

Senior Coeds Get Keys Starting Next Fall

TWO OF A TRIO — Three women, AWS President Linda Kinney, Dean of Women Marjorie Neely and AWS Vice President Karen Fisher (not pictured) were instrumental in the passage of the key privilege for senior women which will take effect next fall.

A proposal allowing senior women key privileges was passed unanimously by the Associated Women Students legislature Wednesday.

Key privileges will be available next fall to all women with senior credits. With this privilege, senior women may check out keys to their living groups on an individual basis each night they wish to stay out beyond the normal closing hours.

Keys may be used by senior women any night, but must be returned to a drop box outside the housemothers' apartments by 8 a.m. the following morning.

Check-out time for keys will probably be between 5 and 7 p.m.

Dean of Women Marjorie Neely said that the seniors may use special sign-out cards which will include expected time of return in addition to the information required of the other women.

Sign-Out-A Control

Reason for the special sign-out cards is to provide a control factor for the protection of the woman and to make it possible to locate a girl in case of emergency.

Many small details of the key privilege system have not been decided yet, Mrs. Neely said. Some tentative details include charging a fee, probably about $10, to each senior woman using the keys.

All or part of the fee will be refunded at the end of the year if no keys have been lost and there are no infractions of the privilege on the record of the senior.

Penalties Considered

Penalties for losing keys, allowing others to enter a living group after closing hours or duplicating a key have not been set. A penalty being considered for loss of a key is to require the girl to pay for changing the lock and master key system in addition to forfeiture of the fee.

Mrs. Neely noted that sororities will have to work out their own system for controlling the cost factor of installing new locks for senior doors and penalties for infractions of the privilege.

Janice Craig, Panhellenic president-elect; Linda Kinney, AWS president; and Karen Fisher, AWS vice president, were appointed to a committee to work with Director of Housing Robert F. Green to decide details of the installation and operation of the system.

WSU Also Planning

Washington State University is in the process of approving a similar key privilege system for seniors. The WSU proposal has been passed by AWS, but still needs administration approval and a favorable vote by all coeds to go into operation.

At the University of Idaho, final approval was given by AWS. Miss Kinney started work on the system after her election last spring. Administration cooperation was secured before the proposal was taken to AWS.

During the AWS meeting Wednesday, the recently approved time extension was clarified. It will go into effect Monday.

For the first 10 minutes of lateness, a coed will receive no penalty. The next five minutes constitute an automatic campus. The next minute or more following the campus means an appearance before Standards Board to determine the cause of the late minutes.

Each living group may prescribe its own penalties for continuous infractions through its Standards Board.

ASUI Election's Constitutionality Is Questioned

March 12 Election Date Violates ASUI Constitution

As of yesterday, there was no possible way to legally hold ASUI elections March 12. Or March 5. Or any other date, according to Gary Randall, off campus, a senior law student.

The ASUI Constitution expressly states the general election must be on the first Thursday following the first Monday in March, which is March 5.

If the election is held March 12, without Judicial Council first determining a March 5 election would be void, the March 12 election, if every questioned, would almost certainly be ruled invalid by Judicial Council, he said. Any other holding would make the ASUI Constitution a farce, without meaning in any respect, Randall said.

Virtually all legal cases on point, dealing with local or national elections, void an election on the wrong date. With two senior law students on Judicial Council, the latter point becomes vital, he noted.

Thus, if the election is held March 12, as of right now it would be invalid, and could be completely disregarded. There would be, in short, no student government.

Should Be March 5

The correct election date is March 5, or Thursday of next week. But a March 5 election would involve only a few, if any candidates.

The ASUI Constitution provides that candidates, after being certified by the Registrar, are eligible for office, must file with the ASUI President on the Monday of the week prior to election week. That means that any candidate, whose name was not certified and in the hands of the President on Feb. 24, or last Monday, is not eligible to run in a March 5 election, Randall said.

According to Carvel Whiting, ASUI vice-president, no one had been certified as of Monday. There are, therefore, no valid candidates for a March 5 election.

One Way Out

ASUI government faces only one legal way out: Judicial Council must rule the March 5 election cannot be held due to a lack of candidates, and a special election, as provided for in the Constitution, be called. This would probably necessitate the circulation of a petition to ob-

Election Board Causes Constitutional Quandry

Constitutional questions about the legality of the Election Board have been raised.

At present, there are 15 members on Election Board plus the chairman. The Constitution specifies that 10 of the 15 positions be divided equally among the recognized political parties, and since the death of United, there is only one party.

Gary Green, Phi Delta, Election Board chairman, predicted that the present setup of Election Board, with the 16 positions divided equally between members of Campus Union Party and former members of United, will be held constitutional. When the question comes before the Student Judicial Council Monday at 4 p.m.

Not Too Legal

"The real problem came about because Executive Board could have been legal and constitutional, but chose not to. Instead, they chose to have a wide variety of living groups represented, although these groups are not represented by a recognized political party," Green said.

"If they had followed the Constitution, they would have dropped two United people and replaced them by two CUP people, making the board 10 CUP members and six others, instead of eight and eight as it is now," he continued.

Need Another Test

Green said that if rumors are true and two CUP people are no longer eligible to serve on Election Board, that it would take another Election Board test to select enough CUP people to fill four vacancies.

Of those who took the test last fall, there are only three CUP people remaining who are not on Election Board.

The Judicial Council hearing Monday about the constitutionality of the Election Board is closed to the public at present, but may be opened, according to Judicial Council chairman Merlyn Clark, off campus.

tain names of 35 per cent of the total number of students who voted in the last election.

Any other method would probably mean that any election, March 5, March 12, etc., would be legally invalid and subject to attack by a defeated candidate.

ered two United people and replaced them by two CUP people, making the board 10 CUP members and six others, instead of eight and eight as it is now," he continued.

WSU Prof. Will Speak On ACLU

The "much misunderstood objectives" of the American Civil Liberties Union will be explained by the chairman of the Pullman area chapter of ACLU Tuesday in the Borah Theater.

