Idaho, WSU Plan Meet To Improve Relations

Executive Board will meet with Washington State University Board of Control Tuesday at a dinner meeting at the Student Union.

The meeting between the two schools' student government bodies is planned to better relations.

In action last week, the ASUI Executive Board ruled that election board members will consist of 14 members and a chairman, chosen on the basis of the highest test scores and examination of the ASUI structure, constitution and regulations and general knowledge about the University. Party affiliation will be no basis for selection.

The board took action Tuesday after it had determined that no provisions authorizing the election board were in the ASUI regulations. This authorization for election board had inadvertently been taken out last year when the regulations on election board were changed.

The board passed a resolution that they were favorable to finance a band tour in southern Idaho. (The tour would be similar to the tour the Vandaleers take annually, sponsored by the ASUI).

Due to a shortage of funds, however, the board was not able to authorize funds this year. Smaller student enrollment than anticipated has put less money in the ASUI treasury.

The board defeated a proposal by Carol Husa asking for a constitutional amendment that executive board members not be eligible to hold other major campus offices. Miss Husa asked that the amendment appear on the ballot in the class officer election.

Complex Claims No Queen Ballots

A count of ballots cast for Homecoming Queen finalists Tuesday showed that approximately 200 less ballots were cast than the number of men students enrolled in the University.

The count was made by the Homecoming committee after complaints that about 300 men in the Wallace complex had not received ballots to vote for the Homecoming finalists, according to Joyce Arthur, Tri-Delta, chairman.

The ballots were placed in shoeboxes according to living groups after the students had voted. A further count of ballots in boxes taken from the complex showed that only about 75 students from the complex had not voted, Miss Arthur said.

Voting facilities for students living off-campus were in the Student Union lobby, she said. Facilities will again be placed for off-campus voters Monday in the SUB lobby.

Committee Suspends W. Sweet

Men's Disciplinary Committee has ruled to suspend Wilbur Sweet, Willis Sweet Hall, from the University for one year, Charles O. Decker, Dean of Students, said Thursday.

The action, taken last Thursday and approved by Dean Decker Friday, was a result of the accidental shooting of George L. Bard, Willis Sweet Hall, Sept. 30.

The committee ruled that Sweet should be suspended for one year, but that the action should not go on his permanent record. The accident was deemed a result of the violation of Section 7, paragraphs six and seven, of the Rules and Regulations Concerning Student Affairs and Conduct.

The sections state that guns must be "broken down" in any campus housing, that guns may neither be dismantled or assembled or loaded or unloaded on campus, and that guns may not be fired on campus.

Bard, who was in critical condition until last week, is still in Gritman Memorial Hospital.

He was wounded in the left hand and the abdomen by a .357 magnum slug fired from close range, Moscow police said.

According to Sweet and Bard, the two had been target practicing and had returned to Sweet's room to clean their weapons when the accident occurred.

Moscow Prosecuting Attorney Len Bielenberg said Thursday that no charges had been filed in connection with the case.

First Regional Conference Of ACU Set At Idaho

The first regional conference for the Association of College Unions, scheduled for Nov. 5-7, will be jointly sponsored by the University and Washington State University.

The conference, with the theme "The Fiftieth and the First—Past and Present" will open Thursday afternoon, Nov. 5, in the Idaho SUB and will continue at Idaho until the morning of Saturday, Nov. 7, when it will be moved to the Pullman Compton Union Building for a luncheon and meeting.

The purpose of the conference is for attending schools to exchange ideas, share experiences and enlarge viewpoints.

Not only schools with "unions" will attend the conference. One aspect of the conference will be the establishment of Student Unions at universities.

About 19 or 20 schools are scheduled to attend the conference. This will involve from 150

175 delegates. Students will be housed in both the Moscow Hotel and the New Idaho Hotel and staff in the Royal Motor Inn.

According to Dick Reynolds, regional representative, and Roger Gray, regional president, the conference will be one of the finest regional meetings ever held.

'U' Faculty Club Plans Speaker

The Faculty Forum will meet Thursday at 12 p.m. in the Faculty Club to hear Dr. Roy Enquist.

Dr. Enquist will speak on "The University and the Church, a Dialogical Problem." He is executive assistant for education of the National Lutheran Council, Department of Campus and University Work.

