

ASUI, Moscow Host Student Day Events

All-campus "New Student Days" activities are continuing this morning with the beginning of classes for new and returning students Thursday at the University of Idaho. The "before" and "after" registration events are co-sponsored by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce and the ASUI, with a Saturday night dance serving as highlight of the three-week observance.

Judd Kenworthy, president of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, said that the dance, which will be held in the Student Union Ballroom, is to be hosted by the Chamber's Student Business Relations Committee.

Music for the dance which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. will be provided by the "Shadows", Kenworthy will welcome new and returning upperclass students prior to intermission. Upcoming student days festivities include a pre-game rally Friday at 8 p.m.; the Idaho-San Jose football game, Saturday at 2 p.m. in the football stadium; and a SUB Open House, from 7:30 to 12 p.m., Saturday night.

Newly-registered international students will be hosted at a conference all day Sunday at the SUB as Moscow churches honor students with a "University Sunday" service. Campus religious groups have slated their first meetings that evening.

The university campus will take its turn at welcoming international students the following Wednesday, with an open house at 7 p.m. in the SUB. Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 5:30 p.m. is the time set aside by the Women's Recreational Association for their presentation of "Coed Capers" held at the Arboretum. It is an introduction to Women's Recreational Association activities. A TV presentation followed by a question and answer session, in the form of the New Student-Faculty forums, will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 7 p.m.

'Oklahoma' Production Set at U-I

Tryouts for the all-university musical production, "Oklahoma," will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at the University Auditorium announced Edmund Chavez, technical director for the production.

Any regularly enrolled member of Associated Students of the University of Idaho is eligible to tryout. It was emphasized, by Chavez, that all interested persons, with or without special talent or experience, are urged to try out and a quality singing voice is not necessary. Singing tryouts will be conducted from 9 to 11 a.m. Acting and dancing tryouts are from 11 a.m. to noon. A cast of 32 will be chosen.

Long Time
"Oklahoma," written by Richard Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein, will be the first musical production on campus since "Lil' Abner" five years ago. The production is being done in conjunction with the music department.

Charles Walton is the music director, Jean Collette, of the drama department, will direct and Chavez is technical advisor.

Not Complex
Singers are asked to prepare a song from the show for the tryouts or speak to Walton if singing another selection. The dancing is not highly complex, said Chavez. Dancers should wear clothes in which they can easily move.

Fred Scheibe, graduate student, will do the choreography. He has danced professionally in New York and in night club circuits.

Production dates for "Oklahoma" are Nov. 4, 5 and 6. Tryouts should be over in plenty of time for the football game, said Chavez.

UCC Is Ready; New Dorms Full

New housing and classroom facilities are being used this fall to help accommodate an expected record number of about 5,700 students.

Not yet fully completed, the University Classroom Center presently has a classroom seating capacity of 1,705 students.

The modern, concrete and brick structure also includes the Office of Student Affairs and Counseling which was formerly in the administration annex and the temporary buildings.

The photographic center and the visual aid centers will also be located in the building.

In planning for this building said Kenneth Dick, financial vice president, we looked for a building that would best accommodate both students and professors. Dick said that he felt that the new center does this.

Dick added that after looking at many plans and visiting various campuses it was decided that the best classroom is one in which the environment is controlled by the professor.

NO WINDOWS

The classrooms, therefore, do not have any windows. All rooms are air conditioned and many of them have visual aid facilities which will be operated by the professor.

The professor will be able to control by a flip of a switch slides and movies. The projectors will be outside of the classroom. A panic button is also provided should anything go wrong which would signal electricians.

Rush Ends; Many Taken

A record number of 185 women and 374 men pledged the University's nine sororities and 17 fraternities Friday at the end of rush week.

Last year 160 women and 827 men pledged, according to Dean of Women, Mrs. Marjorie Neely and associate dean of students, Guy P. Wicks.

Women's rush started Sunday, Sept. 12, and men's rush started the next day.

"Rushing is a week for you to meet members of each sorority and for them to know you," wrote Mrs. Neely in her early instruction to rushees.

The week was composed of a series of parties given by the that both the rushees and the actives could get to know each other.

All fraternities and sororities on campus are national organizations. (For the names of pledges see page 4.)

U of I Registration Climbs Higher Campus Dormitories Overflow

Moscow Hotel Houses More Than 50 Men

An underestimated number of students enrolling in the University is causing housing facilities to overflow at the University.

Registration is expected to climb over the estimated 5,500 mark, according to Dean Charles Decker, dean of students.

Women students have filled the former men's residence, Shoup Hall, the new Wallace complex, renamed Campbell, Houston, and Carter, and have also been moving into Pine Hall.

Men's dormitories have been filled, fraternities have taken capacity numbers of new freshmen, and about 70 men have been signed for temporary residence in the Moscow Hotel.

According to Decker, the problem began at mid-summer when 150 more women applied for registration than had been expected.

At this time Shoup Hall was authorized to be opened for women, but women's rush showed 50 to 75 over its capacity, so Pine Hall was also re-opened.

Women's rush left over 75 women who also had to be housed.

Women students appear to be headed for a record enrollment this year, with a possibility of the number going beyond the record estimated figure of 1,850, Dean of Women Marjorie M. Neely commented.

Nearly 250 more women than last year appear, headed for registration lines.

This brings the ratio of women to men at Idaho to 1 to 2.06 this year.

There is an expected 1,900 new students, freshmen and transfers, according to Frank Young, director of admissions.

U-I Sees New Record Enrollment

A record 2,868 students have enrolled at the close of yesterday's first day of registration, according to Publications and Information Director Rafe Gibbs.

This number shows a sizeable increase over last years enrollment figure for that date of 2,295.

Gibbs said the total enrollment number is now expected to reach over 5,700

There are about 1,600 freshmen students, he said.

The 70 men who are being housed in the Moscow Hotel are under supervision of Interfraternity Council and a faculty committee, according to Decker. Arrangements have also been made for the men to eat at the various men's dormitories.

There will be men councilors appointed from IFC to live with the men until permanent housing can be arranged, according to Decker.

There is no immediate solution to the dormitory problem, according to Kenneth A. Dick, University Financial Vice President. The next dorm to be completed will not be until the fall of 1967, he said.

The next dorm will be an addition to the Wallace Complex, and will be started in the spring of 1966. It will house 350 women students.

Enrollment at Washington State University has reached a total of 9,735 this year.