The talk by Will Sibley, associate professor of anthropology at Washington State University, who has belonged to the ACLU for seven years, will be presented as a part of the Campus Union Party program for an informed student body. The ACLU is an organization founded to defend the civil liberties of all American citizens, especially those liberties found in the Bill of Rights, according to Sibley.

"It is a fact that the ACLU is involved in defending civil liberties cases of sometimes unpopular people. In these cases the specific individual involved is irrelevant but the principle is important," he said.

Sibley who said that he has been described as "thin-faced with horn-rim glasses," first joined the ACLU in 1957 in Utah. He came to WSU in 1960 and in 1961 was one of 20 charter members of the Pullman area chapter.

He has master of art and doctor of philosophy degrees in anthropology from the University of Chicago and his bachelor of arts degree in economics from Reed College.

Others are Cliff Mills, Campus Club; Tom Morris, Lindley; Van Heggblom, Shoup; Andy Resor, Upham; James Graback, Borah; Gordon Tex Michalk, Willis Sweet; Bill Bufon, Phi Tau; and Ron Fairchild, Lambda Chi.

THE LATEST — Arlen Marley, Upham, and Leonard Hart, Delta Chi, are two new candidates for ASUI elections. Marley is the CUP nominee for ASUI vice president. Hart is replacing Diane Williams on the ticket for Exec Board nominee.

Dispute Sparks In First 'Sound-Off'

A dispute concerning party status of an independent candidate for ASUI president, sparked briefly during the "SUB Sound-Off" Wednesday afternoon.

Arlen Marley, president of Campus Union Party announced, "I expect CUP to win the presidency, the vice presidency, and nine E-Board slots."

Following this statement, Jim Johnston, independent candidate for ASUI president, said that CUP couldn't help but win the presidency because he was also running on CUP.

In a statement to the Argonaut yesterday, Marley said "I do not and have not considered Jim Johnston a CUP candidate for office since he declined the Campus Union Party vice presidential nomination to run independently for ASUI president."

"I do not see how anyone can refuse to support the head of the party and yet continue his claims of being a part of the party," Marley continued.

Concerning party affiliation, Marley said, "Jim Johnston is not a CUP candidate and, in my mind, forfeited his rights to call himself a CUP candidate when he bolted the party to run independently for ASUI president."

Johnston Replies

"It is certainly Arlen's prerogative to make a statement like this. I do believe that if a person still supports the ideals that a party stands for, he should not necessarily be ostracized from the party just because he believes that what he is doing would be for the benefit of student government," said Johnston Thursday after reading the statement by Marley.

After the statements by Marley and Johnston, the SUB Sound-Off continued with sev-

4 Announce Candidacies; CUP Fills Two Vacancies

Although the election may be declared illegal, candidates are proceeding as usual. Three more have announced that they will run for Executive Board positions, one has withdrawn, Campus Union Party replaced two candidates, and two have announced their candidacy for ASUI vice president.

The vice presidential contest is becoming a real contest with the announcement yesterday that Larry Nye, Phi Delta, and Dick Jennings, Delta Sig, will both seek the vice presidency.

Jennings, who was running for CUP's nomination, decided to run as an independent after he was defeated for the nomination. He told the Argonaut that he left CUP because "I believe that CUP has gone astray from its basic four principles and become insulated from the main body of students."

"When CUP regains its sense of responsibility to the students and to the University rather than only a sense of CUP for CUP Party's sake, I will gladly return to support CUP to the utmost."

"At this time such a return to its principles seems highly unlikely," Jennings said.

Wally Swan, Delta Sig, said "The Delta Sigs are firmly in CUP" but support Jennings.

Larry Nye, Phi Delta, announced his candidacy for ASUI vice president late yesterday afternoon. He made no other statement.

CUP caucus met Wednesday night and filled two vacancies on the ticket. The vice presidential slot was left open when Jim Johnston, FarmHouse, decided not to accept the party's nomination and to run independently.

CUP nominated its party president, Arlen Marley, Upham, as vice presidential candidate. Others asking the position were Dick Jennings, Delta Sig, and Jim Faucher, Sigma Chi. The vote was 30.8, Marley; 9.1, Faucher; and 2.0, Jennings.

After choosing Marley as the candidate, CUP delegates voted to accept the resignation of Marley as party president. Marley subsequently resigned, and CUP vice president Dave Grieve, Willis Sweet, became acting president.

Not Quit Before Done

Marley explained that he informed caucus that he did not feel that he could quit a job (the party presidency) before it was completed and that of eral announced candidates being questioned by an audience of approximately 40 students.

Dick Smith, independent running for E-Board, said that he was not affiliated with "any political party or political parties on the campus."

In reference to an earlier question, Smith said that he "can't see the lowering of the number of required credits" for certain ASUI officials and would vote definitely against the proposal. Gerald Huettig, CUP candidate for E-Board also stated that he would vote "no" on the proposal.

Bob Banashek and Bob Cameron, CUP candidates for E-Board, both affirmed their willingness to spend two hours a week in the ASUI office if elected.

E-Board Readies Ballot

Executive Board went wild with constitutional amendments and changes in the ASUI Regulations during its regular meeting Tuesday night.

In one of the longest meetings of this regime — one hour and 55 minutes — some four constitutional amendments were placed on the ballot for the March 12 general election and an additional eight regulations changes were made.

Constitutional amendments which will be submitted to a student vote include:

Election Board In Regs

1. Deletion of Article 5, Section 1, Clause 2 of the Constitution which reads, "The Election Board shall consist of 15 members. The first 10 positions on the Election Board shall be evenly divided between the recognized parties.

"The remaining five members shall be those receiving the next highest scores on the election examination after the selection of the first 10 members. A recognized party shall be determined by the Executive Board upon formal request by the party officers."

This section, if passed March 12, will read, "The number of members of Election Board shall be subject to the restrictions stated in the ASUI Regulations."

Then the current clause in the Constitution will be put in the CUP wanted him to run, caucus would have to request his resignation.

"I also announced to caucus my willingness, if caucus deemed it necessary and beneficial to the party, to remain on as party president and to serve in that capacity with a board of advisors to aid me," Marley said.

