University To File Court Appeal

University lawyer Weldon Schimke said yesterday that the University would file an appeal shortly in a case ruled on Wednesday which allowed a University student to collect back part of his room rent which he had paid to the University at the beginning of the semester.

Lee Slender, freshman law student, off campus, was awarded $100 in Justice court Wednesday in civil action he brought against the Regents of the University of Idaho and Robert F. Green. Green is director of housing at the University.

Four Days
Slender, Green said, paid $125 room rent and lived in the room four days. He found an apartment with a law student and moved out. Since Justice court handles cases of $100 and less, Slender forfeited $25 as rent for the four days, and sued the University for $100.

At the Justice court trial Wednesday, Justice of the Peace Dennis Sallaz held that the University's dormitory contract was not effective because Slender had not accepted his room.

"The University's contract states that before it is binding, the room has to be acceptable. Even though the contract has been signed it is not necessarily effective when it is signed," Sallaz told the Argonaut yesterday.

Complained
Sallaz said that Slender told the court that he complained that the room was not acceptable as soon as he saw it and that this was the basis for the court's ruling.

The University contends that the contract was signed and the $125 was paid making the contract binding, according to Green.

Green said that the major reason for the appeal was the precedent which the case might set.

"Although the case is individual," he said, "it may have a long range implication. We cannot, for example, have the dormitories become a landing place for some 1,700 students. The scope may be wider, even, than just rental."

Schimke said that the case would be tried before District Court, probably about next spring.

Art Committee Positions Open

Students with art experience or enthusiasm are invited to submit an application for membership on the Art Publicity Committee, according to Bob Stanfield, publicity area director of Activities Council.

The Art Publicity Committee serves as a service agency for the Activities Council committees, supplying art materials and experience, he said.

The committee has extensive facilities and equipment to use, said Stanfield. Their main base of operation is the Arts and Crafts Room of the Student Union Building, which is stocked with extensive art supplies.

A recent acquisition of the committee includes a silk screen machine for producing professional quality posters, he said.

All applications should be turned into either Maun Rudisill, program director of the SUB, or Stanfield.

Regents Meeting Here Friday

The Board of Regents will meet at the University Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Student Reported Doing Satisfactorily After Fall

A 20-year-old University of Idaho student who fell from a second story window at Upham Hall Thursday was reported in satisfactory condition yesterday at Gritman Hospital, although he is not expected to return to school this semester.

Donal O Beckstead, Upham, suffered a concussion, fractured skull and broken upper right arm when he fell 30 feet from a window into a concrete window well. The well is surfaced with crushed rock.

Beckstead was unconscious when taken to the hospital but regained consciousness later Thursday morning.

Assistant Police Chief Elton Walker, in charge of the investigation, stated yesterday that he had not talked to Beckstead yet.

The outlook for Beckstead's complete recovery is quite good, according to his mother, Mrs. Donal O. Beckstead. Beckstead's arm, which had been in a temporary cast, was set yesterday morning. "He seems to be resting very well," said Mrs. Beckstead.

Mrs. Beckstead indicated that she had not yet asked her son definitely as to the cause of the fall. She stated that Beckstead's physician indicated he cannot plan to return to school this semester.

Attempt To Cross
Advisor at Upham, James Jackman, said Thursday that Beckstead apparently did not have a key to his room and

Idaho Folklore Is One Of Many Projects Carried Out At Idaho

The progress of several projects carried out under the Special and General Research programs was summarized in a report by Edgar H. Grahn, executive secretary of the research council recently.

Included in the projects is "Collecting and Archiving Idaho Folklore." The objective of this project is to support continued collecting and archiving of oral traditions in Idaho.

"Survey of Aquatic, Range, and Weed Plants in Idaho" is the focus of study by Dr. W. H. Baker, Biological Sciences. The purpose of this research is to obtain certain fundamental data necessary for the study of weed control.

Indian-Paint Fungus Dr. A. D. Partridge, Dept. of Forest Pathology, is project director of research into "The Indian-Paint Fungus" in Idaho Forests. This project will obtain fundamental data on this fungus, which is a major cause of decay in standing hemlocks and true firs in Idaho, and find possible means for controlling this decay.

Dr. E. E. Tytlutki, Dept. of Biological Sciences, is directing his research to "Common Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms of Idaho." The purpose is to provide collectors with a safe, convenient and practical means of identifying edible and poisonous mushrooms.

