Festive Weekend Set For Parents' Day

E-Board Cuts Closed Nights Changes Earlier Decision

Executive Board reversed a decision of a week ago and passed a measure to allow only two closed nights this semester at their Tuesday meeting.

The board decided that Homecoming and Parents' Day will be the only closed nights for the semester. The 6-2 decision reversed action taken last week which allowed the Military Ball and International Student Days dances to be held on closed nights. ASUI President, Jim Johnston, termed the earlier action as "too hasty."

Executive Board also decided that the Model United Nations group could be listed under Activities Council. The group, which each spring presents a mock UN session with other schools in the western United States, previously had no place in the ASUI structure.

Dick Jennings, Delta Sig, a member of MUN, appealed to the board to include the MUN in Activities Council to establish continuity and give it a formal place in the ASUI organization. MUN receives $400 annually from the ASUI budget.

Jennings said plans are being made for MUN participants to receive lectures from various professors of history and political science in order to give them a better briefing for the session next spring.

In other business, ASUI President Jim Johnston reported on his visit to the White House.

Larry Grimes, Beta, E-Board budget director, said that an increase in student fees may have to be requested for next year. He pointed out that the ASUI budget is smaller than expected this year due to fewer students enrolled.

The last increase in ASUI fees came in 1954 when it was raised to the present $12.50 annual charge, Grimes said.

The Board also discussed class elections which had been set for Oct. 21 at a meeting last spring. ASUI Constitution states that class elections be held the fifth week after the beginning of school.

Drop In U-I Registration Decreases ASUI Budget

Fewer students than were expected for the University fall semester have left the ASUI budget in less-than-desirable but not-critical shape, according to Larry Grimes, Beta, Executive Board budget director.

When less than 5,200 of the expected 5,300-5,400 students enrolled for classes the student budget was left with less revenue, but not a shortage, according to Grimes. Each student pays $6.25 per semester to the ASUI. This payment constitutes a large part of the budget.

Grimes went on to say that appropriations to all existing programs will not be cut back, but that new requests will be looked at more closely than in past years.

He also said that operational expenses, especially extensive in the line of correspondence, and travel expenses would have to be cut down.

Proposed projects or programs requiring expenditure on the part of ASUI will now be considered more closely than before, Grimes indicated.

One expenditure in the offing will be considered at a Tuesday night Exec-Board meeting. It deals with a reportedly popular proposal for allocation of funds to the music department for specific student activities.

Grimes mentioned one possible solution to the money problem. A chance of increasing student payments to the ASUI by perhaps $1 would give new programs an opportunity to develop and would keep up the standards of existing ones, the budget director stated.

Further developments on the situation will probably come about at the Exec-Board meeting Tuesday.

City Police Plan Stiff Penalties For False 'IDs'

Penalties for using false identification are being stiffened, Police Judge Mike Felton announced today.

Previously, violators might get off with a suspended sentence, especially for the first violation. But not any more. Felton said the penalty given for using a false ID is a $125 fine and five days in jail. "There will be no exceptions and no suspensions," he said.

Idaho Court Justices Visit Saturday on the Calendar

Idaho Supreme Court Justices will visit the Idaho campus this weekend.

Chief Justice Emery Knudson; L. J. Bidaganita, clerk of the court; and Justices E. B. Smith, Boise; Joseph J. McFadden, Boise; Henry F. McQuade; C. G. Taylor, and Gustin Priest, will come to the University Saturday.

A luncheon for faculty members, their wives, and Supreme Court members and their wives is scheduled Saturday morning in the Student Union Building, according to Gale Mix, SUB general manager. Gustin Priest will attend the Beta Convention while here. Justice Priest graduated from the Idaho College of Law.

Justice Priest will speak to law students in the University court room while visiting the campus. He teachers at the University of Virginia.

Members of the Washington Supreme Court who are Idaho alumni might also visit Idaho this weekend.

Center Adds Second Shift

The construction race to beat the winter's snows is on for the addition to the Wallace Residence Center.

A second shift of workers is being added by the main contractor, the Seva Construction Co., in an emergency effort to make up the time lost by the long plumbers' strike.

"The University administration has granted the contract or permission for about the next 45 days to work from 7 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.," Financial Vice President Kenneth A. Dick said today. "The contractor has assured the University that every effort will be made to confine the noisier phases of construction to daytime hours."

"It is hoped that the extra shift will speed up construction enough to get the addition under roof before the heavy winter weather sets in. If this falls, there is grave concern as to whether the addition will be ready for occupancy when students arrive next fall."

Film Cancelled For Weekend

The SUB Film, "High Time" will not be presented this weekend, according to Dick Tracy, Lambda Chi, film publicity chairman.

Because of Parent's Day weekend activities, the film has been cancelled.

Second Irregular Election Set Unless Date Altered

The University may see the second irregular ASUI election in a row next month if campus politicians are right in their supposition.

Class elections were set for Oct. 21 last spring when the Executive Board made out the year's calendar. Since the calendar was voted on May 26, after the Argonaut had stopped publishing for the year, neither the officers of Campus Union Party nor the student body in general realized that the date had been set.