The suggested board of advisors included past party president Tory Nelson, Upham, and Rick Wischkaemper, Lambda Chi; Rick Beebe, former Sophomore class president; Dave Soper, former public relations director; and Dave Grieve, CUP vice president.

Ineligible

The second position filled was that of Executive Board nominee Diane Williams, Houston. Miss Williams is unable to run because of scholastic ineligibility.

Miss Williams, a member of Alpha Lambda Delta scholastic honorary, said, "It was as much a shock to me as it was to anybody else. Had I had any indication that this would happen, I never would have run for the nomination."

She explained that she flunked calculus and dropped a chemistry course with a failing grade.

"I did not understand that the drop would be recorded as a failure—I thought it would be recorded as a withdrawal," she said.

"Although I can't run, I still plan to do all I can towards supporting the candidates now running on CUP's slate," she said.

Miss Williams' replacement on the ticket Leonard Hart, Delta Chi, said, "I think it's a real honor to be asked to fill in the position for someone like Diane Williams."

Hart said he would like to work with the public relations aspects of student government.

Another candidate for Executive Board running independently, Larry Grimes, Beta, said, "If student government is worth having in the first place, it's worth having good people in there. This hasn't been the case with party machine politics. Otherwise, student government is a shame."

Smith Withdraws

A candidate who announced last Monday that he would run independently for ASUI Executive Board withdrew his candidacy yesterday.

Dick Smith, off campus, (see Dear Jason letter page 2) decided to withdraw because he said he felt, if elected, he could not give enough time to the position.

A third candidate who has announced that he will run for Executive Board is Bill McCann, SAE.

McCann said that he feels an educational institution should have an efficient student government and that efficient government can only come if the voters have a wide selection of candidates. "I feel that the campus cannot get a wide variety from a one-party system," he concluded.

TV Debates Come To Idaho

ASUI presidential candidates Carl Johannesen, Campus Club, and Jim Johnston, FarmHouse, agreed yesterday to a debate on campaign issues over KUID-TV.

The debate will be presented on "Probe" March 5, at 6:30 p.m. Mary Louise Evans, Alpha Phi, a member of Executive Board, will moderate.

A similar debate was proposed last year by Cliff Eldred, Sigma Chi, an independent candidate for ASUI president, who was running against United's Jim Bounds, Beta; and Campus Union Party's Bill Frates, Upham. Bounds and Frates did not accept the proposal.

KUID-TV is broadcast over Channel 7 on campus and on Channel 5 to viewers on the Moscow Cable.

Ugly Man, Can Can To Spark Chest Tonight

A 16-piece orchestra, a can-can contest, and the crowning of the Ugly Man of the campus will be the highlights of the Campus Chest windup tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom.

A record amount of $1,860 was taken in by the Campus Chest at the living group auctions Wednesday night. Auctioneer was Glen Spencer, Willis Sweet.

Some of the living groups selling for the highest prices were the Pi Phi, Kappas, and Delta Gammas. Men's living groups were the Fijis, Betas, and Phi Deltas.

Ambassadors To Play

The Ambassadors, the 16-piece orchestra, from Lewiston is playing for the dance. This orchestra is not charging Campus Chest or the ASUI for their services. Leader of the band is Dennis Guillaume.

The winners of the can-can contest will not be announced until Sunday noon at dress dinner of the winning living group. Approximately 12 living groups are expected to participate in the can-can, Tom Bates, Kappa Sig, Sophomore Class President said.

Admission to the dance is 50 cents per person.

Penny A Vote

Voting is now being done with pennies put in jars in the SUB Bucket for the Ugly Man contest. Each contestant has a jar with his name on it and the winner to be announced at the dance will be the one with the most penny votes.

Contestants for this include Jim McElroy, ATO; John Bolson, Beta; Gil Walker, Delta Chi; Joe Reid, Delta Sig; John Konen, Delta; Jim Sasser, Farm House; Roger Kunz, Kappa Sig. Dave Triplett, Fijii; Dick Arndt, SAE; Ray Miller, Sigma Chi; Frank Reberger, Sigma Nu; Glen Ritter, TKE; AND Don Matthews, Theta Chi.

Others are Cliff Mills, Campus Club; Tom Morris, Lindley; Van Heggblom, Shoup; Andy Resor, Upham; James Graback, Borah; Gordon Tex Michalk, Willis Sweet; Bill Bufon, Phi Tau; and Ron Fairchild, Lambda Chi.

4. E-Board members voted to place an amendment on the ballot combining the offices of class secretary and treasurer into one office.

Regulations Amended

Executive Board made eight changes in the Regulations. These changes may be made by a 2-3 majority of the E-Board members, and do not have to be submitted to the voters.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

This constitutionality mess that the ASUI government seems to have gotten itself into is a dandy.

First and foremost is the problem of the date of the election. After all, if you can't have the election on March 12 because the Constitution says it should be on March 5, and if the candidates have to file their eligibility, etc., by the Monday preceding the Monday immediately before the election, then we can't have it on March 5 because there'd be no eligible candidates. No one filed last Monday.

If this sounds confused initially, it gets better as it goes. All would be roses and tea if the officials could be sure that no one would challenge it on this basis: date. However, another possibility for contesting the election would be because of the Election Board.

Election Board is not legally divided. It is supposed to have 15 members (there are 16, but they get by constitutionally because of the contention that the chairman is not a member). Next, the top 10 spots on Election Board are supposed to be equally divided among the recognized political parties.

Therefore, if there is only one party, all 10 should go to that party. Presently there are eight CUP members on Election Board. However, while two more CUP members can be moved up from those who took the test and aren't on Election Board at present, there's another problem.

Gary Green, Election Board chairman, has said he thinks two CUP people are ineligible to be on Election Board—if this is true, there would have to be another tryout for members because there is only one more CUP member who isn't already on Election Board who took the test last fall.

So, if you're confused, so's everyone else. If all else fails, the election can be legalized—the hard way.

The hard way would be to get 35 per cent of the student body (945 or more) to sign a petition stating that the election should be on March 12. That would eliminate the date problem.