U-I Student Is Charged In Shooting

The death of a University student, Donald O. Dickinson, on Saturday has resulted in charge of involuntary manslaughter for Jeffrey J. Hubert, also a student.

Hubert was identified by Shoshone County law enforcement officers as the person who fired the shot during a hunting trip near Wallace Saturday. Hubert told officers that Dickinson was still in camp when he began his search for elk. He said it was near daybreak when he took his rifle and left the campsite. Hubert told officers he heard a noise, saw movement in the brush and fired. The bullet from the .270 caliber rifle pierced Dickinson's chest. Following the shooting, Hubert notified members of a second party of hunters who in turn reported the happening to the authorities.

Dickinson's bride, the former Gail Fluharty also a University student, was with the party at the time of the accident.

Shoshone County Prosecuting Attorney Richard Magnuson filed the charge against Hubert and said that he will be arraigned later this week. Hubert is a graduate student at the University and is working toward his master's degree.

New Staff Members Announced For '65-'66

A number of new faculty members have been appointed at the University during the past month, following approval of the Board of Regents. Dr. Floyd C. Tolleson, Jr., a member of the University English staff for ten years was recently named chairman of English and acting head of humanities. Tolleson succeeds Dr. William B. Hunter, Jr., who resigned to serve at Macalester college, St. Paul, Minn.

A native of Stroud, Okla., Tolleson was graduated from the University of Washington in 1936, and also holds master and doctoral degrees from that institution. An authority on Victorian literature, he has also done advanced work at the University of Southern California. Prior to joining the University of Idaho faculty, he taught at Washington State university. During World War II, he served in the Army, and holds the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

Dr. Lalia Phipps Boone was named professor of English. She has a B.A. degree from East Texas State college; M.A., University of Oklahoma, and Ph.D., University of Florida, where she has been a member of the faculty since 1949.

Lieut. Colonel William D. Thompson was appointed professor of aerospace studies. A graduate of the University of Alaska, he is a World War II veteran.

Assistant Professors

New assistant professors include: Economics — Alan S. Dewey, who has had extensive banking experience, and has been completing his doctoral studies at Washington State university. He is a graduate of Hastings college in Nebraska. Horticulture — Donald R. Heinicke, who has taught at the University of Wisconsin and done research for the Canadian Department of Agriculture. He holds a B.S. degree from Oklahoma A&M college, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Maryland.

Music — Ronald E. Wise, who is completing doctoral studies at the University of Wisconsin. He has a B.M. degree from the Eastman School of Music and a master's from the Yale School of Music, and has taught at Wittenberg univers-

Regents Approve Faculty Additions

Dr. Edgar H. Grahn was appointed assistant dean of the Graduate school by for m e r

President D. R. Theophilus this summer, following regents approval.

Grahn, professor of chemistry and executive secretary of the Research council, will aid Dr. Melbourne Jackson, the new dean of the school. On July 1, Jackson will succeed Dr. L. C. Cady, retiring.

Promoted to associate professor and named acting head of the department of languages, September 1, was Dr. Carlton L. Iiams. He succeeds Dr. Eugene E. Reed, who requested that he be relieved of administrative duties next fall to devote full time to teaching.

New appointments include Dr. John Baptist Sita, a linguist, who will teach Spanish as an assistant professor, but also speaks fluently Italian, Latin, Portuguese, French, Russian, German and Greek. A native of Turin, Italy, Sita is a graduate of College Liceo Balbo, Turin, and holds his doctorate from the University of Venice, Italy. Now on the faculty of the University of California, he has also taught at the University of Texas, and at the University of (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

REGISTRATION TIME — Registration began again yesterday as a record number of students went through the enrollment process. Registration is expected to exceed 5,500 and reach at most 5,600. More students will continue through the registration lines today and classes will begin tomorrow at 8 a. m. M ore IBM cards also have been added to student packets.

Smylie Challenges Frosh Convocation

A challenge was given to an estimated 2,000 freshmen students Sunday night by Governor Robert E. Smylie in an annual convocation message.

Giving an address which he said he hoped "would stick awhile," Smylie said he hoped the class of 1969 "lasts that long."

Smylie stressed that the great problem is higher education today is "to educate our students as fast as we are developing our technology and our computers" and that the State of Idaho "stands on the threshold of a tremendous advance."

Introduced by the new university president, Dr. Ernest Hartung, Smylie outlined the university's growth from 1892 through today. He was the first governor in the University's history to speak at such a convocation.

He compared the university's possible capacity of 5500 this year to its beginning enrollment of 42 freshmen long ago. He said the 76 years of the University's service have been an investment in education by the people of Idaho, and the aspirations and achievements of generations of students.

"Education should not cease for you when you turn in your rented cap and gown. It should go on and on," he said.

Smylie quoted statistics compiled by the University of Michigan which show why students attend college. Seventy-two per cent of the men students, he said, attend to get training for a good job after graduation.

Of the women, 56 per cent attend to obtain job training, he added. Seven per cent, he said, stress a chance to meet a potential marriage partner. "It is said that some women go to college to kill two birds with one stone. That is not true. They don't want to kill either. They just want to marry one of them," Smylie joked.

The Republican governor stressed that the main thing we should all learn to do is "handle the materialism around us, and still remain free."

Among the fifteen other dignitaries on the stage with Smylie were the deans of the various colleges and the University's Financial Vice President, Kenneth A. Dick.

Reverend Donald R. Yates gave the invocation and benediction, and a vocal solo number was presented by Fred Schoepflin.

'Gems' Available In Lobby of SUB

The 1964-65 Gem of the Mountains will be available to students this morning in the ASUI Office of the Student Union Building.

The office will be open at 8 a.m. according to Maun Rudisill, Student Union program advisor. The annuals will be available at that time.

Welcome Students

Dear Students:

To all new and returning students a most hearty welcome. The year ahead promises to be a significant one for the University and I hope that it will also be one of significance for each of you. We are bigger and better equipped than ever before in our history. Whether we become better academically too, will depend to a large measure on the earnestness with which you approach your scholastic responsibilities and the attention you give to your classes. I hope you all will put this high on your personal priority lists so that we may realize the University's fullest potential in all areas. Good luck and my sincere good wishes to you all.

ASUI Issues Welcome

From The Student Government
On behalf of the Associated Students, I would like to welcome both the new and returning students to the campus. For the new students, you are about to begin four of the most challenging and enjoyable years of your life. You will meet and make new friends from many parts of the United States.