The faculty, their wives and friends are invited to bring sack lunches and join in a noontime discussion group.

Among the offices she listed were IPC president, RHC president, Panhellenic president, living group president or president of a campus political party.

Alvin Burgemeister, FarmHouse, acting station manager for KUOI, gave a statement to the board. He gave a progress report for the student radio station. He stressed that KUOI was needed to fill a gap in campus communications. He said that in order for KUOI to be workable, at least three small transmitters are necessary.

He appeared at the request of Larry Grimes, Beta, executive board budget director. Grimes introduced a report requesting that KUOI report on the use of funds given KUOI to build two trial-run transmitters. He also asked that executive board disband KUOI if they were unable to justify for the expenditure. No action was taken on Grimes' report.

13 Pledged By Service Frat

Thirteen students were formally pledged at a recent meeting of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity.

New pledges include William Allred, Tom Beck, Chuck Johnson, and Theodore Kramer, all Uppham; Gary Clark, Lyle Eliason, and Richard Sparks, all Gault; Jan Harms and Dale Uhlman, Lindley; Gary Horn, James Kuehn, and Gordon Smith, all McConnell; and Stephen Miller, Willis Sweet.

Gary Strong, Uppham, is president of the organization.

Class Additions Deadline Today

Today is the last day students can add courses for credit, increase their credit load, change sections, or remove incompletes without penalty, according to F. L. O'Neill, registrar.

The Administrative Council must approve any further changes, he added.

Courses may be dropped through next Friday. If a student does not remove an incomplete or obtain an extension of time, the grade F is recorded, said O'Neill. The deadline on section changes is new and was passed by the Administrative Council earlier this year.

Prof To Attend Chem Meeting

Dr. Elmer Raunio, chairman of the chemistry department, will represent the University at a meeting of representatives of leading institutions at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, this week.

Common problems of chemistry will be discussed.

Curriculum planning, research projects and financial needs will head the list of problems discussed.

Monies Denied-KUOI May Go Off

SILENT STATION — KUOI, the University's student radio station, is silent pending Communications Board authorization for work to continue. Station Engineer Roger Lackey is at the control board and Alvin Burgemeister, acting station manager, holds up a transmitter designed to transmit signals to living groups in a 200 foot radius from the transmitter.

Lack of proper authorization threatens to halt work on KUOI, the student radio station on campus.

Until the staff presents scholastic certification for eligibility and authorization to go ahead comes from Communications Board the station will not be able to broadcast, according to Gale Mix, ASUI General Manager.

Ben Goddard, appointed station manager last year by the communications board, did not return to school, so organization was at a standstill until Alvin Burgemeister, FarmHouse, staff engineer last year, took over the station manager position.

Burgemeister, Chief Engineer Roger Lackey, McConnell, and a staff of about 15 students have been working for the past three weeks to get the station ready to go on the air, but have been stymied by lack of authorization.

The station was fully operative for the last time during the 1961-62 school year, although it broadcasted a test signal to a limited number of living groups for about three months last year.

KUOI is changing to a "carrier current" system of transmission, now required of most college stations by the Federal Communications Commission. Under this system, the signal is sent to receivers over a network of wires rather than over the airwaves.

A $280 requisition was granted last year to hire an engineer to rebuild receivers for the living groups, but the work was never completed, according to Gale Mix, ASUI general manager. Mix said that the work is about half done at the present time.

Burgemeister asked for a requisition Wednesday to buy parts and hire an electrician to hook up the receivers, but this was refused by Mix, pending a decision by Communications Board.

"We can't do anything without the approval of Communications Board, and this will have to wait for the approval of a competent engineer," said Mix.

The station intends to tie into the University power lines and use them as small antennas for the signal. This system was tested at McConnell Hall last weekend with good results, according to Burgemeister. The power line running between floors in the dorm was tapped and a strong, clear signal was received.

"Without tieups," said Burgemeister, "we should be ready to transmit to dormitories along Sixth Street by the second nine weeks, and it shouldn't take more than an additional $300 to make the station operational all over campus."

