Ballet To Headline '65 Concert Series

The San Francisco Ballet with a 30-member orchestra and a 50-member company will be the headline attraction for the 1965 Moscow Community Concert Association Program.

This group will appear Jan. 27, 1965, it was announced at the Community Concert Drive banquet last night.

The Pullman Community Concert Association recently completed its drive which will include the Branko Krstanovich Chorus, an 80-member Yugoslavian choir who appear in their native costumes.

Pullman Program

The Corelli Society, an Italian chamber orchestra, and Andree Brunn, a young pianist, are also scheduled for the program in Pullman.

Troy Bussey, president of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, told the group of 75 people that the cultural level of a community as well as taxes and profit margins is considered when businesses relocate their plants.

Debate Trip Marred By Car Wreck

Four University students and their debate coach were slightly injured in a two-vehicle accident west of Boise while on their way to a debate tournament there last weekend.

Passengers in the University automobile driven by Dr. E. A. Whitehead, professor of speech, were Coleen Ward, Kappa; Stephen Meyer, off campus; Bill Martin, Uplam, and Linda Bithell, Pi Phi.

The Whitehead automobile was hit broadside at 9:30 p.m. Thursday as it waited to cross the highway into the east-bound lane of traffic. Speed of the on-coming pick-up truck was estimated at 50 miles per hour.

ASUI Aspirants To Give Arg Info

All candidates for ASUI office elections are asked to turn in a picture of themselves, a list of no more than three qualifications and a statement of two sentences to the Argonaut by Wednesday noon.

Each candidate is responsible for this himself.

Campus Chest Nets Near $2764

Campus Chest collected approximately $2764 from all the week's events which culminated in a combined dance and bingo game Friday night with the Ambassadors from Lewiston playing.

The band played free of charge to help toward the charity and between $300-$400 was collected from the dance and bingo.

The can-can contest of women's living groups was won by the DG's, wearing colorful costumes and performing as if in Paris, even adding screams and laughter to lend authenticity.

Peck To Speak At Science Meet

Dr. Edson Peck, professor of physics at the University, has been invited to take part in a series of programs devoted to "Science in the Arts" at Ashland (Ohio) College in honor of its 85th anniversary.

Dr. Peck is scheduled to speak on March 11.

The programs include seminar discussions as well as the formal lectures.

Dr. H. Walter Steffens, academic vice president of the University, speaking to the group said that he couldn't picture a person being given a degree without having gotten some of the finer things.

"People who complain about having nothing to do, don't go to what comes here," he said.

'Obligation'

"Even if they are out of town when a program comes to town, they still have an obligation to the city to help bring these things here," he said. "The price of a community concert ticket costs only what it costs to see one play in New York."

Evelyn Gutschmidt, a New York representative affiliated with the Columbia Artists Management, is in Moscow presenting the availabilities for a concert series. What ideas she presents is not limited to the Columbia Artists group.

Win Cook, off campus, sang the "Barber of Seville" accompanied by Tom Schorzman, off campus, for the banquet.

As part of this year's program the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company will be featured at 8 p.m. March 12 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

This group is set up to preserve the folk traditions of the Philippines by presenting native dances with the use of native costumes and instruments.

The dances will vary from a slave dance to a Bagobog marriage dance. Other dances will be the gymnastic Subli.

Refusal of Campus Union Party members to discuss their platform publicly before its final approval Sunday and lack of student questions turned the discussion to Jim Johnston's position as an independent ASUI presidential candidate at the "Sound-Off" Friday afternoon in the Bucket.

In answer to a question by Bob Brown, off campus, concerning his status as an individual or CUP candidate, Johnston replied that while he didn't want to lose sight of the individual on a living-group-oriented campus, he is also running for the ideals of CUP.

Carl Johanesen, CUP presidential candidate, said that since Johnston had not received support from CUP he has left the "relative security of the party and is running on his own."

Johnston is running to gain profit from CUP and needs something to bolster his campaign, he said.

"I Pay My Dues."

