... Just beginning to turn corner

Church Still Has Lessons To Learn

... Inconsistent with their commitment

The church has quite a few lessons to learn... They're just beginning to turn the corner into finding their right relationship with society.

This was the opinion of the Rev. Paul J. Schulze, a Missouri-Synod Lutheran pastor and director of the Church-Community Action Program in Portland, in an interview yesterday.

He will speak at noon today at the Burning Stake and at 2 p.m. in a SUB Sound Off in the Bucket of the Student Union Building.

The program is an effort of cooperation between both Catholics and Protestants to realistically attempt to solve the social problems of American society, he said.

"One of the more exciting aspects of our work is that churches have been lending their energies to helping the poor to organize their energies to organize into political power groups," he said.

"The churches are more and more ready to do this," he said. "Too often in the past they have taken the side of the power structure. This is inconsistent with their commitment. Now they are more in line with the ministry Christ rendered."

He added that the next few years are going to be ones of learning for the church.

"Those who are 'down and out' have a lot to teach those who are economically and socially secure," he said. "It's those people who consider themselves secure that should break this cycle of ignorance, fear, and then society's problems resulting from them."

"I would hope we all find some creative ways of bridging this gap," he said. "We can hardly give moral leadership to the world until we solve this problem within our society. We must prepare ourselves for the creative leadership of the world."

He cited segregation as an example. Middle class people do not know Negroes and therefore don't understand them. Because of this they fear and do not associate with them.

"It's the white middle class often living in rural or suburban areas of the city who has not had the chance to know those of other racial and social groups."

The Church-Community Action program is a city agency geared for action within the city to meet the community's particular problems. The program has given leadership to those working in the War on Poverty program and helped and supported them behind the scenes so they can apply to the War on Poverty for funds. This is one of the needs, he said.

"We don't offer worship experiences," he added. "It's a coordinated effort to give the church community a realistic attempt to work on social problems."

"One of the reasons is to overcome of the suspicions people have of the churches," said Rev. Schulze. "People have the idea that the churches are out to get their money and membership, and the church needs to overcome this."

Schulze's visit is sponsored by the Religion-In-Life committee at the university. This student-dominated group strives to make religion relevant to the college student by bringing in outstanding speakers or groups to stimulate thought on the subject.

Schulze, whose program is sponsored by the Portland Council of Churches, spoke at a no-host faculty luncheon Monday. He is being scheduled to speak to various sociology, political science and related classes during his two-day stay by the Rev. Karl Koch, advisor to RILC and Lutheran Campus pastor.

Topics to be covered range from "Ghetto dynamics," "The present state of the Movement (Civil Rights)," "Integration! Who wants what?" and "Negro family life: history, breakdown, crisis!"

The director of the Portland Church-Community Action Program is also involved in urban renewal.

Professors to Look At Sales Tax Future

Idaho Chapter of the American Association of University Professors will sponsor a public meeting concerning the future of the Idaho Sales Tax, Wednesday, 8 p.m., in the lower level of the Faculty Club.

According to Gerald Marousek, Chairman of the A.A.U.P. program Committee, the purpose of the meeting is to consider programs to insure the future of the sales tax, and everyone interested in the financing of education and other public services in Idaho is invited to attend.

Wayne York, Executive Secretary of the Idaho Education Association, will explain the I.E.A. program.

Pi Kaps Receive Awaited Charter

Pi Kappa Alpha colony received a telegram last Thursday stating that the fraternity's supreme council had voted to grant the colony their long-awaited charter. The charter designation will be Zeta Lambda.

Installation will begin on the evening of May 13 with an initiation banquet. This will be followed by the annual dreamgirl dance in the SUB ballroom. Initiation ceremonies will be held on May 14.

Five man initiation teams from Washington State University and the University of Washington will attend the ceremony. R. H. "Bunny" Clark, national vice-president, Bill Crosby, assistant to the national executive director, and Lance Perkins, field secretary will also attend.