The Election Board problem could be eliminated by having another test and moving up the three CUP people who took the last test and didn't make it on Election Board. With those three plus one gleaned from the group taking the test this time, Election Board could be legal.

With any luck, however, someone will find another loophole.

Compliments for the day go to Dean of Women Marjorie Neely, AWS President Linda Kinney and AWS Vice President Karen Fisher.

These three worked behind the scenes for many months to iron out the problems of the key privilege system for senior women—talked to other schools, went to Director of Dormitories Robert F Green about the problem of changing locks and getting sufficient keys, and obtained the approval of University President D. R. Theophilus.

A few more achievements like "Project X" (the term by which it was known to these three women) and this campus may yet be progressive.

Strangers' Names Cropping Up

Petitioning for a shot at the ASUI spot or E-Board? Two of the latest petitioners filed on AWS petitions.

A Karl Committee who states his living group as "none" filed for either "E-Board or President." For previous activities in the ASUI or other college activities he says "None," and as for his motives for running: "I am as well qualified as any that have held these offices for the last few years."

His buddy, whose writing looks somewhat the same, calls himself "Fred Frat." Seeking "any" office, his reason for running is "Ambition . . . I want success."

For What It's Worth

We'd like to congratulate student council and Model Parliament officials who stuck to their decision to send two members of UBC's communist club along to the University of Washington this weekend.

Our fine and free neighbors to the south, you see, don't appreciate communists spouting evil doctrine within their borders, even if it is just in harmless student demonstration of Canada's House of Commons.

The U. S. FBI and Immigration Department requires that communists entering the country must file application for clearance, for a nice little bookkeeping charge of $25. This sum must be paid each time the communist wishes to enter the U. S.

The requirement will cost the AMS and Model Parliament $50, although the University of Washington students have offered to pay half.

We're not in favor of communism, or of spending student money so that communists can spread their propaganda to the big, bad imperialist aggressors.

But we do think that the Model Parliament display, complete with communists, might justifiably embarrass some of our sometimes hypocritical friends down in the land

Like their compatriots in real Canadian of liberty, equality and freedom.

They gained the support of sufficient legitimate voters to gain three seats in the UBC mock House. As such, they have every right to expect to be included in any activity of that body—and the student community which sponsors Model Parliament and which voted them in must support this right.

If it does not, then its members are surely being just as hypocritical as people who charge $25 fees to speak in their supposedly free country. — University of British Columbia Odyssey—Feb. 3, 1964.

Dear Jason

Smith Tells Why He Withdrew

Dear Jason,

Early this week I was approached by a group of close friends with the idea of running for the office of ASUI Executive Board in the coming election. These people felt that with the political situation on campus the way it was, only nine announced candidates for nine E-Board slots, that an independent candidate would have an excellent chance of winning.

I agreed with this point and, after a short period of considering the proposal, decided to run. The necessary petitions were drawn up and signed and the wheels began to turn. A statement was made to the Argonaut and Wednesday afternoon I showed up at the SUB "shoot-your-mouth-off" and presented my basic reasons for running.

That night and during the morning of the next day I began to carefully consider the situation. After giving it much thought I decided to withdraw from the candidacy.

I came to the conclusion that I simply could not afford to devote the necessary time to the campaign or to the E-Board, if I were elected, to do them justice.

I don't in any way regret my short-lived political aspirations, nor do I wish to take back my public statements that I made. My feelings towards these matters have not changed. I feel that Executive Board is an important group which warrants qualified people. Students should make a careful evaluation of all the can-

Blue Key Talent Show Tryouts Set

The annual Blue Key Talent Show will be held April 3 in the Memorial Gymnasium, according to Buzz McCabe, chairman.

Headlines for applications is 5 p.m. March 13, to allow preparation time before try-outs. There is no grade-point stipulation.

Tryouts for the show will be held the afternoons of March 21 and 22 in the Student Union Ballroom. The acts will be notified as to the time of their tryouts.

April 1 and 2 will be the dates of the two rehearsals prior to the final performance. The first will be non-dress, and the latter, dress.

Competition will be in the following four categories: vocal, instrumental, variety and all house. Any form of entertainment will be acceptable, but the acts should be approximately five minutes long.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in each of the four categories.

No Support Financially

Dear Jason,

"Dance with your favorite girl to the music of the world famous Les Brown Band of Renown" was the way the ad went.

How did the 1963-64 Jr.-Sr. Prom turn out? From the favorable comments heard about the dance, everyone seemed to like it. Financially, however, the dance was a dud. The Junior and Senior classes are now stuck with a sizeable deficit, which they will share equally.

Even worse is the fact that this is not the first loss sustained on "big name entertainment" this year. Others include: Henry Mancini, Martin Denny, the Hootenanny and the 3-D's.

Should we continue to have big name entertainment, especially if what has previously happened is an indication of the future? Dean Decker feels that we can gain much from coming in contact with quality entertainment such as we have attempted to bring the Idaho campus. Why not take advantage of what we do bring in?

I would recommend that in the future a class should not have to bear the financial burden of bringing in big name entertainment. This could possibly be done through the Activities Council. Also, to help attendance, we should only have a couple big names a year. Homecoming and Omther's Day would be good times to schedule them.

Should we have big name entertainment in the future? Will we have big name entertainment in the future? The answer is up to you!

If Party Isn't Born, Isn't Dead

"The new party cannot be dead because it was never alive," stated Marlene Finney, Executive Board member, during E-Board Tuesday.

She said that there will be a new political party which will go into effect the day after elections, but that she is not affiliated with any person who is running for election and that the only political party which has candidates in this election is Campus Union Party.

Miss Finney has been active in the formation of a new party.

Council as an area of concern. Last fall the Vandal Rally Committee was moved from the Office of Public Relations and placed under ASUI Vice President Carvel Whiting. Although Whiting is chairman of Activities Council, the Rally Committee was not placed under Activities Council at that time.

A.C. Stimulates 'Spirit' 3. Article 13 of the Regulations was amended to include "as well as stimulating Idaho spirit" as a duty of the Activities Council.

4. Activities Council chairmen are currently chosen by the area directors. A clause was added exempting the Vandal Rally area chairman from selection by the area directors.