During your college career, you will become quite close to these people and later may work with many of them. Even though the first days on campus might seem quite hectic, you will soon get into the daily living of college life. The orientation program that is sponsored by the New Student Days Committee along with the excellent programs presented by the individual living groups will quickly familiarize you with the campus.

Your first real challenge will be to excel academically. When you have started to master this challenge, I would urge you to join one of the many clubs and organizations on campus. Periodically there are committee tryouts in which many of you will be interested. Our university is set up so that every student has the opportunity to participate in its functioning, and I encourage you to take advantage of this opportunity. To the returning students, you have been here in past years and are well acquainted with the University. As you know we have a new president this year. Dr. Hartung is a very outstanding individual and I feel that we are quite fortunate to have him. New Classrooms

This year we also have the new University Classroom Center and the new addition to the Wallace Complex. Under construction is the new Art and Architecture Building which will be a useful and beautiful addition to our campus. As the year progresses, you will probably have many questions concerning student government. I would be happy to answer these questions or help you in any way possible. Every Tuesday evening the Executive Board meets at 7 p.m. in the E-Board room of the Student Union Building. The board members will also be most happy to help you in any way possible. I would like to wish you the best of luck in the coming year. Feel free to drop in and see me at any time. Sincerely,
Bill McCann, ASUI president.

Hartung: Profile

Dr. Ernest Hartung—the man everyone is watching. And there is good reason why they should. He's placing students on faculty committees and has issued statements which will make some faculty members uneasy. But in every shuffle of power there are bound to be some changes which will lessen the status and control of certain persons while elevating that of others. This footwork behind the scenes would probably be the most interesting story of the year if it could be printed. What is important though is the new philosophy of this "intellectual" president of the University of Idaho. "Teaching must be attuned more to the thrust of times," Dr. Hartung told the faculty in his first address to the group. "The faculty should be more involved in major academic decision making."

"I'm Convinced"
"I am convinced that my job is to do everything I can to make it possible for you, the faculty, to develop the University of Idaho into the most useful and significant social machine possible." He pointed out that the three main functions of a university—teaching, research, and publication—are faculty functions, and that the main thrust of the institution should be through the faculty. "The function of the administration is primarily to enable the faculty to do what it should do," he said. To advance higher education one should first be certain of the nature of the questions of the times before trying to come up with the answers. He gave three goals for today's faculties of institutions of higher learning:

1. To examine university teaching in terms of their own work to be sure that they are telling the students what has relevance to the problems of today.
2. To give more attention to real communication between faculty and student body so as to be more sensitive to the needs of the students.
3. To assume more responsibility in academic decision making coupled with avoidance of involvement in minutiae of administration.

This new philosophy, if it may be termed new, will put the faculty on its toes but it should also provide professor with the initiative and incentive to inspire students. Hartung came to the U-I from the University of Rhode Island where he was vice president. He has appeared as an authority before the U. S. Senate Subcommittee on the bill for a National Institute of Arts and Humanities, and before the House Subcommittee in Health, Education and Welfare. At the later hearing, he testified on the development of legislation which ultimately has been classified as the Older Americans Act.

Dartmouth Graduate
Holding an A.B. degree from Dartmouth College and A.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University, Hartung served as a fellow at Harvard and Radcliffe and as an instructor at the University of Vermont before joining the University of Rhode Island faculty in 1948. At Rhode Island, he rapidly worked his way up from assistant professor to professor, then to head of the department of zoology, dean of the Graduate School and coordinator of research, academic vice president, and vice president.

Prior to starting his duties as president of the University of Idaho on Aug. 1, Dr. and Mrs. Hartung and their three children vacationed on the West Coast. They will live on University Heights at Moscow this year. Architectural plans are now being developed for a presidential house to be built by the University on Nez Perce Drive. This is the man everyone is watching. —L.W.J.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason

Guess what! It's going to be a great year! And no one can claim that it is nothing but woman's intuition. In the first place, we have more and better students than ever before. Our new president, Dr. Ernest Hartung, has brought new life into our administration. The football team looks great, better than in many years. Even the financial situation is looking up.

Togetherness

It is with interest that we read that Dr. Hartung and Dr. William E. Davis, president of Idaho State University, intend to appear jointly before the Board of Regents with their monthly business. We hope that the joint consultations will help eliminate much of the lack of communication which has characterized relations between the institutions in the past. Far more cooperation and far fewer regional misunderstandings could result if the attempt is carried out in good faith.

Still Problems Arise

Of course, there are still problems . . . too many students and no prospects for more dormitory space next fall; a rush system which is becoming more cruel simply because it cannot expand rapidly enough to take in all of the men and women who desire to become a part of the fraternity system; a system of student government which seems unsatisfactory and unrepresentative to some.

The Argonaut, by the way, is looking forward to a great year. Our staff is more experienced than it was last year. We hope to fill our news space with objectively reported news to the best of the staff's ability. All students with ideas, gripes, or constructive criticisms are invited to "air" their views in the Argonaut office.

Argonaut Policy

All letters to Jason (the present editor) which are not libelous or endangering to the livelihood of the Argonaut will be printed. Letters must not be over 500 words and must be signed. Our staff this year is looking forward to providing interesting and in-depth information for the benefit of the students at the University.

This, the Golden Fleece column, is strictly the opinions of the present editor. Next semester the Golden Fleece will be written by Leo Jeffres, now associate editor of the Argonaut. We would like to explain that the Fleece does not and will not necessarily reflect the views of the University or anyone, other than Jason himself.

Again, Welcome

Again, may we wish you a welcome to the University of Idaho. We hope you receive the "quality education" spoken about by Governor Smylie on Sunday evening at the convocation. We also hope you read the Argonaut and if you have a gripe drop down for a cup of coffee and we'll hash it out.

Dorm Loan Granted

The University Board of Regents meeting at Boise, approved a loan agreement for $1,300,000 with the U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency for construction of a fourth dormitory unit of the Wallace Residence Center. Dr. Ernest W. Hartung said. This unit, which will house 315 single men students when finished in the fall of 1967, will complete the center for more than a thousand students. As with all dormitories at the university, the financing is provided by Regents' bonds to be paid off from revenue.

THE 1965 GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS

will be distributed Wednesday morning, September 22, beginning at 9:00 a.m. GEMS will be given out each day from 9:00 - 11:45 and from 1:10 to 4:00, and may be picked up in the Student Union Lobby. Students must get their own books and positive identification is required (preferably last year's I.D. card).