ICEP Sponsors Mock Convention

Idaho Center for Education and Politics (ICEP) will meet tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Student Union Building to discuss future plans for a mock political convention.

Members of ICEP decided to sponsor a convention at the state level for nominations of governor, lieutenant governor and other state officials. The convention is to be held May 15, said Lon Woodbury, ICEP president, off campus.

Woodbury said that the convention would be bipartisan and delegates would be representative of each county.

"We hope to get support from all living groups on campus and off-campus students to participate in the convention," Woodbury said.

IVS Officer To Speak On Campus

A representative of International Voluntary Services, a non-profit American agency providing assistance in the economic and technical development of Southeast Asian and African countries, will be on campus Friday, April 29, 1966.

IVS recruitment officer Don Fortner will speak with interested students and campus organizations about the opportunities for serving in education, agriculture, home economic, community and rural development.

Beginning with its first project in Egypt, IVS has been actively concerned with developing human resources in Africa and Asia for 12 years. The organization has grown from a handful of overseas workers to the present size of 200 field volunteers. Despite the war and unsettled conditions, IVS volunteers are at work in over fifty locations in Laos and Vietnam.

The purpose of IVS-sponsored assistance is two-fold. The first goal is to insure a constant flow of initiative and program development on the part of US private agencies that complements and re-enforces that undertaken by a foreign government. The second goal is to offer motivation and organization of people at the village level to help them in determining and providing for their own needs.

Students and organizations may make an appointment to discuss these projects with Mr. Fortner by calling the Central Placement Service at 6486.

A short movie and slide presentation about the work IVS is doing in Vietnam is also available. Mr. Fortner has worked in the Highland and northern coastal region of Vietnam.

Vandaleers Prepare To Leave on Spring Tour

The Vandaleers, University concert choir, will go on spring tour April 24-30, performing for high schools and communities, as well as over television, in southern Idaho.

The group, under the direction of Glen R. Lockery, professor of music at the University, will give its first concert April 25 at Montpelier. The following day, assembly programs will be presented at Preston and Malad with an evening concert at Soda Springs.

An Assembly program will be given April 27 at Aberdeen, with an evening concert at Twin Falls. Two assembly programs, April 28, one at Buhl and the other at Jerome, and evening performance is scheduled at Gooding.

An assembly at Glens Ferry, a television performance over KBOI-TV, Boise, and an evening concert in Boise will conclude the tour, April 29.

Two Idaho students fell asleep at the wheel on their way back to school Sunday causing one death and numerous injuries in two separate accidents.

Robert Pillion, Sigma Nu, failed to make a curve near Arlington, Ore. when he fell asleep. He was thrown from the car and it rolled on him. He died later in a hospital.

Tom Nelson and Roger Ferguson also Sigma Nu's, were riding with Pillion. Ferguson suffered a fracture of the fourth dorsal vertebra. He is now in Cadillac Hospital in Richland, Wash. under the care of a neurosurgeon.

Nelson was in shock, but had only facial cuts. He was released from the hospital yesterday.

All three boys' homes were in California. Nelson will ride back into California with Pillion's body and then may remain there for a time.

All of the boys were at Idaho on football scholarships.

A second accident occurred in Nevada when a car carrying four SAE's went over a cliff, early Sunday morning. The driver, Bob Williams, fell asleep.

Williams, of Spokane, and Larry Eddingfield, Lewiston, had their seat belts buckled while Mike McCoy, Hollywood, Calif., and Phil Peterson, West Covena, Calif., did not. McCoy and Peterson were both thrown from the car.

Peterson suffered a broken leg and shock. He is still in a hospital in Cedar City, Nev. McCoy required forty stitches in his face.

All four boys are still in Nevada.

Opening Day Marred By Auto Tragedy

Robert Joseph Pillion, Idaho student, died Sunday after an auto accident near Arlington, Ore. (See story — page one). Pillion was a 19-year-old freshman at the University on a football scholarship. He was a Sigma Nu.

His home was Santa Ana, Calif. He is survived there by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Pillion, and two sisters and two brothers.