Christmas Tree Demand To meet the ever-increasing demand for Idaho Christmas trees, Prof. Franklin Pitkin and Dr. Howard Loewenstein, Dept. of Forest Management, are conducting research into the "Cultural Practices for Improving Quality of Christmas Trees in Idaho."

"Ecology of Rodents and Their Economic Importance in Idaho Range Land" is the topic under consideration by Prof. E. J. Larson, Dept. of Biological Sciences. Results of this project should fill a major gap in the knowledge of economically important factors affecting Idaho's range lands.

Genetic Study One phase of a genetic study designed to develop better forest trees is being carried out by Dr. Chi-Wu-Wang, Dept. of Forest Management, in his project, "Field Test of Ponderosa Pine Progenies."

Juvenile growth of the progenies of the 284 trees selected for the test and their possible relation to see characters will be investigated.

Prof. E. J. Larrison, Dept. of Biological Sciences, is project director for the study of the "Distribution Survey of the Mammals of Idaho." This project will result in adding representative animals to the University's collection and in securing data for publishing adequate descriptions of Idaho mammals.

Food Plant Waste Research into "Food Plant Waste Treatment Processes" is being carried out by Project Director Dr. R. R. Furgason, Dept. of Chemical Engineering.

"Improvement of Tree-Seedling Establishment" is the project for Dr. Howard Loewenstein and Prof. Franklin Pitkin, Dept. of Forest Management. The proposed study will contribute to the store of fundamental knowledge required for the solution of reforestation and tree growth problems.

Prof Issues Invitations To Idaho Water Meet

University Professor C. C. Warnick has issued an invitation for all persons interested in Idaho's water resource problems to attend the first annual Idaho Water Conference in Boise Dec. 15 and 16.

The conference is sponsored by the University's Water Resources Research Institute, Warnick, head of the institute, is chairman.

The University has been working with various water research projects, including the Economics of Water Use, Use in the Field of Water Law and Water Hydrometeorology.

Some of the projects which are dependent upon the outcome of the conference include Consumption Use of Water by Irrigated Crops, Hydrology of Water in Furrows, Snow Hydrology and Telemetering of Hydrologic data, according to Warnick.

"We are very desirous that all persons interested in water resource problems in Idaho be in attendance at the Idaho Water conference," said Warnick.

"Included particularly should be those who are interested in the public policy making and legislative areas. This conference has been designed to serve as a public forum for discussing one of Idaho's most pressing problems," he said.

At the concluding session of the conference at 4 p.m. Dec. 16, presentations may be made from the floor by any interested individual. Written statements will be accepted for the record if presented prior to the closing of the meeting.

Open Forum The open forum will follow an address by W. S. Holden, Idaho Falls, chairman of the Governor's Water committee, on "An Agency for a State Water Plan."

Other major talks during the two-day meeting will be given by Governor Robert E. Smylie; Jay R. Bingham, director, Utah Water and Power board; Donel J. Lane, executive secretary, Oregon State Water Resources board; Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president, University of Idaho; Atty. R. P. Perry, Twin Falls, and Harold R. Nelson, regional director, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Conference delegates will be welcomed by Mayor Eugene W. Shellworth of Boise.

Idaho Scientists Solving Problem University agriculture scientists are solving the challenge of a new insect invader — the mint flea beetle through the use of insecticides and crop rotation.

The insect was found for the first time in Idaho last summer and was officially identified in October, according to Norman Waters, an entomologist at the Parma branch experiment station.

Specimens were collected in several fields of southwestern Idaho where most of the state's relatively small acreage of mint is grown, he said.

Foreign Trade Institute Rep. To Visit University

Robert L. Gulick, Jr., Dean of Admissions for the American Institute for Foreign Trade, will visit the Idaho campus Dec. 18 to discuss career problems and possibilities with students, according to Sidney W. Miller, placement coordinator.

Dean Gulick recently returned to America after spending more than a decade in Libya and North Africa. His career has included several years as lecturer in the Institute of Economics, University of California, Berkeley.

Former Economist Previously he was an economist with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, New York City, and a U. S. Customs Officer at San Francisco, said Miller.

Students may make appointments through the Placement Office, he said.

Eighteen Idaho alumni have completed studies at the American Institute for Foreign Trade, a graduate school of world business, said Miller.

Three of these include, Ronald Baker, of CARE, Inc., in Guatemala; Gervase A. Misner, Jr., of Rohm and Haas, in India; and Charles N. Swain, of Air America, Inc., in Thailand.