GEM mailings will not be taken until Monday, September 27 and will be taken in the General Manager's office after 12:00 noon.

U-I Student Funeral Held

Funeral services were held Tuesday for former University student Donald O. Dickinson of Rupert.

Dickinson, a senior soils major, died of a wound suffered in a hunting accident near Avery, Idaho September 18. He is survived by wife, the former Gail Fluharty of Moscow and his mother, Mrs. Helen C. Dickinson, of Rupert.

Mrs. Dickinson was with her husband's hunting party when the accident occurred.

He was a resident of Gault Hall, and held a Pacific Northwest Food Association scholarship.

Services were held in the Moscow Methodist church. Committal services will be held Thursday at Shoshone, Idaho.

Officiating the ceremony was the Rev. Raynor Smith. Pallbearers were Truman Kutz, Darrell Clapp, Allen Shedrud, Stan Anderson, Dave Shaw and Robert Tanaka.

RESIDENT STUDENTS

ACADEMIC YEAR

University of Idaho Enrollment

Jason & His Argonauts

Welcome to the University of Idaho Argonaut! Students of mythology will recognize an Argonaut as one of Jason's sailors aboard the good ship Argo. Searching for the Golden Fleece, they sailed on as here at Idaho you will find Jason, in his column, the Golden Fleece, searching for the truth on matters of student interest.

The Argonaut is the oldest publication in continuous service in the Inland Empire. It first appeared in November, 1898, and now serves the campus as a bi-weekly. Anyone interested in working on the Argonaut is encouraged to visit its SUB office and the staff will be willing to help you in any way possible.

There are opportunities for work as a reporter, photographer, on the night staff, copy staff, mailing staff, sports staff, or advertising staff.

The Argonaut was first published under the title of University Argonaut. Since there were other University publications using the title of "Argonaut," it was later changed to the present heading of Idaho Argonaut in order to gain more recognition.

This first copy was actually a small magazine six inches wide and nine inches long and included 32 pages in all. A large picture of the old Administration building filled about half of the cover. Below this picture was placed its motto: "Good morals, good education, good government."

G. W. Wolfe, first editor of the Arg, started out with a staff of one and a capital backing of $25. When the first publication was printed, however, he had organized a staff of four assistant editors, one each from the senior, junior, sophomore and freshmen classes, and 12 correspondents to "scoop the news."

At this time the Arg was a monthly publication and received its revenue from a subscription fee of one dollar per year and a charge of 10 cents per copy for the faculty. Included in the first issue were articles on politics, both University and national, on international news, and on University fields such as mining and agriculture. Even at this early period of the U of I Argonaut, it featured many stories on social and athletic functions, human interest articles and a section headed "University News."

Editors of the Argonaut have been referred to as Jason since the organization of the publication in 1899. Early editors restricted their comments to a few editorials on pages 2 and 3. The name "The Golden Fleece by Jason" appeared for the first time in an issue dated Dec. 4, 1934. It was located on page 1, column 1 until it was moved to the editorial page in recent years.

In the spring of 1949 the "Idaho Argonaut" had completed fifty years of continuous service to its readers. The story of the Argonaut is a story of growth and progress. The paper was born during one war and has lived through two more. More than 60 "Jasons" have guided the Argonaut through five decades of publications. More than a thousand students have served on its staff. The Idaho Argonaut is the oldest student publication in continuous service in the Inland Empire.

Many times the women of the University have led the Argonaut onward. From 1920 to 1940 the Christmas edition was published by women. This practice was started by 12 ambitious ladies and the issue was known as "The Coed Argonaut." Many recipes and gossip columns were placed on the front-page.

This year will see many innovations on the Argonaut. Most of the staffers from last year have returned and with them fresh ideas and enthusiasm. In the next few issues will see: the premier of the "Arg Forum," commentaries on current events, staff reviews of U-I plays, concerts, recitals, TV programs, films and stage productions, literary reviews of such controversial books as "Tropic of Cancer," and "Candy."

Another innovation of the Argonaut this year is a special magazine supplement to be included within the paper. The new addition will be headed by last year's Arg Editor Fred Freeman.

The 1965-66 Executive Board made a good beginning but the Argonaut will be watching and informing students of what progress they make. Congratulations and criticisms will fall with their every step. We hope that through a more informed more critical student body that "apathy" will fall by the wayside and the Board will be better for it.

This should be an eventful year for the ASUI, U of I, and the Argonaut.

DENVER, Colo. AP — Former world's heavyweight boxing champion Charles Sonny Liston pleaded guilty Monday to following too closely in an Aug. 1 auto accident. He was fined $30.

Police said Liston rammed the rear of another auto which was slowing to turn into a parking lot.

VIET NAM AP — The Red Chinese regime has been acting like a gambler who wants to hedge his bets. Its prudence is coming to the fore, as if Peking were preparing to back away from a general Asian crisis. Last Thursday, Peking delivered what could be regarded only as an ultimatum to India to dismantle military installations along important passes on the China-Sikkim border. Later, the Chinese apparently had second thoughts. Peking seemed willing, and even anxious, to see India and Pakistan involved in protracted conflict which would add to the general confusion and chaos in Asia. Perhaps, however, both India and Pakistan were losing some of their enthusiasm for a war neither could afford.

SUB Art Display Features Dunn's Landscape Paintings

"The thing I enjoy most," reflected Prof. Alf Dunn, Art department, "is the kind of glow that comes after something has worked out better for the artist than he had expected."

Professor Alf Dunn, who has taught at the University of Idaho since 1941, currently has a watercolor display at the Student Union Building. The paintings, which were previously on display at a four man show in the Boise Art Gallery, will remain on display in the SUB until September 30. Professor Dunn said that landscape painting is a relatively recent field. "The current art movement," he said, "is a resurgence; a reawakening of something which happened at an earlier time." Also a commercial artist, Professor Dunn feels that the artist is not always able to be consistent when attempting to meet a deadline. Professor Dunn has illustrated two books and completed over two hundred illustrations for "Ford Times" and other trade magazines.

"It is often difficult for the viewer to discover exactly what the artist has attempted to portray," he added. "Often," he continued, "the viewer will enjoy a particular point which the artist did not originally intend to portray."

When asked his opinion of Pop Art, he said that this form of art has been in existence for many years and that it is only the name Pop Art, which is new. "Keene's big eyed paintings make me a little sick," he said. "Actually, they are only a gadget or gimmick to make the public think it is buying something unique. If an artist would decide to paint big eyed dogs, they would probably steal the show."