The Vandal Rally area members will be chosen according to rules to be set up in Clause 4. Clause 4, will be submitted next week.

5. A section was added to the Regulations requiring each member of Executive Board to spend a minimum of two hours per week in the ASUI office, 6. Salary raises for the editors of the Argonaut and Gem of the Mountains were approved, subject to budgetary consideration.

Other Business, Executive Board members appointed Joanne Myers, Theta, as student representative for the High School One-Act Play Festival.

Miss Myers replaces Barbara Ware, Kappa, who has left school. E-Board ruled out of order a report by Jim Scheel, SAE, recommending that persons who have to student teach during their terms of office should not run for an office.

Approval and support of the University Honor Committee was extended by E-Board on behalf of the Associated Students.

Esox Fables

By Bob Banashek

This place and the people in steps of the Ad Building beneath the beacon that brought them here.

For instance, you may spend your whole life in a large city, as I have, learning its ways and whiles and then you decide to go to college at the University of Idaho.

The next illogical step is to get thrown in the same room with a long-boned, wind-blown farmer's son from North Dakota, where on a clear day you can see nearly to the other end of North Dakota. And then you might think of your own home where you can see the hills, whose foot your house touches, only when there is no smog.

Your next consideration is of the strange mystery of this union and how it all came about. There has been no common element in your lives before this, and there will be none after you leave here.

There's always a chance of meeting certain people with very specialized talents so very different from your own.

There must be a guy in every living group who can pick every lock in the place. There are people who specialize in quoting hundreds of lines of Robert W. Service by rote with gymnastics as a sideline.

There really are people here who have shifty grey eyes, and specialists in quick-drawing. Esox also knows people who can smell popcorn before it even pops.

Every day you walk to your classes and pass a hundred on the way and a few more on the Patronize Argonaut Advertisers

People's Talents

Sacked Out

Or there... are others who would change the course of human history or maybe just desire, more moderately, to spend eighteen hours a day in the sack. Look around and you might see a poet-miner or a revolutionary.

All these people are so very different because of what they think or do, or even for what they don't think or don't do.

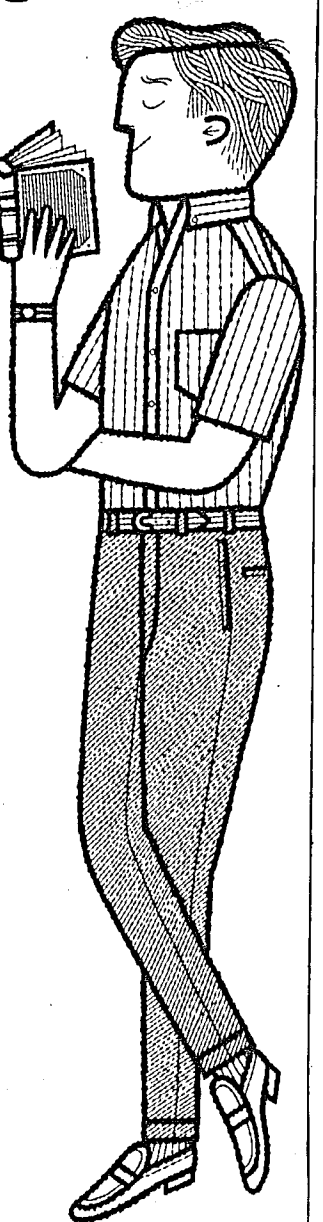

The lack of logic in it all is just the fact that they are all here right now, and when they leave they're going to have to be spread pretty thinly around this world.

If you don't believe me, just look around; you may even see Esox among them.

No Cold Epidemic For UI Or WSU

Students can quit worrying about the rumors that the Idaho and Washington State campuses are going to be quarantined with a cold infection.

Yesterday 18 students were being kept in the University infirmary with colds or forms of cold infections.

It is not necessarily a quarantine situation but just a means of keeping well students away from those who do have the infection, according to infirmary personnel.

Dr. Barnes at the WSU infirmary said that only six students have been admitted with the infection.

Urban Tells Importance Of Value

Value, like quality and reliability, can be engineered into a modern spacecraft or missile weapon system, according to Frank Urban, who spoke recently to the student chapter of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Urban is test laboratory engineer at the Astronautics Division of General Dynamics Corporation, San Diego, Calif.

He pointed out that nearly all major government contracts now carry a value engineering-control clause which must be adhered to strictly.

He said that great strides had been made in recent years in establishing procedures for value engineering. Cost targets for systems and components are pre-determined and the effort is then made to engineer the material to that level.

Urban, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in 1951, is assistant test laboratory group engineer in charge of electrical systems. He served in the Navy four years until joining General Dynamic Corp. in 1955. He is a member of the Society of American Value Engineers (SAVE) San Diego Chapter.

RILC Critique To Discuss Program For Next Year

The problem of repeating a program for the Religion In Life Conference similar to this year's will be faced at a critique today at noon in the Student Union Building, according to the Rev. Chad Boliek, Presbyterian campus minister.

This year's RIL conference began Sunday evening with a speech by Dr. John A. Hutchison, Danforth professor of religion and philosophy at Claremont (Calif.) College, on "Man and Anti-Man." Approximately 1,000 students and faculty members attended the keynote address by Dr. Hutchison on Monday evening.

"I consider the field of religion so important that it is hard for me to think of a liberal arts program ignoring it," Dr. John A. Hutchison, Danforth professor of religion and philosophy at Claremont (Calif.) College, stated at a meeting of the faculty forum Tuesday noon. Topic of his speech was "Freedom and Commitment in Higher Education."

Series Treatment "Is Religion Irrelevant," was the subject of a panel discussion Tuesday evening. In a discussion with the Rev. D. H. Lee, it was remarked that panel guests in addition to Dr. Hutchison did not seem prepared for the direction the discussion took and there ceased to be a truly serious treatment of the material.

The discussion was attended by approximately 200 people and marked the end of the conference.

The Rev. L. T. Hathaway emphasized that the "Dialogue" groups were a definite contribution of RILC. Students realized there was an 'option of religion being not only monologue but dialogue,' Rev. Hathaway said.

