Diamond Anniversary

Robed Processional Ushers In Birthday

By MARK BROWN
Argonaut News Editor

The pageantry of a full faculty processional will symbolize the pageantry of the University of Idaho during its 75-year lifetime when robes and caps will transform the floor of Memorial Gymnasium into a sea of color for the Diamond Anniversary of the University.

For many students, the anniversary celebration will be the first opportunity to see the colorful procession of faculty members garbed in traditional robes and caps. Other students, who have attended graduation ceremonies, will recognize the procession as the one that begins each commencement.

The faculty will begin its processional at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 30, the date which marks the University's 75th year since its founding on Jan. 30, 1889, when Governor Edward A. Stevenson signed Bill No. 20 of the Idaho Territorial Legislature to establish the University.

The processional prefaces a two-hour convocation featuring addresses by distinguished graduates, representatives of the administration, Board of Regents, and student body and the government of Idaho.

Classes will be dismissed between 9 and 12 a.m.

Lawrence H. Chamberlain, vice president of Columbia University and a graduate of the University of Idaho with B.S. and M.A. degrees, will be the main convocation speaker.

Other speakers include University president D. R. Theophilus, Ezra M. Hawkes, president of the Board of Regents; Idaho Governor Robert E. Smylie; James H. Roper, alumni president and Bill Frates Witherpoon, ASUI president.

Music for the convocation will be provided by the University Symphonic band under the direction of David Seiler, instructor of music, and the Vandaleers choral group under the direction of Glen R. Lockery, professor of music.

The convocation, however, is not the sole observance of the Diamond Anniversary.

The Moscow Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a bell ringing observance in which all bells, whistles and sirens will be sounded simultaneously at 9 a.m., before the convocation, and the Daily Idahoan will print a special commemorative issue.

In the evening, Latah County alumni will hold a banquet in honor of the occasion in the Student Union Building. Paul H. Tobin, Jr., Pottlatch and Tom Boyd, Genesee, are co-chairmen for the banquet.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend, Jim Lyle, alumni secretary, said Monday. Invitations have been sent to 800 Latah County alumni as well as Governor Smylie and James Roper, he said.

Lyle said that all University alumni and friends are invited, but the banquet is mainly for the Latah County alumni.

3 Centuries Of Music To Be Played

Three centuries of musical works will be presented Thursday at Washington State University by the Kansas City Philharmonic.

The 8 p.m. concert in Bohler Gymnasium is open to students from the University of Idaho if they present their activity tickets.

Thursday's program includes works from the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries: an 18th century keyboard suite by Cuperin "Suite for Orchestra" which was orchestrated by a French composer now living in San Francisco; Tchaikovsky's "Violin Concerto" featuring violinist Zvezitlin; and Sibelius' "Second Symphony."

The Philharmonic's conductor Hans Schwieger, was the youngest German conductor to hold the general music director's position of the Mainz Opera House in Germany.

His career was cut off with the rise of Hitler's regime when Schwieger left Germany and traveled to the United States via the Far East.

He has been with the 30-year-old Kansas City Philharmonic for 16 years, and has been called "a musician of unusual force and distinction" by the New York Herald-Tribune.

Schwieger and his 80-piece orchestra are on a 25-day, 6,000 mile tour, which includes the orchestra's first visit to the western United States.

Panhell to Hold Semester Rush

Registration for women's semester rush will be held from Feb. 1 to 10 in the Office of Student Affairs. A five dollar rushing fee will be charged. Women are required to have a 2.3 grade average to register.

Rush will be held Feb. 11, 12 and 13. Any women who have questions may call Barb Clark, Kappa, Panhellenic president.

Women on campus are encouraged to register early if they have the opportunity, according to Panhellenic Council.

50 Attend Discussion On Plays

More than 50 people participated in the Coffee Hours and Forums Committee panel discussion of the Greek plays presented by the Drama Department last week.