In high school Pillion played football, basketball, baseball and track. He earned places on the All-League and All-Orange County teams and was chosen most valuable player on his team in football.

Here at Idaho he was frosh starting split end and was presently the coaching staff's choice for starting split end or wing-back on next year's varsity.

Walt Anderson football coach, will attend funeral services in La Purisima Church at El Modeno, Calif. as the athletic department's official representative.

The purpose of the week is to promote better understanding and relations between the American student and the student from another country, said Laddie Tluteck, Graham, International Students Committee chairman.

Living groups are encouraged to invite international students to dinner at their living group during the week, he said.

The International Bazaar will be held Friday and Saturday nights from 8 until closing and Sunday from 3 to 8 p.m. The bazaar will include slides, and displays from countries including Korea, India, Pakistan, Nigeria, Syria, Columbia and Canada.

The International Talent show, featuring Indian, Pakistan, Iranian, Swedish, and American talent will be at 8 p.m. Friday in the Blue Bucket. The show is jointly sponsored by TGIF and International Student committees.

A Mock United Nations will be held Saturday from 1:30-4 p.m. in the SUB ballroom. The admission of Red China into the UN, the apartheid issue in South Africa, and nuclear disarmament are on the agenda. Model United Nations Committee will help with the session.

Saturday at 9 p.m. a dance featuring the "Statesmen" will be held in the SUB ballroom. The dress is school clothes.

Andrus to Speak To Democrats

Cecil Andrus, Democratic candidate for Governor, will address the Young Democrats Tuesday night at 7:30 in the SUB.

Andrus, who lives in Orofino, has represented his county in the Idaho legislature and is said to have the support of many of the state's legislative leaders for the nomination.

He will discuss what he considers to be the basic issues at stake in the coming election, and his ideas and programs to better the state if elected.

"Andrus is an interesting man and a fine speaker," stated Mike Wetherell, YD's President, "and should give an interesting and informative talk."

Four Students Travel To Seattle Conference

A four man delegation of the International Students Committee attended a regional conference of People to People at the University of Washington Saturday.

Jim Freeman, Sigma Chi, Sue Jennings, Pine, Hazel Perks, Hays, and Maun Rudisill, ASUI program director, attended the conference on ways to improve international student programs.

Parking... In Line of Duty

... It ain't justified. While getting the records of student violations at Moscow city hall yesterday, Argonaut reporter Vincent Coleman, off campus, received a parking ticket. Coleman said it took about an hour for him to get all the records, and that he only had 36 minutes on the meter when he went into the hall.

"I had to sit through the case while getting the Justice Court news," he said distastefully.

The news is compiled for the News of Record column in which records of police and justice court student violations are recorded.

Students Invited To Participate In Education Conference

More than 500 educators and student leaders will be on the Idaho campus April 21-23 when the University hosts the annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Conference of Higher Education.

Boyd A. Martin, dean of the College of Letters and Science and chairman of the organization's steering committee said that the purpose of the conference was to discuss the responsibilities and problems of colleges and universities.

"All students and faculty members are welcome to attend"

Dean Martin explained. "Students need not register, but faculty members should do so in Ad. 111 up until 3 p.m. Thursday, and then in the Student Union Lobby."

More than twenty outstanding educational administrators will be featured at the University of Idaho-sponsored conference.

Francis Horn, president of the University of Rhode Island will deliver the opening address. "Responsibilities of Universities and Colleges" at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A graduate of Dartmouth University, Dr. Horn holds two Master of Arts degrees, a doctorate from Yale, and 12 honorary doctorate degrees. He has served as an educational administrator at universities both in the United States and overseas.

The author of more than a hundred articles and reviews in the field of education and the editor of several books, Dr. Horn is a former editor of the College and University Bulletin.

Currently, Dr. Horn is a director of the Near East Foundation, the United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia, Futures for Children, The Rhode Island Higher Education Assistance Corporation and the New England Council. A trustee of the Quinnipiac College, Windham College and Nichols College, he is also a member of the National Advisory Board of the United World Federalists.

