Vacation's End Marred By Accidents; Few Injured

A sudden snowstorm Sunday afternoon and evening combined with icy roads Monday and Tuesday caused stalled and ditched cars and several accidents involving students.

The only injuries to a student which required hospitalization were head cuts which Bob Farrelly, off campus, received when a car in which he was a passenger overturned south of Riggins Sunday.

Farrelly and Gunter Amtmann, off campus, were the only occupants of a Volkswagen which left the road on U.S. Highway 95 five miles south of Riggins at 7 a.m.

Jerry Nelson, 19, Willis Sweet; Mary Cates, 19, French House; and Carl Johnson, 21, Willis Sweet. Miss Cates received a bruised elbow and scratches.

One occupant in the California car received a bruised forehead, Albiston said.

Vehicles Stalled
Across the border in Washington cars were also ditched and stalled Sunday night, according to a Washington State Patrol spokesman.

He said there were no injuries, but that the highways near Pullman were lined with stalled vehicles. Most of the cars, he said, were driven by Washington State University and University of Idaho students.

Icy roads caused by thawing and freezing Monday and Tuesday caused several minor accidents in Moscow. Students were involved in two accidents on campus because of inability to stop on slick streets. No one was injured in either accident.

GOLD POOL TABLE COVERS — John Laughlin, acting game room manager, watches as George Evjen of the Brunswick Corp. works installing the slate tops on a pool table in the new Student Union Game Room.

UNPACKING AFTER THE MOVE — W. C. Kerr, Manager of the Student Bookstore, unpacks some books in the new Bookstore. The Bookstore features custom-built bookshelves and display tables of stained birch with brightly colored formica tops.

Bookstore Open; Game Room, Soon

Aqua blue, Idaho gold, and brown in wood and leather tones carry out the Student Union's bright, bold decoration of two of the University's newest additions: the Student Union game room and the Bookstore.

The blues and browns are featured in formica tabletops and wood paneling of the Bookstore furnishings. Gold is the color of the pool and billiard table tops in the new game room.

The new Bookstore adjoining the SUB opened Monday and the game room is scheduled for a probable Friday opening. Construction on the Bookstore was completed before Christmas vacation.

Fast Registration Check-Out
Bookstore facilities include six check-out stands, all of which will be in operation for the book-rush after second semester registration, and display tables and book racks designed for easy self service selections, according to C. R. Kerr, manager.

A check-writing desk is located near the check-out stands on the main floors to further expedite students going through the rush-lines after registration.

Book shelves from the old bookstore have been utilized to provide storage space behind the new shelves to back up book stock on the front shelves.

Doubled Old Store
The new store covers 4,300 square feet, twice the area of the old bookstore, on the ground floor supply and souvenir display area and 2,288 square feet in the basement book selection area.

For ease in self selection, signs will be placed above text-book shelves to direct students to the right area for needed books.

"Self selection is part of modern merchandising," Kerr said. "When you go to a supermarket and want vegetables, you look for the right sign. It will be similar in the Bookstore."

In addition, paper-back books will be catalogued for shelf numbers in a file which will be located on a service counter adjacent to the office.

Same Merchandise
Merchandise items carried in the Bookstore will be essentially the same as before: books, supplies, sweatshirts and souvenir items, but there will be more of them, said Kerr.

"This is part of the expansion for students to accommodate an expanding Idaho campus," Kerr said.

Moved Again
Moving from one section of the SUB to another has been an often repeated part of the University Student Bookstore in its 26 years on the Idaho campus.

The Bookstore was established in the SUB in 1938. It occupied several locations in the SUB including a small ballroom where the Kullyspell Room is now located.

It was removed from the SUB after the Union's remodeling in 1950 and relocated in what formerly had been the Blue Bucket Inn, which stood on the site of the present store.

Last year the store was moved to the games and crafts rooms in the basement of the then newly completed SUB addition while the old Blue Bucket building was razed to make room for the new building.

Games Quarters Available
The SUB game room was made available when the Bookstore furnishings arrived, enabling the move from the temporary Bookstore in the game and crafts rooms in the basement of the SUB.

Five pool tables, three billiard tables and two ping-pong tables will be ready for play when the games room opens.

Two of the pool tables are new, others were in use in the SUB before remodeling was begun last school year.

All of the tables will be equipped with new gold covers, slate tops, and cushions and pockets.

A charge of 60 cents an hour will be made for use of the pool and billiard tables and will be payable at the bowling alley desk. The game room will be open the same hours as the bowling alley: 1 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursdays, 1 p.m. to 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 2 to 11 p.m. Sundays.

Deputy Sheriff Frankie Heath said Gunter told him he went to sleep. The car was damaged beyond practical repair after it ran along the edge of the road for 50 feet, hit a large rock, rolled over a bank and hit the old road below on its top.

Farrelly and Amtmann were taken to the Grangeville hospital by the Riggins city police. Farrelly was held overnight and discharged Monday. Amtmann didn't require treatment, according to a hospital spokesman.

Snow Clogged Highway
Moscow received about six inches of snow Sunday, starting at 4 p.m., which clogged U. S. Highway 95 south of Moscow toward Lewiston. About 25 cars of returning students and two Greyhound busses were stalled and traffic was tied up between Moscow and the Genesee flat for three hours.