The E-Board decision for that date came about after the Constitutional change last spring which stated that class elections would be held the fifth week after school had begun rather than the first week in November, as had been the case before.

Dave Grieve, president of CUP party, after talking with Jim Johnston, ASUI president, supposed the elections would be held Nov. 3 as they would have been under the old constitution. Grieve said Thursday. Grieve and Johnston did not realize until Wednesday that the election date had already been set.

As a result, CUP party leaders began circulating petitions today to change the date to Nov. 3. According to the constitution there must be 25 percent of the voters who voted last election signing the petition to make the date change legal. More than 624 students must sign.

Most of the campus politicians, including CUP officers, Johnston, and various members of E-Board, agree that the elections would be better if held later. CUP cannot get a slate of officers up before Monday, which is when names must be submitted, and an election board can not be established until after E-Board meets Tuesday night.

Keeping the election 21st as the date may help candidates who are not affiliated with a party, since CUP could not get a slate of candidates appointed. Independent candidates must have positions with 75 signatures.

Should the election date remain Oct. 21, all candidates will be independent, and the election board will have to be elected between Tuesday night at the 21st.

Lack Of Staff Ends KUOI Broadcasting

Radio station KUOI, normally operated by students of the University, has not been on the air this year because none of last year's staff has returned and no one will do the work.

Gale Mix, general manager of the Student Union, said yesterday that it is very indefinite what will happen to the station. "The people we anticipated to work this year haven't returned to school," he said.

Mix said that as far as he knows, KUOI is the only college radio station in the West operated solely by the student body of the school. "Although it is under the communications council, it is strictly a student operation," he said.

The station has been operative since 1946 and has been in the SUB since 1949. It has programmed a varied schedule on a power of five watts, but recently went to a carrier current system, sending its signal to various living groups over a system of wires.

"I don't know what's going to happen, but if KUOI isn't going to broadcast, we can't have it taking up valuable space in the SUB," said Mix.

Several speakers will form a panel, said John McMahon, vice-president of the organization. Views will be expressed from all sides of the controversial question, he said.

All students and faculty members are invited, said McMahon. Plans for the homecoming parade will also be discussed. The soccer team is being discussed and organization will begin soon, McMahon said.

Queen Finalists Selected Monday

Competition in the Homecoming queen contest will be narrowed down to five finalists Monday.

Voting will be conducted in men's living groups, Monday noon by the Spurs. Men living off campus will be given the opportunity to vote in the SUB lobby from 12 to 1 p.m. The finalists will be announced later that evening and pictures will be taken of them.

Freshmen coeds on campus are preparing for the annual pajama parade which will feature freshmen women parading through men's living groups led by the Spurs at 6:15 p.m. on Oct. 23. The coeds will join students, parents, and alumni at MacLean Field for the rally at 7 p.m. During the rally, Coach

Rep. White To Speak To YDs

A visit of Representative Compton R. White to the University was the opening topic of a recent meeting of the Young Democrats.

The Representative will address Latah County Democrats at a dinner tonight at the Moscow Hotel and will be on the campus Oct. 30, to meet the Young Democrats.

Mike Wheterehl, Delta Chi, president, believes that the purpose of the campus-oriented club should be to examine the party's background, platform, and candidates with the intention of becoming more responsible and informed voters.

The regular meeting of the Young Democrats will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Building. All interested students are invited to attend.

Dr. Hauge, professor of history and faculty advisor for the group, said that voter registration and voting qualifications for the college students will be discussed at the club's central committee meeting to be held Thursday, Oct. 15.

Ambassador W. Dowling To Speak On German Role In Atlantic Alliance

Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, a distinguished career diplomat, will give the first Public Events address of the year at the University at 10 a.m. Monday.

Ambassador Dowling was the former American ambassador to Western Germany and Korea. He resigned in 1963 after five years.

He will speak Monday on "Germany's Role in the Atlantic Alliance."

The speaker entered the U.S. Foreign Service in 1932. In the early years of his career service, he served in Oslo, Lisbon, Rome and Rio de Janeiro.

As deputy high commissioner in Austria in the 1950's, he conducted negotiations with the Soviet Union that ultimately resulted in the end of the Allied occupation. After three years in Germany as deputy high commissioner and then as minister-counselor to the embassy in Bonn, he was appointed 1956 as Ambassador to Korea.

A native of Georgia and a graduate of Mercer university, which honored him with an LL.D. in 1961, Dowling received an honorary degree from Seoul university.

Dowling is one of few persons in the American diplomatic service who has occupied top diplomatic posts on both the European and the Asian communist fronts.

Dowling's talk will be given in Memorial Gymnasium. Students will be excused from third hour classes to attend the hour-long program.

SEASON OPENER — Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, former American ambassador to Western Germany and Korea, will give the first Public Events address of the year at the University at 10 a.m. Monday.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

I received a curious letter from a parent of an Idaho student the other day. It was written on the backs of two invoice blanks and signed only "a friend, taxpayer, citizen and parent." Attempts to locate the sender failed so, because of policy limitations, I can only give you a general idea of what it said.