The student directed Greek cuttings were discussed by William Banks, professor of English; Joanne Myers, Theta, director of "Agamemnon;" Barbara Ware, Kappa, director of "Medea;" Lorenzo Nelson, Delta Chi, director of "Andromache;" and Linda Steiger, off campus, director of "Hippolytus."

The panel answered questions on the history of the plays as well as the characters themselves.

Each student director was responsible for the cutting of the original script as well as set design, pattern of arrangement of characters on the stage, sound, costumes and actual direction of the actors.

The plays were presented last Thursday and Friday nights in the University Hut with the audience moving from room to room to view the cuttings of the plays.

40 INCHES OF THE STUFF — Although 40 inches of snow this winter hit the Moscow area by mid-afternoon Sunday, warming temperatures and a downpour of rain eliminated much of it by nightfall. Sunday's six inches brought the total January accumulation to 24.7 inches. The long-time snow average for January is 16.6 inches.

Tutoring Requests Made, But No Tutors Available

No students have registered for tutoring, although some students have requested tutors, according to Sidney Miller, placement coordinator.

"I don't know if there just aren't any students who want to tutor or what — but there seems to be a definite lack," Miller said.

He also said that students must re-register for part-time work, tutoring and full-time secretarial positions at the new placement offices in TC-6 (old Mines Building).

The Division of Adult Education, which includes the Placement Service, correspondence courses, Summer School, extension courses for credit, and special programs, which include Civil Defense and short courses, was re-located in TC-6 (old Mines Building) last week.

At the new location, the Placement Service has consolidated its operation and conference rooms in one spot, Miller said.

Job Info Available

He outlined the work of the Placement Service and said that "here in this office we have the most complete information available on campus about career opportunities in all fields."

"This supplements the information available in each department and gives a broader range of diversified career information."

For students who are looking for either a major field or a job, the Placement Service has complete files about job opportunities with all the firms which interview on campus, plus information about firms which send inquiries to the University about students who might be useful to their own company.

Miller illustrated the types of information sent to his office by pulling out a company file at random.

Brochures about men in the company, types of jobs available, major fields of men in different positions, the scope of the company's operation and job application forms were included in the file.

More than 250 industrial organizations interview on campus each year, plus school districts from throughout the West.

Files are also kept for the various governmental agencies, such as the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency.

To distribute information about interview times and places, the Placement Service utilizes the Argonaut, KUOI, KRFL, the Staff Letter and posters, Miller said.

"Sometimes I get the feeling that we still aren't getting through to the students what we have available," he said.

Students who want to work in another area of the United States and don't know how to apply can use the Placement Service's affiliation with a national placement organization and receive placement help from any other school in the nation.

How To Get Job

Miller said that if an education major wanted to teach in Arizona, but no Arizona school districts interviewed on campus, the Placement Service would request reciprocal placement from an Arizona school.

Then the University would send the student's credentials and other information to the Arizona school which would try to place the student through their own placement organization.

Reciprocal placement may also be used for finding jobs with industrial firms, he said.

Interviewing is done primarily in the nine interview rooms at the Placement Service office, Miller said, but engineering and forestry sign-ups are handled by the colleges.

"We (the Placement Service) schedule the company" and handle interviews for all fields except engineering and forestry, he said.

For example, if a firm sends recruiters in engineering, forestry and business, the engineering and forestry recruiters interview at the individual colleges, while the business recruiter interviews at the placement office.

"We hope eventually to consolidate all interviews here (at this office) to avoid confusing the students," Miller said.

U-I Gets $145,900 From NSF

Senator Frank Church announced Saturday that the University of Idaho received $145,900 for instruction of Idaho junior high and secondary teachers of science and mathematics from the National Science Foundation.

Idaho State University received $65,000 for a similar program.

Of the grant, $100,700 is allotted for the instruction of secondary and junior high school teachers in the fields of chemistry, physics, zoology, biology and geology.

The mathematics allocation is $45,200 for junior high and secondary school teacher instruction.

