

Coeds May Vote Thursday For 1964-65 AWS Officers

University women will vote Thursday for new officers of the Associated Women Students 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Administration Building.

"I hope there will be a definite improvement in the number of women who vote in the general election since only 345 voted in the primary one," Linda Kinney, current AWS president said.

In the primary election held last week Carol Husa, Hays, and Jeri Ross, Alpha Phi, were chosen as candidates for AWS president.

The one having the least votes will serve as vice president.

Miss Husa made this statement about the elections:

"We have just returned from the AWS convention in Seattle and have a lot of ideas which we can use to make our AWS more effective. I have worked with AWS for a year and this will help give me a background for setting up policies.

"For example, we will have to carry out the new program of senior women's key privileges and AWS experience will help to set it up efficiently."

Miss Ross says:

"Having worked with Carol Husa in Spurs, I know we'll get along well together and I'm looking forward to next year."

"Because I was on Judicial Council before Exec Board passed a ruling that the Judicial Council members are not eligible to seek or hold the presidencies of AWS, IFC, Panhell and RHC, I am still eligible for AWS office. I hope this clears up any questions there may be about my eligibility."

Other Officers

Others who will be on the ballot are Paula Spence, Gamma Phi, and Linda Werner, Alpha Gam, running for secretary.

Cathy McCloud, Alpha Chi, and Phyllis Nedrow, Tri Delta, are candidates for treasurer.

Running for page are Mike Gagon, DG, and Joanna Blood, Ethel Steel. Running for maid of honor are Donna Severn, DG, and Janet Orr, Pi Phi.

MED Taps 17 Students

Mu Epsilon Delta, pre-med and related fields honorary, tapped 17 Idaho students Wednesday.

They are Juliene Fischer, Houston; Sandra McKeane, Fiji; Linda Haag and Kristen Schouler, both French; Boyd Earl and James Kelly, both Lindley; Tom Bates, Kappa Sig; Charles Cutler, Fiji; Larry Gridley, Delta Chi; Michael Morfett, SAE; a Janet Orr, Pi Phi; Michael Ostyn, Chrisman; Fred Oyer, Gault; Randy Reagan, Delt; Steven Sundberg, Phi Delt; Keith Swenson, McConnell and Muriel Vermaas, Ethel Steel.

Initiation and a banquet will be April 29.

on the Calendar

- TUESDAY
ICEP — 4 p.m., Pend d'Oreille.
IFC — 7 p.m., Pend d'Oreille.
International Student Committee — 4 p.m., Pine.
Mortar Board — 5 p.m., Ee-da-hoo.
Young Republicans — 11 p.m., Borah.
Associated Foresters — 7:30 p.m., Gold.
Jr. Class Extended Board — 7:00 p.m., Cataldo.
IKs — 7 p.m., Borah.
- WEDNESDAY
Young Republicans — 4 p.m., Pend d'Oreille.
EIC — 4 p.m., Ee-da-hoo.
Spurs — 5 p.m., Kullyspell.
CUP — 7 p.m., Cataldo.
- THURSDAY
International Student Committee — 4 p.m., Sawtooth.
Soph. Class Extended Board — 7 p.m., Sawtooth.
Christian Science Organization — 8 p.m., Borah.
Sigma Tau — 7 p.m., Cataldo.
Young Republicans — 7 p.m., Spaulding.
Alpha Phi Omega — 7 p.m., Lemhi.
German Sing — 7:15 p.m., Pownow.

Classes To Divide Pole Cost

Who should pay for the cost of erecting a new telephone pole in place of the one pulled down recently during the Frosh-Soph Tug-of-War?

"I am of the opinion that the sophomores should pay for it," said Doug Finklenburg, freshman class president. "It will serve as a reminder to keep the classes in check from now on," he added.

On the other hand, Tom Bates, sophomore class president, said Monday: "The cost should be paid jointly by both classes, and that is what will be done. The freshmen were aware that the rope was tied to the pole when they pulled it taut."

"And, as far as I'm concerned," he added, "it is as much their fault as ours."

The latter solution is what will be done.

"The cost will be divided between the classes — unless one of the classes can furnish more evidence against the other than we now have," said Gale Mix, ASUI general manager.

The cost to replace the pole has not yet been determined by the physical plant, said Mix late Monday afternoon.