"I pay my dues and support the ideals of CUP and do not consider myself to be disassociated from the party," Johnston said. He also said that he didn't feel that all the members of CUP party were for Johanesen.

Arlen Marley, CUP vice-presidential candidate, said he couldn't understand Johnston's line of reasoning, since he claims to be running on CUP, yet shows intentions of coming up with a new platform.

In reply, Johnston said that "I don't know what the CUP platform may be so I can't say whether or not I can support all the ideals."

Running — Sans Purpose

"Instead of running for a purpose, these people are running to win and finding purposes as they go along," was the remark of Mark Brown, Beta, after listening to several of the candidates.

"Are you running because you think yourself better than Carl?" Bob Brown asked.

"The main contention here is that students here are having an opportunity to choose," Johnston replied.

"What was your reason for stating that you have no respect for Carl?" asked Kip Peterson, off campus. "That (comment made a few days earlier) was an unfortunate mistake," Johnston said.

Pat Powers, sophomore transfer from North Idaho Junior College, indicated that he was running for E-Board because he felt "for all practical purposes the CUP convention was an ASUI general election," and he had found disinterest among students and no one willing to sacrifice his grade point and time to the office.

Leonard Hart, Delta Chi; Nancy Grubb, Pi Phi; Bob Banashek, Lindley; and Craig MacPhee, Sigma Chi, CUP candidates for E-Board, stated their qualifications and attitudes toward student government at the invitation of Rick Beebe, Uplam, moderator for the "Sound-Off."

The next SUB "Sound-Off" will be at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Bucket of the Student Union Building.

University students will have to deposit $25 by June 9 to insure their return the following semester, according to F. L. O'Neill, registrar.

The deposit is a result of action taken Dec. 5, 1963, by the Board of Regents. Purpose of the action was to give the registrar an accurate count of the number of undergraduates returning the following semester so that the director of admissions can decide on the number of applications to accept.

The decision came as a result of the school's nearing its maximum capacity last semester when attendance rose as high as 5085 at one point.

The ruling is aimed at continuous students, O'Neill said.

It has been a policy for the school to admit returning students first, in-state incoming students and then out-of-state students.

The fee goes to the Business

Office, which issues a receipt. The Registrar's Office will issue a permit to register only after seeing the receipt.

Should a student become disqualified for registration because of low grades, or through action taken by the discipline committee, the fee will be refunded. If a student decides not to return to the University and notifies the registrar before Aug. 15, the fee will also be refunded.

After Aug. 15 the fee becomes applicable to the fall registration fee and is not refundable, O'Neill said.

Continuous and returning undergraduates who do not submit the required $25 June 9, he said, will not be assured of re-registration privileges.

His speech is sponsored by Campus Union Party as a part of its program to inform the students by bringing speakers from outside the campus to talk on subjects in the national eye, according to Richard Kunter, TKE, publicity director for the organization.

Last year CUP brought Sutton Marks, a member of the Mississippi state legislature, to the campus to lecture on a Southerner's view of civil rights and segregation.

Judicial Council Says Election Date Illegal

Judicial Council held the election date for the ASUI election to be unconstitutional, and the Election Board to be unconstitutional as currently set up.

The constitutionality questions went before the Council at 4 p.m. Monday, with the decision reached by 6 p.m.

The case, Wilford B. Longeteig vs. Gary Green and the ASUI Election Board, was argued by two law students.