Deputy Sheriff Edwin Pierson said no more than six vehicles were damaged in the accidents, and that there were no injuries. Three wreckers were called for on the road south of Moscow, but none were called either north or west of Moscow.

Four University students made it back to Moscow Monday after an accident Sunday near the Lost Trail Pass in their car, although it was damaged beyond practical repair.

Struck During Skid
The students' car was struck in the side by a skidding California car headed the opposite direction, according to State Highway Patrolman Elvin Albiston.

Albiston said the students' 1956 car received about $700 more damage than the estimated value of the vehicle, but that he and Deputy Sheriff Glen Monkers of Lemhi County helped rope the left-hand door shut and pulled out a rubbing fender so the students could drive it back to school.

The students involved were Elvin Smith, 25, off campus;

'Some In Agreement' Says Pastor As 800 March

Approximately 800 youths from communities throughout the Boise area marched on the Idaho Capitol Monday to demonstrate their support of the Bible-reading law.

One Boise minister remarked that "there are quite a few of the ministers here who are quite in agreement with the suit."

The unidentified clergymen went on to say "we're not interested in our children being immunized against religion."

The statement was made in regard to the march by young people from a number of southwest Idaho churches who paraded through Boise's business district to the Capitol Saturday in a demonstration its chairman said was intended to "voice public opinion" on the subject of Bible reading in the schools.

YR Speaker Slates Talk

University Young Republicans will hear a history instructor's evaluation of "The Republican Image" at their meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Silver Room of the Student Union Building.

Charles Simmons, instructor of history, will be the featured speaker. Simmons, new to the campus this year, teaches world and Latin American history.

Other business at the meeting will include nomination of officers for election at the following meeting, discussion of plans for a Lincoln Day banquet, possibly featuring Senator Len B. Jordan, and serving of refreshments.

All interested persons are invited to attend, Mark Brown, president of the organization, said.

said the group was "not entering into the legal aspects of this question."

"These young people," he said, "are representatives of quite a large group of denominations and are testifying to their approval of Bible reading and reciting the Lord's Prayer in the schools."

"With the Attorney General of the State defending the school board in the lawsuit we are hoping we will be able to strengthen his hands."

Moscow ministers and parents are bringing suit pending in U. S. District Court challenging the constitutionality of the Idaho Bible-reading law on grounds that it violates the first and fourteenth amendments of the federal constitution.

Asked Dismissal
Friday, Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard asked U. S. District Court to dismiss a lawsuit asking it to declare Idaho's compulsory public school Bible-reading law unconstitutional.

In an answer filed on behalf of state officials and the Moscow School District, Shepard denied that the law violates constitutional guarantees against state interference in religious matters.

The U. S. Supreme Court has declared unconstitutional a similar law in another state requiring Bible reading.

Only Denied
Shepard did not argue but only denied the assertions of the plaintiffs that Idaho's law violates the first and fourteenth amendments to the U. S. Constitution and a provision of the State Constitution.

Shepard also denied a contention that it is the practice of Idaho schools to require children to listen to reading of the selected Bible verses.

Contentions by the plaintiffs denied by Shepard were: "... Certain verses from the Bible are ordinarily not understandable to immature children of school age without definition and interpretation. When such verses are selected the required reading becomes no more than a formal ritual which often results in a misunderstanding. . . .

"Bible readings conducted in the public schools constitute state interference with the freedom of conscience and freedom of worship guaranteed to the plaintiffs and their children by the first and fourteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States."

That the law violates a provision of the State Constitution saying "... no teacher or student of any institution shall ever be required to attend or participate in any religious service whatsoever."

The plaintiffs contend that "the practice of religion is properly the affair of the individuals, groups and churches and not of the government." They said they do not oppose Bible instruction for educational purposes.

Judge Chase A. Clark, member of a three-judge panel named to hear the case, has said he doesn't expect it to come to trial before March.

Handbook Head Interviews Slated Jan. 15

Interviews for the position of ASUI handbook editor will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 in the Executive Board Room of the Student Union Building. Bill Frates Witherspoon, ASUI president, said Tuesday.

Students with a 2.2 grade average or better are eligible to apply for the job. Writing experience is also being sought, Witherspoon said.

The job consists of assembling the handbook, picking a theme, selection of photographs and making revisions and additions. The job pays $25, he said.

Folk Singers Stage Hootenanny Friday

Eight folk-singing groups and a group of square dancers will alternate in a Hootenanny sponsored by the Junior Class in the Student Union Ballroom Friday night at 8.

The performers are semi-professional entertainers who have been performing for hootenanny's since the folk singing craze began about a year and a half ago.

The show is being presented by Northern Enterprises Inc., Spokane, an entertainment corporation specializing only in Hootenanny's. The organization has been organized for approximately 6 to 8 months.

With String Bass
A string bass man will accompany the following groups: The Castaways, 3 performers; the Green Briers, 4 performers; Vicki and the Boys, 3 performers, the Riverside Promenaders (square dancers) 16 performers; Pete, Mark Andrews, Mike and Shirley, and the Valley Aires, 5.