The role of governing boards in meeting the responsibilities of colleges and universities will be the topic of an address by Milton Durham, of Spokane, vice-president of the Board of Regents of Washington State University.

Dr. Durham serves on the surgical staff of four Spokane hospitals as well as on several educational governing boards throughout the state.

Other speakers include: E. G. Williamson, a graduate of and Professor of psychology and Dean of Students at the University of Minnesota; N. Edd Miller, a graduate of the University of Michigan and current chancellor of the University of Nevada at Reno; Henry Grosshans, a former student at Doane College, Iowa State University and Oxford University, guest lecturer in Russian Literature at the Air Force Academy and presently a university editor and lecturer and history professor at Washington State.

Also speaking is Dr. Herbert C. Taylor Jr., a professor of anthropology at Western Washington State College, fellow American Anthropological Association and member of Sigma Chi, fraternity, and Phi Sigma and Delta Sigma Rho honoraries.

The Golden Fleece

By Jason No. 78—Leo W. Jeffres

Speaking of sober thoughts

After an anything-but-relaxing spring vacation, most Idaho students are confronted with a quickening pace of activities and tests. After a somewhat-less-than-sober week without classes, many students will awaken to some sobering thoughts in a cold shower of term papers.

It's not that the work load has increased, at least not more than normal. The problem is that the demand of activities this year has even increased over last spring.

Let's look at what's scheduled this spring. The Miss U of I Pageant, April 29; Play Festival, all next week; Greek Week; "An Inspector Calls," May 9 through 13; Blood Drive, April 26-28; Oriental Nationality Night, next Sunday; Activities Council committee chairman interviews, tomorrow through Friday; several SUB films; installation of ASUI officers tonight; Mother's Day Weekend, including the Phi Delta Turtle Derby, May Fete, Helldivers performance, a play, an all-campus dance, and many other activities; Bill Cosby in concert May 14; ICEP (Idaho Center for Education in Politics) state political education on the Idaho State race for governor—and the list continues.

Into this atmosphere complicated by spring weather and pasture functions should enter some other less entertaining yet never-the-less satisfying and necessary demands on time. One is the consideration of the ASUI budget which funds most of the activities scheduled above.

A total of $160,570 will pay for everything from Activities Council events to agriculture judging to ASUI plays to the Gem and Argonaut. Yet few students will even consider, much less evaluate where their money is going . . . and $160,000 plus is a lot of money to consider. Below is a brief account of the budget. Students should check and remember what gets how much. Next time a student complains that a particular ASUI activity isn't worth it, he should remember that the funds supporting it come from his pocketbook. This may prompt him to reconsider his attendance or induce him to seek changes necessary to make it "worth-while."

Another sobering thought is the increasing accident toll on the nation's highways. It never seems to hit home, until—like it did this last week—it strikes a U of I student or close friend. Another important event which students should consider is the Pacific Northwest Conference on Higher Education being held Thursday through Saturday on the U of I campus. Students should particularly be interested in the speech by Edmund G. Williamson, dean of students at the University of Minnesota.

According to Dean Boyd Martin of the U of I College of Letters and Sciences he is billed as the dean of deans in the United States.

We Will Overcome...

It's so relaxing to ride the bus? Hmph! It may be relaxing for the bus driver to know that his passengers are unable to be a menace on the highways as long as they are riding with him; but it certainly isn't relaxing for anyone else.

There is nothing quite like riding an "express" from Los Angeles to Spokane to convince a person that flying is the only way to travel. One boards the bus in Santa Ana, after an unexplained 45 minute delay, and travels the several mi. to downtown Los Angeles. For those who have led a sheltered life, there is nothing quite like seeing the Los Angeles bus terminal on a Saturday afternoon. The seething mass of humanity attempting to find the right line for the right bus is astounding. The terminal is crowded and hot, the passengers are growling and hot, and the bus drivers are crabby and hot. Chaos is prevalent. Attempts to find out which bus to board are generally thwarted. The only way to survive is by law of the jungle approach.