The sender of the letter was concerned with the pressures on college students today. He told of interviewing an Idaho freshman. The freshman was so distraught with "scholastic fear" instilled in him by admonitions of "well-intentioned instructors" that he had trouble sleeping at night.

"There is so much pressure on a man nowadays," the sender wrote, "one begins to wonder just where this country is taking itself. Shouldn't we keep this in mind and try not to add to it? If the school really must have less students, why not let some flunk out in peace?"

'No Stigma'

The sender went on to point out that some students are in the wrong curricula for their aptitudes, and then deducted: "There should be no stigma and as little pressure as possible as the student finds it (his aptitude) for himself." Perhaps too much emphasis is placed on grades and test results. But pressure is necessary to stimulate students. Giving exams and assigning grades is necessary if the University is not to be just a boarding house for "boy and girl kids" who come to lead a country club life. The University is a mixture of students of a variety of mental ages.

"We don't have to force students to drink or suicide here. If it gets that bad, we'll hope that we can get some political action to change some practices in our capitalistic state," our anonymous letter writer says. Where does the pressure come from?

Pressure Outside

Vernon R. Alden, president, Ohio University, said in the July 18, 1964, Saturday Review:

"As I travel about the country, I find more and more parents and young people who are concerned about college admission. Some of the worries being expressed border on hysteria. I sometimes wonder whether these parents are not more concerned about their own social status than about the substance of the educational experience being offered to their children."

The university, too, causes some of the pressure with high standards, but is this undesirable? Some of the factors which cause pressure for some students lead others to higher production.

Alden notes in his article that competition is keener now in our Universities than ever before.

"Brilliant students are working in a highly charged intellectual atmosphere. They are discussing philosophy, religion and world affairs with unusually bright fellow students and faculty members. Few of these students will ever again find themselves in such erudite and sophisticated company."

Preoccupied With Grades

Alden, too, however, is disgruntled with our preoccupation over grades and test results. He criticizes the highly selective colleges who by their "admission posture" are saying, "We are interested in only one quality—the ability to take examinations and to get superior grades in school."

He seeks a more personal evaluation method in our pressured world which is ever becoming a more non-personal place.

"We must find ways to identify such characteristics as motivation, creativity, imagination and emotional maturity," he says, admitting that these are characteristics which cannot be objectively measured.

This personal, subjective touch is what our letter writer seeks. Where do we find it?

Report Published By Former Prof

A former College of Mines faculty member, Verne C. Fryklund, has published a report describing ore deposits of the Coeur d'Alene district.

The report has been released as a U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper.

The Coeur d'Alene district is the leading silver producer in the United States and has ranked first or second in lead and zinc production for several years.

Fryklund states that the ore deposits of the district are replacement veins of generally simple mineralogy.

Open Letter To Mom & Dad

Dear Mom and Dad: We want to take this opportunity to welcome you to the University of Idaho. Whether it's your first, second or one of many visits, we hope you'll look around and see where and how we live and note the changes that are taking place on the campus.

We realize the debt we owe you for our being here. Parents' Day is one small way which we have to say thank you.

Parents' Day had its origin in the Dads' Day celebration which had been a fall tradition for many years. Last year we changed the celebration to honor you both.

This weekend is a full one planned just for your enjoyment. Beginning tonight with the "Stars of Tomorrow" show at the Student Union, and carrying through the game against the Ducks tomorrow and the dance tomorrow night, we'll all be busy with the activities that are a part of college life.

The University is a proud institution now entering its 76th year. Years of the happy experiences which go with a University of Idaho education are behind us. Perhaps you can feel the spirit of our traditions too as you walk along the golden canopied "Hello Walk" or glance at the view of the Ad Building and Memorial Gymnasium towers through the East opening of Neale Stadium.

In any case, we want you to feel welcome and we hope that you will be back to see us again soon. —FF

Play Date Bows To HC

"Still the Mountain Wind," ASUI fall drama, has been scheduled for Oct. 29 through 31, according to Edmund M. Chavez, assistant professor of drama.

The play, originally scheduled for production on the 22 through 24 of October, conflicts with Homecoming weekend. Since everyone is looking forward to an Idaho win, it doesn't seem worthwhile to compete with Homecoming activities, Chavez indicated.

Key Program Is 'Working Well'

After the first week of senior key privileges, Dean Neely, Dean of Women, reported that the program is "working well."

Although there has not been too much occasion to use the keys, there have been no unusual incidents when they have been used. The program is working quite well and neither Dean Neely nor AWS is anticipating any future problems.

The play which takes place in Idaho will be produced using an abstract setting. If a realistic set were to be produced it would necessitate the construction of many rocks, trees, mountains and other difficult to build sets, according to Chavez.

"Since the set demands a number of different areas (house, hospital, mountain clearing) we needed something which would work for all areas," said Chavez.

The play, to be presented in the University Auditorium, will have a set consisting of platforms of several heights on the stage. The main color scheme will be in blues, greens and lavenders to give a feeling of movement.

Chavez, technical director for the play, feels that an abstract set will stylize the play and create the proper mood. Realism is not important in the play — an abstract set would be different and add to the play, he indicated.