The entertainers are college age and are from areas ranging from the Pacific Coast to the Northwest. The show will move in the same pattern as the national Hootenanny on TV and run a continuous two hour show. The performers will work from two mikes — while one group is performing, the next group will be preparing for the next number.

The show has recently performed at Gonzaga University, Whitworth College, Spokane and the Spokane Coliseum. After the Idaho show Friday night, they will travel to Richland, Wash., Walla Walla, Wash., and Wenatchee, Wash.

Regents Deny Residence Status In Tuition Suit

Members of the Board of Regents denied during vacation that Elmer Canfield, a University student, who is suing them for a tuition refund, is a resident of Idaho.

In an answer to the complaint lodged against them by Canfield, the Regents denied that Canfield is a State resident "within the meaning of the laws governing the determination of resident status of students seeking to enroll at the University of Idaho."

In his complaint, Canfield said that in July, 1960, he retired from the Air Force as a Lieutenant Colonel, bought a home at Genesee, and has been living there with his wife and child. He alleged that he has been a resident of Idaho since September, 1961, and asked a judgment declaring him a resident.

Is Regulation Arbitrary?

He asks that the regulation which reads "Any person who is properly classified as a non-resident student retains that status as a student without regard to age or years of attendance at any institution of higher learning in Idaho" be declared unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious as it pertains to him.

In their answer, the Regents said, "defendants deny that the regulation complained of is unreasonable, arbitrary, capricious, improper or discriminatory as to the plaintiff, or at all."

As a second and separate defense, the Regents allege that "even if the regulations complained of were for any reason invalid, the plaintiff's claim for relief sought is barred by the provisions of Section 33-2817 Idaho Code."

Sections Reads

This section provides "no student who shall have been a resident of the State for one year next preceding his admission shall be required to pay any fees for tuition in the University, excepting in a professional department and for extra studies. The Regents may prescribe rates of tuition for any student in a professional department, or who shall not have been a resident as aforesaid, and for teaching extra studies.

Canfield also seeks the return of $655 tuition.

Grads, Governor Speak at 75th Anniversary Fete

Speeches, symphonic band and choral music and the march of faculty members in their academic gowns, will mark the 75th anniversary of the founding of the University Thursday, Jan. 30.

Vice-President Lawrence H. Chamberlain of Columbia University and Governor Robert E. Smylie will be among the speakers.

On Jan. 30, 1889, Governor Edward A. Stevenson scratched his name with a quill pen on Bill No. 20 of the Idaho Territorial Legislature, and the territory's first four-year institution of higher learning was established.

Since then, the University has served 55,354 students in residence, and many thousands more through correspondence courses and adult education programs.

Degrees Given
A total of 22,148 degrees — bachelor, master and doctorate — have been awarded. About 30 students showed up for the University's first day in 1892. Today there are 5,085 on the campus.

The convocation marking the University's diamond anniversary will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Classes will be dismissed during the convocation, Rafe Gibbs, University publications director and head of the anniversary celebration, said Tuesday. The program will last until noon.

The convocation address will be given by Dr. Chamberlain, University graduate from Challis and Moscow. Governor Smylie will speak on behalf of the State of Idaho; Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president of the University, on behalf of the faculty, and Ezra M. Hawkes, Potlatch, president of the Board of Regents, on behalf of the Regents.

Greetings from the students will be given by William E. Frates Witherspoon, ASUI president, and from the alumni by James H. Roper, Burley, president of the Alumni association.

Vandaleers Sing
Music will be provided by the University Symphonic band under the direction of David Seiler, instructor of music, and by the Vandaleers choral group under the direction of Glen R. Lockery, professor of music.

In addition to the convocation, an alumni banquet will be held in the Student Union for alumni and friends of the University. Roper will be master of ceremonies. Hosting the banquet will be the Latah County alumni.

The honor of giving the convocation address goes to a man who not only studied at the University but taught at the institution. Dr. Chamberlain, a native of Challis, received a B. S. degree in education from the University in 1930. Two years later, he was awarded a master's degree in government, and began serving as an instructor. In 1935, he went to Columbia to study for a doctorate. Returning to the University after a year, he became an assistant professor and assistant dean.

From 1940 to 1942, he was a lecturer and instructor at Columbia, and continued work on his doctorate. Joining the Navy during World War II, he became assistant to the director of the Naval School of Military Government at Columbia.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia before becoming president of the United States, said of Chamberlain:

"No man I have known was more dedicated in enthusiastic commitment to the vocation of teaching."

UN Worker

He also served on the secretariat at San Francisco, which framed the United Nations. In 1945, he received his doctorate and returned to Columbia as an assistant professor, working his way up to dean of Columbia College and then vice-president of the university.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia before becoming president of the United States, said of Chamberlain:

"No man I have known was more dedicated in enthusiastic commitment to the vocation of teaching."

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

Legality Or No Legality

When the suit was filed in Moscow this fall testing the legality of the Idaho Law regarding Bible reading in the classrooms, the plaintiffs listed the disagreement of Idaho Law with the U.S. Constitution as one of the chief reasons for bringing the suit.

And yet, when 800 Idaho young people marched through Boise's business district to the Idaho capitol Saturday the chairman of the organizing committee, the Rev. Warren Combs, said the group was not entering into the legal aspects of the question but was simply testifying to its approval of Bible reading in the schools.

