"Confusion Set For Tuesday"

By LINDA BITHELL

A series of problems and general confusion about the class officer elections has finally been straightened out and the elections will be held Tuesday, according to Gale Mix, ASUI General Manager.

'Mock' Election Set For Tuesday

A Presidential "mock" election along with the class officers election, according to Sue Solomon, Theta, Idaho Center for Education in Politics (ICEP) president.

Ballots bearing the names of Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates — President Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey, and Republican candidates — Senator Barry Goldwater and Representative William Miller, will be handed to students along with ballots for class officers, she said.

The "mock" election is on a separate ballot, said Miss Solomon. No state candidates will be on the ballot.

The results of the election will be published in the late Friday edition of the "Argonaut" after the polls have closed.

Dr. Boyd Martin, Dean of the College of Letters and Sciences, is faculty advisor to the non-partisan organization sponsoring the "mock" election.

Student Hurt In Accident

A motorcycle and car collision at 12:45 p.m. Thursday involved two University students and sent one to the hospital with lacerations and a possible broken left leg.

The accident, still under police investigation, involved a car driven by Warren W. Corey, 19, Shoup, and the motorcycle operated by Klaus Sonnenberg, Lindley.

Police said the motorcycle struck the car, causing damage to the car of about $175 and $75 to the cycle. The collision occurred 96 feet from the intersection of Rayburn and West Sixth.

Sonnenberg was taken to Gritman Memorial Hospital by Moscow ambulance. He was listed in good condition Thursday night.

New Officers Are Elected

Members of Vandaleers elected officers for 1964-65 Thursday afternoon.

Elected president was Winston Cook, off campus. Virginia Reynolds, off campus, was elected vice president of the choral organization.

Chosen secretary was Donna Meacham, off campus. Rob Farnam, off campus, was elected men's robe chairman and Cheryl Stoker, Alpha Chi, was elected women's robe chairman.

Legislators To Join Students At Breakfast November 12

Legislators will have breakfast with students in their living groups Nov. 12, as part of a program sponsored by the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce to acquaint the law makers with the problems of North Idaho and the University.

"During the two hours of breakfast and tours Idaho students will have their chance to show legislators why the University needs more money," Jim Johnston, ASUI president, said Thursday.

The election date, originally set for Oct. 23 by Executive Board, was ruled unconstitutional by Judicial Council, and the legal date was set Oct. 28. Oct. 26 petitions were finally turned in to change the date to Nov. 3.

Getting everything ready for the elections, even having them as late as the ASUI is, has been a struggle, according to Mix. Student directories, which are used to check off names as students vote, are not yet out. Mix made arrangements with the University Publications Office to work overtime in order to have 12 copies printed and assembled by 5 p.m. Monday or 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The office of the Dean of Students has agreed to work this weekend checking the eligibility of candidates nominated. Both CUP and C-CAP parties failed to turn in their lists of nominees for eligibility approval until Wednesday.

The Idahoonian has agreed to juggle its work load in order to print ballots in time for the election.

Arg editors redummed their pages to include room to print copies of the ballot in order to comply with the constitution.

Two members of election board who were ruled ineligible were replaced with eligible students.

Voting booths will be set up in the Agricultural Science Building, the Administration Building, and the Student Union. Voters must have their activity cards to vote. Cards must be picked up at the ASUI office before Tuesday. The office is open from 8:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., through the noon hour, Mix said Thursday.

AWS Selects Committees

Associated Women Students have selected Standing Committees for their projects this year, according to Carol Husa, President of AWS.

The girls signed to the various committees are: State Hospital North; Gwen Tolmie, Gamma Phi, Chairman; Margaret Hegler, Alpha Phi; Gail Walker, Alpha Gamma; Jannette Higgins, Forney; and Sandra Funk, Gamma Phi.

Cultural: Nancy O'Roark, Gamma Phi, chairman; Sandy Ytrieede, Tri Delta; Joanne Gallagher, Tri Delta; Rosalie Terry, Alpha Chi; Nanene Kantola, Pine, and Susan Silver, Pine. Moscow Girls; Dianne Weninger, Alpha Chi, Chairman; Sharon Swendon, D.G.; Susan Wickman, Pine; and Nancy Ruth Peterson, Gamma Phi.