Decisions Are

Specific decisions of the six-member Judicial Council are:

1. That the date of March 5 is not a legal date for the election March 5 would have been the legal date under the Constitution passed March 8, 1962.
2. The date of March 2 (yesterday) was held to be void because first, the Constitution requires the ballot to be printed in the Argonaut immediately preceding the election and second, because there were no candidates certified in time for an election yesterday.
3. The Judiciary ruled that a special election can be called upon receipt of a petition bearing the signatures of 25 per cent of the students who voted in the last election.
4. According to Judicial Council Chairman Merlyn Clark, off campus, this means going through the Kampus Keys used in the last election to see who voted, then getting 25 per cent of those students to sign the petition.
5. An election can be held any time within three weeks after receipt of the petition.
6. Election Board illegal.
7. Election Board was held to be unconstitutional as currently set up.
8. Reasons for this action were first, there are 16 members on Election Board (this was ruled to include the chairman as a member) instead of the 15 provided for in the Constitution, and second, the apportionment of the Election Board's membership.
9. Clark said that apportionment, to be Constitutional, should include having 10 positions on the Election Board divided between the recognized political parties and the other five positions taken from the next highest test scores.
10. CUP Gets 10
11. This means Campus Union Party, currently the only recognized political party on campus, should have 10 members on Election Board instead of the eight it now has.
12. Judicial Council members voted unanimously on all points except apportionment. Ron Reed, Sigma Nu, voted that the Election Board was valid when constituted, and should remain valid.
13. Longeteig, off campus, presented the case for the plaintiff (himself) while Gary Randall, off campus, acted as counsel for Green, Phi Delt.

Independents File

By the 4 p.m. deadline Friday seven independent candidates filed petitions to have their names placed on the ballot for the ASUI elections March 12.

One of the candidates who filed, Dick Jennings, Delta Sig, who was running for the vice presidential position withdrew yesterday.

The remaining six have formed no party of their own to oppose CUP and will run entirely on their own.

In addition to ASUI presidential candidate Jim Johnston who had filed earlier, Larry Nye, Phi Delt filed to be a candidate for ASUI vice president; and four Executive Board candidates who filed are Larry Grimes Beta; Bill McCann SAE; John Sackett, Fij; and Pat Powers, both off campus.

Jennings' Reasons Listed

In withdrawing his candidacy for the ASUI vice presidency, Dick Jennings told the Argonaut:

"The lack of student and candidate understanding of the role of student government and its possibilities lead me to feel that the points upon which I decided to run will not be points upon which the voters will think. If I am right in this assumption, there is no use for me to run."

"I wish to thank those who have supported me this far, and assure them that I will try other means to arouse the students of the University."

In other election happenings, Campus Union Party candidates will release their platform after

CUP Brings Speaker To Campus

Defense of the right of free speech is one of the goals of the American Civil Liberties Union that will be explained by Will Sibley, chairman of the Pullman area ACLU chapter, in a speech tonight in the Student Union Ballroom.

"Nationally, the ACLU often defends unpopular causes," Sibley told the Argonaut.

At the present time the ACLU is defending the National States Rights Party, a pro-segregation group, on its rights of speech and assembly; and the Governor of Mississippi Ross Barnett, according to Sibley.

Lobby for Rights

The ACLU is also lobbying in Congress to obtain further civil rights, he said. In this area they seek laws against censoring books, movies and all communications media.

Sibley who is an associate professor of anthropology at Washington State University, joined the ACLU in Utah in 1957. He came to WSU in 1960 and was one of 20 charter members of the Pullman area chapter.

Frosh Moot Court Contest Slated

Moot court competition for freshmen law students will begin next month, according to University Law Professor W. J. Brockelbank.

The 52 freshmen enrolled in the College of Law will be paired off to argue a set of facts prepared by faculty members. Ten finalists will be selected by the court judges, made up of seniors, who will in turn argue their cases to the faculty.

Four seniors will then be selected by the faculty who will complete their arguments before the state Supreme Court in early April.

His speech is sponsored by Campus Union Party as a part of its program to inform the students by bringing speakers from outside the campus to talk on subjects in the national eye, according to Richard Kunter, TKE, publicity director for the organization.

AP Correspondent To Speak

Eddy Gilmore, Pulitzer-prize-winning correspondent of the Associated Press, will appear on the University Public Events' platform 11 a.m. Friday.

Gilmore, who won the coveted journalism award for his 12 years of reporting from the Soviet Union, will speak on "Changing Tides in World Affairs" in the Memorial Gymnasium. Classes will be dismissed.