For some reason, since the suit was first filed, the real question has seldom been discussed. Opinions have been bantered back and forth as to whether Bible reading should or should not be practiced in public schools. All of this is fine. The arguments for and against are interesting, although many of them against the suit seem to get somewhat emotional and irrational.

But Jason doubts if there is doubt in the minds of most legalists that Idaho's law is illegal. It matters not whether you agree or disagree with the law—the point is it is illegal and not only should be abolished but must be thrown out if the Idaho constitution is to be respected.

It is also an abominable situation when the people who are bringing the test suit — ministers, members of congregations, parents of school children, are criticized because they are "against God."

This could not be further from the truth. The plaintiffs are sincere, God-fearing people who not only believe in the Bible but believe in teaching it. One purpose in bringing the suit was to avoid the possibility of atheists or agnostics filing the suit.

The persons who are bringing the suit believe in the Bible, just as Jason is sure that the persons who oppose the suit believe in the Bible.

But it is not the place of people who disagree with the U.S. Supreme Court's decision last summer to chastise those who brought suit in Idaho. They brought the suit as a result of the Supreme Court's decision. The Supreme Court's decision was the result of the wording of the Constitution our forefathers wrote many years ago.

Disagreement with the illegality of Bible reading in public schools should not be illustrated by marches on the capitol or abuses toward the plaintiffs. It should be brought in a reasonable, rational, adult fashion.

And, as far as Jason can see, the only way the disagreement can manifest itself in a logical manner is by initiating an amendment to the federal constitution on which the U.S. Supreme Court's decision was based.

We doubt, however, if anyone will take these steps. For the first amendment to the Constitution is as much a part of our American heritage as the belief in God as our Creator.

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof . . ."

"No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States . . ."

Released Time - - - Legal?

Reading of the Bible in the classrooms is as illegal as the practice of released time in public schools for religious instruction, or the requirements by some Idaho high schools that students be required to have credits of religious instruction to receive a diploma. Or the curricula setup which allows students a choice — boys and girls alike — between Home Economics and religious instruction of a particular denomination.

We are sure that the schools that require this practice, and the school district residents who support it, would disapprove as strongly of a requirement of credit hours in atheism as we disagree with the practice of teaching a particular denomination's idea of religious instruction.

All of these practices are illegal. It's unrealistic to say that if you favor one — the teaching of a particular denomination's belief is fine—but to teach atheism isn't.

So let's respect others rights and beliefs just as we will hope they respect ours.

After all — seems like it says something similar in the Bible.

AND SO WITH NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

Flunking Frosh

Flunking, flunk-outs and freshmen become popular topics at finals time every semester.

This time the topic is so popular that even the Humanities Department has entered the fray—purpose: to squash wild tales about grading practices in English 1 and 2.

The department contends in its English Newsletter, that first, many F students flunk because of cutting classes, cutting exams and failure to turn in work. Second, it also mentions the University policy of admitting all comers from Idaho as a reason for the low English grades.

Anyhow, what they came up with in terms of percentages of frosh who flunk is presented on page 1.

Boiled down, they gave D's and F's to more than one-third of the freshmen, while one-fourth got A's and B's.

One professor in the College of Engineering did a study of freshmen grades for the fall term of 1962-63 to see who flunks how many in which courses.

In his particular department of engineering, about 30 per cent of all the freshman grades fell in the D, F, and withdrawal categories. Interestingly, while 5.17 per cent of the students got A's in English (over-all through the University), only four percent of frosh engineers in his department got A's in engineering 1.

0.00 per cent of the frosh engineers got A's in English 1; 1.95 per cent A's in math 11; and 2.22 per cent A's in chem 11.

F's are perhaps as significant as A's. Six per cent of the frosh engineers in that department flunked engineering 1; 19 per cent flunked English 1; 21.6 per cent flunked math 11; and 11.1 per cent flunked chem 11.

The frosh bell curve looks heavy on the F end.—K.P.

Bookstore—No Holdup Here

With the opening of the new bookstore and next semester's post-registration book rush drawing near this is an opportune time to point out a fact or two about text book costs and the new book store.

1. Self selection is a major feature of the new bookstore. This should provide the students with the opportunity to browse and decide if $6.95 is too much to pay for that engineering or marketing text that one could just as easily do without. Hence there should be no one to blame except oneself for buying or not buying a book listed as required for a particular course.

2. Book prices are set by the publishers and not by the bookstore. Prices on most texts are set at around a 20 per cent mark-up. This 20 per cent must cover personnel salaries, other overhead costs and losses taken on books which are not sold and become outdated before the courses requiring them are offered again.

3. It is a myth that books are sold for less at neighboring Washington State University's Student Bookstore. In a tele phone conversation yesterday with the manager of the WSU store, the Argonaut was informed that the 20 per cent mark-up on books is standard at college bookstores throughout the nation.

4. The Idaho bookstore is operated by the Board of Regents as a service to the students enrolled at the University of Idaho. Any profit shown by the store is placed in a special Regent's fund for projects at the University for which it is difficult to get appropriations.