He also emphasized that the conference was geared to the whole academic community and that town and campus ministers had listened a great deal to what students had to say especially in the class visitations.

Jim Burne in an article to the Rev. D. H. Lee said that even people who didn't believe gained a respect for the rationality of a man committed to something they thought wholly absurd, during the speeches of Dr. Hutchison.

A comedy fire drill given by Les Ensing, Julie Joslin, Marty Vandercreek and Liz Hanson at the Kappa house set the scene for Arvy Nelson to extinguish a red candle ala vodka bottle to announce her pinning to Chuck White, SAE.

ROHRMAN - THOMAS

A yellow twirled candle entwined with white rosebuds, ivy and silver was passed by Joanne Gallagher, Tri Delta, to announce the pinning of Marj Rohrman, Tri Delta, to Steve Thomas, Delta Sig.

Religious Groups Return To Usual Weekly Activities

Church groups have returned to their regular discussion meetings after the close of the Religion in Life week.

DISCIPLE STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Vernon Smith will be the discussion leader on the topic "Others" which is the second in a series of studies dealing with "Joy" at the March 1 meeting of the Disciple Student Fellowship. The meeting will be at the Christian Church at 5:15 p.m. with the discussion after dinner.

LUTHERAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

"Gods on Campus" will be the topic for panel discussion at the March 1 L.S.A. meeting at the Campus Christian Center. There will be no supper this week but cake and coffee will be served.

UNITARIAN

Boyd A. Martin, dean of the College of Letters and Science, will present a talk on "Education: On the Brink of Success or Failure" at the 10:30 a.m. meeting of the Moscow-Pullman Unitarian Fellowship Sunday. Channing Club will meet for open discussion at 6:30 Sunday Evening.

Both meetings will be held at 500 Oak St., Pullman, Wash.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

"Religion and the Lay Person" is the topic of discussion by Dr. Stan Thomas at a fireside tonight at 9 p.m. in the lounge of the Campus Christian Center.

Rahab Wanjiro Mwaniki of Kenya, Africa, will share her insights on the 19th Quad. Student Conference of Athens, Ohio dealing with the theme "For the Life of the World" at the Sunday meeting.

A snack will be served at 5:30 the program and worship will be at 6.

WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION

A supper and game night at the home of Lynn Holmes in Pullman is planned for the Westminster Foundation.

The group will meet at the Campus Christian Center at 5:30 p.m. Sunday and proceed to Pullman from there.

Engineers To Hold Ball

Exhibits from each of the ten engineering societies will be the highlight of the Engineer's Ball, sponsored by the Associated Engineers, to be held in the SUB (Ballroom, Saturday night. The Ballroom opens at 8 for displaying the exhibits.

Dancing, to the music of the Moonlighters, lasts from 9 to 12 p.m.

Each society of engineering competes for the award, a plaque to be awarded by Assistant Dean of Engineering, George Russell, who will represent the Idaho Professional Society for Engineers.

A second award will be given to the most outstanding freshman engineer by Sigma Tau, engineering honorary.

According to Floyd Lukehart, chairman of Associated Engineers, judging of exhibits will be based on integrity, neatness, presentation and audience interest. Professors in the College of Engineering will decide the winner.

Representatives from each school of engineering are committee heads working on the dance.

Engineering Prof To Visit Campus Tues.

Dr. George H. Miley, professor of nuclear engineering at the University of Illinois, will visit the Idaho campus on Tuesday, March 3, to deliver several lectures on Direct Energy Conversion. He will also consult with any of the faculty who wish to speak with him concerning teaching and research in this field.

He will speak on the present "state of the art" with regard to Magnetohydrodynamics, Thermoelectricity, Thermionics, Fission-electric Cells, and Fuel Cells.

His trip to Idaho is sponsored jointly by the American Society for Engineering Education's "Visiting Engineer Program" and the Departments of Electrical and Mechanical Engineering at the University.

Miley has been teaching and directing research in the direct energy conversion field for several years. Last summer he was the director of a four-week institute on direct energy conversion at the University of Illinois.

His speaking schedule for March 3 is as follows: 9:00-9:50, lecture to Junior and Sophomore students in engineering auditorium (Rm. 104); 11:15-1:00, informal faculty luncheon, Pend d'Oreille Room, Student Union Building; 1:10-2:00, lecture to engineering senior students, faculty and guests, Engr. Auditorium; and 3:00-4:30, informal meeting with faculty and graduate students in lower lounge of the Faculty Club.

Pianist To Give Recital Sunday

The University of Idaho Music Department will present James Schoepflin, off campus pianist, in his senior recital, 4 p.m. Sunday in the Music Building.

Schoepflin is a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Music, June, 1964. He will be playing selections such as "The Prelude and Fugue in G minor," Bach; "Sonata" written in 1926, by Bartok; and "Sonata in E Major," by Beethoven.

Along with his regular studies, Schoepflin is a part-time director of the Moscow High School chorus and orchestra. He was also recently initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, an all-all-campus scholastic honorary.

8 Idaho Teams In Tourney

Eight University debaters met Washington State and University of Montana in intercollegiate competition at the Student Union Building, Friday and Saturday.

The weekend tournament is a revival of competition which was held annually between the schools until 1959.

Debaters met on the third floor of the SUB to debate the four rounds — two Friday evening and two Saturday morning.

Representing Idaho were Linda Bithell, Pi Phi; Coleen Ward, Kappa; Steven Meyer, Kappa Sig; Troy Smith, Christian; Hazel Perks and Cheryl Berrett, both Hays and Mac Conrod, Kappa Sig.

Idaho debaters will represent the University next week in the state tournament which will be held in Boise.

'Once In 4 Years' To Be At Stake

Dr. Harry Caldwell, associate professor of geography, will lead an informal discussion "Once in Four Years" at the Burning Stake, 10 p.m. Friday.

This is the first "Committee" discussion to be held in which anyone who comes is welcome to participate in the discussion.

The discussion will be a series of provocative statements that I bring out about every four years, Caldwell said.