Finally one boards the bus, a little old man steps aboard and begins peddling pillows at forty cents apiece—nothing like a racket. At last he departs and the driver stomps aboard. One might be under the impression that the bus is going to make rapid progress from this point. Ah no, it seems that there are two other stops to be made before departing from the city, one in Hollywood and one in North Hollywood. Let it be noted that it takes approximately seven hours to travel from Santa Ana to Fresno—a record of some sort.

One also might be under the impression that things aren't going too badly when he stops for supper in Bakersfield. However, the fun is only beginning. Riding the bus isn't nearly as upsetting as the bus terminals. Meals are cafeteria style. And, if you think meals are bad at the University—eat at a bus terminal. The food looks terrible, tastes worse and prices tend to make one decide to go on a permanent diet.

Written On The Wind

By Bob Stanfield

The recent student demonstrations and picketing against the Vietnam War have struck terror into the hearts of all 100 per cent, true red, white, and blue Americans. The FBI is nervously trailing Vietnam Day Committee leaders and SDS members and is busily tabulating lists of members and infiltrating so as to know what is going on. The right-wingers are gleefully shrieking "Red menace" and "Unamerican". What upsets me most is that student demonstrations and opposition to war is seen as a revolutionary and new development. As Margaret Mead said in a lecture at UCLA recently, student protest is not new to the United States; what has changed is the improved communication factor which makes student protest at Berkley big news in New York.

As proof of the above statement, I submit the following account taken from the history of the University of Idaho. The Time: March 22, 1936. The Place: The Fiji house at the University of Idaho.

America is struggling to recover from the Depression while on the foreign scene Hitler has just come to power in Germany and Mussolini is in the process of invading Ethiopia. The League of Nations seems to be powerless to arrest the advance of the dictatorships. On the Idaho campus an announcement has been released stating that the Veterans of Future Wars will hold an organization meeting at the Fiji house. 70 young men have responded. The Argonaut reports the story.

VETERANS OF FUTURE WARS ORGANIZE WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST POST

"Mean Business" Say Future War Vets, Solicit Support of Compton I. White in Getting $10,000,000,000 Bill Through Congress, Seventy Students Become Charter Members; To End Depression With Plan.

Shull Arms, Wallace, senior in science, Rhodes scholar-elect, Phi Beta Kappa-elect, was chosen unanimously as post commander and conducted the meeting. The chief purpose of the meeting was to demand of Congress immediate payment of $1,000 bonus per member "to lift the country out of the depression. The bonus demand was later amended to include a demand for $200 a month, "plus sales tax."

... BOB STANFIELD

According to Shull Arms, commander of the William Randolph Hearst Post, "This is just the start of our campaign to lift the country out of the depression, and recompense the Future Vets for physical and mental agony, loss of life and limb, and financial hardships which they will suffer in the future war."

It was explained that this additional payment would end depression forever, and end unemployment "by making it possible for our fathers to get jobs." A committee was elected to petition Idaho's congressmen at once. The name for the William Randolph Hearst post was chosen after the meeting. Early suggestions were that the post wait until "someone is killed," in deference to the veterans' traditions. A suggestion that one or two members be shot at once to fill the need for a name was promptly tabled and a committee later chose the name of the virile, red-blooded publisher without comment.

The Future Veterans pledged themselves to "stamp out the subversive elements in our schools and colleges" as soon as they understood the meaning of the term. A motion to put all congressmen and state legislators in the front line trenches immediately upon the declaration of the future war was passed without a dissenting vote, but a similar motion to put the munitions makers in the trenches met with considerable opposition and was voted down. Opponents of this measure explained that "without munitions makers, we couldn't have any war to be veterans of."

Considerable interest was aroused by proposals for a national convention, patterned after other national veterans' conventions because "they sound like a lot of fun." Plans were discussed for forming an auxiliary among the coeds on the campus who would share the Future Veterans interest in lifting the country out of the depression.