5. As a part in expanding the services of the Student Book Store, the new building is amply designed. Space is now available in the store to provide more back up stocks to meet the needs of an expanding university. And in an effort to prevent bottlenecks and to expedite purchasing books and supplies during rush times, six check-out stands instead of the three, as before and a check writing desk are included in the features of the new store.

CONCLUSION: We are not so persecuted after all.

My Column

By Mark Brown

In my somewhat dubious position as president of the campus Young Republican organization, I received in the mail a few gems of literature from my old friends on the white supremacy committee of New York State and elsewhere, sometimes known as The Truth Seeker Company, Inc., New York 8, New York.

This honorable agency, through its far-sighted and perceptive articles, is attempting, in its humble and tactful way, to alert the first-class citizens of Our Great Nation to the danger posed by that nasty man in the striped pants and tall hat, Uncle Sam, and his Catholic, Jewish and Negro friends.

My friends the Truth Seekers (by its name, an honorable profession) have sent me, under plain white wrapper (daring to deviate from the usual brown paper), four enlightening articles respectively entitled "The Antiquity of Racial Differences," "Time Is Running Out on the Whites"; "Negro-Breeding Dooms Newburgh," and "UNCLE SAM: Black Bastard Breeder Supreme."

Their purpose, of course, is to disclose the atrocities perpetrated by Uncle Sam in the name of social welfare.

Oh! Unk's instrument of doom is the aid to dependent children program of the federal government, more far-sightedly and perceptively renamed "BBB" by the watchful Truth Seekers.

Humble and tactful as they are, the Truth Seekers are brave enough to call 'em' as they see 'em. None of this confusing and deceptive "Negro" or "illegitimate child" stuff for them. They set it down in Black and White.

The trouble is that too many "B . . . s" are "b . . . ing" too many little "b . . . s" and the White population of Our Great Nation either can't, or hasn't the urge to, keep up with them.

Now the solution, of course, is to stop this aid to dependent children, thereby starving these little "b . . . s" to death and assuring that Our Side will maintain its superiority.

Oh, how clever and wise are my friends the Truth Seekers! Who else could pose such a clear and simple solution to such a complex social problem? Unless they were far-sighted and perceptive?

But even with a solution in sight, Our Side is faced with a struggle from the Catholic Church, the Jewish religion and, naturally, the "BBB'ers." If you don't think so, just ask Martin A. Larson, author of "Time Is Running Out on the Whites."

As of Martin puts it, "Unless Caucasian Protestants and secularists learn how to protect themselves before it is too late, they will soon be overwhelmed and destroyed by the Negro hordes and the medieval Church (Catholic), both of which are today growing by leaps and bounds and which will most certainly destroy our culture in a very few generations if their march to power continues unchecked."

Which means, of course, that when this happens we'll have to start treating those folks like equals and just because they have so-called Constitutional rights isn't going to make it any easier. For Our Side.

Now just because the Constitution of the United States doesn't come right out and say that Our Great Nation was created exclusively for upper class Caucasian Protestants, there is no reason for those busybody federalists to try to spread it around, and of Martin will back me up on that.

Anyway, this idea of social welfare is just a Jewish plot, as Charles Smith, editor of the Truth Seeker, can tell you. They come around with that "brotherhood" jazz about it being more blessed to give than to receive and everybody thinks they have to go out and help the less fortunate. Which is silly, because if we let them starve, they won't be a problem any more.

Besides, everybody knows that it's the baby's fault that he's illegitimate. Just walk into the maternity ward of a large northern city and look at the evidence. One thing though. Black or White, he's sure a cute little "b . . . s".

Dept. Stats U. S. Foreign Service Exams Squash Old Will Be Given March 7 Flunk Tale

The common freshman complaint that too many students are flunked out of English 1 and 2 was opposed in the English Newsletter of the Department of Humanities.

"Each year . . . wild tales of grading practices in English 1 and English 2 sweep the University of Idaho campus and the State.

"To squash such tales, Dr. J. Vail Foy, former director of freshman composition, has provided the following information," the Newsletter said.

Not All Flunk Listed as receiving A's were 5.17 per cent; B's, 10.23; C's, 38.47; D's, 20.41 per cent; and F's, 15.24.

The observation made concerning the 168 F students was that 20 failed for serious over-cutting, cutting exams and failure to turn in work.

"It should be noted that the University of Idaho admits all comers from Idaho high schools. Thus the failure list actually represents in part the work of an admissions committee on a selective campus."

Fewer Flunk-Outs English 2 grades at the end of the second semester, 1962-63, by percentages, were A's, 7.98; B's, 24.56; C's, 43.89; D's, 17.45; and F's, 6.10.

"Of the 49 F students, 17 were listed for the reasons given above as abnormal failures.

"During the second semester, the grade curve closely approximated the bell-curve expectancy. All of the twenty or so instructors graded independently of each other and without any instructions as to percentage of any grades."

Compton I. White, Jr., representative from Idaho, announced recently that written examinations for men and women interested in a career with the United States Foreign Service will be held on March 7 and on Dec. 5, 1964.

The examination will be given at 84 centers throughout the United States.

Each year the Department of State conducts examinations to select junior Foreign Service officers, White said.

The selection process consists of these four stages: the written examination, the oral examination, evaluation of information and the background investigation and the initial period of training and probationary service.