Interviews for AWS Handbook editor will be held later, according to Miss Husa. Any application for this position will still be accepted.

Jack Clifford, NICC president said that all the newly elected legislators are invited to come at the expense of the Chamber, and that there would probably be 75 to 80 coming.

The NICC meeting will be held in Moscow Nov. 12 and 13. The program will be directed toward 1965 legislative matters with panel discussions on where appropriation money goes, and on reapportionment, as well as resource planning in North Idaho.

Students Must Have ID To Vote

Students who have not picked up their activity cards in the ASUI office by Monday will be ineligible to vote, according to Sandi Laughlin, ASUI office secretary.

The cards must be picked up before election day and no one can vote without them said Mrs. Laughlin.

"B" Parking Is Enlarged

Students with "B" parking permits will get a break under new University of Idaho parking regulations to go into effect Monday, November 2.

George Gagon, University Engineer, said today that Operations Council, acting upon recommendations of its Traffic and Parking subcommittee, approved the opening up of more space for students with "B" permits because of the acute shortage in that category.

Under the new regulations, the east half of the Music building parking lot will be opened to students with "B" permits. The newly developed parking area north of Gault Upham dormitories will become available to "B" permit holders as well as those with "A" permits. Previously, this area had been limited to "A" permit holders.

The Heating Plant parking lot, previously opened to "B" permit holders, will be restricted to staff members, serving those in the college of engineering.

"This change, however, will open up more parking space for 'B' permit holders on Line, Seventh and Urquhart streets," Gagon explained. "Altogether, the 'B' permit holders will gain quite a bit of badly needed space."

400 Cougars To Walk To U-I Date Of Trip Is Undecided

ANTICIPATION — It has been few times that an ASUI President has had this opportunity to wash his WSU counterpart's feet after the Cougars have trekked from Pullman. The hands in this picture are those of Jim Johnston, ASUI prexy.

Train Riders Assured Of 50-yard Line Seats

Seats on the 50-yard line have been assured University of Idaho students riding the Vandal Victory Special train to Boise for the Utah State-Idaho football game Nov. 14.

Initial response to the ticket sales in the General Manager's office in the SUB has been good, according to Bob Stanfield, publicity area director of Activities Council. Members of Century Club campaigned for the trip in men's living groups Thursday night and will visit women's living groups next week.

According to Stanfield, publicity chairmen have been selected to handle the event. They include Sandi Iverson, Tri Delta, campus wide publicity; Carolyn Stephens, Kappa, advanced publicity; John Cotton, TKE, town publicity; and Dick Tracy, Lambda Chi, general publicity. Chaperones are being arranged by Ruth Ann Knapp, Ethel Steel.

Funds to send the band on a chartered Greyhound bus are being raised on campus. Kappa Kappa Gamma has challenged all living groups on campus to see who can raise the most money.

Bottles have been placed at various downtown stores to help in the money-raising effort. The train will leave Moscow Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. and will arrive in Boise around 9:30 a.m. It will leave for Moscow at 12 p.m. Saturday and will arrive before dress dinner Sunday.

Total cost per student will be $16.50. This covers the round trip to Boise, transportation from the depot to the stadium, transportation from the stadium to downtown Boise after the game and transportation from downtown Boise to the depot at 11:30 p.m. In addition, two free breakfasts will be served and free coffee will be provided for the whole trip.

PROGRAM DEADLINE SET
The deadline for the Pillsbury Awards Program is Nov. 18. The 1965 graduate-winner will win a position as junior executive with the Pillsbury Company and receive a $500 case prize and $2,500 scholarship for graduate study. Four finalists will receive grants of $150 and two-day expense paid trips to Minneapolis.

Keane, Former Athlete Dies Tuesday At U-Idaho

Bernard T. (Ben) Keane, 64, athletic equipment supervisor at the University of Idaho for the last nine years and a basketball star of the Twenties, suffered a fatal heart attack in the Memorial gymnasium Tuesday morning.

Keane was checking newly-washed athletic uniforms when he died. His death came in a setting which he loved.

Born at Genesee May 25, 1899, he was graduated from Moscow high school in 1921, and attended the University of Idaho in the early Twenties. He played on the Idaho basketball team in 1923 which won the Pacific Coast conference championship.

A lifelong resident of the Pacific Northwest, Keane followed Idaho sports closely, and, when he was appointed athletic equipment supervisor at the university in 1955, Keane said that he felt he was "really coming home."