Journalism Department Lists Awards

The 1964 University High School Press Association has conducted the yearbook contest in the University journalism department and extended All-state honor ratings to five Idaho school yearbooks.

Given "superior" rating were Borah High School, Boise; Bury High School, Kellogg High School, Meridian High School, and New Plymouth High School. Borah and New Plymouth received their third consecutive All-State rating.

The critical rating service of the journalism department evaluates yearbooks submitted annually by large and small high schools throughout the state. Yearbooks are divided into three classes, and are appraised as to organization and content, art and layout, writing and editing, mechanical handling, and cover and binding, said Professor Walter Stewart of the journalism department.

First class honor ratings of "excellent" went to high schools in Idaho Falls, Caldwell, Emmett, Genesee, Arimo, Marsing, New Meadows, Nampa, Pocatello, Cottonwood, Sandpoint, Sugar City, Wendell and Terretton.

Awarded an honor rating of "Good" were annual staffs at Bonners Ferry, Bruneau, Greenleaf, Hansen, Salmon, Riggins, and Wilder.

Prof. Stewart said the 30 entries this year represented the largest number ever submitted for the contest.

Cadet Receives Superior Award

The Army ROTC Superior Cadet Award has been presented to a Military Science I student at the University of Idaho. Cadet Edward J. Marohn, Figi, was presented the award Thursday by Lt. Col. James L. Rimlinger, Professor of Military Science.

Marohn was given the honor for being the most outstanding cadet in the Junior ROTC program at Boise high school during the 1963-64 school year, according to Lt. Col. Ralph R. Rusche, Battalion Executive.

Four Dates Of Exams Announced

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on four different test dates each year instead of just one, the Educational Testing Service announced.

The new dates set for testing are: December 12, 1964; March 20, July 17 and October 2, 1965. The tests will be given at more than 550 locations in the 50 states.

The scores on these tests are used by many large school districts for employment of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers.

Placement Office Sets Interviews

Placement interviews will be announced through the year by the University Placement Office. Students interested in being interviewed should sign up for a time in the Placement Office in TC-6.

Groups interviewing for the following week include: Oct. 14 — The Bon Marche, Placement office.

Oct. 15 — United States National Bank of Oregon, Placement Office and Upham Company, Placement Office.

Oct. 16 — Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Engineering Building, and Public Health Service, Engineering Building.

A WEEKEND

This weekend will be unique. It's another kind of convention, so to speak. The buildings, the lawns, the football stadium will be invaded by a respectfully older group of peeps known as parents.

Parents too, are quite unique. They are the ones who have been insisting all your life that you zip up your jacket, reined you back from the life of reckless abandon for which you know you are intended. They can hear the click of a key in a lock at 3:30 a.m. as clearly as if it were a cannon shot.

All our lives we have striven to be different than they. Now, as adults, we must face the fact that we are the personification of the best and the worst of both of them.

Paternal Purpose There has been a purpose in all their paternal suppression. They have wanted to prepare us for our own world; not the one that was when they were our age, but the one we will own ourselves. They may never understand this new world that they have given us, but they have understood that we must own it as they own theirs. This weekend they are here to take a look at what we've done with it. It will look strange to them. You will show them the statue of Joe Vandal and your father will ask how much it weighs. If you show them copies of your texts and they will wonder why such books cost so much money. Point out the sound of the carillons and they will check their watches to see if they are on time. The here and now of it all will be strange to them.

Logical Problem

Too, they may not understand the logic of painting statues green, or the function of geography in the world. For one weekend though, they will try. I believe if my father were here he could yell twice as loud as I at the football game.

This weekend they will be here. They will be coming from copper mines and presidential suites and kitchens smelling of cabbage. They will stand back and view the world which they have donated to us. They may not understand it but they know what it's about, because in another day they have stood in the same position in life as we now stand.

In a sense, it is a real meeting and mingling of two different worlds . . . in one short weekend.

WHERE GOOD WILL IS IMPORTANT

1. Now that we're 21 we have a lot more responsibility. Now we make the decisions.

2. Right. And this year we have a big decision to make—who gets our vote for President. I've already decided to vote for the candidate of my choice.

3. Your decision should be based on what the candidate stands for. For example, does your man's fiscal policy square with your philosophy on the matter? I hope not. I never could handle money.

4. Then how do you expect to go out into the world, support a wife, raise children, and be a two-car family? I wish I knew.

5. Let me give you a piece of advice that will help you off to a good start. I'd sure appreciate it.

6. Soon as you get a job, put some dough into cash-value insurance, the kind they call Living Insurance at Equitable. It gives your wife and kids solid protection and it automatically builds a cash value you can use instead for retirement or whatever you like. Say, why don't you run for President?

For information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable. For complete information about career opportunities at Equitable, see your Placement Officer, or write to Edward D. McDougal, Manager, Manpower Development Division.

Model UN Applications Available; Interviews To Be Held Oct. 21 At SUB

Applications are now available in the Student Union Offices for students interested in interviewing for a position on the Model United Nations delegations from the University.

Interviews will be held on Oct. 21 from 7 to 10 p.m. in the SUB. Candidates will be questioned by a Board in a 15-minute interview.