In addition to individuals with backgrounds in political science, history and government, the Foreign Service is seeking those trained in budget and fiscal work, management, personnel, labor relations, law, banking, industry, foreign trade and other aspects of economics and administration.

Applicants between 21 and 31 years of age, and have been citizens of the United States for ten years are eligible to take this examination. A person 20 years of age is eligible if he has either a bachelor's degree or

Regents Buy Deakin Lots

Regents of the University recently purchased the house on the corner between the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house and the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

All of lots 8, 9, and 10 and part of lot 7 of Deakin's First Addition to Moscow were transferred to the University through the Idaho First National Bank, trustee of the estate of Ethel Greene.

University Business Manager Joseph Watts said the University intended to raise the house on the corner in the near future.

"We bought the property primarily because it was available and we thought it an opportune time to buy," Watts said. Watts declined to reveal the amount of the purchase.

HOUSTON CELEBRATES FIRST CAMPUS XMAS

Houston Hall celebrated its first Christmas by participating in many activities.

On Dec. 15 Houston participated in a Christmas fireside with Wallace Complex. A hootenanny was held and refreshments were served. The independent mens living groups were serenaded on Dec. 16 by the girls of Houston.

Before leaving from school for vacation a pixie fireside was held after closing hours. Gifts were exchanged and carols were sung.

SANTA BRINGS HELPER TO THETA HOUSE

At the Christmas house fireside, Santa surprised the girls by bringing along Mrs. Santa to help him. Short poems read by Santa helped the girls guess the identity of the owners of the packages beneath the tree were included in the fun.

The Theta pledges had a pre-Christmas exchange with the Fijis.

Pledges had an exchange Wednesday night with McConnell Hall.

The Delta Sig members and pledges held their annual Christmas fireside Dec. 15. The evening was spent singing Christmas carols, dancing, and decorating the Christmas tree. Refreshments were provided for by the Delta Sig mothers from southern Idaho.

AWS Wants Xmas Cards

AWS wants to see your cards, Christmas cards, that is, Linda Kinney, AWS president, said Tuesday.

AWS officers requested Monday that living groups save their Christmas cards to be used as a follow-up on the pre-Christmas AWS fund collecting campaign for State Hospital North. Cards will be sent to the hospital and will be used there as material for occupational therapy.

AWS sent a $63 check to the hospital before Christmas to be used to buy supplies and equipment which the patients use in handicraft projects. The money was collected through banks which were placed in each women's living group.

Cards may be turned over to Miss Kinney or to Carol Ritter, Hays.

30 Delegates From Idaho

Thirty International Farm Youth Exchange delegates have been sent to foreign countries from Idaho since 1950.

Twenty-seven of the delegates have been University students. Of the 27, nine are now serving in jobs overseas.

Donald Mitchell, Idaho's first IFYE in 1950, is now serving as Rural Youth Advisor in Thailand. Mitchell is the former assistant State 4-H Club Leader at the University.

Carl Gotsch, former IFYE to Egypt, now has a Ford Foundation contract with Harvard University in Karachi, Pakistan.

Art Misner, former IFYE to Pakistan is now serving as a technical representative to the Rohm and Haas Chemical Company in Bombay, India.

David Youmans, IFYE to Colombia is with the CARE program in Bogota, Columbia.

Tom Trail, former IFYE to Nepal is with the Peace Corps in Cuenca, Ecuador.

Thomas Cooper, IFYE to Chile, works with the International Voluntary Service in Vietnam.

Dave Kunkel, is with the Peace Corps in Mersin, Turkey. Sharron Dalton a former IFYE delegate to Nepal is in England with her husband.

Carol Falk, IFYE to Brazil, is now with the International Voluntary Service in Laos.

MEN KNITTERS

In the 1930's men students at the University, threatened to take up knitting to get revenge on the women students who had recently gained the privileges of voting and smoking.

REACHING FOR HIGHER THINGS - Caroline Bodine, graduate student in agronomy, is looking forward to her experiences as Idaho's latest IFYE delegate. The country to which she will be sent has not been announced.

Miss Bodine Is Idaho's IFYE Delegate

Caroline Bodine, off campus, has recently been chosen as Idaho's International Farm Youth Exchange Delegate for 1964.

Miss Bodine, who received her B.S. in agriculture in 1963, is presently working as a technical aid in the Agricultural Biochemistry Department.

The International Farm Youth Exchange Program finances high school graduates between the ages of 20 and 30, having a rural background with a six-month trip to a foreign country.

The exchange student lives with several families during his trip. Most of the families live in rural areas of the particular country.

What one can learn about the people of the country is where the true values of the program lie, according to Maurice Johnson, assistant State 4-H leader.

Miss Bodine will leave in May for a country which has not yet been announced. She attended Washington State University for two years and is planning to work toward a M.S. in soil chemistry. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and the Agronomy Club.

The program is financed by private donations of corporations, private clubs, church groups and 4-H clubs.

Two University Profs Attend Los Alamos Scientific Meet

Dr. Lorin W. Roberts, associate professor of botany, and Dr. Malcolm M. Renfrew, head of the Department of Physical Sciences, attended a meeting at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, Los Alamos, New Mexico, recently.