Positions on the staff are still open, however Burgemeister said phone calls have been coming in "by the handful," for applications. By yesterday 34 people had applied for staff positions, he said.

Election Board Tryouts Tuesday

Tryouts for Election Board will be held at 7 p.m. in the Student Union, Larry Nye, ASUI vice president, said Thursday.

Tests for the 14-member board will cover the ASUI handbook and will be administered by Nye.

Fifteen floats have been entered in competition. They will be built around the theme "First-In-Ten, Do-It-Again." As winners of last year's float competition, Alpha Chi and Uppham are building the queen's float.

Music for the parade will be provided by the University Band and ten high school bands from northern Idaho and Washington. These include Bonners Ferry, Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Moscow, Lapwai, Mullen, Kendrick, Kellogg and Palouse, Wash.

Vandalettes, Spurs and Angel Flight are among some of the groups marching. Campus leaders, such as Executive Board, Mortar Board and Blue Key will also take part in the parade. Campus organizations, including Cosmo Club and Young Republicans will participate.

Other activities of the day will include dedication of the new Physical Science building, a luncheon open to the public, the Idaho - WSU football game, open house in all living groups and a buffet supper.

"Moonlight Over Idaho" will be the theme for the Homecoming Dance. Scenes taken from the campus by moonlight will carry out the theme.

The Johnny Reitz Orchestra will provide music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Because of the dance, women's hours have been extended to 1:30 a.m. by Mrs. Marjorie Neely, dean of women, according to Sandy Iverson, Tri-Delta, publicity chairman.

Judicial Council To Set Voting Date This Afternoon

Judicial council will meet at 4 p.m. this afternoon to decide the legal date of ASUI class elections, as CUP party circulates a petition to have an irregular election November 3.

The Council will be deciding between Oct. 21 and Oct. 28. Guiding them in their decision will be the ASUI Constitution requirement that elections must be five weeks after the beginning of classes.

CUP party prefers Nov. 3, and is circulating petitions to make the November date legal. To do this they must collect more than 625 valid signatures of students who voted in the last election. The Constitution requires that 25 percent of the people who voted in the last election sign a petition to legally change the date of an election.

The CUP convention has been set for Oct. 25.

Preparations for the convention include the formation of a platform committee which consists of previous class officers who are members of CUP party, and the naming of Ruth Ann Knapp, Ethel Steel, as chairman of the convention rally committee.

The group also elected Jerry Tucker, Campus Club, first vice president Wednesday night, and named Merrily Dawn Freuchtenicht, Alpha Gam, campaign chairman.

CUP candidates may have to run against a full slate of independent candidates.

Already filed for office are Chuck Kozack, ATO, senior president; Ron Twilegar, Fiji, junior president; Lou Benoit, DG, and Carolyn Stephens, Kappa, both secretary-treasurer of the junior class; Margi Felton, Kappa, and Peggy Reed, DG, secretary-treasurer, and Mike Kossman, off campus, and Gary Vest, Fiji, president of the freshman class.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

Two truly cross-campus political parties have been the dream of campus politicians for some time, but have never been reality.

A new political party—which has all the makings of a cross-campus organization—is being formed.

Although this new party will not be fully organized by class election time, it is slated to sponsor candidates who will oppose Campus Union Party candidates and unaffiliated candidates. If organizational work continues until spring elections, the new party should be strong enough to give formidable opposition to CUP.

Don't Write CUP Off

This doesn't mean, however, that we're writing them off this time.

The energies and abilities of some of the people who are reported to be working on the new party gives us grounds for optimism that a two-party system again is in the near future. Nor is it just wishful thinking that this new two-party system should be stronger than any two-party system Idaho has known before.

University of Idaho campus politics—except for the last few years when a formerly dominant United Party was beginning to crumble—has always been dominated by one party. In the past this was Greek domination.

Then CUP came along with a party of Independents and Greeks. The idea took two or three years to catch on but CUP set the pace for what had to be. United, with only McConnell Hall from the Independent side of campus, and losing Greek support, fell last spring.

CUP's Future?

Elsewhere on this page is an editorial questioning the future of CUP. While a party standing on too broad a base may lead to its own destruction, this doesn't have to be the case with Campus Union Party.

As it stands, the campaign last spring with only one party, and the campaign this fall so far, have been—more than usual—colorless.