The journalist's appearance will coincide with the release by Farrar-Straus of his newest book, "After the Cossacks Burned Down the 'Y'."

His book concludes that "because both the Russians and West now fully comprehend the horrible consequences of a nuclear war, such a war is out of the question. The chances of peace are better today than they have been for years."

Gilmore, a big, burly Alabamian with almost 25 years of reporting foreign news for the Associated Press, returned to America this winter from his AP headquarters in London.

He was recently awarded a single honor when he and his wife were invited to a private dinner party at Windsor Castle with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The leading foreign correspondent served throughout the Forties as chief of the Moscow AP bureau. For his reporting, he received the Pulitzer prize, the National Headliners Club award and special citations from Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

On his latest trip to Russia, Gilmore took his wife who is the former Russian ballerina, Tamara Charnashova. She was ordered out of Moscow while he was courting her, as the government did not approve. Gilmore got her back and married her through the intercession of the late Wendell Willkie after waiting for three years until the death of Stalin, who refused to let her go.

Interviews Tito

Today London serves as the springboard for Gilmore in covering important stories breaking in Europe. At the historic meeting between Yugoslavia's Tito and the new leaders of the Kremlin some years back, Gilmore was the only American correspondent to succeed in getting into Tito's private island of Brioni in the Adriatic to interview the Yugoslav and Russian leaders.