"To me," said Professor Dunn "art is an innate quality. It is something that just happens. I don't try to imitate anyone. Painting is not a placid sort of static thing, but rather an expression of the artist's feelings. The impact of an artist's background is often evident in his work."

WSU Head Will Retire Next Year

Idaho's closest neighbor, Washington State University, is soon to experience a change-over in their executive's position similar to the one made here this fall.

C. Clement French, president of WSU since the spring of 1952, has announced his plans for retirement on October 24, 1966. It will be on his 65th birthday.

The announcement was made early this spring to the Board of Regents meeting. It said it had no alternative but to accept his request for retirement and "did so with deep regret."

"During his presidency, Dr. French has proved himself a very able administrator and a distinguished educator. He and WSU are held in high regard throughout the state and the nation," the Board said.

French came to WSU from Texas A & M where he had been Dean of the college.

Before that he had held educational administrative positions at Virginia Polytechnic Institute where he had been vice president, and at Randolph-Macon Women's College where he had been a member of the faculty.

THE LETTERMAN—The Lettermen, a three-man singing group will appear in concert at 8 p. m. Friday at the University of Idaho Memorial Gymnasium. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union buildings at the Idaho campus and Washington State University campus and several businesses in downtown Moscow.

Hours Scheduled For Library

Starting tomorrow, University library hours will be as follows: Monday through Friday, 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.; Saturday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; and Sunday, 2 p. m. to 10 p. m.

NSF Grant Will Strengthen U-I

A grant of $14,309 from the National Science Foundation will be used to strengthen the science program at the University of Idaho, according to Kenneth A. Dick, financial vice president. The University of Idaho is one of 376 colleges and universities in the 50 states and Puerto Rico to receive funds to meet the direct costs of scientific activities.

Lettermen Scheduled To Perform Next Friday

The Letterman, a three-man singing group, billed as one of America's most popular campus attractions, will be presented in concert at 8 p. m. Friday at the University of Idaho Memorial Gymnasium, according to Gale Mix, ASUI general manager.

Idaho IFYE Rep. Begins Program

Six months of experiences among rural families in Japan begins this week for Carol Husa of Cataldo, an Idaho delegate in the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Miss Husa has arrived in Japan after a week of final orientation at Washington D.C., and months of preparation on her own during her last semester at the University of Idaho.

The preparation included a crash program to learn Japanese customs and language. Her tutor, shown here with Miss Husa, was Ken Kiyono, a native Japanese who is a graduate student in history at the University.

Carol was awarded a bachelor's degree in home economics with honors at the university commencement June 13, then logged more than 7,000 air miles and four days of conferences before beginning her IFYE tour in Japan.

THIS IS A DORMITORY?—Two unidentified University students appear slightly bemused as they move their luggage into the Moscow Hotel. The hotel has been rented by the University to take up the overflow of students for whom there was no room on campus.

Jazz In Bucket Set

Jazz in the Bucket will once again be presented in the Student Union Building this year. A variety of entertainment will be presented every third week, usually on Friday or Saturday evenings. Admission is free.

Jazz in the Bucket was originally formed to provide students the opportunity to see talent on campus. Features will be jazz and folk groups in addition to several soloists.

The first performance of Jazz in the Bucket will be Saturday, September 25. Tom and Walley, two local folk singers, a jazz combo, and a band will headline the first performance.

Future events include a talent exchange with Washington State University and a jazz festival during the second semester.

"The purpose of the program is to combine dancing with listening," said Area Director, Glen Atchley. Lois Grieve is this year's chairman of the jazz in the bucket.

Christian Science Meeting Set

The Christian Science Organization at the University will hold its first fall meeting Sunday. The informal meeting will be at the David Nartonis residence, 823 East A St. Interested students should meet in front of the SUB bookstore at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

IK Booksale To End Friday

The Intercollegiate Knights are holding their annual booksale on the second floor of the Student Union Building in the Appaloosa Room, according to Dick Rush, Delt, IK Duke.

Students wishing to sell old books should bring them to the sale and state the price they want for the book. The IK's raise money by getting a ten cent commission on every book they sell, he said.

The sale began Monday, when the IK's collected books at the living grounds, and will end Friday noon. Students must collect their money or unsold books by Friday at 5 p. m.

Co-chairmen of the sale are Craig Storti, Fiji, and Rand Byers, Delt.

Money made by the IK's during the sale is used to send delegates to IK conventions and to sponsor the Miss University of Idaho pageant.

KUOI Goes On Air, To Celebrate 20th Year

KUOI, the only campus station west of the Mississippi owned and operated by students went on the air last Saturday for its twentieth year of broadcasting.

The station is located in its usual office on the third floor of the SUB but has been completely remodeled, according to Robert Sparks, McConnell, KUOI public relations officer.

The campus station will feature what it calls the "big sound format," according to Sparks. This is composed mostly of study music and campus news.

During registration KUOI broadcast from the gym and played background music for registration. This year the station went on the air Saturday, Sept. 18, and

Mombush Award Now Available

"1966 Mombusho Scholarships for research students" will be available in humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, according to the Consulate General of Japan in Seattle.

These scholarships will include such stipends as transportation to and from Japan, arrival and field study allowances, and exemption from fees. Applicants must be university or college graduates, and under the age of thirty-five.

Interested students may receive further information in Ad. 108. The deadline for applications is September 30.

Arg Editor Is Honored For Work

Leo Jeffres, Phi Delt, Associate Editor of the Argonaut first semester, won honorable mention in the Newspaper Fund's intern prize competition early this month.

Jeffres, working on an internship program with the Lewiston Morning Tribune this summer, was one of the 40 honored from the nation, according to Paul S. Swensson, Executive director of the Newspaper Fund.

The competition was open to college students who completed 10 weeks of work as a beginning reporter on a daily or weekly newspaper.

Jeffres worked in the Clarkston office of the Tribune, covering Astin County news, and reported agricultural, school and industrial news.

Fifteen of the 134 who competed received cash awards of $500 each. Ten other received awards of $250 each and 15 earned honorable mention.

The Newspaper Fund is primarily supported by the Wall Street Journal.

Students To Tour Library For New Student Days

Library tours are being offered to new students in conjunction with New Student Days.

Scheduled tours were run Monday and Tuesday nights and will be run again tonight and tomorrow night.

The library is divided into three main sections: Humanities, Social Sciences, Science and Technology. Each of these divisions is really a library in itself, containing books, periodicals, indexes, and reference sources.