The instruction will be given from June 22 to Aug. 14, during the summer school term, and will give instructors material that will help directly in their school instruction, as well as supplement the knowledge of those instructors who lack necessary training.

In addition to payment of their tuition, teachers may receive stipends of up to $75 a week for the duration of the training, allowances for travel and allotments for dependents.

Chairman of the program for mathematics is Delmar Boyer, associate professor of mathematics. Chairman for sciences is Dr. Edgar H. Grahn, professor of chemistry.

Dr. Grahn told the Argonaut that although this is a new grant by the National Science Foundation, the University has carried on a similar program at the University for eight summers, sponsored by the Foundation.

Dr. Grahn said approximately 75 instructors will be attending the science institute this summer.

Dr. Boyer was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Radio-TV Stages Manners Movie

Do you need to improve your social knowhow? If so, a production that will be released Feb. 10 by University Radio and TV Department will be worth looking into.

This film entitled "Some Social Amenities" will include 12 minutes used in discussing such topics as the art of making conversation, the etiquette involved in eating and good grooming hints.

This film which was shot the first two weeks of November in the SUB, has students and faculty participating in its presentation. Persons who are seen in the pictures are Buzz McCabe, off campus; Linda Mattis, off campus; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kellogg off campus; Craig MacPhee, off campus; Mrs. James McElhany, whose husband is an instructor in the Radio-TV Department, and Mrs. Richard Farnsworth assistant SUB manager.

It is hoped by the Radio and TV Department that they can expand this series and do at least one a year and build up to items in an etiquette series that can be used. These films are written, produced and directed by the communications department.

In honor of the 75th anniversary of the University the film "The Year of the Diamond" is being shot. This 13 minute movie will be a history using the flashback technique.

The film begins with the fire that burned down the first Administration Building in 1908 and ends with Dr. D. R. Theophilus, University president, looking to the future and expressing his hopes and dreams for the years to come.

This film was shot Monday night and will be released to television stations in Spokane, Boise, Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls.

A film that will be used in conjunction with students recruitment will be released in March. This 18 minute color film will include shots of campus life and its various aspects.

The film will be completed by the end of February and will accompany University students on high school visitation trips.

Outlines Ground Rules For New University President Selection

"We've had an almost immediate response to inquiries in our search for a University President," Ezra M. Hawkes, president of the Board of Regents, told the Argonaut last night.

"All who have responded have indicated respect for President Theophilus and the difficulty the University will have in finding a man of his stature to replace him," Hawkes said.

Hawkes met Friday with the faculty committee to advise and counsel the Board of Regents on the selection of a president and outlined the ground rules for the committee's operation.

Hawkes outlined the committee's functions as the revising of all materials on applications, the recommendation of possible candidates or applicants and the recommendation of three to five, any one of whom would be satisfactory to the faculty committee, for personal interviews by the Regents.

The committee was told that the faculty committee is advisory and that its views will be influential, but the right for personal interviews and the power of selection and appointment remains with the Regents.

The criteria given the committee to be considered in the search for a president included such factors as a) age limitation, b) family, c) education, d) scholar achievements, e) educational experience, f) financial experience, g) ability as a speaker, h) willingness to cooperate, i) ability to get along with people, and j) evidence of leadership.

The committee was told that they are to act as free agents and are to speak for themselves and not to be mirrors reflecting colleagues' diverse opinions. Their obligation is to exercise their best individual judgment, they were told.

All correspondence about the candidates or with the candidates is reserved for the president of the Board of Regents.

The strictly confidential nature of all proceedings throughout all deliberations and actions was also impressed upon the committee.

The selection group was chosen Jan. 9 by the Regents.