When the Cougars walk there will be at least 400 of them, according to Gary Petersen, Washington State Evergreen editor.

But the "when" is a big question.

First plans were for the Cougars to walk Tuesday in payment of their debt for losing the annual battle of the Palouse. Because of election day, and WSU class office elections, the Cougars decided to change their plans, according to Petersen.

In a meeting which lasted late Wednesday night, the WSU Board of Control, rescheduled the hike for Thursday.

But that date won't meet with Idaho's plans, according to Jim Johnston, ASUI president. Idaho is hosting the Association of College Unions conference Thursday through Sunday of next week.

Both Petersen and Johnston are comparing the WSU trek with the last one in 1954. In 1954 an Idaho victory over WSU brought 500 students across the Idaho line to Moscow.

It was the first time in 29 years that WSU students had to make the trek. Newspaper and magazine coverage of the event was nationwide in scope. Both Johnston and Petersen recall the splash it made in Life magazine.

AMERICANISM?

Americanism: Voting to set the speed limit at 60 mph and demanding a car that will do 100!

Admission requirements as stated in the current University of Idaho catalog for out-of-state students will be raised in the new catalog to be published July 1, it was announced today by Frank Young, director of admissions.

Requirements for in-state students will remain the same as shown in the current catalog, which means primarily that the University will again follow its traditional policy of admitting all residents who are graduated from accredited high schools.

"Emergency restrictions" were approved by the Regents for the current academic year because of lack of classroom facilities and funds to hire teachers," said Young.

"Essentially, the new catalog regulations on admissions will return the University to a normal basis," said Young. "To serve the greatly increased number of Idaho youths knocking at our doors, however, we could not revert completely to the long-established regulations for out-of-state students."

Emergency Restrictions
For some years, out-of-state students had to be in the upper-half of their high school graduating class. Under this fall's emergency restrictions, they were limited to the upper-fourth; under the new catalog, they will be limited to the upper-third. The complete new admissions regulations follow:

1. Residents who are graduated from accredited high schools will be admitted upon proper application.

2. Residents will not pay the $25 application fee.

3. Resident transfers will be admitted upon presenting a cumulative grade point average of 2.00 (on a four point system).

4. Non-resident applicants direct from high school will be selected from those in the upper-third of the scholastic ranking of their graduating class.

Non-Resident Transfers
5. Non-resident transfers will qualify for admission if they present a cumulative grade point average of 2.30 (on a four point system).

Items 1, 2, and 3 have been changed back to current catalog criteria. (Under the emergency restrictions this year, registration for Idaho high school graduates in the lower-fourth of their classes was delayed until the second semester.)

Item 4 — Raises the current catalog requirement from upper-half to upper-third.

Item 5 — Raises the current catalog requirement from 2.00 to 2.30.

The present Constitutional clause only stipulates that nominating petitions for class officers have 75 signatures.

The other proposed amendment sets the deadline for petitions to change class election dates at "the Monday of the week preceding the week of a regularly scheduled election."

The many different areas needed — house, hospital, mountain clearing.

The set for "Still the Mountain Wind" will consist of platforms of several heights on the stage. The main color scheme will be in blues, greens and lavenders to give a feeling of movement, according to Edmund M. Chavez, assistant professor of drama.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

Campus elections are usually known for being dull. If this election hasn't been dull, about the only reason for it is that it has been too confused—for a multitude of reasons, not one person's fault.

The confusion started out last spring when plans were being laid for the election now scheduled for Tuesday. At one of their last meetings before school recessed, Executive Board set Oct. 23 as the date for elections. This would have been in the fifth week of classes as the ASUI Constitution stipulates.

Problem 1—Classes were moved back to begin three days earlier than the old catalog calendar.

Problem 2—When students returned this fall, no one remembered that the election date had been set and Campus Union Party scheduled its nominating convention for Oct. 25.

Council Interprets

Judicial Council was asked to intervene and determine for election purposes what was the correct date. They ruled that the fifth week was the week of Oct. 25-30. CUP then circulated a petition to have the date moved to Nov. 3.

The necessary number of signatures was obtained Monday, and Nov. 3 was set. Then the real confusion set in.