Emphasize Three Fields The language classes are emphasizes three main fields, language (Spanish, Portuguese, and French), area studies, and world trade and banking, said Miller.

The language classes are taught by native teachers using the most advanced methods, and are limited to eight students, he said.

"The placement record is astonishing," said Miller. "Of students available for employment in 1965, 92 per cent of the January class and 88 per cent of the May class were placed before graduation."

"The salaries received by the graduates, together with special allowances for foreign service, run appreciably higher than the average given to personnel having a year of graduate training," he said.

Nickel cokes and coffee will be available in the SUB for all those who have "Victory Mixer" tickets.

Dear Jason? Wisdom? Concerning Mr. Tway's comment about faculty members: I don't see how an undergraduate student could possibly have the 5 to 8 years or more of education needed to intelligently "paraphrase" his books. Reading is one thing, but reading with comprehension is another. Also, what separates an undergraduate faculty member from a graduate faculty member? In most cases, faculty members teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. All I can assume is that the 1-3 of the faculty members who do not paraphrase their books also are the only ones who teach graduate courses, and this is not so. In addition, it is probably correct to say that 90 per cent or more of the faculty paraphrase their book, and not without their reason. Miss Wenzel's comment is equally as empty as the classrooms about which she is talking. Students owe it to themselves, not to their instructor, to learn as much as they possibly can, and not merely to make the instructor "feel wanted" by attending his class. Ed. Note: Mr. Tway's and Miss Wenzel's comments appeared in the "We were wondering" Column of the Arg. Dec. 1.

Firesides, Hunting Are Holiday Season Events

Firesides are the main functions of living groups during this holiday season. Some prefer bough hunting, however.

HAYS HALL
Sunday evening Hays held its Christmas Fireside. The girls and their escorts sang Christmas carols and danced.

Theater Planned After Difficulties

After production difficulties forced the cancellation of the program, the Readers Theater will present the works of James Agee, Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Burning Stake, according to James Norell, off campus, producer and director. The presentation was originally scheduled last week in the Borah Theater, he said.

"The difficulty arose from a misunderstanding concerning the use of lighting facilities at the Borah Theater. Through a mix up in proper channels, the group was deprived of four spotlights considered essential in the performance," he said.

Purpose
The purpose of the program is to gain an insight into the Agee's philosophy, according to Travers Huff, composer for the program.

"Confidence is still high in the group that a Readers Theater can be established at Idaho, preferably within the framework of the University, but if necessary on an independent basis," said Norell.

Ronald Dilonzo, English professor, will be present at the presentation Friday night to discuss James Agee and the Readers' Theater, he said.

A QUEEN AND A DREAM — two girls were honored by men's living groups this weekend. Barbara Hayden, Gamma Phi, was crowned Theta Chi Dream Girl Friday and Carol Hervey, Forney, was named Gault Hall Snow Queen Saturday.

Theta Chis Pick Hayden As First Dream Girl

The first Theta Chi Dream Girl at the University, Barbara Hayden, Gamma Phi, was crowned Saturday night at the annual Dream Girl Ball.

Each of five finalists received a box of roses during the dance. Four of the candidates received white roses and Miss Hayden received the red roses.

Traveling Trophy
Miss Hayden will receive a traveling trophy during a serenade later this week, according to Dennis Samer, Theta Chi, contest chairman. She will also be presented with the Sweetheart pin, he said.

The four finalists for the contest were Cheri Moltke, Pi Phi; Barbara Mason, Kappa; Lynn Murray, Theta and Gloria Nelson, Houston.

The Dream Girl Ball was preceded by a semi-formal banquet in the Student Union.

Chaperones for the dance were Mr. Philip Coffman, instructor of music, and Mrs. Coffman; Dean and Mrs. Decker; the Rev. Lee Davis, campus Episcopal minister, and Mrs. Davis; Mrs. Vesta Doggett, housemother; Dr. Fred Winkler, professor of history; and

Federal Extension Head Speaks To University Staff

Lloyd Davis, administrator of the federal extension service, Washington, D.C., told the University agricultural extension staff at the annual conference here last week there is challenge in helping people use their opportunities to develop resources in a dynamic agriculture. "If we in extension have any responsibility, and we do," Davis said, "it is to help people see their opportunities and learn the skills to keep up with the pace of rapid change. If agriculture is to maintain its place in the competitive battle the answers must come relatively quickly and accurately."

"Staying up to date is vital. We have an equally important challenge to adjust the entire rural community to the dynamic situation brought about by the agricultural revolution," he said.