Two parties of similar composition should bring back some life, and more meaningful life, than the old Greek-Independent split used to have.

Issues more important than charges that "you aren't a really cross-campus party" should have a chance to raise their heads. (Surprisingly enough in elections past both parties flung this charge at each other.) This is what we hope.

In the next two weeks the new party's anonymous leaders may come into the open and give us the chance to congratulate them the way they deserve.

What About CUP?

It's a political truism that a party in a free system which tries to encompass too broad a base is susceptible to disintegration.

That truism leads us to the question, "Did CUP kill CUP when it killed United?"

In the coming class elections there will be three landmarks which may hint at the answer.

First, can CUP rally enough support to change the election date to Nov 3?

Each extra day gives CUP more chance to get organized enough to fight a good campaign. If elections are held the 21st, CUP will not have even one candidate running because the CUP nominating convention is slated for Oct. 25. Even if the election is held the 28th, three days is little time for candidates to campaign.

Second, will the CUP convention find enough enthusiasm to fill the slate with qualified people?

The talent is there, but if apathy has set in, it's almost as serious as rigor mortis.

Third, can CUP sweep the class elections? Since there's nobody to denounce any more, working the electorate into a froth could present problems.

Besides that, the yet unchosen CUP candidates will face some stout opposition. Gary Vest, Fiji, is, in his own right, an experienced politician. He has won political battles all over the state, not to mention in his high school. If he and Kossman don't split the independent vote, and, instead, pull support from CUP members, the CUP candidate for Frosh president may very well have a battle. Nor could the other six candidates, or their living groups, be considered newcomers to political battles.

If the independent candidates do as well as they did in the spring election, the backing of CUP party could become the same "kiss of death" that being affiliated with United once was.

The question is what holds a party, especially CUP, together.

Is it native enthusiasm or something to oppose which has made the party so strong in the past?

Heads Picked In Interviews

New committee heads and members for various SUB committees have been chosen following interviews on Tuesday, according to Dianne Green, Kappa, area recreation director.

Doug Williams, FarmHouse, has been named as chairman of the Arts and Crafts Committee. Committee members include Marcia Ramey, Alpha Phi, Claudia Irene Blair, Alpha Phi, Linda Niemeier, Forney, and Karen Rasmuson, Kappa.

Indoor Recreation Members were also chosen for the sub-committees of the Indoor Recreation Committee.

Square dancing members are Linda Carpenter, Pine, and Ron Warwick, Fiji, Joanne Fry, Theta, will be a member of the duplicate bridge committee. Bridge lessons will be organized by Craig Storti, and Bill Holman, Fiji. Wayne Brown, TKE, was chosen for the chess committee.

Bridge and chess players interested in working on the committees are asked to contact Miss Green at TU 2-1547.

A new member for the Off-Campus Committee, Patty Lin McCollister, Houston, was chosen in interviews Wednesday.

Reader Stricken From Letter

As I so set me down to reading this column on Tuesday last, I was most profoundly stricken (almost unto apoplexy) upon beholding the letter, if so it may be called, of one Mr. T. O. A production of so mean a merit that I beset me to thinking how it is that this pre-dawn chunk of earth could acquire such station in our society as university student — for so I surmised him to be from some few measures of his uncivil and impeded outpourings.

How crude! How gross! How base! To have so invaded, so violated, so ravished the purity of your paper in such an unwise! Your paper which is so sweetly bediamond with such serenely eloquent prose! — Your paper whose very format bespeaks an ethereal linkage with the Muse! — Your poetically structured articles which are as the Aeolian harp of old! — Your well-phrased headlines which hint of an affinity with the Oracle of Delphi! — these — to be so diametrically, so diabolically undermined by this dreg of alchemist's art! — to be made so wretched, so impure, so blotted with the ink-stain of that ill-begotten epistle — beaten out, I have no doubt, with the club of primeval unlightenment.