Those who will be serving are Professor Malcolm M. Renfrew, head of Physical Sciences; Professor J. W. Martin, head of Agricultural Engineering; Associate Professor George A. Williams, geology; Professor E. W. Tisdale, director of the Forestry Experiment Station; Professor Rafe Gibbs, director of Information and University editor; Associate Professor R. A. Postweiler, economics administration; Professor Herbert A. Berman, law administration; Professor Mabel Locke, chairman of women's physical education and

The following criteria was used in the selection of the faculty committee:

1. To be a small committee consisting of faculty members who have had previous University-wide committee experience.
2. The committee members were to be selected from the faculty as a whole.
3. Each academic division of the University would be represented on the committee.
4. The committee members are to represent themselves and the entire University and not necessarily their academic division or area of work.

The Regents announced in November that President Theophilus would not retire until July 1, 1965, one year beyond retirement age. Theophilus is the first University president to retire in office and when he has completed his term he will have equalled the length of office of any University President and set a record for length of service on the staff of the University.

Hanson's Props Are Chair, Bench

Philip Hanson, who premiered one of his first one-man performances, "Moby Dick," at the University, will present "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," tonight at 8 p.m. in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Hanson's shows are unique in that his only props consist of a chair and bench. Relying only upon his own abilities to captivate the audience, Hanson will present 18 different characters in tonight's narrative performance.

Well known on the west coast, he is noted for his many performances in the Oregon Shakespeare Festival and in the Shakespeare Festival in San Diego, Calif. Hanson has performed a total of 26 Shakespearean roles. Major roles include Richard II, King John, Malvolio, Talbot, Dogberry, Hotspur, Jacques and Hamlet.

"Moby Dick" by Herman Melville was presented by Hanson in 1960. The performance, sponsored by Curtain Club, dramatic honorary, was given to determine its theatrical value before officially opening in California in April.

"The Rebels, a Piece for Patriots," was given in 1962. The performance drew from the speeches of Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Daniel Webster, Abraham Lincoln, John Brown and other famous Americans.

Before adapting his show, Hanson worked for several years at Washington State University and now lives at Ashland, Ore.

Edmund Chavez, assistant professor of drama, who has known Hanson and also designed the scenery for his "Kings and Clowns" stated that "He has a sense for theatrics which is not common.

"People on campus who have not had a chance to see Phil perform, are missing an exceptional performer," Chavez stated. He also said that tonight's performance will be probably the most outstanding dramatic presentation to be seen in this area this year.

"The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" is the seventh of Hanson's shows in the past three and a half years. "Lonesome River," a song by a runaway slave named Jim was composed by the actor especially for the solo performance.

The program will be presented by the Public Events Committee and is free of charge.

U-I Music Department Uses 270 In Concert

A combined choir of the Vandaleers, University Singers, some community singers and the University Symphony Orchestra presented an hour long concert Sunday in the Memorial Gymnasium.

A moderate crowd saw the concert. The unfavorable weather may have been a reason for the somewhat low attendance.

Three Parts

The concert, composed of three parts, featured a 20 voice choir accompanied by a 6 piece orchestra in a concert featuring contemporary composers.

Both major works presented were composed during the 20th Century — "Serenade to Music" by R. Vaughan Williams and "Belshazzar's Feast" by William Walton.

The "Prelude, from Mastersingers of Nuremberg," composed by Richard Wagner, a German composer, played by the Orchestra started the program.

This "Prelude," from one of Wagner's famous operas, "Die Meistersinger" composed in 1867 is based on Germany's tradition of having contests among poets called master singers sponsored by guilds of working men.

"Serenade to Music" is taken from Act V, Scene I of William Shakespeare. "Merchant of Venice" was the second number.

"Belshazzar's Feast", an oratorio for double mixed choir, baritone solo which featured Norman Logan and Orchestra completed the program.

The text was chosen by Sir Osbert Sitwell from Psalms 81 and 13 and the fifth chapter of the Book of Daniel.

Captivity

This sections expressive of the feelings of the Jews in captivity is written to express Isaiah's prophecy "the day of the Lord is at hand."

The second part of the scoring is a picture of Babylon and the great feast Belshazzar made to his thousand lords.

