldn't even open all the telegrams that came Wednesday morning—the girls had to help me!" So we will say what was left unsaid—congratulations Gale—you deserve 90 per cent of the credit—YOU were the spirit behind the new SUB.

Dear Jason

Thanks Students

Dear Jason:
TO: The Idaho Student Body
FROM: The Vandal coaching staff and football team
We appreciated your wonderful enthusiasm shown to us during the San Jose-Idaho football game. We want you to know we thought the cheering during the game was great. I, especially, appreciated your cooperation when San Jose asked for silence, because I was afraid that the officials might give us a penalty at that time. I can assure you that there'll be no stone left unturned in our preparation for the game Saturday with WSU. I know our squad will be very, very high for this game, and I believe they will be willing to pay the price that it will take to beat a team like WSU. I certainly hope that a great traditional game like this will not be marred by "extra-curricular" activities after the game. I know I can depend upon your cooperation. Many, many thanks for your wonderful backing to our Vandal team.
Dee Andros
Head Coach

Credit Due

Dear Jason:
One must give credit to the student body for a relatively large audience at the first of the Borah Lectures by Dr. McKenna. However, I have heard, from sources here and there, that the turnout for Dr. Johnson and Dr. Vinson was disgustingly small. I do not believe that one can too much blame the students. I was one of the few persevering ones who skipped a class to hear Dr. Johnson and thank goodness his speech was somewhat interesting. But Dr. McKenna was probably responsible for the poor crowd then and in the evening. Her speech was rather belittling of the intelligence of a college student, to say the least. As a result of her speech we now know that Senator Borah was a distinguished statesman because he was courageous, upright, and moral. One could say as much about half the people on earth, in essence she did not tell us anything that most Idahoans did not already know.

M.E. & C.E. Majors: Looking For a Career?

(investigate pg. 4)

Idaho Media Meet Hailed 'Success'

Representatives of 18 Idaho newspapers heard speakers talk about communication research and offset printing, attended the Student Union Building dedication and watched Idaho walk over San Jose during the University of Idaho Editor's and Publisher's Conference Friday and Saturday. Newspapers represented were both daily and weekly Idaho publications.

The newspapermen were also taken on a tour of the Idaho campus and attended an informal buffet luncheon with University President D. R. Theophilus Saturday morning.

Dr. Merrill Samuelson, associate professor of communications at the University of Washington, Seattle, told the newspapermen about research in communications and its importance to the newspaper industry during the first part of Friday afternoon's meeting.

During the second half of Friday's meeting Duane B. Hagadone, publisher of the Coeur d'Alene Press, explained the conversion of the Coeur d'Alene paper from letterpress to offset printing.

The Coeur d'Alene Press, one of the Scripps-Howard League chain of newspapers, is the first daily paper in the state to be printed in the new offset process. The Moscow Daily Idahoian and the ASUI Argonaut will also be converted to offset in late November.

Following the afternoon meeting, the Daily Idahoian sponsored a social hour in the Moscow Hotel for the newspapermen.

After a tour of the campus, the group attended a buffet luncheon in the Student Union and heard Dr. Theophilus speak about the building situation of the University.

The President told of the building limitations affecting the University due to the $2 million bonded indebtedness limit of the state. He also told the editors and publishers that unless "something" is done, the next generation of college students will not receive the opportunities for a quality education that their parents had.

Meetings of the Allied Dailies of Idaho and Idaho Press Association were also scheduled Saturday morning in the Student Union.

The conference was sponsored by the Journalism division of the Department of Communications of the University.

Bert Cross, chairman of Journalism, felt that the meeting had been a success. "I believe that all of the persons attending enjoyed the conference," Cross said. "They seemed to all get something out of it; those who had not been on the campus before seemed to appreciate the chance to see it."

Cross said that several of the persons attending the conference voiced a desire to make it an annual affair, but that nothing definite had been set for next year.

What Happened?

What happened to United's assertions that the party was going to undergo a complete change—constitutionally nomination wise—etc.?

We have no doubts that the officers and a few members of United caucus have tried, and tried very hard, to put through party reforms.

For the past two years United has been saying that it was going to change its party policies. We approved. But—they had their chance. They gained McConnell Hall, and did not put up one of the most aspiring candidates on the slate—Bob McFarland.

Out of 22 Greek living groups, 17 are still active members of United. They also have McConnell Hall. However—the list still looks the same. Eight member living groups of the United party are totally unrepresented. With only two exceptions, the same living groups are represented this year that have been represented in years past.

Gripes about these practices have been met with the defense that only these groups had qualified candidates. In the past this may have been true.

However, this year, the slate for each class had several candidates qualified for each office. We can name six running for an office in one class or another that are totally unqualified.

Why, we would like to know, do the other groups maintain their membership in United Party—why not go independent, join CUP or form a third party—

Why go on year after year as a member of a party which nominates people from the same house, regardless of the qualifications of people from another, or regardless of how many strides another house has made, or where it ranks, activity-wise, etc. with the others.