Members of the board will be Dick Jennings, Delta Sig, Educational - Cultural Area Director; the Rev. Don Lee, MUN advisor; Maun Rudisill, SUB program director; the past MUN chairman and a faculty member from the social sciences department.

The board will be interested in each student's knowledge and awareness of international affairs, the scope and extent of his reading, his knowledge of the country to be represented and his response and reaction to the interview situation.

This year, the University will represent Laos. The delegation will begin its study and preparation for the session at the end of October with two hour weekly seminar-study sessions.

The delegation will go to the 15th annual session at the Claremont Men's Colleges, Claremont, Calif.

MUN of the Far West is the oldest and largest MUN in existence. Over 15 years ago a group of California university students met to discuss plans for the formation of a model UN assembly.

Since that time the MUN of the Far West has expanded to include over 100 member schools.

SAE Little Sisters Tapped Wed.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon members tapped six Idaho coeds Wednesday night to become members of Little Sisters of Minerva, an 18-member honorary group affiliated with the chapter. Little Sisters are tapped once or twice a year, and are chosen for charm, interest in, and service to the fraternity.

The student delegates present resolutions on selected agenda topics of current international significance, express, in speeches and comments, the opinions and policies of their adopted countries, and cast their vote.

MUN of the University is under the Educational - Cultural areas of the Student Activities Council. The Executive Board recently took this action to place the MUN under the direction and supervision of the Activities Council on Oct. 6.

A statement of MUN purpose follows:

1. To conduct model sessions of the United Nations and other activities consistent with the purposes and principles of the Charter;

2. To advance its participants' understanding of the principles and means by which international peace may be maintained;

3. To develop a greater understanding of the nations of the world, the relations between them, their policies, and the nature of their work in the United Nations.

4. To further an understanding of the effectiveness of the United Nations in solving international problems; and

Gems Go Fast; More Today

University students have picked up Gems, the University year book, as fast as it has come in, during the first two days of distribution.

The first Gems arrived Wednesday, and the 400 copies were gone by noon. Thursday 500 copies were in the shipment, and went almost as fast.

Today, the office says, the shipment of 700 books will be large enough to keep the office stocked for most of the day. Beginning Monday, shipments will be larger, and will keep getting larger until all the books arrive.

Students must have positive identification, such as an ASUI card, driver's license, or state identification card, to pick up the books. Students may not pick up books for friends, but must come to the office in person to get their books.

Regional VP Lists Aims Of ASME

Encouraging original research and advancing the standards of engineering were two of the main purposes set forth for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, by Regional Vice President Elmer M. Johnson, Wednesday night in the Borah Theatre of the Student Union Building.

The A.S.M.E. was organized to help man learn from his associates," Johnson told a group of about 60 new members of the engineering society. He said the group should promote the arts and sciences of mechanical engineers, encourage original research, and advance the standards of engineers to broaden the usefulness of the profession.

"Knowledge is power, and power goes to the man who has a disciplined mind and who has the ability to look into the future to see what needs to be done," said Johnson, a representative from the Hanford Atomic Energy Plant near Richland, Washington.

A former graduate of the University of Idaho, Johnson said that of the 7500 members in his district, Region Nine, 900 were students. He added that he was pleased with the progress of the University's society since his last visit to Moscow. "The men are taller, and from reading their documents, they are also smarter," he said.

Officers for the University organization are Ron Armacost, off campus, chairman; Bruce Simon, Upham, vice chairman; Bob Wheeler, off campus, secretary; Melvin Moore, off campus, treasurer; Marshall Hauck, Lambda Chi, program chairman; Gary Halliday, Willis Sweet, publicity director, and junior representative Larry Herzinger, Lambda Chi.

NIH Awards Grant To Prof

A research grant for $10,300 has been awarded to the University of Idaho by the National Institutes of Health for research by Lorin W. Roberts, associate professor of botany.

Roberts will be assisted in the research project, "A Light and Electron Microscope Study of Callus," by Donald E. Fosket, Moscow, and Karl Urban, Kimberly.

The primary purpose of the project is investigation of some of the cellular changes that occur in plant cells when organized and differentiated cells become tumorous, said Roberts. Small fragments of carrot roots grown on synthetic media in test tubes will be the material investigated.

The project is scheduled to last for one year.

NSA's Professional Qualification Test is your first step towards a uniquely rewarding career

Let us clarify what we mean by a "uniquely rewarding career." If you agree with our definition, then perhaps you should see your College Placement Officer to learn more about the National Security Agency and the Professional Qualification Test to be given Saturday, October 24th. (Passing this test does not commit you in any way, but you must pass it first in order to schedule an on-campus interview with NSA representatives.)

First of all, whatever your major interest—finance & accounting, personnel or business administration, data systems programming, languages or linguistic research—you can make use of your college-acquired capabilities with the National Security Agency, headquarters for secure communications research and development... unusual design refinements in computer & edp systems... cryptographic and related techniques. Your professional growth and earning power expand from the day you join us, without having to wait for years of "experience."