A lament and exultant chant of triumph over the fallen city after telling the story of the "writing on the wall" ends the production.

A band on two sides of the orchestra added to the effect of the Orchestra.

The Golden Fleece By Jason

Defamation Propaganda

Among the maze of mail that finds its way to Jason's desk every day is a brochure or news letter published by the Circuit Riders, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio.

We in no way doubt the sincerity or motive of the group — they are after a stronger America just as many other citizens. But we do question their philosophy and their means of attaining that strength.

To quote from the letter, the group says, "Persons with public records of subversive affiliation who grab and exploit inquisitive students at the first sign of interest in current problems should be exposed to public view."

The letter proceeds to do just that. In no way do they mention that the people listed are Communist or Communist affiliated. The letter is carefully worded to avoid any libelous proceedings against themselves. But they accomplish their purpose just the same by insinuation and carefully selected words and phrases.

This type of organization has often been called a "hate group". The people who name them as such are often added to their list.

As students we feel we can criticize such organizations and call them ridiculous. But they accomplish their purpose by defaming people, depriving them of their jobs and causing them social unhappiness.

Perhaps there may be something behind their accusations. But we would recommend that if anyone connected with the University receives this type of information, they consider several factors before taking it seriously.

No. 1: Are such accusations backed up with specific facts.
No. 2: Do they bother to list the particular reasons why a group is possibly subversive or a possible front organization.

No. 3: Are their reasons valid.
No. 4: Do the people they list as being affiliated with such organizations have due knowledge of their subversive nature . . . if it is proven the organization is subversive.

Don't Support
Jason is conservative. She is a Republican. But in no way does Jason support such organizations whose sole purpose seems to be the defamation of citizens, some of whom are completely innocent of Communist affiliation.

Listed as being "off-campus propagandists who call for violent revolution in the United States through expansion of the race revolution" are the National Student Association and the Students for a Democratic Society.

The liberal philosophy of these groups is not questioned. But the subversive nature of such groups is questioned. To quote again from the letter:

"Behind and to the left of many National Student Associations and Students for a Democratic Society persons is a hard core coalition and, at times independently operating range of socialists, militant pacifists, apologists for Cuba-Russia-Red China, those who would disarm the United States, young and old Trotskyites and Marxists of the Communist Party type. Included in the propaganda assault upon the campus, is an incredible assortment of persons long identified as parts of, or tools of the Communist apparatus."

From the quotation you may be able to discern the vagueness of the wording this group, and similar groups use.

Never do they accuse the organization itself of being subversive. Instead they use a long list of derogatory propaganda terms that refer to "some" of its members.

The insinuation is there. They list members who have been accused of being pro-Communist who have denied the allegations. The statement seems to insinuate that because the persons denied the allegation, they therefore must be Communist because "No person has admitted membership in the Communist Party since the U. S. Supreme Court decision which seemingly required Communist Party members to register."

Don't Laugh
Such groups as the Circuit Riders are not to be laughed off. They are taken seriously by many uninformed Americans; citizens who fear Communist subversion and take-over.

Jason also fears Communist subversion and take-over. I sincerely hope that many loyal Americans do.

Do Fear
I also hope that many Americans fear groups such as this who undermine our society, accuse innocent Americans and stimulate hysteria and radicalism.

Jason hopes that the training we have received at the University of Idaho will influence each student, each faculty member, each administrator, to read carefully, to comprehend fully, to not accept the written word at face value without accredited facts and verification.

Dear Jason:
In respect to K. P.'s recent editorial (17 January), I am wondering if we haven't already lowered our "requirements" too much by permitting the elimination of such essentials as e's and semi-colons in writing; as is seen in respect to Modern Journal, a "language" quite far removed from English!

Grad School Deans Come From Idaho

A newly-published list of graduate school deans throughout the United States indicates that the University is becoming a training ground for the deans.