It not only looks foolish—it's damn poor politics. K.S.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY
With tuition costs steadily on the rise, more and more undergraduates are looking into the student loan plan. If you are one such, you would do well to consider the case of Leonid Sigafos. Leonid, the son of an unemployed bean gleaner in Straightened Circumstances, Montana, had his heart set on going to college, but his father, alas, could not afford to send him. Leonid applied for a Regents Scholarship, but his reading speed, alas, was not very rapid—three words an hour—and before he could finish the first page of his exam, the Regents had closed their briefcases crossly and gone home. Leonid then applied for an athletic scholarship, but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill—picking up beebees with his toes—and this, alas, aroused only fleeting enthusiasm among the coaches. And then—happy day!—Leonid learned of the student loan plan: he could borrow money for his tuition and repay it in easy installments after he left school! Happily Leonid enrolled in the Southeastern Montana Col-

...but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill

lege of Lanolin and Restoration Drama and happily began a college career that grew happier year by year. Indeed, it became altogether ecstatic in his senior year because Leonid met a coed named Anna Livia Plurabelle with hair like beaten gold and eyes like two sockets full of Lake Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm, and they were betrothed on St. Crispin's Day. Happily they made plans to be married immediately after commencement—plans, alas, that were never to come to fruition because Leonid, alas, learned that Anna Livia, like himself, was in college on a student loan, which meant that he not only had to repay his own loan after graduation but also Anna Livia's and the job, alas, that was waiting for Leonid at the Butte Otter Works simply did not pay enough, alas, to cover both loans, plus rent and food and clothing and television repairs. Heavy hearted, Leonid and Anna Livia sat down and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and tried to find an answer to their problem—and, sure enough, they did! I do not know whether or not Marlboro Cigarettes helped them find an answer; all I know is that Marlboros taste good and look good and filter good, and when the clouds gather and the world is black as the pit from pole to pole, it is a heap of comfort and satisfaction to be sure that Marlboros will always provide the same easy pleasure, the same unstinting tobacco flavor, in all times and climes and conditions. That's all I know. Leonid and Anna Livia, I say, did find an answer—a very simple one. If their student loans did not come due until they left school, why then they just wouldn't leave school! So after receiving their bachelor's degrees, they re-enrolled and took master's degrees. After that they took doctor's degrees—loads and loads of them—until today Leonid and Anna Livia, both aged 87, both still in school, hold doctorates in Philosophy, Humane Letters, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Civil Engineering, Optometry, Woodpulp, and Dewey Decimals. Their student loans, at the end of the last fiscal year, amounted to a combined total of nineteen million dollars—a sum which they probably would have found some difficulty in repaying had not the Department of the Interior recently declared them a National Park. © 1963 Max Shulman
You don't need a student loan—just a little loose change—to grab a pack of smoking pleasure: Marlboros, sold in all fifty states in familiar soft pack and Flip-Top box.

Vandals, Vandal Babes Win; Cougar Game Saturday

Presenting perhaps one of the top freshman football teams in the Northwest, the Idaho Vandal Babes topped the University of Washington Pups, 32-18 Friday afternoon in Seattle. The Babes travel to Columbia Basin Junior College and then play their only home game in Moscow against Washington State's Couabes Nov. 8.

With Jerry Ahlin quarterbacking the Vandals like a veteran and making full use of a talented array of backfield abilities, the Vandals took full charge after the Huskies had scored after an Idaho fumble early in the first period.

Husky Pups Ground
Ray McDonald, Butch Slaughter, Joe McCollum, and Tim Lavens, all but ground the Husky defenders into the Washington turf. An Idaho fumble created the first Washington score. The Huskies drove deep in Idaho territory but then yielded the ball only to get it back on a bobble on the Idaho 8 yard line. Rick Johnson scored for the Pups on a one-yard plunge.

From then on the Vandals took things into their own hands. McDonald crashed 5 yards to a score in the first period and Ahlin plunged on a quarterback sneak in the second period. The Babes drove from their own 30 to the Washington 4 for their first explosion. An Ahlin to Lavens pass was the key play before McDonald carried for the Idaho tally.

McDonald Scores
In the third period the Vandals scored twice as the Vandals drove to the Washington 9 and tried a field goal which was wide. Moments later the Babes returned a punt to the Idaho 47. Slaughter, McDonald, and McCollum alternated to the Washington 4 and McDonald crunched to the 1. Slaughter then dove in for the score.

Again the Pups cooperated by fumbling a pitchout and Nick Mignone recovered for the Babes on the Washington 23. Ahlin turned to the air and completed a toss to Slaughter to the 17 and then faked a pass and ran to the 9. A penalty put the ball back on the 19 and Ahlin kept again to 9 before hitting Lavens in the left flat for the fourth Vandal tally, and McDonald went for the two point conversion.