Then, too, you will engage in study and research that will take you well beyond known and accepted boundaries of knowledge. Although NSA is a key research activity within the Department of Defense, it has influence and responsibility of far greater scope... and intellectual associations with leading institutions, laboratories, agencies and consultants. The art and science of secure communications in all its ramifications is utterly without precedent or restriction, and involves programs of national importance.

PROGRAMS OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE—a thought worth repeating. For what it may be worth to you personally, you'll realize an extra measure of satisfaction from your NSA work, knowing that the results may benefit a lot of people.

In this regard, you'll find, too, that the NSA interchange-of-information leads easily and naturally to a maximum extension of your individual capabilities. You'll find yourself working with people from an amazing range of intellectual sectors—philosophy, psychology, history, international affairs, English, art and music... over 500 of whom have advanced degrees—in a near-academic environment. NSA conducts internal development programs to acquaint you with its new technologies, and encourages advance degree programs at nearby universities.

Now, what of the more pragmatic rewards? Your BA degree makes you eligible to start at $6,050... with regular increases as well as excellent promotion possibilities in your field. As a Federal employee, you are entitled to a number of meaningful benefits—including 13 working days' leave the first year. NSA also offers both aid and encouragement in your pursuit of advance degree education at nearby universities (Maryland and Johns Hopkins in particular are nearby).

One further advantage is NSA's location... midway between Washington and Baltimore in an area of fast-growing business, industry, and research expansion. Take your pick of in-town, suburban, or rural living—and enjoy the proximity to the Chesapeake Bay and ocean resort region.

If you agree-act now If you are interested in an NSA career, you must apply for the Professional Qualification Test NO LATER THAN WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14th. Your College Placement Officer has a PQT brochure and application. (You must be a U.S. citizen, and are subject to a character & loyalty check.)

Bob Berry Oregon Gun Leads Ducks

By JACK MARSHALL Argonaut Sports Editor

Who has completed 35 passes for eight touchdowns and a .486 percent completion record, run up 545 yards total offense in three games, and led his team to seven straight wins including a Sun Bowl victory? None other than Oregon's Bob Berry.

Berry, who led all offense leaders in the nation in average yards per play with 7.1 last fall, is heading into the game tomorrow fresh from one of his finest performances.

Sparks Ducks

He sparked the Ducks to a 22-14 triumph over Penn State last week by completing 17 of 32 passes for 208 yards and three scores, while gaining 53 yards rushing.

Berry's efforts against Penn earned him Back of the Week honors in the Pacific Athletic Conference.

Last fall the Webfoot quarterback was sixth in the nation in total offense with 1,733 yards despite missing most of one game with a knee injury.

The Duck dandy was also tenth in national passing rankings with 101 completions in 171 attempts for 1,675 yards and a .591 percentage. He led the nation in touchdown passes with 16.

Keeps Rolling Up Yards

So far as Duck signal caller, Berry has 2,843 yards in total offense with 163 pass completions in 286 attempts for 2,670 yards and 22 TD's.

The Vandals may have their hands full trying to stop Berry, who pulled out a 28-22 win over Indiana last year with 1:37 left to play and Duck ball on their 25 yard line.

He calmly moved his team 75 yards and connected with a pass in the end zone with 11 seconds left to play for another game winning touchdown.

Henden, Jebson Head Idaho Team Effort

The Vandal harriers open their crosscountry season Saturday in Pullman with a four-way meet.

Coach Doug MacFarlane said that he would run three seniors, a sophomore and a pair of frosh in the Vandals' debut on the Washington State golf course against WSU, Gonzaga and Whitworth.

The varsity competition starts at 11 a.m. and the freshmen teams run at 11:30.

Veterans Paul Henden and Nils Jebson, back from last year's Big Sky championship team, along with last season's sixth man Bernie O'Connell, will anchor the Idaho harriers.

Meyer, Leyde Top Vandals' Offense

Sophomore fullback Ray McDonald, who injured his Achilles tendon over the summer, is ready for action this week, but the 6-4, 225 pounder from Caldwell has his work cut out for him in regaining the starting position at fullback.

Veteran Dale Meyer who has run from the fullback position all fall is the Vandals' leading ground gainer and his understudy, senior letterman Tom Morris, is third.

Meyer is pasing the Vandals' ground game with 119 yards in 32 carries. Morris tops the squad in yards per carry with 4.0 with 93 yards in 33 carries. Sophomore wingback Joe McCollum has averaged 7.5 yards per carry, but has only run the ball four times.

Vern Leyde remains the team's leading pass catcher for the third straight season. Leyde, who also leads the Big Sky Conference in this department, has eight catches. Teammate Joe Chapman has seven.

Quarterback Mike Monahan is averaging 16.3 yards-per-pass and has completed 22 of 59 for a 37.3 percentage.

Rice Ambled From Riggins, Now 5th In Nation As Punter

When Mickey Rice ambled out of the Salmon River Canyon and headed toward the University of Idaho in the fall of 1961 his football credentials included a 6-1 frame muscled out of 205 pounds and a certificate showing that he had been an Idaho all-state fullback on an eight-man team.

He also held the state Class B championships in the 100-yard dash (10.2) and the shot-put (54 feet).