Great enthusiasm was expressed over the formation of an organization, which, as one member put it, was "the first youth movement to hold any meaning for youth". Others commented upon the fact that it would be among the select few organizations on the campus free from the evil influence of campus politics.

Watch this space next week, same time, same channel. See how the American Legion protects the youth of America and accuses the Future Vets of being Commies! !! Read the Future Vets' reply!

'66-67 Budget Made Approval Set

ASUI Executive Board heard budget plans for the 1966-67 school term in a three and a half hour meeting April 5.

The budget tentatively was approved as it was presented to the board by Ruth Ann Knapp, budget area head. Final approval of the budget is set for tonight.

Most of the accounts showed an increase in allocations over this year's budget. The two highest allocations were received by the Gem of the Mountain and Argonaut, showing increases of three and four thousand dollars, respectively.

Other accounts which received increases over this year's budget were administration, artist and special presentations, Literary I, golf course, and the women's recreation association.

KUOI student radio station took an apparent decrease in annual allocations, but Miss Knapp explained that it had received an additional $240 in January.

She said the station had asked for money at this time to finance a new record collection, production board, monitor and turntable.

Rifle Team Funds

The rifle team received a separate account this year, allowing total allocations of $1,066.80.

Last year's account allotted the team $150 under the general fund.

Sgt. George Moffett, Assistant Navy Instructor and rifle team representative explained why additional funds were needed.

The team is now using second hand navy equipment, including rifles, and sights, in competition, he said. He asked the Executive Board for allocations to provide one more sight and also ammunition costs for the varsity team.

He said the team uses 25,000 rounds of ammunition within 10 weeks, at a cost of about $250.

Accounts which took decreases in allocations were the ASUI General fund, the Executive Board general fund, and dramatics.

Drama has Decrease

Miss Knapp explained that the seeming decrease in dramatics was due to the $1500 which was given to the department for this year's production of "Oklahoma."

These additional allocations will not be repeated again next year, and thus the seeming decrease, she explained.

In actuality, there is a $240 increase under the dramatics account, she said. This is regarding the additional funds for the "Oklahoma!" production.

The additional $240 is to be used to buy sewing machines for the department in use of costuming.

Accounts to be dropped

Four accounts will be receiving funds this next year, but will be greatly cut down and eventually will be eliminated from the ASUI budget, Miss Knapp said.

These accounts are debate, Vandaleers, Instrumental groups and agricultural judging, she said.

"These groups have been warned that no money or at least less support will be given them next year," she said. They will be able to get support from the University budget or from other means, she said.

Miss Knapp added that in these accounts the Law School's Moot Court receives $100. "But we hope to drop them next year," she said.

Rev. Schultz Will Speak at Sound-off

He will speak again at the Burning Stake this noon and at a SUB soundoff tonight. Reverend Schultz also plans to visit several campus living groups.

Reverend Schultz has been employed by the Portland Council of Churches to work with the racial clamor in the negro-white community on East Side. Several college students worked with him last summer.

Vandals See Plenty Of Action During Vacation

The Idaho Vandals swept all five of their games to win the College Classic baseball tournament at Boise during the spring vacation but found tough going in their final three games during the holidays losing to Eastern Washington and splitting a doubleheader with Gonzaga in their opening Big Sky Conference tilt.

Idaho opened against Idaho State in the College Classic tournament defeating the Bengals, 4-2, with Bill Stoneman relieving Al Simmons for the victory.

Both teams scored a run in the third inning as rain threatened. Idaho then took a 2-1 lead in the fifth on a single by Gary Johnson. The Bengals promptly tied the score in the sixth but Idaho came back in their half of the inning scoring two runs on singles by Wally Posey and Doyle DeMont. Fielders choices followed which brought in both runs.

Vandals Take Two
The following day the Vandals took a pair of games defeating Northwest Nazarene College, 8-0, and coming back in the afternoon to whip the Boise College Broncos, 4-1.