Dr. Louis DeSpain Smith, formerly of Spokane and now dean of the graduate school at Montana State College, was graduated from the University in 1932 with a B.S. degree, majoring in pre-medicine. In 1935, he received his master's in zoology from Idaho.

Dean of the graduate school at the University of Washington is Dr. Joseph McCarthy, also formerly of Spokane. He was awarded a master's degree in wood utilization by the University in 1936.

Two former members of the University faculty are now deans of graduate schools. They are Dr. Edward C. Moore, formerly chairman of philosophy at Idaho and now dean of the graduate school at the University of Massachusetts, and Dr. Norton Coe, formerly Idaho's chairman of humanities and now dean of the graduate school at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb, Ill.

Cadets Host AF Luncheon

The Idaho detachment of AFROTC hosted a luncheon at noon today in the Silver Room of the Student Union Building in honor of their Area Commandant, Col. Ralph L. Oliver.

The sixteen seniors in the Air Force advanced program were in attendance as well as four members of the Angel Flight, the Air Force sponsor group.

The deans of all the colleges were invited as were President D. R. Theophilus; Charles Decker, dean of students; and other University officials.

Four briefings were given by the advanced cadets in order to give Col. Oliver a look at the accomplishments of the Idaho detachment. Cadet Patrick W. Muldoon, Phi Delta, reported on Operations and the Flight Instruction Program.

7 Students In Weekend Accidents

Seven University students were involved in five separate two-car accidents Friday, Saturday and Sunday. In at least one of the accidents slick roads were partly to blame.

In the only accident on campus a 1942 Ford truck driven by Donald Saxman, off campus, hit a car owned by H. M. Stewart as it was parked in front of the Engineering Building, Friday. Saxman skidded into Stewart's parked car when another car pulled out in front of him, according to an accident report filed with the Moscow Police Department.

In another accident Friday, on Taylor Avenue, near Campus Club, a 1963 Chevrolet station wagon driven by Ralph A. Donat, off campus, backed into a parking space and hit a 1960 Corvair owned by John Aitken, off campus, doing minor damage to the front grill of the Aitken car.

Saturday a car driven by Bettina Sanberg, Moscow, hit a car driven by Frank A. Cronk, off campus, doing an estimated $58 damage to the left rear fender of the Cronk vehicle.

Saturday evening E. F. Quaintrance, Spokane, hit a parked car belonging to Gerald Parmenter, off campus, in the downtown area on Fourth St.

Slick roads were listed as causing an accident at the intersection of Sixth and Rayburn St. Sunday. A car driven by Harvey Wallace, off campus, slid into a car owned by Dennis J. McMonigle, off campus. About $50 damages were done to the McMonigle car.

SAES CHOOSE NEW HOUSE OFFICERS

SIGMA CHIS SELECT NEW LEADERSHIP

Election of officers was held Friday at the Sigma Chi house. Those elected were Rod Higgins, president; Doug Zuberhuhler, vice-president; Kent Haynes, secretary; John Herndon, corresponding secretary; Bob Carson and Tom Walton, co-historians; Breck Adams, kustos; and Clyde Waterman, chapter editor.

"Bachanalla" was the theme for a dinner-dance held for toga clad upperclassmen and their dates Saturday. The Roman theme was carried out by Roman decorations and the Roman style of sitting on the floor while eating. Chaperones were Mrs. Edith Magnuson, Sigma Chi housemother, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Edens, assistant professor of psychology.

Newlyweds Must See Registrar

Women students who have been married since the beginning of fall semester are reminded that they should file a married women's card with the registrar before Jan. 30, F. L. O'Neill, registrar, said Monday.

Such women are requested to do so in order that names on University records may be changed to the woman's married name, he said.

Vandals Seek Revenge; Play Seattle U., Weber Here

Idaho Five Face Seattle Friday; Weber Saturday

The Idaho basketball Vandals will make their final pre-examination appearance in Moscow this Friday and Saturday night as they host Seattle U. and Weber State.