The purpose of the meeting was to gain the support of Rocky Mountain and Southwest colleges and universities for a proposed $50 million high energy linear accelerator. The support of these colleges is needed to get this project through Congress.

If the accelerator were installed, the regional universities would have a voice in the management of it and be able to participate in its use. "User" groups from the schools could be developed to exploit the accelerator and other Los Alamos facilities.

The Atomic Energy Commission, who would build the machine, says that it would be of great interest not only to nuclear physicists but also to biologists, chemists and engineers because of the extremely high intensity of its beam.

It would be a 2,000-foot-long high-intensity proton beam machine designed to produce pions and a great variety of other sub-atomic particles.

Some 50 deans of graduate schools, chairmen of departments of physics, chemistry and engineering and several AEC officials heard Los Alamos staff members describe LASL's varied facilities and programs and were conducted on tours to some of the technical areas which have been removed from national defense security classification.

The Los Alamos Laboratory is operated for the AEC by the University of California under a contractual arrangement dating from its establishment.

Vandals Take To Road For Two Conference Games

Vandals Head South To Face Weber Thursday, ISU Sat.

After a brief one-night stand at home the Idaho Vandals return to the road this week for a pair of Big Sky conference basketball games in Ogden, Utah, and Pocatello.

The Vandals, dropped 69-61 in their Big Sky opener by Gonzaga, will be trying to crack the conference win column against two of the top teams in the loop, Weber State and Idaho State. It will be the first meeting for Idaho and Weber on the maples. But the Vandal-ISU scramble is just a renewal of a series that took on a regular feature during the 1961-62 season.

Since Idaho and the Bengals resumed hoop competition Idaho has won three and ISU one game. The teams split in 1962 each winning by two points at home. Last year Idaho swept the series.

Veteran Tom Whitfield continues to lead the Vandals in scoring with a 13.1 average and the tall senior from Seattle has taken over the rebounding lead with 107 recoveries. Chuck Kozak, junior front liner from Seattle moved into second spot in the scoring parade with a 10.7 average. Tom Moreland, the Coeur d'Alene ace, dropped to second in rebounding with 106 and third in scoring with 10.2 average.

Rookie Ed Haskins from St. Maries is fourth with a 7.6 average and Terry Henson from Kent, Wash. is fifth with a 5.9 mark.

V-Champs Decided; One Spot To Go

In the closing 1963 school days two more league champions were dedicated in intramural volleyball, leaving only one top position undecided.

Willis Sweet Hall and Upham Hall 2 coasted in to win their respective independent leagues by comfortable margins. Meanwhile the Kappa Sigs downed the ATOs and the Tekes to tie the Tekes for the top rung. That title will be decided in a play-off tonight at 7:00.

The SAEs had already clinched their league title and will await the winner of the Teke-Kappa Sig game before playing off for the Greek championship. The independent championship game will be played tonight also with the winner going into the campus championship contest to be held Thursday night.

Second place behind the SAEs in league three is still in the middle of a playoff as a three-way tie developed. The Deltas defeated the Phi Deltas and will play the Fijis tonight for the second position.

Lindley 2 defeated Willis Sweet 2 to keep alive their hopes in a similar arrangement in League Two. They meet Chrisman 2 tonight for the second spot in that league.

FUTURE VANDAL FOE — Montana State College's guard Dave Knostman will be facing the Vandals when the two teams meet Monday, Jan. 13, here. Knostman stands 6-3 and weighs 185. He is a senior from Spokane.

North Idaho Prep Stars Pace Frosh

A pair of former north Idaho prep aces — Dave Schlotthauer from Post Falls and Mike Wicks from Coeur d'Alene — are pacing the Idaho freshmen after four games.

Schlottthauer is the leading scorer with 69 points and a 17.3 average. He is third in rebounding with 30. Wicks, firing at a torrid 53.7 clip from the outside, has 54 points and a 13.5 average.

Former Caldwell football and basketball ace Ray McDonald was the teams leading rebounder, but he will not be with coach Chuck White's Vandal Babes following the holiday vacation. McDonald is dropping basketball to concentrate on football and track. He was third in scoring with 50 points and had snared 58 rebounds.

The two freshman quarterbacks from Southern Idaho stand four and five in scoring. Jerry Ahlin from Borah has 37 points and 34 rebounds. John Fouria from Emmett has 30 points. Byron Strickland from Portland has 23 and Rod Bohman from Troy has 20. Bohman is shooting at a 53.3 mark.

P. E. Honorary Sponsors Dance

Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education honorary, will hold its Fourth Annual Sports Dance Saturday, Jan. 18 from 9-12 p.m. in the Student Union Building Ballroom.

Tickets for this all campus semi-formal can be obtained from the physical education faculty in the office of the Memorial and Women's gyms, from Phi Epsilon Kappa members and also at the door.

The purpose of this last big function of the semester is to give emphasis to the place sports play in college life. Co-chairmen for the dance are Fred Crowell, off campus, and Bruce Trowbridge, Delta Sig.

In 1930 sleighing accidents sent five students to the infirmary in one week.

Jim Faucher's behind the scoreboard

For the majority of you that take it upon yourselves to read this column, I know that you had a nice vacation, and could hardly wait to get back to school. Well, for some of your fellow students, it wasn't that nice a vacation. The group that I am talking about is the basketball team.