YDs Choose Club Leaders

The Young Democrats will meet 5 p.m. Thursday in the Spaulding Room of the Student Union Building. Carlton Iiams, assistant professor of languages, will speak the following Thursday.

Recently elected officers of the club are Jay Gaskill, off campus, president; Mike Wetherell, Delta Chi, vice president; Tania Bowman, Alpha Chi, secretary; and Steve Hosac, Delta Chi, treasurer.

The club has organized a bi-weekly newsletter to be sent to state Democratic leaders to inform them of the club's activities.

They have also challenged the Young Republicans to a series of debates on topics of national, state and local interest. Another pending idea is that of having writers from both clubs submit articles to the Argonaut arguing the pros and cons of various issues.

Blood Drive Will Choose Members

Tryouts for members of blood drive committees will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Sawtooth Room of the Student Union.

Interviews will be held for the facilities, publicity and progress and trophies committees.

Those trying out should bring their application blanks with them. Blankets can be obtained from sophomore extended board representatives in living groups.

Saw Mr. K Pound Shoe

Ambassador To Speak About Peace

The U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations who stood up to Chairman Khrushchev's shoe pounding tirades at the U.N. in October 1960 will speak Thursday at 9 a.m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

James J. Wadsworth, who took over as Ambassador to the U.S. after Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., was given the Republican nomination for vice president, will speak about the "Prospect for Permanent Peace."

As Khrushchev was leaving the United States at the end of his visit to the U.N., he was asked a question about changing

SPRING DUET — A duo that won't break up after elections is shown by the Ad lawn steps before elections Thursday. Either Jeri Ross, Alpha Phi, seated, or Carol Husa, Hays, standing, will be elected AWS president Thursday. The other will automatically become vice-president.

Talent Rehearsal Lasts Over 6 Hours

The first rehearsal for the hour and a half Blue Key Talent Show to be held Friday night lasted six and a half hours Sunday afternoon.

Buzz McCabe, off campus, chairman of the show, said the rehearsal was held without microphones and lighting because the equipment was unavailable from the University. Light and microphone rehearsal had to be theoretical, he said.

The show will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Memorial Gymnasium and Jim Johnston, Farm House, and Greg Malcolm, off campus, will serve as masters of ceremonies. The two conferred with all acts who will be performing in the show and gained material necessary for introductions.

"Got Behind" "The further we went through the rehearsal, the further behind we got because we had to go through some acts two and three times," McCabe said.

McCabe said he felt the show would be one of the best variety shows ever held.

"If a show like this was held thirty years ago it would have been considered quite a feat," he said. "However, today our talent has to compete with radio, television, movies and the theater because of the audience familiarity with them," he said.

McClusky Head

Dave McClusky, Sigma Chi, Duke of Intercollegiate Knights, worked with the show during the rehearsal and will be in charge of the curtains Friday night," McCabe said. "It's a pretty big job to get the curtains coordinated," he said.

Blue Key has given 150 complimentary tickets to the DeMolay convention for the show.

The complete dress rehearsal for the show will be held Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

ICEP To Pick 4 Officers

The Idaho Center for Education in Politics will meet at 4 p.m. in the Pend d'Oreille Room for election of the top four officers.

President, vice president, secretary and reporter will be elected today. Four members of the executive board will be elected next fall.

Dr. Boyd A. Martin, dean of the College of Letters and Science, will give the financial report of the Mock Political Convention. Reports will also be heard from Mock Convention chairmen.

The new officers are scheduled to speak at various cities this spring to explain the new primary convention system.

Those eligible for officers must have attended two meetings. No dues are solicited. Pictures will be taken.

Spur-o-grams, April 1 Arrive

April Fool's Day will bring salt instead of sugar, short-sheeted beds, impromptu tubings—and Spur-o-grams.

Spur-o-grams are currently being sold by the University Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, at all living groups on campus. Customers can write messages to friend or foe to be delivered by the Spurs in person on April Fool's Day. The Spur-o-grams cost ten cents apiece or three for a quarter.

his views of disarmament. His comment was "I have this," he said, as he produced a penknife and asked out loud if the knife could "puncture such a sack" as Ambassador Wadsworth.

Wadsworth served as Deputy U.S. Representative to the U.N. for seven years. During that time he acted as chief negotiator for the U.S. on disarmament.