The University library contains over one-half million books, periodicals, microfilms and documents. It has 45,000 maps and subscribes to over 4,300 serials and nearly 100 newspapers.

Each living group has been assigned a tour leader and a booklet, "Come Out of the Dark", concerning the University library, is distributed among each group.

Tour schedules for today and tomorrow are as follows:

Idaho Tuition Increases For Out-of-State Students

Tuition for out-of-state undergraduate and graduate students will rise $35 a semester, starting this fall, at the University and at two other state schools.

Following action taken by the State Board of Education and the University of Idaho Board of Regents, Idaho, Idaho State, and Lewis-Clark Normal school will rise tuition to $190 per semester.

Out-of-state tuition for all three schools was $155 per semester last year.

In-state students at the three institutions pay no tuition, but pay registration fees. Of the University, these fees for the coming year will be $100.50 per semester.

Out-of-state students also pay these fees in addition to their out-of-state tuition.

Discontinuation of a refused out-of-state tuition scholarship award will also be made starting in the fall of 1966.

For a number of years, out-of-state students attaining a 3.50 average have been refunded their out-of-state tuition as a scholarship award.

Professors Come To U-I For Summer Teaching

More than 1,450 students, a record summer enrollment at the University, attended classes during the 1965 summer session at the U of I.

The first summer school here was held in 1899 and since that time the summer program has grown until it now includes a wide range of courses and activities.

Sociologist
Dr. David Dressler, sociologist, educator and author, appeared at the University as a public events lecturer in July. He is currently working on a college textbook on principles of sociology and three popular volumes.

Musicians Attend
More than 110 high school musicians from Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana converged on the U of I campus in June for the 21st annual Summer Music Camp.

PE Head Speaks
Professor Leon G. Green, head of physical education at the University, spoke at the 18th annual conference of the Idaho Municipal League in June at Idaho Falls.

Math Teachers
A special summer institute for high school teachers with no preparation in mathematics was held June 21 to Aug. 13 at the University.

Nutritionist Here
Dr. Marian E. Lowenberg, world renowned nutritionist, conducted a special home economics workshop for 150 Idaho home economics teachers and extension home economists at Idaho in June.

Journalists Institute
A total of 59 high school students moved onto the U-I campus in June for the seventh annual High School Journalists Institute. The students came from Montana, Washington and Oregon as well as Idaho. One application came from California.

Prominent Leaders
Two, nationally prominent leaders in the field of industrial-vocational education, each a recognized subject specialist, highlighted the U-I School Administrators conference-workshop in July—according to Dr. William Biggam, chairman.

Dick Presides
Financial Vice President Kenneth A. Dick of the U-I, president of the National Ass'n of College and University Business Officers, was at Chicago in July to preside over the annual meeting of the association.

Janssen Picked
A curriculum appraisal team visiting the U.S. Army Engineer School at Fort Belvoir, Va., last Engineering, the only representative included Dean Allen S. Janssen of the U-I College of Idaho from the Northwest.

In Germany
Dr. Jeanne M. Shreeve, assistant professor of chemistry at the University, received a National Science Foundation grant to finance travel to the Third International Symposium on Fluorine Chemistry in Munich, Germany, Aug. 31. She delivered a paper there on new compounds which were synthesized in a U-I laboratory.

Frank D. Schafer, who will receive his doctorate this summer from Columbia university, was appointed assistant professor of health, physical education and recreation. Peter L.

New Freshmen Are Smart

If many of the new students entering the University of Idaho this fall look exceptionally smart, there is a reason.

Sixty of this year's crop of freshmen were graduated No. 1 from their respective high schools. Most of them are from Idaho. Other states represented include Washington, Oregon, Illinois and Missouri.

'Arg' Needs Reporters

Students interested in writing as a hobby are invited to join the approximately two dozen harried students now putting out the Idaho Argonaut.

No experience is necessary to work on the staff but high school or professional experience would be useful. The Argonaut office in the Student Union basement is open during the afternoon five days a week. Anyone wishing to work and play

U-I Professor Named Winner

Two members of the University of Idaho art faculty have received notification of being named as winners in the 17th Spokane-Pacific Annual Art Exhibition.

Professor Mary B. Kirkwood received the Fremont South award for her second place oil painting entitled "Trampoline," and George H. Roberts received an honorable mention for his work in the show's sculpture competition.

The show, presented by the Spokane Art Board and the Cheney Cowles Museum Art Committee, was open to original art works of present and former professional artists of Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Washington. Miss Kirkwood received a prize of $125 for placing second in the painting competition.

is invited to drop in and look over the operation of putting out the paper.

Argonauts are published on Tuesday and Friday.

Idaho Faculty Promotions Announced By University

An assistant dean of the College of Education and a new head of the department of psychology were appointed by Former President D. R. Theophilus before his retirement in August.

Dr. John Green, who will serve under Dean Everett V. Samuelson, has been named assistant dean of the College of Education.

Before joining the faculty in 1953, he served as a public school teacher, principal and superintendent. Dr. Green is the author of two textbooks on education in the field. A graduate of Colorado State College, he received M. Ed. and Ed. D. degrees from the University of Colorado.

Also appointed was Dr. Victor Montgomery, head of the department of psychology.

Montgomery will succeed Dr. W. H. Boyer, who will retire as head of the department of psychology at the mandatory age of 65. Boyer will continue on the faculty as a professor of psychology. Holding an A.B. degree from Duke university, M.S. from the University of Wisconsin and Ph.D. from Cornell university, Montgomery joined the Idaho faculty in 1963. He had previously taught at the University of Redlands in California, and had served as an industrial psychologist for Boeing Co. in Seattle.

Summer Appointments
Other summer appointments approved by the Board of Regents are:

George A. McKean, who has been associate research professor in electrical engineering, was moved up to associate professor and research supervisor, and Donald W. Seelye, from assistant professor to associate professor.

Dr. L. Bradley Clough, holding five degrees with his doctorate from the University of Connecticut, was named associate professor of psychology. He has taught at Quinnipiac college, Hamden, Conn., and the University of Connecticut. Dr. John Glen Marica will be a visiting associate professor in mathematics. On the faculty of the Universidad de Chile the past year, he has had doctorate from the University of California.

Theophilus Chosen As Consultant For Higher Education Changes

Former University President, Dr. D. R. Theophilus is making a study of a proposed change in the administration of state-supported institutions of higher learning, according to the State Board of Regents.