Then to speak well, with his half-muted, blind, lame - brain, of our cinema folk is the epitome of insult to all who are knowledgeable. The sensitive intellect shudders and convulses at praise from those who are so misbegotten, so misconceived, so maimed, so misdirected. But wouldn't you agree, Jason, that a bouquet of flowers is more in order for this Olympus-oriented cinema group than a floral wreath or even, I fear me, a floral wrath? Esox Fables

By Bob Banashek

SEASON WITHOUT LOGIC There is a splendor in living that visits one on mild autumn evenings when you are walking in the night air.

Why? Because the stars seem very sharp and the air is soft and the colors of the season are the colors of death and plenty. In addition to this you feel rather full because in the course of the evening you have spoken to man people who have been willing to share their own special "autumn evening thoughts" with you.

In such a place as this Univer-ity there should be no room for such illogical behavior. This place is a temple of rationality. All we are here for is the objective pursuit of the ultimate Truths, whatever in the hell they are. It is very simple; we are here to glom onto whatever portion of that Truth, justifiable by reason, that we can retain and get away with.

Fall Emotion But then there are those emotions of an autumn evening, having no logical purpose or meaning, and giving an illicit sense of satisfaction.

There are so many people here who would know all and the exact reason for it. The challenge of "Why?" It is a good challenge inside a classroom, but at other times it may have no answer.

College is full of self-styled cynics who demand a logical explanation for everything. They are usually intelligent and calm as they wait quietly for rational explanations of irrational truths. Why, I Wonder, must all things be conceived and comprehended. It is such a great mark of ignorance to believe in something which is felt rather than understood?

A sign of maturity is the realistic evaluation of what you cannot do and understand as well as what you can. End sermon.

Another part of this general autumn madness is good old election time. That means that we have to look at Charlie Brown endorsing Urcil Twitch for junior class treasurer on every bare wall space around campus. On the other hand it means that every so often I get queen candidates paraded through my dining room, and I also get to spend hours having political discussions. You know how they are. You discuss the "facts" in the tone of voice that sawmill employees use, and never ever permit a rational thought to interfere with your rhetoric. It's fine vocal practice between football games. Another interesting study of irrationality in action. In order to achieve what is called a stand, I am now going to declare my votes for Kathy McCloud and Barry Goldwater. These choices were made on the basis of a mystical experience at the bottom of the Lindley Hall elevator shaft.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO LIBRARY

Past President J. Buchanan Will Dedicate Science Bldg.

A past President of the University of Idaho will visit the Idaho campus during Homecoming Weekend to dedicate the new Physical Sciences Building. Jesse E. Buchanan was associated with the University for nearly 31 years. He served as its 10th president from 1946 to 1954.

Buchanan came to the University in 1923 and graduated four years later in civil engineering. He was the first student in any division at the University up to that time to have achieved a straight A record.

Following graduation, Buchanan was appointed to the staff as an instructor in Engineering. Working his way up, Buchanan became Dean of the College of Engineering in 1938.

No Ceremonies

When Buchanan took office as President of the University in 1946 there were no formal inauguration ceremonies, according to "Beacon for Mountain and Plain," a book on the University by Rafe Gibbs, director of information.

In 1946 student registration reached an all time high of 3,400. Cots were set up in Memorial Gym to house men while sororities and fraternities over-pledged, according to the "Beacon."

President Buchanan introduced new general courses to the College of Letters and Science. The college was reorganized from fifteen departments into eight, Art and Architecture, Biological Sciences, Humanities, Home Economics, Mathematics, Social Sciences, Physical Sciences and Music.

Sabbatical Leave

The alumni program was reorganized and strengthened by Buchanan, said the "Beacon." He also recommended the extending of sabbatical leave privileges for full professors. It was approved and later extended.

The Staff Letter, a weekly publication providing information to faculty members, was also one of Buchanan's ideas. He also initiated the University of Idaho Reports, a quarterly publication sent to interested people in the state.

A seal with the motto "Teaching - Research - Service" was suggested by Buchanan in 1947 in addition to the earlier University seal.

SUB Addition

During President Buchanan's administration the Regents approved bond issues for an addition to the Student Union Building and a field house.

In 1953, Buchanan recommended that the schools of Mines, Forestry, Education and Business Administration be designated as colleges. This brought the total number of colleges at the University to eight, according to the "Beacon."

In May of 1954 Buchanan announced his resignation. He accepted the presidency of The Asphalt Institute, an organization sponsored by major oil companies to further research and extend the uses of asphalt.