The Golden Fleece By Jason

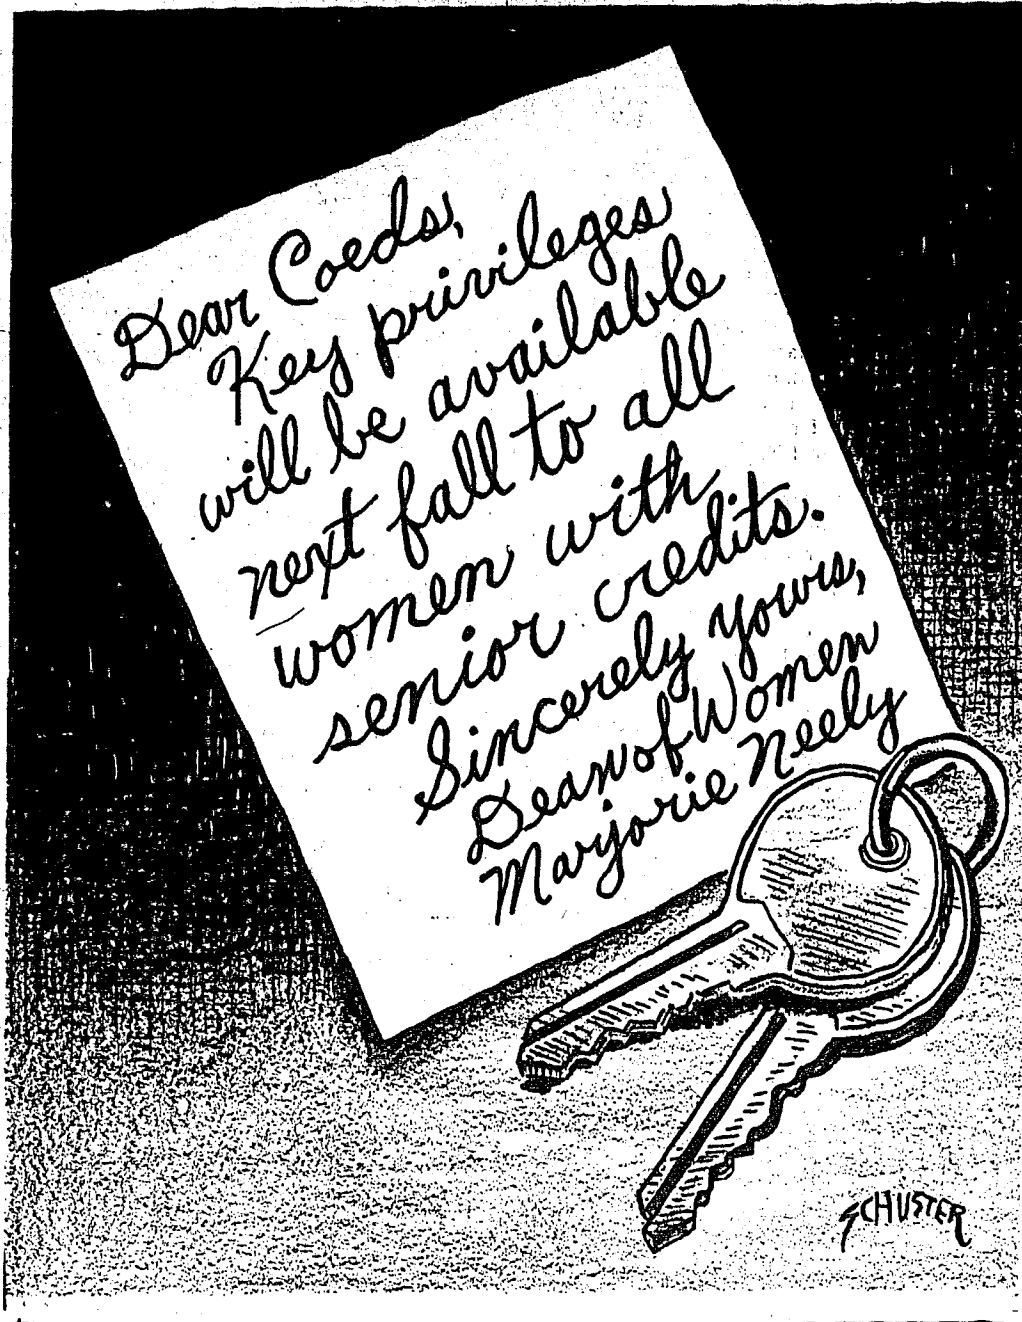

The constitutional mess is cleared up, but the election date is still tentative. Or will be tentative until 25 per cent of the specific students who voted in the last election sign a petition calling an election for March 12.

This will be a problem—someone has to go through the Kampus Keys used in the last election to get the names of those voting, then persuade 25 percent of these individuals that they should sign the petition. This isn't all that Judicial Council ruled will have to be done to make the election legal, either.

Election Board must also be legally constituted. First, because the chairman was ruled to be a member, one member must be disposed of. Second, Campus Union Party, as the only recognized political party, is entitled to 10 positions. It now has only eight.

E-Board Rewords Parts Of Constitution For Voters

Amendments placed on the ballot at last Tuesday's Executive Board meeting were reworded and clarified at two subsequent meetings, both Friday. A recommendation that the offices of class secretary and treasurer be combined into one office was voted down last spring by Executive Board. Tuesday night, the recommendation was passed, and Friday noon it was worded to state: "The elected class officers shall consist of a president, a vice president and a secretary-treasurer from each class, and shall serve for a term of one year upon election."

Marginal Citizens?

The proposal by Greg Bachells, the graduate student representative in the student Senate, that a graduate student council be established at this University has raised in this observer's mind the more general subject of the graduate student at the University of Oregon, the hows and whys of his existence and his job at the University. There are so many misconceptions and so much uninformed discussion about the job which grad students have to do and how they "fit into" the University, that it would be well to clarify their present situation before we attempt to carry out any such proposals as a graduate council.

Psych Students Organize Today

An organizational meeting for those interested in forming a psychology club will be held 4 p.m. today in Administration 312. "If enough interest is shown a further meeting will be held," said Larry McBride, Phi Delt.

Student Counselor To Return To Site Of His Career Start

Forty years ago Charles H. Bond, chief student counselor at the University, started his career in school work at Wendell. He left Twin Falls to become assistant superintendent in charge of elementary and junior high schools at Pocatello. He served in this position for eight years, then one year at Pocatello as high school principal.