Mickey hasn't carried a football since midseason of 1963, but of the Vandals' 44 punts as Idaho finished sixth in the nation in punting.

Mickey Rice Punts

Currently Idaho is ranked fourth among the major colleges.

Rice has been in and out of the lineup as a halfback and a fullback since his sophomore season, but his main threat has been as a kicker. He scored two touchdowns and averaged 4.0 yards a carry as a soph, but was plagued with illness and injuries. As a junior his ball carrying increased to 5.4, but his standup style of running made him the kind of target end to his career as a great punter.

This season Coach Dee Andros has shifted fullbacks and halfbacks from position to position with Rice sitting on the third unit at either spot. "We can't afford to carry a punter on our traveling squad," Andros said, "But Mickey is good insurance at either halfback or fullback."

"Like A Banana"

"His bad punts go 50 yards and his good ones go out of sight. When he gets that ball for a punt it looks like a banana in his big hands. He just drops it and boots it."

Rice is still called the "Riggins Rocket" by his teammates, not so much for his running style, but for the trajectory he gets on his long, booming punts. Of the 17 kicks Rice has booted this season only eight have been run back for a total of 68 yards.

Mickey has a hatful of punting records within his grasp. He has gotten better each year and has improved each game this season. The pro clubs had better get out their bank rolls.

- Rush — Rich Naccarato, 29, San Jose.
 - Pass — Mike Monahan to Joe Chapman, 80, Iowa.
 - Punt — Mickey Rice, 63, Utah.
 - Punt Return — Bill Scott, 34, San Jose.

Outstanding Athlete Joins Staff As Instructor And Swim Coach

By JACK MARSHALL
Argonaut Sports Editor

When the 1968 Olympic Games open the University of Idaho may be short one man on its coaching staff.

Why? Because the University has obtained as new swimming coach and instructor, John Cramer, a record holding international athlete.

Cramer is fresh from a tour of Europe where he competed in 14 different meets in Scotland, England, Finland, Sweden, and Norway with the United States track and field team.

This summer's participation with the U.S. team in Europe is the third year in a row Cramer has gone abroad to compete.

Besides setting a new Scottish pole vaulting record this year, he set a new Irish mark in 1963. Also on the foreign front, he held the Canadian record in vaulting at one time.

Interest Grows

Cramer's interest in athletics first became pronounced when he entered high school in Mount Vernon, Wash. While in Mount Vernon, Cramer became a high school

All-American in swimming and track.

Although swimming was his first love, he said, his ability in pole vaulting soon came into light. Cramer vaulted 14.3 feet while in high school, which was the highest mark ever cleared at that time with a metal pole and second highest ever jumped, to become National champion.

Cramer, who graduated from the University of Washington, said, "I took up track to stay in shape for swimming and before I knew it, I was working more on it than anything else."

Then things started happening. Cramer was offered athletic and academic scholarships from most of the major universities, he said, "and I chose the University of Washington," he added.

World Mark

While a freshman at the U. of W. he broke the world freshman pole vaulting record by sailing 15 feet over the bar. Cramer was also active in intramurals at Washington. He won the State of Washington IM gymnastic championship by taking the rope climbing and side horse competition.

Also as a freshman, Cramer tied for first in the Amateur Athletic Union pole vaulting and went to the Olympic trials but suffered an injury and failed to qualify.

Cramer returned to the AAU championships the following year and tied for second in the same event. In 1962 he won second.

in the pool and out, while training right along with them. He says it builds morale on a team if the coach joins in the work. "Besides," he added, "it keeps me in shape."

Cramer, who missed out on a chance for this year's Olympics, plans to maintain his amateur standing and train hard for the next Olympics.

"Athletics is a way of life and builds character for the future," he said. "Athletics teaches one to be a gracious loser and a moderate winner."

Rice, Leyde, Tops In Sky

PULLMAN, Wash. — Two nationally ranked punters are putting on a show in the Big Sky Conference in their bid for League kicking honors.

Lyle Johnston of Weber State College last week was booting the ball 44.2 yards per try and pushed Idaho's Mickey Rice, the defending titleholder, out of the top spot. This week the Vandal fullback, who easily won the honors last year with better than 40 yards per punt, regained lost ground.

Rice is averaging 43.9 yards for his 17 tries, enough to place him in the top 20 nationally. Johnston, who was seventh in the nation last week, fell off to a 42.1 average with 716 yards in 17 kicks. Rice has 747 yards for the same number of punts.

In other statistic categories this week, Bill Shaw of ISU gained only 14 yards in 15 carries against Arizona State last Saturday, but it was enough for him to retain his lead in rushing, hold on to third place in total offense, and increase his scoring lead.

Shaw scored two TDs against Arizona State to up his total points to 36, far ahead of three others, who have 18 points each. In rushing, the Idaho State signal caller has 257 yards in 48 carries, just six yards more than Montana State University's Paul Connelly.

Ray Foley of MSC still heads the Conference in total offense, but Idaho's QB Mike Monahan wrestled the passing lead from him. Foley has gained 366 yards in total offense. Monahan has completed 22 of 59 passes for 254 yards and two TDs, while Foley has completed 15 of 33 for 269 yards. Monahan's passing game also has moved him into second place in total offense.