It will probably include a discussion of manners and morals, afterthoughts of the Religion in Life Conference and the senior privileges.

Despite the fact that exact results will not be certain until proceeds from the pre-ticket sales are back, he said that "right now I would say we lost money on the dance."

He added that although the students that attended the dance had a good time, there weren't enough people present to meet expenses. He pointed out the similarity between this dance and the failure which resulted from the Junior Class sponsored Hootenanny.

The publicity on the Prom was tremendous, Faucher said, and he stated that the administration was very pleased with the way the different committees worked on the dance.

1. I've decided on the kind of job I want when I graduate.

Knowing you, I'd guess it to be something modest—like Secretary of State or President of GE.

2. I hadn't thought of those specifically. What I had in mind was a job where they give you a lot of assistants. I think that would be nice.

Very nice. Maybe they could start you off at a hundred grand a year.

3. Well, I did run an extremely successful Nickel-a-Pickle sale.

Don't forget to demand plenty of stock options.

4. You think maybe I should lower my sights a little.

I'm afraid to tell you what I think.

5. I'd be willing to settle for a vice-presidency.

Look—why don't you see if you can qualify for one of Equitable's executive training programs. The work is interesting, the pay is good. And if you prove you have the ability, you may very well end up with a title and a couple of assistants.

See your Placement Officer for the date Equitable's employment representative will be on campus. Or write to William E. Blevins, Employment Manager.

A Little Optimism Goes A Long Way

By MARK BROWN

Moscow provides a good climate for basketball.

Next year's team may win more games than last year's.

I was happy with this season, but I don't like to lose.

Optimism is a refreshing attribute in any person, but in a basketball coach who is wrapping up a losing season, optimism is particularly refreshing.

Despite the University of Idaho's loss-heavy season record — six wins, 18 losses and two games to go — the Vandal coach, Jim Goddard, is optimistic.

And, after talking to Goddard for more than an hour the other day, I can see that his optimism is more than the usual year-end pipe dreaming.

The five-foot, five-inch coach who replaced Joe Cipriano less than a year ago, gives an impression of unlimited energy. As do most persons with energy to spare, Goddard displays a certain air of cockiness which implies a never-say-die spirit.

It is Goddard's impression of energy and his air of cockiness that convey as much optimism as his words and make the listener believe that next year's prospects are more than the usual year-end pipe dream.

What are Goddard's hopes for next year? "The biggest thing the Vandals are going to do next year," he emphasized, "is win the Big Sky Conference. In my opinion, winning a team's own conference is the most important goal because it leads to entrance into regional NCAA playoffs.

"In addition," Goddard continued, "we're going to have to win a few outside games to get any sort of national ranking."

With what kind of material is Goddard going to reach his goals?

Forming a strong nucleus around which to mold a team will be juniors Tom Moreland, Jay Anderson and Chuck Kozak and sophomore Ed Haskins, all of whom had a major portion of the team load thrown on their shoulders this year after the entire first string, with the exception of Tom Whitfield, was graduated last spring.

The four comparatively unvarnished players matured a lot in their roles as leaders of the team and by the end of this year can be placed in the "veteran" class.

In addition, Goddard will inherit some good material from this year's freshman team and "has an eye" on several transfers from junior colleges.

Analyzing this year's season, it is possible to believe that Goddard will finish his first year at Moscow with a pleasant taste in his mouth despite the poor win-loss record.

First to consider is a fairly obvious speculation that when Goddard arrived he must have known that the team's prospects couldn't have been too bright with an unexperienced team in a new league.

Second is the fact that Goddard has enjoyed excellent relations with members of the team. Only two cases of disciplinary action have been necessary, he said, and both were for the relatively minor offense of coming late to practice without an excuse.

Third is the way in which the team members have conducted themselves on and off the court.

"There has been no incidence of trouble on any of the trips," Goddard said. "For a team, particularly one with a losing season, that projects a good image. People can respect a losing team as well as a winning team and I believe the boys have earned the public's respect."

Fourth is the atmosphere in which basketball at the University of Idaho is surrounded.

"The people in Moscow are true basketball rooters," Goddard said. "They understand basketball and talent. The students are patient with the situation. Basically, the people here like basketball."

With these things in mind, Goddard said, he is very happy with this season. "But the current win-loss situation is not going to continue," Goddard grinned. "I don't like to lose."

Other things contribute to Goddard's feeling of optimism. Among them is the Big Sky Conference.

"Traditionally, the University of Idaho has been a strong basketball school," he said. "The people and the climate are such that it is. However, the teams have never been consistently successful. By that, I mean that Idaho cannot consistently boast of a strong basketball team in relation to its competition."

"But now, we have a league of our own. In the Pacific Coast League Idaho has always been the tail enders. In the Big Sky Conference I think we can be the champs. Having a league like this gives greater emphasis and impetus for a better team. It aids in recruiting athletes for the teams and it makes people more interested in us."

In my opinion, this sort of calculated optimism of Jim Goddard is the kind of thinking that Idaho athletics has been needing for years. Perhaps, if it catches hold, Idaho is on the upswing.

Vandals Face Montanans Saturday And Monday; Could Even Season

By LARRY GRIMES Argonaut Sports Writer

The Big Sky basketball race is pretty well decided as far as the championship is concerned. With the Montana State Bobcats from Bozeman being assured of the top spot in this inaugural year of competition, the new league is off and running.

Let no one be mistaken; this is a good basketball league. Apparently ignored in tournament selections, the MSU Bobcats last week gained a lot of prestige in the Northwest by rolling over the highly regarded Seattle U. Chieftains. The Chieftains were previously picked as an at-large representative for the NCAA playoffs.

Coach Jim Goddard takes his Vandals over the mountain this weekend to wrap up his first season at the helm here in Moscow. The Vandals are scheduled for league leader Montana State tomorrow night at Bozeman and the University of Montana Grizzlies in Missoula Monday night.

The Vandals, currently in fourth place with a 3-5 win-loss record in league play and 6-18 overall, hope to spring what for them would be the upset of the season Saturday night by slowing down the high geared Bobcats. Goddard said today that he plans on using his familiar "chatterbox" defense with a single man chasing.