Both parties nominated candidates Sunday. Neither of them turned in their nominees until Wednesday. Ten days are usually needed for the candidates to be certified for eligibility and for ballots to be printed.

Problem 3—The ASUI Constitution requires that a sample ballot be printed in the Argonaut the issue before the election.

Problem 4—In order to get a ballot in time for this issue, we had to print the names of candidates even though some of them may not be scholastically eligible.

It Goes On

But it doesn't end there.

The Kampus Key is used to validate a person's class standing before he votes. Mechanical failure in the duplicating machine producing the directory caused a delay in its publication. Until yesterday it looked like the Key wouldn't be out in time for election.

As a final note, two Constitutional amendments which were supposed to appear on the ballot were almost overlooked. At 3 p.m. yesterday, when the ballot went to the printers, the amendments had been turned in for less than an hour.

Barring any more close shaves and confusion, an election issue of the Argonaut will be at your door by 10 p.m. Tuesday.

We've got our fingers crossed.

Idaho Voters Decide Changes

Idaho voters will decide on three proposed State Constitutional amendments when they vote Nov. 3.

One, S. J. R. No. 6, will ask voters whether or not the term of office for sheriffs in Idaho should be extended from two to four years.

A second question to be solved, S. J. R. No. 1, is whether or not Idaho should have a State Water Resource Agency with the power to formulate and implement a state water plan, and the power to issue revenue bonds without state obligation.

The third question, H. J. R. No. 5, would permit the creation of port districts, would make possible the payment of port district revenue bonds solely from the revenues of the port district, and would extend the time required for payment of bonded indebtedness from 20 to 30 years.

Of the three, the question of extended the term of office for sheriffs is probably the question which most concerns all the people of the state, although it may affect their futures the least.

Sheriffs are common to all parts of the state. The issues are simple. Would four-year terms allow the officers to become more efficient? Would the guarantee of a permanent job for a longer period of time make capable men more willing to risk the expense of a campaign? Or would the sheriffs, who have considerable discretion and authority in conducting their offices, become less careful if they had to answer to the people less often?

The Water Resource Agency question is both more complex and more localized in interest. Water questions in Idaho, as a rule, have more impact in South Idaho, where the productivity of the valleys depends on water rights and water conservation.

The question is more complex partly because it is really two questions, whether or not to create the agency, and whether or not the agency should be able to issue revenue bonds without state obligation. It is also more complex because the agency would be given at the start the power to construct and operate water projects, to issue bonds to be paid back from these projects, to generate and wholesale hydroelectric power, to appropriate public waters as trustee for Agency projects, and to control state lands required for water projects.

The issues, greatly simplified, seem to be: Could such an agency provide better use and development for water resources? Would it be easier for Idaho to deal with the federal government in water projects with such an agency? Or is the development under present law and private capital more desirable?

The Port issue, for the most part, will affect Lewiston, since Lewiston is the only place in Idaho where there is a possible port.

The issue is complex because it is really three problems: the creation of the districts, financing of bonds, and the extension of the indebtedness period. Only the indebtedness period directly affects all areas of the state.

Basically, the port issues are: Would the change make it possible for Lewiston to develop seaport facilities and compete for slackwater navigation business with Washington port districts which already have revenue bonding privileges? Is it possible that such a move will bring more money in to the entire state? Would extension of payment of public indebtedness from 20 to 30 years bring the bond market to more purchasers because of smaller payments and longer terms? Would such advantages overshadow the disadvantage of increased interest costs?

All three, particularly the last two, are important issues—issues that may have as much effect on the future of the state as the other election on the ballot, the election of public officials, will have.—L. B.

Dear Jason

Marine Visitor Likes Idaho

Dear Jason: My first impression of the University of Idaho was one of envy, and the second of its warmth.

Envy because I haven't had the opportunity to go to a four year college, even though I have had a year of Junior College. The friendliness of all the people I have met since my stay here at the University of Idaho and Lindley Hall, which started the 23rd of November is something that will stay with me wherever I happen to be.

The fact that I am in the United States Marine Corps does not hinder my appreciation of a finer education. Even though my first profession, that of killing whenever necessary, is taught me by professionals of that specific field, just like the professional teachers of the University of Idaho teach you students your occupational preferences. I am very much in favor of accumulating the finest education money can buy.