Buchanan was married to Leah Rachel Tuttle in June of 1929 and they have two children, Nancy and John. Buchanan's daughter will accompany him to the University next week.

'Miss Wool' Is Selected In Contest

The new University of Idaho Miss Wool, Ellen Ostheller, Pi Phi, was selected yesterday after two days of try-outs, interviews, and fittings.

Selected from a group of about 25 girls, the new Miss Wool fits the qualifications of being able to wear a standard size-ten dress, is between the heights of 5 foot 6 and 5 foot 8, and is between the ages of 18 and 25, inclusively.

Miss Ostheller is a sophomore, and a journalism major.

Among the five finalists were first runner up, Linda Bithell, Pi Phi, Mary Martin and Nancy O'Roark, Gamma Phi; and Ann McKenney, Kappa.

The girls were judged on the basis of beauty of face, figure, modeling ability, and personal charm and poise. Chairman of the contest was Mrs. M. C. Clare of Boise, Idaho, also the chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, Idaho Wool Growers Assn.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Doris Mix and Mrs. Harold Snow, Moscow; Prof. Roy Bell, of the Photography Center; and Mrs. Blanch Daubert, owner of the Parisian dress shop, Moscow.

The final selection of the winner was done at the Parisian, where the girls modeled wool dresses, suits, and cocktail gowns.

The winner of the contest, Miss Ostheller will automatically enter the Idaho Miss Wool Contest, and if successful, will travel to the National contest in Texas.

A minimum of four girls will be chosen from each living group. The girls will assist the Pom Pon girls in conducting rallies and pre-game activities. The girls will sit as a section at all games and develop a card section, according to Miss Stephens.

The Rally Committee would like to interview from 10 to 12 freshmen women from each living group. Each living group will be notified as to interview time, Miss Stephens said.

Chapter president Larry B. Grimes made the presentation to Dr. Theophilus who will give the money to the SUB for the Art committee.

The committee will make the selection of an art piece for the Student Union Building.

Dr. Theophilus addressed the 50th Anniversary convention meeting at the SUB.

"There are no more enthusiastic alumni than those who have had a fraternity experience," said Dr. Theophilus.

"There always has been a place for fraternities at the University of Idaho and there always will be a place — at least during the lifetime of anyone present," he said.

Tests will cover the ASUI constitution, regulations and rules governing elections, knowledge of the ASUI, and general familiarity with the SUB and with the people involved in the operation of the SUB and the ASUI, he added.

Fourteen members will be selected in addition to the chairman on the basis of highest test scores, he said.

Pi Kappa Alpha Becomes New Colony; Fourteen Are Pledged To Fraternity

Pi Kappa Alpha was officially made a colony in a private ceremony with national officers of the fraternity Tuesday evening.

National Secretary Earl Watkins and Herb Miller, head of PKA national housing commission, were present for the ceremonies.

An informal reception for PKA was held Tuesday evening in the Student Union Building by representatives of all the fraternities and sororities on campus.

Members of PKA chapters at Washington State, Oregon State, and Linfield College also attended the reception, according to Steve Haskins, president, PKA, Shoup.

The goal of PKA is to have 35 members by the end of the fall semester next year. To become an official charter, the colony must have a grade point average above the all men's average, according to John Garske, PKA pledge.

The PKA colony plans to have a house for the new pledges and two transferred members to live in by the end of this semester, said Garske.

Steve Haskins, formerly WSU PKA, and Bruce Morrison, former Idaho State PKA, are the two transferred members.

New Pledges

The 14 new pledges of PKA are: Paul Bishop, Leroy Bensen, Phillip Elway, John Garske, Steve Haskins, Russel Hinds, Bill Kemp, John Konen, Tom Martin, Bob Matthews, Harley Noe, Ross Peterson, Jim Sime, Dave Triggerio, and Pat Williams.

Fourteen students have been pledged at this time, according to Garske. Students affiliated with PKA are now living in various halls on campus.

Pi Kappa Alpha is the tenth largest fraternity in the U.S., said Garske. There are 130 chapters in the United States.

On completion of University requirements and graduation, the new marine lieutenants will report to Quantico for six months more training, and then will serve for a period of two and one-half years on active duty.