Developing Capabilities
"Our area is developing the capabilities of people. The key is program planning involving leadership by local people."

C. O. Youngstrom, associate director of the Idaho extension service, outlined programs of emphasis for the coming year.

Research workers and resident teaching personnel had a separate meeting on functions of experiment stations.

Deadline Is Set For Scholarships

A scholarship program for graduate students in Asian American affairs has been created by the East-West Center, Honolulu, Hawaii, a national institution established for better East-West relationships.

American students who are interested must major in a field keyed to Asia or the Pacific in subject matter and in language study. Courses will be given principally at the University of Hawaii, with an opportunity for qualified students to take a field study in Asia or the Pacific area.

Applicants for 1965 scholarships should submit their completed applications and credentials by no later than Dec. 15.

Approximately 100 scholarships are awarded annually to American graduate students. The two year awards provide for tuition books, health insurance, and travel to and from Hawaii.

The East-West Center's administrative and residence halls are located on the University of Hawaii campus.

A GIRL AND A MISS!

Miss America steps out on campus in the high-stepping Oldsmobile 442

If you can tear your eyes off pretty Vonda Kay Van Dyke for a moment, we'd like to tell you about the car: Oldsmobile's new 4-4-2. Earns its name from a 400-cu.-in., 345-bhp V-8 . . . 4-barrel carb . . . and twin pipes. Red-line tires, heavy-duty suspension, three transmission availabilities liven up the package—no matter which F-85 V-8 coupe or convertible you pick for your 4-4-2 action! But the real clincher is price: 4-4-2 prices start lower than any other high-performance car in America designed for everyday driving! Vonda, by the way, is not included. But that's no problem for a tiger like you!

Watch for the 4-4-2 . . . coming to your Oldsmobile Quality Dealer's soon!

Vandals Drop Two In Southwest Vandal Cage Star

The Idaho Vandal hoop squad played its fourth game of the new 1964-65 season last night against San Jose at San Jose, Calif. to conclude a three game playing tour of the Southwest.

Idaho went into the game last night with a 1-2 mark. The results of the California clash were not known at press time, but the pre-game mark resulted from an opening win over rival Washington State and two losses on the road.

Saturday's night game against the Santa Barbara Gauchos wound up with the Vandals on the bottom end of a 76-68 score after leading by 10 points late in the second half.

Skalfe Hot

Idaho was led to an early lead by the hot touch of Jerry Skalfe, who took high point honors for the Vandals with 19. Tom Lee was high for the game with 31 points in the Gauchos scoring column.

Tom Moreland was number two man for Idaho with 16 points, while John Rucker was third with 12.

The 31 points was only a single tally away from being an all time mark for Santa Barbara. The win gave UCSB a 2-0 mark.

Nevada Takes Idaho

Even though the Vandals were fresh from dumping the Cougars in the season opener they could not seem to gather together a smooth attack as the smaller Wolfpack of Nevada upset the silver and gold 69-63.

Idaho opened the game slowly and held a slim lead through most of the game, but in the final minutes of play an over aggressive press by the Vandal resulted in too many personal fouls.

Nevada took advantage of the fouls and won the game from the charity stripe.

Tom Moreland was high point Vandal with 16. Mike Wicks was second with 11, followed by Jerry Skalfe's 10 points.

The net Vandal action will be at Eugene, Ore., against the Ducks Friday night at 8 p.m.

Finmen Set New Record Four Nights Remain In IM Volleyball

With only four nights of volleyball action remaining before the play offs begin, little time is left for teams to improve on their records.

Willis Sweet-2 kept top spot in League 1 with a 15-5 and 15-9 win over TMA-2 Thursday. Campus Club-2 beat Chrisman 2, 15-5, 16-14; Gault-2 took Borah-2, 15-11; Upham-2, collected a win from McConnell-2 on a forfeit; while Lindley-2 squeezed past Shoup-2, 15-2, 11-15, and 15-11.

In further action Chrisman beat Campus Club 15-5, 15-8; Willis Sweet won over TMA by a forfeit; Lindley took Shoup 15-2, 15-4; Borah edged Gault 18-20, 15-9, 15-10; and Upham defeated McConnell 15-11 and 16-14.

The scoring for the Vandals resulted from the record setting race by Bob Winn, Kris Kirkland, Karl VonTagen, and Fritz VonTagen; plus seconds in the 400 yard backstroke relay in 4:09.3; the 400 yard breaststroke and butterfly relay in 4:46.5; the 800 yard freestyle relay in 8:52.4; the 200 yard medley relay in 1:54.7; and the 400 yard medley relay in 4:23.8.