The University of Idaho is a great school. The only thing that would make me stop and think first about going here would be the extremely cold weather. Other than that I would feel proud to be in attendance at this fine School of Learning. The atmosphere all over campus is one that would make you feel that this is your home. As to Lindley Hall and their President, I wish to convey to them my deepest appreciation for putting up with me and my friend Maynard, who was a member of the student body during the '63-64 campaign. We had a ball fellas. Friday evening I went to your football rally and was really impressed by the turnout and by the spirit that was shown. Never in my life have I seen such enthusiasm towards an underdog football team. I enjoyed it thoroughly. Saturday I went to the game with Esox and Lindley Hall with a negative attitude. Boy, was I surprised. I saw a great team extend their abilities and defeat the Cougars for the first time in ten years. I wish to congratulate the team and the coach for a job well done, and good luck to you against the Stockton team next week.

I got to go to only one class while I was here, an English Literature class. From what I saw and heard, you students have some pretty bright PROFS. Once again I wish to extend a heart-filled thanks to the University of Idaho, Lindley Hall and Esox for a week well spent.

Esox Fables

By Bob Banashek

... In the century before the final conflagration there appears to have been two main tribes inhabiting the loess hills of the region known as the Palouse. Because of a boundary which had once been drawn between them, the tribes seem to have entertained a constant antipathy for each other."

"The tribe of the East called themselves Vandals, in some special deference to a fierce European tribe of nearly a thousand years antecedent. Judging from a recently unearthed hammered bronze likeness, they seem to have been of an Oriental type, about seven feet tall with sinewy muscles, and high-ridged noses and cheekbones. The immense quantity of broken brown glass about the excavation site indicates that they drank a great deal of a cold mead type drink called Coors. It appears that this and an archaic musical instrument known as a guitar were their principal unifying elements. The area which they inhabited was known as Ee-da-ho.

"To the west of the line was the tribe of the Wa-Shing-Ton or 'Wazoos'. Their culture was somewhat more primitive, as indicated by their consumption of much smaller quantities of an inferior mead known as Olympus. In addition, they seem to have been involved in some sort of animal worship and called themselves "cougar" people after a species of primitive cat then found in the uplands of Ee-da-ho. They generally had a live specimen in captivity which they brought before large crowds on the appointed days of worship.

Permanent Enmity "Although the two tribes entertained a permanent enmity for each other, there was little or no physical conflict between them save on one appointed day each year in the height of the Autumn season.

Tribes Battle "On this day each tribe assembled its most valiant warriors to do battle in groups of eleven in the respective arenas of the two tribes, which had been built for this purpose.

"The ceremony was a colorful one indeed, for both groups of gladiators wore their most brilliant colors to the event, the evening before was one of intense religious preparation. The members of each tribe gathered for a rite that featured the dancing before them of several of their women who had been chosen for this purpose, and a great excess of bloodcurdling chants. The consumption of the meads was characteristically high on the days preceding and following the event.

Walk Follows "Perhaps the most unusual characteristic of the annual conflict was the ritual of humiliation following the battle. This was called 'the walk'. By it, the tribesmen who had lost the encounter, were required to walk the nine miles that separated the two villages.

"By way of carefully perpetuated records we find that the first half of Century 20 was almost completely dominated by the Wazoos; due in part to the fact that the tribal lords were able to supply more money to import mercenary warriors from a sunny region to the south.

Wazoos Defeated "In spite of this, in the year 1964 AD there was a turn of events in which the Wazoos were severely defeated. The day of the walk was harsh and cold; the sky was full of evil omens predictive of the future. From this blow the Wazoos were never able to completely recover, and they were not able to gain another victory until 1997, which was the year the Vandals were afflicted with Malaria and Hangover.

"Historically, it is rather interesting to note how the courses of the two tribes' histories were changed in that one day of the year which was festively called 'The year of the Dee'."

Jazz In Bucket Set To Premiere

Jazz in the Bucket programs premiere next Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Dipper of the Student Union Building, according to Lois Grieve, French, committee publicity chairman. The first night's program includes Bob Aldrich, Theta Chi, to present jazz and piano; a faculty jazz group called La Quintette; Jerry Tucker, off campus, with Guitar and folk music; and The Shadows, a Coeur d'Alene dance band.

Work with a group worth standing out in.