They Thought Her A Man But 'Col. Anne' Spoke Anyway

When a ranking American Army officer visits an English city not near an American installation, he may be called upon to speak to local reservists. So was Lt. Col. Anne Randall, a member of the University of Idaho Army ROTC Sponsor Corps.

When the speaking engagement was arranged, the British officer in charge thought that Col. Randall was a regular U.S. Army officer and a man.

Asked how this all started, Miss Randall replied that she and her mother had gone to Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, to visit relatives last summer.

"My cousins were members of the ATC (British equivalent of Air Force ROTC), and one of them boasted at a meeting that his cousin, an American Lieutenant Colonel was visiting," the pretty blonde said.

Word got back to the ATC wing commander, according to CURVEY COLONEL — Ann Randall, Army ROTC Sponsor Corps Lieutenant Colonel, lectures to a group of British Air Training Command students on the American Army ROTC program during a summer visit to New Castle-on-Tyne, England. ATC is the British counterpart of Air Force ROTC.

Davey Heads United Fund

The Campus United Fund has surpassed its half-way mark in collections, with a total contribution of more than $3,800 as of yesterday afternoon, according to Capt. H. E. Davey, USN, campus chairman.

Davey said that the campus goal is $7,000, about one third of the total Moscow community goal of $22,000. The drive is organized by colleges or departments on campus, and students are never asked to contribute. It is felt that students' families will take care of these contributions.

Battle Of Defenses Expected At OSU

Coach Dee Andros expects "a tough defensive battle" with Oregon State University in Corvallis on Saturday, but he thinks the Vandals "have the offensive tools" to dump the Beavers and break Idaho's three game losing streak. The Vandals almost turned the trick last Saturday with a second half comeback that started Oregon. But time ran out and the Vandals lost 14-8. Idaho has previously fallen to Iowa and Utah and has a win against San Jose.

But this week Andros hopes the Vandals won't have to wait until the second half to move their offense. Much of what Andros calls the team's "offensive tools" key on big Ray McDonald, who returned to action for the first time this season against the Ducks, last week.

The 6-4 fullback proved to be such a running threat in his first varsity game that the defense had to assign a man to cover him. Quarterback Mike Monahan then had room to run the option, when McDonald kept the defense honest, Andros said.

Andros also has moved Tom Morris from fullback to wingback to give the backfield added size on offense.

"Morris is too good a player not to use him as much as we can," Andros said. "But with McDonald back, Morris won't get much of a chance at the fullback spot."

Bob Ruby, a two year letterman guard, will play the left linebacker and junior letterman Jerry Campbell the middle linebacker, with Busby and Litzinger hurt, Andros said.

"Whenever we have an injury that means someone has to go both ways," Andros said. Ruby will play offense if need be this week, too.

RUBY TAKES OVER — Bob Ruby, two-year varsity letterman, will take over the left linebacker spot against OSU to fill in for Al Busby, who was injured against Oregon while replacing injured Dick Litzinger.

Riley Names 2-Way Unit To Start In Frosh's Season Opener With BJC

The Idaho Frosh left for Boise by bus this morning for their season opener against the once-beaten Boise Junior College Broncos. The Frosh will workout on the BJC field tonight and will play tomorrow night. The game will be broadcast over KRPL radio.

U-I Finmen Set For AAU Competition

The Idaho Vandal finmen will travel to Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane, this weekend to swim in the Amateur Athletic Union meet, Sunday.

Line Up
Competing will be: Bryon Anderson and Frank Burlison. 100 meter freestyle: Richard Dooley, 100 meter freestyle and butterfly: Dave Grieve. 100 meter freestyle: Larry Harris. 100 meter backstroke: Kris Kirkland. 100 meter freestyle and 400 meter freestyle relay: Tony Kirkland, 100 meter backstroke: Ted Lyons, 100 meter freestyle and 400 meter freestyle relay: Jim Mundt. 100 meter freestyle: Andy Sorenson. 100 meter breaststroke; and Bill Stillmaker, 100 meter breaststroke and 400 meter medley relay.