Leyde Tops Receivers

Monahan's favorite target has been Vern Leyde, who tops the Conference receivers for the third straight week. Leyde has eight catches for 121 yards and a TD. Teammate Joe Chapman is second in the Conference with seven grabs for a TD and 167 yards.

GETS NAILED — Monahan (18) rolls out to pass, but is caught from behind.

Frosh Football Roster Includes 38 Players

The Frosh gridders opening game is still more than a week away but Coach Bud Riley feels that his club is still behind in their preparation for Boise Junior College.

"BJC will have five games under their belts before they meet us," Riley said. "We've got another week of hard work to do before we'll be ready."

The Vandal frosh open their season at Boise against the BJC Bronkos Oct. 1. They play the University of Washington freshmen here the next week and then travel to Missoula to play the Montana State University frosh on Oct. 30. They wind up their season with the Shrine game against the Washington State University frosh in Pullman.

Vandals To Test Top Back—Berry

The 1964 football fortunes for two teams hinge on the outcome of Saturday afternoon.

Should the Ducks win, it would be their fourth victory without a loss and a giant step towards an undefeated season.

And, Idaho needs a victory to put them within shooting distance of a .500 season finish which the Vandals were able to do last year for the first time since 1938. Idaho is 1-2 for the season, so far.

Idaho coach Dee Andros knows that the Vandals have drawn a tough assignment.

Tough Competition

"Oregon has a fine ball team," he said. "Especially that Bob Berry. I think he's the finest quarterback in college football today, possibly the finest college quarterback that I've ever seen."

So, the Vandals' number one task this week has been to "stop Berry." Reserve quarterback Larry Sappington has spent most of the week portraying the Oregon star and running and passing against the Vandal defense.

Early in the week the Vandals were hampered by what team officials termed "a stomach disorder." About 60 per cent of the Vandal squad was affected by "flu" like attacks. Six of them were placed in the infirmary for a time.

Injuries also hurt the squad, for the first time this season. Veteran linebacker Dick Litzinger was sidelined for a strained knee received in the Utah game.

Campbell Replaces Litz

Andros said that junior guard Jerry Campbell would fill in for Litzinger. "We'll use Campbell just on defense this week, and will use John Daniel in Campbell's guard position," Andros said. "Campbell will get enough work on defense and we want him ready."

This week also had its bright spot. Sophomore fullback Ray McDonald got the green light to play.

"Ray ran hard during the scrimmage sessions Tuesday and Wednesday," Andros said, "and if he is all right on Friday, we know he'll be ready for at least limited action on Saturday."

The Oregon-Idaho game will be one of three appearances for the Vandals in the state this year. They still have Homecoming against Washington State and the Boise game

Oregon Marches

The Vandals opened with a win over San Jose then dropped two straight to Iowa and Utah. Oregon has marched over Brigham Young, Pittsburg and Penn State in three dates this fall.

Idaho fans will remember the Ducks last invasion of Moscow. In 1957 enroute to a Rose Bowl date with Ohio State, Coach Lenn Casanova's charges escaped with a narrow 9-6 victory in the Palouse on the strength of a third period field goal. Andros would like to improve on that effort this Saturday.

The Webfoots, an Idaho rival for the past 63 years hold a top-heavy margin over the 48-game haul with 41 victories and four ties. Idaho's last win was in 1950.

Veteran Dale Meyer, senior fullback from Salem, Ore., continues to lead the Vandals runners with 118 yards in 32 carries for a 3.7 yard per carry average. Rich Naccarato, senior fullback from Spokane is second with a total of 98 yards. Vern Leyde, on his way to his third straight season as the team's leading pass receiver has eight catches for 106 yards. Leyde, a veteran from Spokane has a total of 37 yards during his collegiate career.

again by clearing 15.8 1/4 feet with a metal pole which was second highest at that time.

The same year Cramer made the U.S. team against Russia and Poland and went to Europe for the first time with the team for a two months stay.

College All-American

Fortune and misfortune marked 1963 for Cramer. He was injured most of the season but managed to make College All-American in track anyway. He also made the U.S. team again.

That summer he went to the World Games in Helsinki, Finland. Cramer spent six weeks in Europe in 1963 and some of that time teaching at the University College in Dublin, Ireland, a school of athletics.

Previous to this summer Cramer had chosen not to use the new fiberglass pole, but he tried it out and went 16.7 feet and just missed 17 in his first attempt.

Honorary

The vaulter has won, other than awards for competitions, many honors including a nomination to Phi Delta Kappa, an international education honorary. He was also a member of the University of Washington athletic honorary, activity honorary, and National Honorary Society in high school.

The new coach has a major in physical education and minors in English and speech. He taught high school last year at Pomona, Calif.

To Build Program

Cramer said he wanted to teach on the college level and is very pleased with the University and this part of the country.

As swimming coach he plans to build up the program and make Idaho more of a swimming power. He said from the workouts and all indications Idaho has much potential in swimming competition.

"There should be more activity in swimming on this campus," he said, "and with help I will do all I can to instill more interest in water sports."