The more competent your co-workers are, the greater your satisfaction when they admire something you've done. And the better your chances are to learn so you can move on to additional responsibilities and rewards.

Boeing's world leadership in the jet transport field is an indication of the calibre of people you'd work with at Boeing. The forward-striding attitude responsible for this leadership has, since 1916, provided a steady succession of pioneering achievements: first twin-engine, retractable-gear, low-wing, all-metal airliner; first four-engine, pressurized airliner; first modern, high-performance bomber; first large swept-wing, multi-jet bomber; and, of course, America's first jetliner, the 707, and the 720 and three-jet 727. (Right now we're designing a variable-sweep wing supersonic transport.) Boeing is one of the nation's major manufacturers of heavy transport helicopters (Vertol), and for more than two decades has pioneered most of the world's applications of the small gas turbine in aircraft, industrial, marine and vehicular fields.

And the space age? Boeing's contributions here include major contract responsibility for the Minuteman ICBM and NASA's Saturn V Booster—the launch vehicle destined to send America's first lunar landing team to the moon. We're also working full blast in all other phases of space flight, including a manned earth-orbiting laboratory and a lunar orbiter.

Projects underway in Boeing's extensive Scientific Research Laboratories encompass basic and applied research in celestial mechanics, solid state

Idaho Bulletin Is Released

The University of Idaho College of Agriculture has released a new bulletin, No. 423, "Upgrading Farm Dairy Facilities for Manufacturing Milk."

In the bulletin Dr. R. V. Winters, senior author of the study, explores the economic adjustments made necessary at the farm level by higher sanitation standards.

The bulletin discusses the present cost and income in producing milk for powder, the cost to upgrade to minimum Grade A requirements and alternatives to upgrading facilities.

The bulletin can be obtained at county agents' offices or by writing the Mailing Room at the University of Idaho, or the Agricultural Extension Service, 317 1/2 North Eighth Street, Boise.

ROTC Begins

National Contest

The University Air Force ROTC detachment began the screening process last week to select Idaho's students vying for the 5,500 ROTC scholarships, Col. Robert C. Ogletree, professor of air science, announced.

Ogletree said that the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test given Saturday was the first of several steps in screening applicants for scholarships authorized under the new ROTC Rehabilitation Act recently passed by Congress.

Besides being a prerequisite for scholarship consideration, a passing score on the test is required for admission into the advanced AFROTC corps.

Major Dennis Thompson, who administered the test, said some 60 freshmen and sophomores signed up for the exam.

Vandals Fight Possible Letdown, "Just Play Schedule"

Dee's Vandals Ready, Arizona Next In Line

The Idaho coaching staff is worried about "letdown," while the press is talking about an "open date," but the Idaho Vandals are looking at Saturday night's battle against the University of the Pacific as the "next game on our schedule."

Many of the team remember last year's lopsided 64-6 win over the Tigers, but a few have not forgotten the embarrassment of the 27-2 loss suffered in Moscow in 1961.

The Vandals will travel on land and through the air Saturday night as they invade Pacific Memorial Stadium at Stockton. The "M" boys will be ready. Mike Monahan running the team from his quarterback spot, Ray McDonald and Tom Morris as the running backs with support from either Rich Naccarato or Butch Slaughter at halfback.

team played good ball, but had trouble hanging on to the pigskin. The Tigers lost the ball several times in the second half and lost a 6-0 lead over the Spartans.

On the defensive side, UOP has done well by intercepting 10 passes on the season. Tiger Bob Phair picked off a San Jose bomb last weekend and ran it back 95 yards for a TD and a new stadium record.

 Arizona Next

Facing Idaho Vandals next weekend will be the University of Arizona Wildcats. The Vandals will travel to Tucson in hopes of adding one more game to the Idaho side of the series record, which stands at 7-2 in favor of Arizona.

Last year the Wildcats contained the Vandals well by giving up only one TD and point after. Arizona won 34-7.