Dr. Theophilus, who retired in the spring as University head said that he has agreed to serve as an educational consultant for the state legislature following his retirement and will present a final report to the board by Jan. 1, 1966.

The noted educator said that the five-point report would: Attempt to determine the intent of legislation as passed in House Bill 307.

To determine the effect of similar legislation in the several states and attempted similar procedures.

To delineate the relationship between the State Board of Education and the Board of Regents as well as the administrative heads of state institutions of higher education and the new executive secretary.

To outline possible problems with the state on which the executive secretary could work to advantage in order that the State Board of Education could develop definite planning procedures and actions.

To assemble a complete bibliography on the general subject of the operation of a State Board of Education with the secretary, chancellor or commissioner.

Parking Is Problem On U-I Campus

A large number of pedestrians and cars combined with a small number of parking spaces has caused a fairly serious traffic problem at the University in the past few years.

As a result of this problem, parking stickers will be issued in the following categories:

To all full-time staff members in teaching, research, and administrative capacities. These permits allow staff members to park in any of the restricted zones.

To all secretarial, clerical and service personnel living outside the campus area and with less than two years of tenure on official Regents appointment.

To all secretarial, clerical, and service personnel living outside the campus area who have established two years of tenure on official Regents appointment will be issued special permits which allows parking in a restricted staff zone.

Ineligible
All service personnel living within the campus area will not be issued a regulation decal due to the close proximity of their work.

Musseau's Idaho Vandals Prepare For San Jose Battle

Idaho Coaching Staff 'Well Pleased' With Yesterday's Practice Session

Vandal football coach Steve Musseau pronounced himself "well pleased with his charges following today's workout in preparation for Saturday's gridiron clash with the San Jose Spartans in Idaho's Neale Stadium.

Responded Well

"The kids responded very well today to just about everything we threw at them both offensively and defensively," the Vandal mentor noted. They certainly haven't lost any of the speed, snap or hard hitting ability they displayed in Seattle."

Musseau explained that the day's practice had been devoted to a "dummy situation scrimmage" and defending against what the Idaho coach refers to as a "real tough Spartan offense that possesses a great deal of speed for its size."

"We put our offensive Gunders through a drill of anticipated critical situations that might arise in the Spartan game," the Idaho coach further explained. "I thought they reacted quite well considering it was the first time they've been exposed to the San Jose team under field conditions."

Praises Offense

Musseau had special praise for the offensive unit's running of their goal line situations. "I was especially pleased with this primarily because when you run up against a team as big and as fast as the Spartan club, a good real line offense could be the key to victory."

The Vandal mentor said that the Gizeric defensive unit spend most of the afternoon running plays against the San Jose offense. "They looked real good," Musseau noted. "However, it's hard to say just what will happen in the game. I have a great deal of confidence in their ability to get the job done. However, I also know that the Spartans have a 9.7 sprinter in their backfield. We'll just have to hit extra hard to make up for their speed. I don't think that will pose much of a problem."

THREE OF the state's top prep basketball scorers and a trio of top rated small school cagers will enroll in the University of Idaho this fall, basketball coach Jim Goddard said today.

All-state guards Kirk Williams from Twin Falls and Ron Neil from Nampa will both run with the Vandal Frosh this winter. "Williams is considered one of the best guard prospects in the state," Goddard said, "and I guess that Neil is the other one."

Williams averaged 18.4 points per game for the state champion Twin Falls Bruins, second best in the state. Neil listed in the prep all-American Who's Who, averaged 14.7 and placed fourth in the state.

Top Scorer

Large high schools was Steve Garman who is attending Idaho with an eye toward a football career. "Coach Steve Musseau told me," Goddard said, "that Garman wants to play basketball and we certainly want him to play."

Three-time all-stater Clayne Beck, a 6-5 front liner from Middleton will also enroll this fall. Beck led Middleton to the state title last winter. Keith Olson, a 6-5 valetidorian from Deary, is also headed for Moscow. Olson hit 118 points in four district tournament games with a one-game high of 37.

Skip Ivey, the little general from Genesee, a three-sport standout for the Bulldogs is also headed for Idaho. Ivey, along with Garman are considered two of the top baseball prospects in the state.

RODNEY WOODWARD, a defensive back from Everett, Wash., junior college, will enroll in the University of Idaho and be a member of the varsity football team, head coach Steve Musseau said today.

Woodward, whose home is South Burnaby, B.C., is 6-2 and weighs 205 pounds. "This young man has the size, speed and experience to help our team this fall," Musseau said.

ROBERT PAYNE of Lewiston is the new state president for the Vandal Boosters. The Vandal Boosters is a group of University of Idaho alumni and friends who promote Idaho athletics through scholarship and student recruitment funds. Payne is the Division manager for the Lewiston Water Power Co.

A FORMER EQUIPMENT manager for the Magic Valley Cowboys baseball team, Ron Stephenson, has been named assistant equipment manager at the University of Idaho, athletic director Paul Ostyn said today.

Stephenson is a graduate student in the college of business in the university. He played football for Twin Falls high school and Boise junior college. He is a graduate of Idaho State university.

JOHN C. THOMAS has been promoted to assistant athletic director at the University of Idaho, director Paul Ostyn said today.

Thomas has been on the Idaho staff since 1956 and served as acting athletic director during the 1964-65 school year. He is the executive secretary for the Vandal Boosters and has filled several administrative posts on the Idaho staff during his nine years with the Vandals.

He is a native of Malad, but has lived in Idaho since the end of World War II. Thomas is married and has two grown sons.

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO has scheduled a home and home football series with Colorado State University, director of athletics Paul Ostyn said today.

The Vandals will play in Fort Collins on Nov. 15, 1965 and host CSU in Moscow on Sept. 25, 1971. This will be the first meeting for the two schools in football, although they have tangled in basketball in the past.

Arrangements for the series were made by Ostyn and former Vandal Jim Williams, who is now athletic director at Colorado State.

Tennis Stated For Oct. 4

Tennis is also upcoming with the tennis meet scheduled for approximately Monday, Oct. 4. Last year the tennis title was won by Kappa Sigma with the Phi Deltas 2nd and the ATO's third.

This year the Intramural Program should provide some good competition with the expansion of many leagues which will give some added openings for new participants.

Another IM Season Here

The 1965-66 Intramural program will begin Monday, September 27th with the start of football. The intramural program this year hopes to reach a new participation record with the expansion of many living groups.