The author of a book published in 1962, "The Price of Peace," he is currently serving as chairman of the National Citizens Committee for a Nuclear Test Ban and working on a second book about his U.N. experiences. The grandson of a former Secretary of State, John Milton Hay, Wadsworth comes from a long line of distinguished politicians. His father sat in both the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Swarthout Will Address Faculty

Dr. John M. Swarthout, a member of the accreditation committee currently on campus, will lead a discussion on "Politics and Higher Education" at noon Wednesday in the Faculty Club.

Swarthout is professor of political science and Dean of the Faculty at Portland State University. The discussion will be held in the lower lounge of the Faculty Club.

Swarthout's talk is one of a series being arranged by the University Faculty Forum Committee. All faculty members are invited to come and bring a lunch.

3 Reveres To Speak To Students

Not the Paul Revere, but three modern day "Paul Reveres" are on campus today.

The three are Republican congressmen William Henry Harrison, Wyoming; Don L. Short, North Dakota; and William T. Cahill, New Jersey. They will participate in a panel at 11 a.m. in the Student Union and then attend a luncheon at the New Idaho Hotel.

"Among the subjects we will discuss are foreign policy, state of the economy, scandals in Washington and the record and performance of President Johnson," said Harrison, panel chairman.

This year marks the 169th anniversary of Paul Revere's ride, and all are members of the GOP "Paul Revere" Panel. The total party program includes seven three-member panels which will visit 17 states during the week of March 30.

The group is in Moscow under the sponsorship of the Latah County Republican Central Committee and the University Young Republicans.

Service In Congress Representative Harrison, a lawyer, has spent 14 years in Washington. He is ranking Republican on the Interior and Related Agencies Subcommittee and serves on the House Appropriations Committee.

Short, a farmer and rancher, has served in the House for six years. He is a member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Cahill, a lawyer, has spent five years in Capitol Hill. He serves on the House Judiciary Committee and in his first term was appointed by former speaker Sam Rayburn as one of the United States Representative to NATO.

The general public, and especially students, are invited to the events, said Russell Short, Latah County GOP Chairman.

Inspection of the physical plant of the University will include classrooms and dormitories. The Student Union, Greek-letter living groups and other non-University operated facilities may be looked at with the rest of the facilities, Steffens said.

Inspection is of current setup at the University, not of future plans.

Planned dormitories, such as the third wing of the Wallace Complex, buildings on the priority list for legislative consideration, future enrollment, future professor teaching loads and qualifications do not enter into accreditation.

Accreditation, which expires this year, was last given in 1954 when the University of Idaho received the maximum length of accreditation — from five to ten years.

70 MINUTES IN HARLEM "Jimmie's Jamboree" or "70 Minutes in Harlem" was the title of the first Blue Key talent show in 1937.

11 Groups Watch Probe

Eleven of the 41 living groups on campus watched KUID-TV's "Probe" last Thursday, a survey conducted by Mary Martin, Houston, and Rick Carr, SAE, revealed. Both students are members of the ASUI Educational Improvement Committee.

The survey, which was one in a series to be conducted in coming weeks, showed that 19 living groups had their televisions on at the time. The "Probe" program featured Senator Frank Church.

The off campus audience was not surveyed, but plans are being made to do so in the future. Only off campus apartments connected to the Moscow city cable can receive "Probe."

The campus audience was counted at 118, including several who watched the showing in the SUB. Program officials were reported as being "very pleased" with the size of the audience. They felt that Probe being off the air for two weeks affected the size of the audience.

THETA SIGS TAP Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary, tapped six Idaho coeds in 1949.

Members of the team inspecting the University for accreditation will begin visiting classes, talking to professors and looking at the University's physical plant today. The 36-man team arrived Sunday night and participated in formal conferences Monday.

Members of the National Committee for Accreditation of Teacher Education and the Engineer's Council for Professional Development arrived Sunday night and conferred separately with University President D. R. Theophilus Monday.

Members of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools arrived Monday.

The only scheduled dinner for the visiting team members was a dinner last night at which introductions were made. No formal speech was presented.

Explaining the accreditation team, Academic Vice President H. Walter Steffens said that, although accrediting for the University as a whole is done by the Northwest Association, it is assisted by professional agencies.