EIC Chooses 4 New Members

New members of the Educational Improvement Committee were selected Wednesday after interviews with interested students. Chosen were Helen Black, Alpha Gamma; Dennis Jones, SAE; Martha Turner, Alpha Phi; Pam Taylor, Gamma Phi.

13 Law Students On Dean's List

Thirteen University College of Law students were named on the dean's list for achieving B or better in first semester classes. It was announced by Dean Philip Peterson. Highest mark, a 3.85 out of a possible perfect 4.0 was made by Gary Haman, a first-year off campus student.

Town Leaders To Hold Meet

Municipal officials from Grangeville north to the Canadian line will meet at the University Student Union March 14 to discuss mutual problems. The one-day session of panels is sponsored by the Idaho Municipal League and the University of Idaho Bureau of Public Affairs Research.

Johnston Lists His Objectives To The Student:

- As an independent candidate for ASUI President I would like to issue the following as my objectives and purposes:
1. I believe in a representative type democracy in Student Government.
2. I believe in the continuance of individual identity.
3. I believe that satisfied students are the best public relation personnel that the University of Idaho has.
4. I believe that through Student Speakers Bureau, fairbooks, and intensified communications we can best improve the image of Idaho throughout the State of Idaho.

Student Gov't. Trouble Ahead?

Dear Jason: Last week I filed a petition to have my name placed on the ballot as an Executive Board candidate. Here, in answer to many queries, are my reasons for running. 1. Student government is in trouble. A student body which timidly surrenders to one party does not deserve student government at all.

Applications Due For Teaching

Applications for student teaching the fall semester 1964 must be filed on or before May 1, 1964, according to Dr. Hervon Sneider, head of the education department. Applications for second semester student teaching must be filed on or before Nov. 1, 1964. Attendance at the University for at least one semester prior to enrolling in student teaching is required of all applicants.

Jackson Gives Chem Report

A new method of transferring oxygen to liquids which holds promise for reducing costs of waste treatment and industrial processing has been presented at the national meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at Memphis, Tenn., by Dr. M. L. Jackson, head of the University Chemical Engineering Department. The work at the University was supported by special research funds from the State of Idaho and a grant from the National Institute of Health.

Staff Notes

By JIM FAUCHER Argonaut News Editor "Listen my children and you shall hear" — Nothing! These famous words can be applied very closely to the SUB "Sound-Off" of last Friday. This is not an attempt to degrade the idea of the Sound-off, but it is an attempt to draw something worthwhile out of it.

Sigs Offering Grad Award

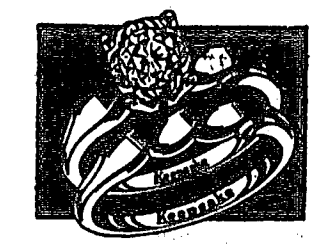

The Sigma Chi Fraternity is offering an award to the campus fraternity or sorority which graduates the highest percentage of its original freshman class. Through the fraternity's educational arm, the award of a wall plaque will be made annually to the living group with the best graduation record. The winning group each year may be determined by the chapter on the individual campus, according to Harry V. Wade, Sigma Chi Grand Consul.

Brown Shines

Of course everything has its high spots, and there was one Friday afternoon. Mark Brown, Beta, and member of the Argonaut staff, astounded the participants and the viewers with some sound remarks. He just wanted to know what was going on. The SUB Soundoff is a fine institution that was started last year from an outdated similar concept, and it should at least be given a chance to survive. As Beebe said throughout the afternoon, if someone has anything worth saying, please step up to the mike. To add a little more to that, if someone has nothing to say, please remain seated.

Applications Due For Teaching

Applications for student teaching the fall semester 1964 must be filed on or before May 1, 1964, according to Dr. Hervon Sneider, head of the education department. Applications for second semester student teaching must be filed on or before Nov. 1, 1964. Attendance at the University for at least one semester prior to enrolling in student teaching is required of all applicants. Adult Center students may meet this requirement with completion of 14 semester hours of audit. Students interested in secondary teaching next year should see Dr. Melvin W. Farley, Ad. 201 B. Those planning to student teach in the elementary school should see Dr. Sneider, Ad. 201 A. Application forms are also available in the Department of Education office.