Goddard Has 4 Starters From '63-'64

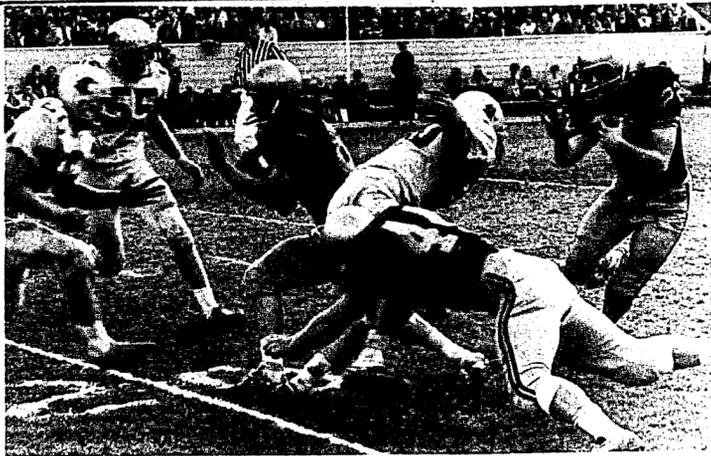

With four starters back from last year's team, a trio of good junior college prospects and three or four good rookies Coach Jim Goddard hopes to improve on last year's 7-19 record.

Big Tom Moreland, one of the Northwest's top cagers leads the lettermen crew along with Chuck Kozak. In the backcourt veterans Jay Anderson and Ed Haskins will be pushed by junior college transfers Jerry Skafie and John Rucker. Chuck Hepworth in from Grays Harbor JC could fill the forward spot left vacant by the graduation of Tom Whitfield. Larry Rasmussen and Jim McElroy from last year's bench will also be bidding for a shot at this spot.

WRA Heads Co-ed Action

Co-recreational volleyball is scheduled to begin in the Women's Gym next Wednesday, according to Wilma Gerlach, Women's Recreation Association publicity director.

Each team will consist of three women from the same living group and three men from any living group. All those interested in participating should sign up with a WRA representative.

ACTION—Idaho gave the Cougars plenty of action as this shot shows halfback Butch Slaughter (44) taking out an unidentified Cougar to protect Joe McCullom. Joe Chapman is there to meet two more unrelenting Cougars, Dave Thomas (55) and Wally Dempsey (66).

After Four Years Of Headknocking Mike Whiles Finally Finds Home

After four years of college football Mike Whiles has finally found a home on the University of Idaho football squad as a safety man and defensive signal caller.

The signal calling job isn't new to the former Edmonds, Wash., griddier. He spent two years as a quarterback with the Vandals, one on defense for the frosh and one as a third-string sophomore on the varsity.

He currently leads the team in pass interceptions with three and has had a hand in recovering some of the 15 fumbles the Vandals have picked up in the 19 misuses they have caused the opposition.

As a rookie Whiles played defense while Joe Chapman (now a split end) ran the offense. The next season juniors Gary Mires and Gary Gagnon ran the offense while Whiles rode the bench.

In his first game as a sophomore it looked like Mike might be the next great thrower on the Coast. He went into the opening game against Utah State with the Vandals trailing 45-0 and seven minutes remaining. He began throwing strikes, hitting four in four tosses. He teamed with another soph, Vern Leyde, four times finally paying off in Idaho's only touchdown.

The next week he was in the starting lineup against Idaho State. A fumble, an incomplete pass and a five-yard loss and Whiles was back on the bench for the season. He didn't letter. He threw 11 times, hit five for 60 yards and a .455 average. His eight offensive plays did give him the top total offense average of 6.7.

Before fall camp opened in '63

Andros had Mires and Gagnon on hand as seniors along with a pair of junior college quarterbacks in Mike Monahan and Joe Rodriguez. Monahan was destined to become number two behind Mires and Rodriguez was held out of competition for a season.

Moves to Wingback
 The staff decided to move Whiles to wingback. When Bill Scott was late in reporting be-

SAE Takes IM Grid Crown, Swimming On The Way

Intramural swimming began last night at 7 p.m. in the Memorial pool with preliminary events in the 50 yard free style, backstroke, breaststroke, and butterfly.

Preliminary events will continue Monday with the 100 yard free style, 150 yard medley relay, and 200 yard free style relay.

ing finals will follow one week later.

 The semi-final will follow all the preliminary work and the finals will begin Nov. 10.

 The annual turkey trot has been set for tomorrow at 9 a.m. sharp at the University golf course. It will get underway on time and all entrants should be on hand for the start, Parberry said.

Vandal Frosh To Clash With Cubs, 'Little Battle Of Palouse' On Tap

Idaho's Vandal Babes will pit their strength against the unbeaten, untied University of Montana Grizzly gridiron Cubs.