This year the team played in the All-College Tournament in Oklahoma City. The team lost all three of its games. The first game they lost by around 40 points, the second game and the third game were closer, but they still lost. Was it worth it?

If you're talking about the experience the team got the answer is yes. But if you are talking about the fact that the team lost all three of the games they played, I would say not.

In previous years the team has been playing in the Far West Classic in Portland over the holidays. I might not be a bad idea for the Vandals to stick to the West coast where they can play such lowly teams as sixth ranked Oregon State and Portland University. The Vandals have been winning at least a few games in that tournament.

One thing about the All-College Tournament, at least for some of the people back in Oklahoma who had never heard of the University of Idaho, and maybe Idaho itself, the cause was a good one.

The next four games the Vandals play will be conference games. The chance for the team to get back on the right road has come, and I hope that they don't let the school down. Or are we letting the team down?

Ex, defunct, no-more head football coach Jim Sutherland of the might as well be defunct, Washington State Cougars, was the head coach of the West in the East-West Shrine game over the holidays. Even though the game ended in a tie, it was very interesting to watch some of the Sutherland touch rub off on some of the finest college football players in the nation. The question is, "Did they need his touch?"

Naturally it is a great honor to be selected head coach of the West for the annual clash, but it would be interesting to know why they selected a coach who doesn't even have a team.

The two major sports at this school are football and basketball, but it is interesting to note that every once in a while, the so-called "minor sports" pop up like champions and everyone is delighted. This time it is the ski team. The team came in second place in the University of Idaho Invitational Ski Meet in McCall. The University of Washington came in first.

VACATION REVIEW: Idaho's Jim Moran, recently signed by the New York Giants, played right offensive tackle for the North in the North-South Senior Bowl... The "Big California scare" is over, as California signs new coach-not Dee Andros... Washington State is still looking for a new football coach (good luck, Cougars)... Vandals lose three games in basketball tournament... Ski team places second in meet... and finally, Idaho swim coach Clarke Mitchell didn't get a new swimming pool for Christmas.

1964: YEAR OF DECISION

Well sir, here we go into 1964, which shows every sign of being quite a distinguished year. First off, it is the only year since 1954 which ends with the figure 4. Of course, when it comes to Figure 4's, 1964, though distinguished, can hardly compare with 1444 which, most people agree, had not just one, not just two, but three Figure 4's! This, I'll wager, is a record that will stand for at least a thousand years!

1444 was, incidentally, notable for many other things. It was, for example, the year in which the New York Giants played the Philadelphia Athletics in the World Series. As we all know, the New York Giants have since moved to San Francisco and the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City. There is a movement afoot at present to move Chicago to Phoenix—the city, not the baseball team. Phoenix, in turn, would of course move to Chicago. It is felt that the change would be broadening for residents of both cities. Many Chicago folks, for example, have never seen an iguana. Many Phoenix folks, on the other hand, have never seen a frostbite.

There are, of course, certain difficulties connected with a municipal shift of this size. For instance, to move Chicago you also have to move Lake Michigan. This, in itself, presents no great problem, what with modern scientific advances like electronics and the French cuff. But if you will look at your map, you will find Lake Michigan is attached to all the other Great Lakes, which in turn are attached to the St. Lawrence Seaway, which in turn is attached to the Atlantic Ocean. You start dragging Lake Michigan to Phoenix and, willy-nilly, you'll be dragging all that other stuff too. This would make our British allies terribly cross, and I can't say as I blame them. Put yourself in their place. What if, for example, you were a British costermonger who had been saving and scrimping all year for a summer holiday at Brighton Beach, and then when you got to Brighton Beach there wasn't any ocean? There you'd be with your inner tube and snorkel and nothing to do all day but dance the Lambeth Walk. This, you must agree, would not help make you NATO-minded!

I appeal most earnestly to the residents of Chicago and Phoenix to reconsider. I know it's no bowl of cherries going through life without ever seeing an iguana or a frostbite, but I ask you—Chicagoans, Phoenixians—is it too big a price to pay for preserving the unity of the free world?

I feel sure that if you search your hearts, you will make the right decision, for all of us—whether we live in frostbitten Chicago, iguana-infested Phoenix, or narrow-lapelled New Haven—are first and foremost Americans!

But I digress. We were speaking of 1964, our new year. And new it is! There is, for one thing, new pleasure in Marlboro Cigarettes. How, you ask, can there be new pleasure in Marlboro when that fine flavorful blend of tobaccos, that clean efficient Selectrate filter, have not been altered? The answer is simple: each time you light a Marlboro, it is like the first time. The flavor is such that age cannot wither nor custom stale. Marlboro never palls, never jades, never dwindles into dull routine. Each puff, each cigarette, each pack, each carton, makes you glad all over again that you are a Marlboro smoker!

Therefore, Marlboros in hand, let us march confidently into 1964. May good fortune attend our ventures! May serenity reign! May Chicago and Phoenix soon recover from their disappointment and join our bright cavalcade into a brave tomorrow!

We, the makers of Marlboros, available in soft pack or flip-top box in all fifty states of the Union, wish to join Old Max in extending good wishes for a happy and peaceful 1964.