Semester tests for the Idaho cage crew will keep the Vandals out of action for two weeks. The basketball wars will resume again on Feb. 7-8 when Oregon invades the Palouse.

In this Friday night's game Idaho will be trying again for the upset victory over the Seattle Chiefs. Coach Jim Godard's Idaho quint chased Seattle all the way to the wire before the Queen City crew slipped away to a 75-69 win. That was just last Friday so the memory is fresh in the minds of Idaho's youthful team.

Weber Premiers

The following night Weber State of the Big Sky conference will be making its maiden appearance in Moscow. The Utah-based team thumped the Vandals 103-83 in Ogden the first time the two teams tangled. Idaho is current 1-4 in Big Sky play and 3-12 on the season.

Tom Moreland, the big junior center from Coeur d'Alene continues to lead the Vandals in scoring and rebounding with a 12.8 scoring average and 176 rebounds.

Veteran Tom Whitfield is second in both departments with an 11.3 scoring average and 152 rebounds. Third spot in scoring belongs jointly to Chuck Kozak and Ed Haskins both a 9.8 scoring average. Kozak is third in rebounding with 120 recoveries.

CD Leaders Meet Today

Effects of the latest nuclear weapons and the protective measures which can be taken to minimize casualties in the event of nuclear attack will be the topics of a conference in Twin Falls.

Civil Defense leaders will meet today in the Twin Falls County Court House. The conference is sponsored by the University in coordination with the State Office of Civil Defense.

Among subjects which will be discussed are warning time, protection against thermal and blast effects, radiological defense, emergency operation centers and supporting services. Federal, state and local levels of responsibility will be reviewed.

Frosh Try To Break Streak Saturday Eve

The Idaho frosh basketball team will try to break a two-game losing string Saturday night when the Vandal Babes host the Whitworth junior varsity in a preliminary game to the Idaho-Weber State battle.

Tall Dave Schlotthauer, the former Post Falls all-stater continues to pace the rookies from the field and in the rebounding department. Footballers Jerry Ahlin from Boise and John Fournia from Emmett are second and third and all-state guard Mike Wicks from Coeur d'Alene is fourth.

The Frosh will be idle during exam week and will return to action on Friday, Feb. 7, when they host Lewis-Clark normal prior to the varsity Idaho-Oregon game.

Student Tells Of Crisis In Zanzibar

Unable to communicate with his parents in Zanzibar, either through the U.S. State Department or the British embassy, Tahir Said Aboud had difficulty studying today.

An Arab from Zanzibar, where a new regime has taken over at gunpoint, Aboud is a civil engineering student at the University.

Aboud's father, Dr. Said Aboud, was an official in the ousted government—district medical officer. Also in Zanzibar at the time of the coup were Aboud's mother and a sister, Talha, 18.

Studying in England are another sister, Tahariya, 22, and a brother Talib, 24. Aboud himself is a graduate of Sheffield College of Technology in England.

Anxious about his parents and sister, Aboud had inquiries made through the U.S. State Department and British Embassy, but was advised that communications with Zanzibar have been cut off.

U.S. Counsel Frederick P. Picard II was placed under house arrest by the new government. It was through his recommendation that Aboud was granted a U.S. State Department scholarship to study at the University.

Juma Aley Jama-Abraway, minister of finance and development for the ousted government, was reported scheduled for hanging by the new government.

"A brilliant man," said Aboud. "He taught me English in high school."

Support Urged For Jr-Sr Prom

Persons interested in working may pick up an application from Fields at FarmHouse Fraternity.

DRIVING FOR TWO — Idaho's Jay Anderson (40) drives for two points Monday night. Waiting for the rebound that never came is Tom Moreland (52). Trying to stop Anderson is MSC's Don Rae (35). Rae also scored 28 points for the evening.

University Ski Team Takes First Place At Open Invitational Meeting

The University Ski Team placed first in the Open Invitational Ski Meet in Missoula, Mont., last week end.