The Babes are 1-1 on the season with a 33-10 loss to Boise Junior College and a 24-14 win over the Frosh from the University of Washington.

Against the UW Pups the Vandal Babes played consistent and sturdy football, Frosh coach Bud Riley said. "They played a real good game. He added, "I hope we do as well against Montana."

Riley said that he would go with the same backfield he used against the Huskies this weekend. Either Paul Gentle from Boise or Mike Mitchell from Des Moines, Wash., will be at quarterback. Gentle was injured against the Huskies and if he is not ready to go full speed Riley said that he would be happy to go with Mitchell.

The other backs will be Pat Davidson and Dennis McCanna, both from Gonzaga high in Spokane and Mike Woolrick from Imperial Beach, Calif. McCanna will go at halfback and Davidson at wingback.

The ends will be Rich Toney from Boise and Larry Santchi from Lewis and Clark in Spokane. Riley will have Karl Kleinkopf from Twin Falls at one guard spot and Lyle Bergstrom from Sandpoint at the other. Tackles will be Steve Spyrker from Lima, Ohio, and Jim Evans from Baker, Ore. Steve Ulrick from Nampa will be at center.

Coming Soon
 Following the clash with Montana will be the annual Shriners' "Little Battle of the Palouse" featuring the Vandal Babes and the Washington State Frosh at Rogers Field in Pullman next Friday.

Riley and his charges will be out to make the series a perfect sweep as they fight to preserve a 3-0 margin in the fourth renewal of the contest. Idaho won last year 36-0.

The annual meeting is sponsored by the Calam Temple of the Shrine to benefit the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in Spokane, which is just one of the 17 hospitals operated by the Shriners. The Calam Temple consists of seven clubs, including the Moyie Shrine Club, Panhandle Shrine Club, Kellogg Shrine Club, Coeur d'Alene Shrine Club, St. Maries Shrine Club, Moscow Shrine Club and Prairie Shrine Club.

Idaho and Washington Effort Shriners from throughout North Idaho and southeastern Washington will join in the festivities. Incidental to the ball game will be the color and pageantry of bedecked Shrine musicians from several points, along with a colorful half time program.

Prior to the game, Shriners will parade through Moscow and Pullman. Taking part in the parade will be the Mounted Patrols from the Whitman County Shrine Club, the Oriental Band, the Jackass Patrol and officers of Calam Temple.

Vandal Harriers To Face Strong Foes In CC Meet

The Idaho Vandal harriers will be off and running tomorrow as they travel to Spokane to compete in the Inland Empire Amateur Athletic Union Junior National Cross Country championships.

Expected to highlight the day's activities will be the Junior National race, a 10,000 meter or 6 1/4 mile scramble over the up-and-down terrain of Downriver golf course.

The "junior" used in the titles signifies that contestants are made up from college athletes not holding any National AAU championship marks or members of the Olympic team.

From Idaho
 Besides the Idaho entries, which track coach Doug MacFarlane named as Paul Henden, Nils Jebson, Ted Quirk, John Mynott, Kirt Fleisher, Bruce Swayne, Tom Dietrich, Bernie O'Connell, and two Idaho grad students, there will be nine other teams.

Entries from Washington State, lead by Pacific eight Conference three-mile champ, Chris Westman and outstanding John Valiant, who set a new course record here Oct. 17 will be present.

Runners from Whitworth, Eastern Washington, Los Angeles Track Club, Seattle Track

Club, Trail, B.C. Track Club, Spokane Athletic Club, Gonzaga University and Central Washington are also expected.

Big Sky Championships
 "Our chances for defending the Big Sky cross country title we won last year still rests in the hands of three of our frosh," MacFarlane said, repeating a similar statement he made last week.

John Mynott, one of the Northwest's top distance runners while in high school, was one of the frosh runner MacFarlane was counting on to spark the Vandals.

A devilish gleam will come into your eyes when you assume the lean and lethal pose that these pants give you. They trim you up and taper you down. Post-Grads are the ne plus ultra of campus styles because they're absolutely authentic. Neat belt loops. Narrow-but-not-too-narrow cuffs. Shaped-on-seam pockets. You can look satanic for a pittance since they cost but $6.98 a pair in 65% Dacron 35% Cotton. Buy 'em and hiss!