Music Faculty To Present Recital Tonite

The University Department of Music will present a faculty recital 8 p.m. Thursday in the Music Building.

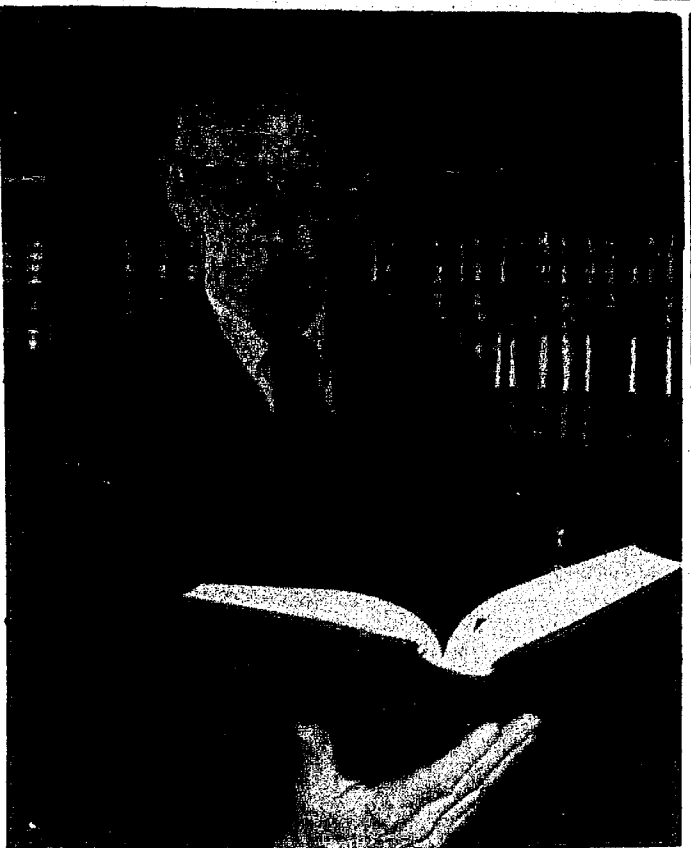

The faculty includes William Billingsley, trumpet; Marian Frykman, piano; Glen Lockery, tenor; Hall M. Macklin, piano; David Sellar, clarinet; David Whelan, cello.

The three sections of the program are taken from "Sonata" for trumpet and piano, Paul Robert Schumann; and the third section taken from Johannes Brahms.

Paul Hindemith, a twentieth-century composer, who died just recently, wrote music that appeals to those people who have never had any real interest in music as well as to those who do, said Lockery.

Hindemith was an emigrant from Germany and, after coming to the United States in 1939, he joined the faculty of the Yale School of Music where he continued his work.

The faculty concert will honor Hindemith, Schumann and Brahms.

AFTER 33 YEARS — Howard E. Packenham spent 33 years teaching collegians to write, spell and punctuate. He retired at the end of last semester, and was named associate professor emeritus by University President D. R. Theophilus.

Packenham Retires After 33 Years Of Teaching English

Since second semester classes began, Howard E. Packenham has not been teaching English, and this seems odd.

For 33 years, he has taught composition and technical writing to students at the University. For seven years prior to that, he taught English at Boise High School, bringing his total of teaching to 40 years. At 68, he asked to be retired at the end of the first semester for reasons of health.

President D. R. Theophilus announced today that the Regents had granted Packenham's request, and stipulated that he should be honored by awarding him the title of Associate Professor of English Emeritus.

Helps Youth

A quiet-mannered man but with a keen wit, Packenham could and did quote the masters frequently. His real interest, however, was not in teaching about the literary greats, but simply in helping young men and women to learn to express themselves better.