Monday night the Vandals take on the Grizzlies who are currently the doormat of the league. So far they are winless in conference play.

The big question mark for Idaho is junior center Tom Moreland who sprained or strained his ankle in practice this week. Goddard, with his usual wry humor, pointed out that almost everything conceivable has happened to his charges this year and that next year everything would have to even out with a few more of the breaks falling their way.

Mathematically the Vandals have a chance to tie Weber for second place. Of course a couple of things would have to happen.

First Weber, currently 5-3, would have to drop both its games. Then Gonzaga would have to lose at least one to bring them to 5-5. And all that the Vandals would have to do should the above occur would be to take a pair and they would be all tied up for the runner-up spot.

But speculation and wishful thinking don't win basketball games. A split in the two games would have to be considered fortunate since both games are on foreign courts.

Kessel To Edit Business Journal

Dr. Robert M. Kessel, head of office and business education administration at the University, has been named editor of the national journal of Delta Pi Epsilon.

Dr. Kessel was selected as the second editor in the journal's history at a meeting of the national graduate honor fraternity in business education in Chicago. A quarterly, the journal will be published in Idaho.

The Idaho professor received the Delta Pi Epsilon Research award in 1958 for a monograph on the critical requirements for secondary school business teachers.

Betas Drop Sigma Nu Hoopsters; ATOs Cinch League Two Title As Basketball Season Closes

Winning their second straight from the Sigma Nus, the Betas Wednesday night became League One basketball champions by a score of 50-34.

Leading almost the entire game the Betas relied on bench strength to make up for the loss of regular forward Jeff McQueeney to the baseball squad. The Sigma Nus, on the other hand, couldn't seem to find the right combination and obviously missed the services of two members of the team who were also lost to baseball.

The Betas had tied the Sigma Nus Monday night for the league lead by a 39-32 count. This forced the playoff; both team had only one defeat, and the Betas resolved it Wednesday night.

The Sigma Nus stayed in the Monday night contest all the way, but couldn't overcome the handicap and lost by a 39-32 margin. That game proved to be the turning point as the Betas applied the clincher Wednesday night by a 50-34 score.

The Phi Deltas, also missing a key player because of the same ruling, were forced into a sudden death overtime before pulling out a 27-25 win to take third place over the Delta Sigs.

This loss dropped the Delta Sigs into a fourth place tie, and they lost out in the ensuing playoff with LDS, 34-33, leaving them in fifth spot.

Despite a 30-29 loss to the Theta Chis, the Kappa Sigs took sixth place, while the Phi Jis finished seventh after forfeiting to LDS, and the Theta Chis were last.

ATOs Undeclared

The ATOs wrapped up the League Two title by romping over the Sigma Chi 59-16, while the SAEs finished in second place one game out by defeating the Tekes 41-17.

The Deltas finished the season in their spot with a 48-33 decision over the Lambda Chis, who finished fifth behind the Tekes. The Sigma Chis were sixth, and the Phi Taus took seventh and put the Delta Chis in the cellar by downing them 39-16.

Sweet 2 Wins Willis Sweet 2 kept its record clean while handing Upham 2 its first defeat, 30-26. Meanwhile Gault continued its win streak and clinched the League Three title by trouncing Borah 52-21. So it looks as if Gault will meet Willis Sweet 2 for the independent championship.

In other independent games Borah 2 downed Gault 2, 47-34. Chrismanman 2 took Campus Club 2, 38-17. Lindley 2 defeated McConnell 2, 56-38, and Chrisman beat Campus Club 23-12.

TMA 2 romped over Shoup 2, 40-17, and Lindley and TMA took forfeits from McConnell and Shoup. Upham Hall forfeited to Willis Sweet.

League Three Close Probably one of the closest races ever seen is developing in League Three of intramural bowling. Lindley defeated the Phi Deltas to take the league lead with a 9-7 record. Meanwhile the Kappa Sigs lost 1-3 to the Tekes to drop into the last position, with a 7-9 record.

The remaining four teams including the Delta Sigs and the Sigs and Sigma Chis are tied with 8-8 marks with only one week of league action left. The Delta Sigs were 4-0 victors over the Sigma Chis.

In League Four the Betas and Sigma Nus split 2-2, Willis Sweet fell to the Lambda Chis 3-1, and the Phi Taus split 2-2 with the Deltas.

Tennis Coach Picks Team

Members of the University of Idaho have been picked by Marshall Reynolds, tennis coach, following tennis tryouts last week.

Members are Scott Rustay, Dick Jennings, Terry Winter, Lee Takahashi, Keith Ries, Terry Scott, Alfred Susu and LeRoy Bensolt. Only Rustay, Winter and Benson have had previous varsity tennis experience. Susu is a native of Nigeria.

High game for the night went to Dennis Welch, Sigma Nu with a 225, and high series to Ron Seewald, Phi Tau with a 560. The Delta Sigs had the high team game with an 848 as well as high series with a 2358.

Ever see the "Progress Corps" in action?

Its members are at work all over the free world, helping millions of people to progress toward better lives. In India, West Germany, Italy, and in the United States, they're building nuclear power plants, launching the age of low-cost atomic power. In Samoa, they're developing an educational TV network to battle illiteracy... while in Pittsburgh, they're working with teachers to help high school students learn more about computers. In Wales, they're putting the final touches on Europe's first computer-controlled steel mill. Near Los Angeles they've scored a world first by putting a computer in charge of cement mill operations. In Brazil, Pakistan and Ghana, they're providing extra-high-voltage equipment for huge dams to harness these nations' hydroelectric power. For Malaysia, they're supplying high-power diesel locomotives... for Norway, a marine engine room to power one of the world's largest supertankers. The members of the "Progress Corps" are the men and women of General Electric, working to provide the key to progress—low-cost electric power and better ways of putting it to work. Many are engineers. Many others are international lawyers, physicists, financial specialists, marketing experts. General Electric is growing both at home and abroad. If you'd like to grow with us, talk to your placement director. He can help qualified people begin their General Electric careers. Progress Is Our Most Important Product. GENERAL ELECTRIC.