Final Period
In the final period the Vandals intercepted again and this time John Shelt picked sizeable yardage on a neat bit of running and the Huskies were penalized for piling on, putting the ball on the Husky 23. McDonald plowed to the 16 and Ahlin scored a moment later by faking a pitchout and keeping the ball.

The final score of the game was a long scoring heave by Washington's Johnson to Dave Williams of the Huskies covering 67 yards.

Ray McDonald was the man of the afternoon as he rushed for 140 yards on 24 carries.

TURKEY TROT SATURDAY
Intramural cross country (the Turkey Trot) will be held this Saturday at 9:00 a.m. starting at the golf course. The event will be scored as a cross country meet with the top four runners from each group counting in the scoring.

1776 tickets have been sold for the WSU game—676 to students, 108 given to the band. Seven hundred more will be sold.

O. K., we'll have the tickets—BUT—

Phi Delts Become League Champs

The Phi Delts became the first intramural football team to win a league championship this year as they beat the SAEs to retain their unbeaten status. Although the final score was an even 6-6, the Phi Delts got the victory with three first downs to one for the SAEs. Neither team was credited with a penetration.

The Phi Delts took the ball to start the game and drove quickly to scoring position. A pass was completed for a touchdown, but called back on a penalty. Then Brad Rice threw a touchdown pass to Bill Huizinga, who leaped high in the air to make the catch. The extra point attempt was stopped.

SAEs Come Back
The remainder of the first half was a standoff, but in the second half the SAEs got rolling. They moved to the Phi Delt one on a pass interference call and scored on a pass up the middle from Charley Thornbrugh to Chuck White.

The important extra point failed when the Phi Delts had another pass over the middle well-covered. The rest of the game saw the Phi Delts protect their lead in first downs, while the SAEs tried to get a winning penetration.

All other games scheduled for the latter part of last week were rained out and were scheduled for last night and tonight. The Greek teams saw their final action last night except for the important partial rematch between the Betas and the Delts.

The Betas can win League Four tonight if they are able to defeat the Delts. A Delt victory would result in a tie in League Four between the Betas and the winner of last night's Kappa Sigma Nu contest.

Schedule
Tonight will see the wrap up of Leagues One and Two with the independent titles still up for grabs. The schedule includes: field 1, Shoup Hall vs. McConnell Hall; field 2, Town Men's Association vs. Gault Hall; field 3, Lindley Hall vs. Willis Sweet Hall; field 4, Upham Hall vs. Chrisman Hall; field 5, Town Men's Association 2 vs. Gault Hall 2; field 6, Lindley Hall 2 vs. Willis Sweet Hall 2; field 7, Upham Hall 2 vs. Chrisman Hall 2; field 8, Delta Tau Delta vs. Beta Theta Pi.

GO VANDAL—Idaho quarterback Mike Monahan is shown going for yardage in Saturday's game against San Jose. The Vandals won, 28-12.

Vandals Beat Spartans Before 8700 Fans, 28-12

Idaho's Vandals made their record 4-2 Saturday afternoon as they defeated the San Jose State Spartans, 28-12. The Spartans upset the Cougars from Washington State 13-8 two weeks ago at Pullman. Idaho plays WSU Saturday.

The Vandals scored their first touchdown after Vandal Co-captain Don Matthews blocked a Spartan punt and the ball was recovered by the Vandals on the Spartan 24 yard line. Galen Rogers rushed three times for 10 yards, and quarterback Gary Mires carried the ball to the 4. Mires was also hurt on this play and was out for the remainder of the game. Rich Naccarato made the tally in two attempts, and with Mike Mayne kicking the conversion, the Vandals sped to a 7-0 lead.

Second TD
With 3 minutes and 33 seconds gone in the second quarter, the Vandals tallied again. Naccarato carried for the score, and Mike Mayne again converted, this time from the 36 yard line. On his first attempt, there had been a penalty, and the ball had been moved back to the 36.

A piece of good fortune gave the Spartans their first score of the afternoon. With a handy assist from a pair of 5 yard penalties, Idaho had the Spartans in a third and 11 at their 37 after the kickoff. San Jose quarterback Ken Berry sent four men out on a pass pattern. He stepped back and chose split-end Harry Kellogg, on a deep hook at mid-field, deep enough for a first down. The pass was high and skimmed off his fingers and also the hands of two Idaho defenders. San Jose's Roberts finally caught the ball and raced into the end zone for an easy six points.

B-Ball Team Has Contest Says Coach

After two weeks of Idaho basketball workouts, coach Jim Goddard is looking back with mixed emotions. The team ran a full game scrimmage Saturday with the teams divided up evenly.

Goddard said the purpose of the scrimmage was to see if the team was able to use the offense it has learned to get enough shots. He was very pleased with the fact that the two teams were able to shoot a total of 183 times during the contest.

Some of the players turned in excellent shooting performances, in particular, Bob Emehiser, a transfer from North Idaho Junior College, and Ed Tollefson, a red shirt last year. Emehiser made 7 for 14 from the field, while Tollefson also shot fifty per cent with 6 of 12.