The teams from professional agencies perform two functions: assist the Northwest Association and accredit independently for their own agencies.

Five Agencies Helping

The five professional agencies participating in the accreditation inspection are NCATE, EC PD, the American Bar Association, American Chemical Society and the Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

Approval of the professional groups is not necessary to accreditation of the University, but, Steffens said, "it is an advantage to the school to be approved by professional groups."

Members of the professional groups as well as those of the Northwest Association will make unannounced spot visits to classes and professors, and may conduct interviews with students, Steffens said.

He said there are no formal interviews set up with students or student officials, and that the team members would probably "just grab a student walking down a hall and talk to him for a minute."

Plant Inspection

Inspection of the physical plant of the University will include classrooms and dormitories. The Student Union, Greek-letter living groups and other non-University operated facilities may be looked at with the rest of the facilities, Steffens said.

Inspection is of current setup at the University, not of future plans.

Planned dormitories, such as the third wing of the Wallace Complex, buildings on the priority list for legislative consideration, future enrollment, future professor teaching loads and qualifications do not enter into accreditation.

Accreditation, which expires this year, was last given in 1954 when the University of Idaho received the maximum length of accreditation — from five to ten years.

In addition to being honored nationally and by her alumna mater, she has gained much distinction in the state of Washington. In 1959 and 1960 she was the winner of first place awards for both column and feature writing in Washington State Press awards contests co-sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Washington Newspaper Publisher Association.

Top Reporter

In 1961 she was named Outstanding Reporter of the Year by Washington State Press judges.

As a person interested in community improvement, she was the recipient of the State Mental Health Bell Award for "outstanding service in the fight against mental illness."

She has come victorious from The Inland Empire Press Radio, TV Award Contest, having won first place awards in both feature and column writing for ten successive years. This contest is sponsored by the Spokane Theta Sigma Phi.

On a local scale she was honored by the city of Spokane in 1959 as "Woman of Achievement."

A very versatile woman, Mrs. Powers became the first woman in the nation to fly in strategic air command tactical jet, the KC-135.

Head Liner

On a national level she has been the recipient of the National Headliner Award presented by the national Headliner's Club, and named National Headliner by Theta Sigma Phi. She is the first woman to win the Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for newspaper writing given by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

This $1000 award was donated by her to her alumna mater, Montana State University, to establish journalism scholarship.

MSU Grad

She is a graduate of Montana State University where she graduated with cum laude honors. This capable woman was the winner of the Sigma Delta Chi award for the journalism graduate with the highest academic standing.

Montana State University honored her by awarding her an Alumni Distinguished Award and honoring her as one of the five graduates possessing a career which had brought "distinction to the university."

In addition to being honored nationally and by her alumna mater, she has gained much distinction in the state of Washington. In 1959 and 1960 she was the winner of first place awards for both column and feature writing in Washington State Press awards contests co-sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Washington Newspaper Publisher Association.

Top Reporter

In 1961 she was named Outstanding Reporter of the Year by Washington State Press judges.

As a person interested in community improvement, she

Dorothy Powers To Talk At Matrix Table April 4

A woman who has gained recognition in many fields, Mrs. Dorothy Powers, will be the guest speaker for Matrix Table April 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the Moscow Hotel.

Mrs. Powers will speak at the annual banquet which is sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism honorary which will initiate Frances Cope, News Editor, Coeur d'Alene Press, as a professional member.

As feature writer and author of the column "Our Town" for the Spokesman Review, Mrs. Powers has been honored by national, state, and city awards in the journalism field.

Head Liner

On a national level she has been the recipient of the National Headliner Award presented by the national Headliner's Club, and named National Headliner by Theta Sigma Phi. She is the first woman to win the Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for newspaper writing given by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

This $1000 award was donated by her to her alumna mater, Montana State University, to establish journalism scholarship.

MSU Grad

She is a graduate of Montana State University where she graduated with cum laude honors. This capable woman was the winner of the Sigma Delta Chi award for the journalism graduate with the highest academic standing.

Montana State University honored her by awarding her an Alumni Distinguished Award and honoring her as one of the five graduates possessing a career which had brought "distinction to the university."

In addition to being honored nationally and by her alumna mater, she has gained much distinction in the state of Washington. In 1959 and 1960 she was the winner of first place awards for both column and feature writing in Washington State Press awards contests co-sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Washington Newspaper Publisher Association.