"I have often heard it said that Professor Packenham has done one of the finest teaching jobs at the University," said President Theophilus. "He made his courses both interesting and thorough. Most important, he got through to his students. His retirement marks a major loss for the University."

In 1961, Dr. Don A. Marshall, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, commented in a report:

"Almost without exception, the students in agriculture who rate higher as seniors than they did as freshmen have had technical writing under Professor Packenham. To me, it is the mark of a good instructor when he can inspire an interest in his students to learn more about the subject matter. Professor Packenham accomplished this."

Dept. Head

When Packenham was head of the English Department at Boise High School in the Twenties, he found many students struggling just to get through English courses. When some of them finally did, they sighed, "Well, I'm sure glad that's over."

Packenham began studies which lasted several years, and came up with new devices and methods for lessening the deficiency of students in the mechanics of English composition. Some of these techniques are still in use.

Packenham was always too

University Has Student From Turkey

Studying physical therapy at the University this semester is dark-eyed Bilge Kuranel, who traveled halfway around the world to get a university education. She is from Ankara, Turkey.

Daughter of an architect, Miss Kuranel is assisted with registration and book costs by two Moscow organizations, Moscow Rotary Club and Moscow Business and Professional Women.

A guest of Alpha Chi Omega sorority on campus, the 19-year-old freshman plans to study four years at the University. During summer vacations she plans to get a job, preferably in physical therapy.

Why does a coed in Turkey pick a western U.S. university? "I selected the University from material I read about it, and wanted to go there. We have a friend, dean of a California college. I wrote to him and asked if Idaho was a good school. He said, 'yes!'"

The graduate of Ankara's Girl's College said there really isn't much adjustment in coming to a northern Idaho community. "Climate and scenery are much the same. The big difference is the food. It is the same food, but it is cooked differently."

This is Miss Kuranel's first time in America.

Movie Has Time Change

A time change has been announced for this week's SUB showing of "Come September" starring Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin.

The Friday night movie will let out at 9 p.m. in time for the dance.

"Come September" is a song-filled, romantic comedy of a millionaire New Yorker who comes every September to rejoin his sweetheart at his Italian Villa.

Unknown to him, the villa is operated 11 months a year as a hotel, with his housekeeper pocketing the profits.

EVOL SPELLED BACKWARDS IS LOVE

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you!" he cried.

"Me too, hey!" she cried.

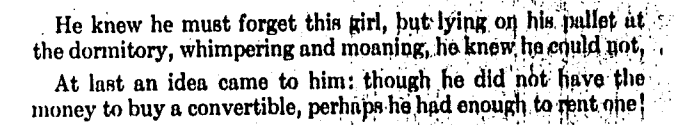

"Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"

"No, hey," she cried. "I am a girl of simple tastes."

"Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."

"Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple; my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."

"Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his little stumpy legs would carry him, for he had no yellow convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money—short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and slapping him till his wallet fell out.

He knew he must forget this girl, but lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.

At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!

Hope reborn, he rushed on his little stumpy legs (curious to tell, he was six feet tall, but all his life he suffered from little stumpy legs) he rushed, I say, to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus ten cents a mile. Then, with many a laugh and cheer, he drove away to pick up the girl.

"Oh, bully!" she cried when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T'. Come, let us speed over rolling hills and through bosky dells."

Away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a wind-swept hill.

"Marlboro?" he said.

"Yum, yum," she said.

They lit their Marlboros. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—clean and fresh and relaxing."

"Yes, I am clean and fresh and relaxing," she admitted.

"But, all the same, there is a big difference between Marlboro and me, because I do not have an efficacious white Selectrate filter."

They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.

"What is it, hey?" she asked, her attention aroused.

"Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles, and this car costs ten cents a mile, and I have only $20 left."

"But that is exactly enough," she said.

"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."

"Oh," she said. They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.

"Hey, look!" she cried. "The speedometer doesn't move when you are backing up."

He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"

"I think that is a marvelous idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothing, and lodging are provided free of charge, and his allowance is piling up so fast that in two or three years he will have enough money to take his girl riding again.