Idaho placed first in the cross country team competition. Nils Jobson, Idaho, placed first; Per Wege, UW, second; Bjorn Ostbo, Idaho, third; Rolf Prydz, Idaho, eighth.

In the slalom competition Jon Seetin, Idaho frosh skier, took first. Bill Barrier, UW, second; Bob Trent, Idaho, fifth; Barry Boydston, Idaho, tenth.

Idaho won the jumping meet with Prydz, first place. Jon Stenerud, MSC, won second; Jan Blam, UW, third; Ostbo, fourth; and Carl Kietrichson, Idaho, sixth.

In the giant slalom Trent took fifth place. Seetin was disqualified by losing a gate. Barrier, UW, won the event.

The overall standing was Idaho, first, 382 points; UW, second, 378; MSC, 368; and UBC, fourth, 328.

Seven schools participated in the meet. They included Idaho, University of Washington, Montana State University, Montana State College, Weber, Brigham Young and University of British Columbia.

The next meet Idaho will participate in will be at Crystal Mountain in Washington, Feb. 14 to 16. This is the qualifying meet for the NCAA meet.

Football Meeting: A meeting will be held Monday, January 27, at 4:30 in the Armory classroom for all varsity and freshman football players.

Kozak's Improved Ability Has Helped Idaho This Year

By CHUCK WALTON Argonaut Sports Writer: Last year the Vandals went to the Far West Classic facing the problem of playing their first games of the year without the great Gus Johnson. This misfortune for the Vandals turned into good fortune for Chuck Kozak, who got his first real chance to play and kept the Vandals in the game against Seattle University by coming through with 14 points and a good share of the rebounds.

Although Kozak only played one year as a regular on the Sealth High School team in Seattle, he has improved over the years to become one of the Vandals' most consistent performers.

He is majoring in political science and last year he joined the Marine Corps. After serving his military obligation, Kozak plans to work in the Foreign Service or some area of public administration.

On the University of Idaho campus he is presently president of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and last year he was president of the intramural managers as the representative from his house.

MSC's Young Week's Man

Junior forward Kermit Young of Montana State College snared player of the week honors in the Big Sky Conference in a tight race that saw three others tied for second, one point behind the Fairfield, Montana ace.

Teammate Don Rae, Bill Wilson of Gonzaga and Mike Persha of Montana State University tied for runner-up honors, according to League Commissioner Jack Friel. Young is currently fourth in League scoring for the loop-pacing Bobcats, and leads the circuit in rebounding with 14.7 recoveries per game. He is tied for fifth in the free throw shooting department with an 80.0 average.

Wilson Leads Scorers: Runner-up Wilson of Gonzaga holds a narrow lead in the scoring department with 97 points and a 24.3 average. Rae is close behind with 95 tallies, and a 23.8 average.

Five Basketball Teams Win Second Straight IM Games

Five teams won their second straight intramural basketball game in independent league games played last Thursday.

Shoup took a narrow 31-29 decision from Lindley while Willis Sweet dumped Borah by a 33-26 margin. Meanwhile TMA 2 romped to a big 63-16 win over McConnell 2, and Gault exploded to a 50-12 victory over Campus Club. Upham 2 defeated Chrisman 2 by a 50-34 score.

In the other games Thursday Chrisman beat Upham 40-25, TMA 1 downed McConnell 49-33, Campus Club 2 trounced Gault 2 33-18, and Lindley 2 coasted to a 28-13 win over Shoup 2.

Bowling: The Phi Delt, Delt, and Willis Sweet posted clean sweeps over their opponents in Thursday's bowling contests, but the Kappa Sigs, who were only able to win their match 3-1 recorded the high team game and series to date with an 897 game and 2488 series.

The Sigma Chis fell victim to the Phi Delt, while the Lambda Chis and the Sigma Nus lost to the Delt and Willis Sweet respectively. The other two contests included a 3-1 win for the Phi Taus over the Betas and a 3-1 victory for Lindley Hall over the Tekes.