Top Reporter

In 1961 she was named Outstanding Reporter of the Year by Washington State Press judges.

As a person interested in community improvement, she was the recipient of the State Mental Health Bell Award for "outstanding service in the fight against mental illness."

She has come victorious from The Inland Empire Press Radio, TV Award Contest, having won first place awards in both feature and column writing for ten successive years. This contest is sponsored by the Spokane Theta Sigma Phi.

On a local scale she was honored by the city of Spokane in 1959 as "Woman of Achievement."

A very versatile woman, Mrs. Powers became the first woman in the nation to fly in strategic air command tactical jet, the KC-135.

Head Liner

On a national level she has been the recipient of the National Headliner Award presented by the national Headliner's Club, and named National Headliner by Theta Sigma Phi. She is the first woman to win the Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for newspaper writing given by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

This $1000 award was donated by her to her alumna mater, Montana State University, to establish journalism scholarship.

MSU Grad

She is a graduate of Montana State University where she graduated with cum laude honors. This capable woman was the winner of the Sigma Delta Chi award for the journalism graduate with the highest academic standing.

Montana State University honored her by awarding her an Alumni Distinguished Award and honoring her as one of the five graduates possessing a career which had brought "distinction to the university."

In addition to being honored nationally and by her alumna mater, she has gained much distinction in the state of Washington. In 1959 and 1960 she was the winner of first place awards for both column and feature writing in Washington State Press awards contests co-sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Washington Newspaper Publisher Association.

Top Reporter

In 1961 she was named Outstanding Reporter of the Year by Washington State Press judges.

As a person interested in community improvement, she was the recipient of the State Mental Health Bell Award for "outstanding service in the fight against mental illness."

She has come victorious from The Inland Empire Press Radio, TV Award Contest, having won first place awards in both feature and column writing for ten successive years. This contest is sponsored by the Spokane Theta Sigma Phi.

On a local scale she was honored by the city of Spokane in 1959 as "Woman of Achievement."

A very versatile woman, Mrs. Powers became the first woman in the nation to fly in strategic air command tactical jet, the KC-135.

Head Liner

On a national level she has been the recipient of the National Headliner Award presented by the national Headliner's Club, and named National Headliner by Theta Sigma Phi. She is the first woman to win the Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for newspaper writing given by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

This $1000 award was donated by her to her alumna mater, Montana State University, to establish journalism scholarship.

MSU Grad

She is a graduate of Montana State University where she graduated with cum laude honors. This capable woman was the winner of the Sigma Delta Chi award for the journalism graduate with the highest academic standing.

Montana State University honored her by awarding her an Alumni Distinguished Award and honoring her as one of the five graduates possessing a career which had brought "distinction to the university."

In addition to being honored nationally and by her alumna mater, she has gained much distinction in the state of Washington. In 1959 and 1960 she was the winner of first place awards for both column and feature writing in Washington State Press awards contests co-sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Washington Newspaper Publisher Association.

Top Reporter

In 1961 she was named Outstanding Reporter of the Year by Washington State Press judges.

As a person interested in community improvement, she was the recipient of the State Mental Health Bell Award for "outstanding service in the fight against mental illness."

She has come victorious from The Inland Empire Press Radio, TV Award Contest, having won first place awards in both feature and column writing for ten successive years. This contest is sponsored by the Spokane Theta Sigma Phi.

On a local scale she was honored by the city of Spokane in 1959 as "Woman of Achievement."

A very versatile woman, Mrs. Powers became the first woman in the nation to fly in strategic air command tactical jet, the KC-135.

SHANNAN AND CHERI — A mixture of folksinging, jazz and rock 'n' roll will be performed by Shannan Eid and Cheri Berg, both Houston Hall, during this semester's first Jazz in the Bucket presentation Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the SUB.

Bucket Gets Live Singers On Thursday

A female duo, Shannan and Cheri, will perform their own mix of folksongs, jazz and rock 'n' roll in the Student Union Bucket Thursday afternoon.

They will be the first live performers in the Bucket this semester, and will perform from 3 to 5 p.m. Free coffee will be served.

Shannan Eid and Cheri Berg, both Houston Hall, said they have performed together for eight years. Both coeds are from Lewiston.