Last year approximately 76 per cent of all the men on campus were active in the intramural program which consisted of a total of 2060 individual different participants.

The biggest change in the new program this year will be the inclusion of pool as an official sport with points and trophies to be awarded to different living groups. Last year pool was given a trial run and proved very successful with a total of 60 participants.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon (SAE) is the overall defending champ this year as well as the defending campus football champ. The SAE's had a total of 2141 points with Phi Delta Theta second (1891.5 pts.) and Alpha Tau Omega third with 1880.5 points.

Football begins this coming Monday, Sept. 27th. Last year the SAE's defeated Willis Sweet Hall, independent champs, for the campus championship in a hard-fought ballgame. This year competition will be even tougher.

The annual Intramural golf meet will be held on Saturday, Oct. 9th at the University golf course. Last year Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) won the golf title with Delta Tau Delta (DTD) 2nd and Alpha Tau Omega (ATO) third.

Vandal Coach Musseau Spartans To Be Tough

Vandal grid coach Steve Musseau took a long hard look at the San Jose Spartans today as he and his squad prepare for their first home game of the 1965 season. The Idaho squad is slated to clash with the Northern California squad Saturday in Neale Stadium.

"Heck of a Battle"

"It's going to be a heck of a battle," the Idaho mentor noted. "My staff and I studied films of the Spartan's game with Stanford and we're sure of one thing—they're a lot tougher than the final score showed them to be."

Musseau noted that the Spartan's club was bigger than in past years but that they hadn't lost a bit of the speed for which they are noted. "I hear they've got a 9.7 sprinter in their backfield."

"WE CAN HANDLE THEM!" "Personally," the Idaho coach related, "I think they'll be as tough or tougher than the University of Washington. However, I think we can handle just about anything they might come up with."

The Vandal mentor further explained that his squad was adapting to all Spartan offensive and defensive situations in practice drills.

"Naturally," he continued, "things are a little rough yet. Today was the first time the kids had been exposed to the Spartan attack under field conditions. We've got some rough spots to iron out, but I know we'll be ready come 1:30 Saturday afternoon."

TURKEY TROT

Approximately 300 University men participated in the Annual Turkey Trot in 1960.

Ends, Guards, Tackles Changed To 'Quick,' 'Strong'; Left End Now Swing Man—Alias 'X,' 'Split End'; Fullback Replaced By Deep Back In Mass Confusion

Idaho football fans will be using a new vocabulary this fall in referring to various positions, but coach Steve Musseau and his staff will be returning to terminology which they invented.

No longer are ends, guards and tackles referred to as right and left, but they will be known as "quick" and "strong."

"We were using the same system at Orange Coast college in 1959," Musseau explained, "but the terms were 'strong' and 'weak.'" We didn't like the term 'weak' in referring to any of our football players. One of my assistants, Gib Dear, decided on the term 'quick.' The University of Washington picked it up and the terminology is generally used for a 'strong side offense.'"

"Flip Flop"

Since the Idaho offense will "mirror" or "flip-flop" this season as it has at times in the past, fans will often find the left guard on the right side some other equally confusing maneuver. "Strong" and "quick" may be hard to understand at first, but at least you'll never see a strong tackle on the quick side. "If you do," Musseau said, "We're in big trouble."

Since Idaho hasn't had a left end in five seasons, fans shouldn't have much trouble adjusting to the new term for the man who normally lines up at the left end of the offense line. Call him the "swing man." This is the same guy who was the "X" man in 1960-61 and the "split end" in 1962-64.

His opposite hasn't been a right end for five years either, but this season call him the "strong end." He was the "Y" man in 1960-61 and the "tight end" in 62-64.

Understand?

When the Vandals line up, the side of the center (yes, there will still be a center over the ball) on which the swing man stands will be the quick side with a quick tackle and a quick guard. The other side will have the strong guard, tackle and end.

The backfield didn't escape the confusion either. The quarterback is still the man behind the center. The man behind him is the "set back." He's the one they used to call the "halfback" last year. The third man in the line behind the center is the deep back. They used to call him a "fullback," but it will be big number 32, Ray McDonald, and everyone knows him.

The fourth man in the backfield will be the flanker back and you can find him most anyplace. Best advice, however, is that he's probably on the side opposite the swing man. Remember, he's the old left end.

IM Managers Meet Is Slated

All Intramural managers are requested to attend a meeting to be held in Room 109 at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 22 in Memorial Gym. At this time each manager will draw for leagues in football for his respective living group.

Officers will not be chosen until the second official meeting. The intramural golf meet will be discussed at the first meeting as well as getting attendance entries in.

Capable of speeds better than 2,000 mph, the YF-12A is the hottest aircraft around. Now Maj. Walter F. Daniel, test pilot for the YF-12A, answers your questions about the world's fastest manned airplane and America's Aerospace Team.

(Maj. Daniel, a test pilot since 1954, is a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots. He received a B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. In February 1962, he set world class time-to-climb records in a T-38 jet trainer.)

Is the YF-12A the world's fastest manned aircraft? It certainly is. On May 1 of this year the YF-12A (formerly known as the A-11) reclaimed the world absolute speed record from the USSR. It was clocked at 2,062 mph over Edwards Air Force Base.

How big is the YF-12A?

The exact dimensions of the YF-12A have not been released yet. But it's approximately 100 feet long, with about a 50-foot wingspan. That's half again as big as our present interceptors!

Is the Air Force training many men as pilots these days?

Yes, very definitely. In spite of all you hear about unmanned vehicles, the human pilot is still very much in the picture. As a matter of fact, the Air Force pilot quota is on the increase.

What other kinds of jobs does the Air Force offer? Since it's one of the world's foremost technological organizations, the Air Force has plenty of openings for scientists and engineers. There are also many challenging and varied administrative-managerial positions.

What do I have to do to become an Air Force officer?

Air Force ROTC is the best way to get started as an Air Force officer. The new two-year Air Force ROTC program makes this method available to men who have already completed a year or two of their college education. For college graduates, if you did not take advantage of ROTC, you can still get started through Air Force Officer Training School (OTS), a three-month course open to both men and women.

Can I keep up my studies while I'm in the Air Force?

The Air Force encourages its men and women to continue their educations. For instance, you may qualify to study for a graduate degree during off-duty hours, with the Air Force paying a substantial part of the tuition.

What kind of future do I have in the Air Force? A bright one. As we move further into the Aerospace Age, the Air Force is going to grow even more important. And you can grow with it!