Karl Von Tagen will swim the 100 meter breaststroke, freestyle, and butterfly and both relays; Fritz Von Tagen 100 meter freestyle and butterfly and both relays; Robert Winn, 100 meter backstroke and 400 meter medley; and Tom Gibbs, 100 meter freestyle.

A trophy will be given to the best swimmer in each age group, and medals given for the first three place in each event.

No Platooning
Coach Bud Riley has named a starting lineup he hopes will go both ways against the Broncos. "We are not ready to platoon this early in our season," Riley said.

"If we have any specialists they will show up during the course of the season, but right now I've got 11 two-way football players."

Three Boise Valley prep aces will be in that starting lineup Saturday night as the Vandals go for their second straight winning season under Riley. Paul Gentle from Boise high will be at quarterback for the Vandal Babes and teammate Rich Toney will be at one end. Steve Urick from Nampa will handle the center chores.

Gonzaga Aces
The rest of the lineup includes Pat Davidson at wingback and Dennis McCanna at halfback, both former Gonzaga Prep backs from Spokane. Mike Woolrick from Imperial Beach, Cal., will be at fullback.

Larry Santchi from Lewis and Clark in Sookane will be at the other end. Tackles are Steve Soyker from Lima, Ohio, and James Evans from Baker, Ore. The guards are Lyle Bergstrom from Sandpoint, and Karl Klennkorn from Twin Falls.

Assisting Riley with the coaching chores will be former quarterback Gary Miles from Baker, Ore., and guard Don Matthews, '83 co-captain from Amesbury, Mass. The trainer is Loren Solum, a former place kicking specialist from Wallace.

Idaho Harriers Set Invitational

Runners from about 10 high schools and four college frosh and varsity teams will converge on the Idaho golf course this Saturday for the fifth running of the annual Idaho crosscountry invitational.

Coach Doug MacFarlane said that three schools, Idaho, Washington State and Gonzaga, which ran last week at Pullman, plus Whitworth would compete over a four mile course in the varsity class. The same schools and Columbia Basin Junior College will enter teams in the two-mile frosh division.

MacFarlane said that high schools from Eastern Washington, Northern Idaho and possibly Southern Idaho will send teams to run in the high school portion of the meet.

Lindgren Holds Mark
The high schoolers will compete over the same two-mile course on which Gary Lindgren, Spokane's youthful Olympic distance man set a course record of 5:59.7 last year when running for John Rogers high school of Spokane.

Shadle-minus Lindgren—is a favorite along with John Rogers high school, also of Spokane, to win the event again this year.

As for Idaho, the Vandals will be seeking their first crosscountry win of the season. They ran second to the Cougars last Saturday at Washington State.

Idaho, to successfully defend the invitational title they won last year, will have to overcome, what MacFarlane calls "the strongest WSU crosscountry team ever." The Cougars finished in the first five places last week.

Jebson Tops Idaho
Nils Jebson, who finished sixth, is expected to again lead the Vandal crew. Jebson ran the WSU 3.1 mile course in 16:08.

John Mynott, Ted Quirt, Paul Henden and Bernie O'Connell, along with Chuck Fleiger, Ken Hann, Tommy Dietrich, Bruce Swayne, and Kirt Fleisher, if he's ready, will also run in the varsity competition, MacFarlane said.

Basketball Practice Starts With Full-Scale Scrimmages

Idaho cage coach Jim Goddard will waste little time in getting his Vandal basketball players in action this season. The 5-5 dynamo has called for a pair of full-game scrimmage sessions the first two days of practice. Yesterday he sent two veteran outfits through their paces. An all-rookie squad will play a half against each of the veteran quintets this afternoon.

Goddard had lettermen Ed Haskins from St. Maries, Jay Anderson from Eden, Chuck Kozak from Seattle and Tom Moreland from Cosur d'Alene along with junior college transfer John Rucker from Rensselaer, N.Y., and squadman Don Soward from Coldwater, Ohio on one squad.

Opposing this group was Terry Henson from Kent, Wash., Jim McElroy from Seattle, Ed Tollefson from Portland, Larry Rasmussen from Cannon Beach, Ore., all from last year's team, along with Jerry Skafte from Spokane and Chuck Hepworth from Elma, Wash. Skafte and Hepworth are JC transfers.