The third place finish was only hundredths of a second out of second in the 400 yard individual medley relay race. The time was 4:40.

The next meet slated for the swim team will be against Whitworth College in Spokane Jan. 9 at 10 a.m.

Is NBA'S Wonder Boy

By JIM PETERSEN Sports Writer

Great strength . . . tremendous ability . . . quick hands . . . fine shooting touch . . . instinctive defensive ability Put them all together and they make up Gus Johnson, former Vandal cage wonder and now in his second season with the Baltimore Bullets.

No doubt, a large portion of the capacity crowd that used to pack the University of Idaho gymnasium to see Gus in action, still hold vivid memories of the somewhat unbelievable court antics of this giant of the basketball world.

Many were the times when Idaho fans left Memorial Gymnasium with looks of disbelief written across their faces . . . And understandably so. For how often, in the basketball games that are being played on any collegiate court anywhere, does one see a man leap high above the groping arms of his opponents, clear the boards, and then, while still airborne, pass the ball to a teammate at the far end of the court — behind his back no less?

Or, if that isn't enough, just how often does one see a player grab a rebound off the backboard and, once again still in mid-air, slam it down a rd through the hoop like a volleyball spike shot?

So it went with the colorfulness and aggressiveness that became Johnson trademarks at the University of Idaho — trademarks that have served to make him one of the most talked about cagers in Vandal booster circles, or wherever fans get together to talk about the collegiate "greats" they have seen.

In spite of the fact that Johnson donned the Idaho white and gold for only one season, he did manage to capture two individual season rebound records. He grabbed the most rebounds in a single season (446), and he finished second in the nation in rebounding with a 20.3 per game average.

And, so it has gone with Johnson since he left to join the NBA pro ranks after the Vandal's 1963 season. Now, at the start of his second professional season, he is being hailed as one of the finest players to enter the professional ranks in years and one of the game's superstars of the future.

Honeycomb ("Coach Cipriano at Idaho gave me that name because he say I'h sooo sweet," says Johnson) has the kind of sense of humor and determination that led him to two colleges, one junior college and a season of AAU ball before he joined the Bullets as the number two draft choice last season.

Johnson and 6-11 center Walt Bellamy are the only two men from last year's team who are being counted on as regulars. Gus is also being counted on to help keep the team "loose."

The 6-6, 240 pound hunk of muscle broke into the league last season in tremendous fashion. He scored 17.3 points per game, rebounded at a 12.4 per game clip and played fine defense against the toughest forwards in the league night in and night out.

He was second to Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas in the Rookie of the Year voting, and his head to head duels with Lucas were the talk of the league.

The 25-year-old Akron, Ohio, native scored his professional high of 40 points on Feb. 3, 1964. Since then, he has scored between 30 and 40 points five different times, and between 20 and 30 points in 21 different games.

Now that Gus has entered the realm of the pros, the behind the back full court pass and the spike have come to be somewhat commonplace. However, he has added a new touch to his book of tricks. Now, much to the disgust of opposing team equipment managers, he brings screaming basketball fans to their feet by demolishing backboards and bending rims beyond repair. — That's our Gus.

Feature Physical Fitness Key To Athletic Success

By STAN MUSIAL Special Consultant to the President on Physical Fitness

I guess a lot of people still think athletes are born, not made — that they just grow up knowing how to hit curveballs, run pass patterns or shoot baskets. I can't speak for all the others, but it wasn't that way for me. I was fortunate enough to inherit a healthy constitution and good coordination, but I had to work for a lot of the things that made me a major leaguer.

Today's kids have to spend a lot more time studying and doing their homework than we did, and I don't think many of us would want to change that.

They also have television and a lot of other distractions we didn't have. There's probably a housing development or a new office building on the lot where you used to play baseball or football.

You could play certain sports every day and not get in top condition. For instance, baseball requires good speed and skill, but you spend a lot of time standing around. Players don't get in shape just by playing. It takes the kind of systematic exercise you get in calisthenics or gymnastics to build strong, vigorous bodies. This is something every child — and every adult should have.

Varsity sports play an important and welcome role in our national life, but I hope the day will never come when most of us are in the stands and only a few are on the field.

"GREAT GUS" — Gus (Honeycomb) Johnson, former Vandal great and now a star forward for the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association, demonstrates his acute ball-handling ability.