In the first game Idaho jammed over five runs in the first two innings off losing pitcher, Cecil Wilson, and that was all that it took for Gary Johnson to gain the victory for the Vandals with help from John Bardelli.

Northwest Nazarene managed only four hits off of the two Idaho pitchers and two of these were in the seventh and final inning. Besides getting the win, Johnson aided his own cause with a single in two trips to the plate and one run batted in.

Defeat Boise College
In the afternoon, Idaho tripped the Boise College Broncos, 4-1, as big Frank Reberger fanned 16 batters and had a no-hitter going until Mike Guerrioglio slapped a single to left field in the seventh inning.

Idaho touched losing pitcher, Kenworthy

Idaho Spring Football Kickoff This Afternoon

Spring football drills open for the University of Idaho under an aura of shock and tragedy this week.

Head coach Steve Musseau is still at his home recovering from a heart attack suffered two weeks ago. Three upcoming sophomores will be missing as the result of an automobile accident.

Bob Pillon, listed at the number one split end going into spring drills, was killed and guard prospects Tom Nelson and Roger Ferguson were injured. Pillon and Nelson were from Orange, Calif., and Ferguson was from Westminster, Calif.

Two-Way Performers
The drills will be conducted with all players working out as two-way performers although the Vandals will platoon next fall. Walt Anderson and Herb Adams will work with the offense while John Smith and Bill Hughes will handle the defense. Smith and Anderson were line coaches last season, but Adams and Hughes are new to the Idaho staff and will handle the backs.

Spring sports will draw away veteran backs Ray McDonald and Joe McCollum, sophomore end Rich Toney and rookie split end Manny Murrell.

While the Idaho staff can count lettermen at each position for a platoon team, finding the number two man for each spot will be one of the challenges facing the Vandals this spring. Most obvious battle looms at the quarterback spot where John Foruria is healthy and planning to start. Joe Rodriguez, pilot of two victories in the final two games will get another shot at the job. Woody Decker is getting the rave notices as the best quarterback of the group and the staff may go with the rookie.

Sweepstakes
Missing from the annual spring quarterback sweepstakes will be Jerry Ahlin, who is determined to play defensive end this season and forget the job he sought for three seasons. On hand for a look at the quarterback job will be rookies Steve Garman and Rich Nelson along with squad man Paul Gentle.

Vandals Blasted
Following the College Classic tournament Idaho traveled to Eastern Washington only to have a rude awakening by coming out on the short end of a 10-5 decision.

John Bardelli started for the Vandals and took the loss before being relieved by Wayne Dean in the fifth inning. Eastern Washington jumped on Bardelli for 6 runs in the second inning and this was all that it took even though only 2 of their 10 runs were earned.

After this, Idaho opened conference play against the Bulldogs of Gonzaga up at Spokane. The Vandals are out to regain their Big Sky baseball crown which they lost to Gonzaga last year.

Split with Bulldogs
The Vandals split in the doubleheader with the Bulldogs losing the first game in 9 innings, 2-1, but came back in the second with a 9-4 decision over the Bulldogs.

Nissen Award to Spartan Gymnast Vandal's Track Squad Widens Won-Loss Mark

A leading gymnast in the Big 10, James Curzi, Michigan State University, today was named to receive the newly established Nissen Award, given annually to the nation's outstanding senior collegiate gymnast. The award will be presented at the NCAA Gymnastic Meet at Penn State April 2.

Field Second
Rick Field, who led California to the AAUW Conference title last week finished second in the balloting, and Terry Higgins of the Air Force Academy a close third.

Husky Nominated
Other nominees receiving votes for the Nissen Award were Edward Isabelle, Penn State, Mike Lovell, Washington and Mark Cohn, Temple.

Coach Doug MacFarlane's Vandal track crew extended their won-loss mark to 6-2 over the spring vacation with victories in two out of three double dual meets. The Idaho squad scrambled to double dual wins against Lewis and Clark and Portland University, 95-48; and Pacific University and Oregon College of Education, 90½-53½ in Forest Grove Oregon.

Their single loss was to Central Washington State College, 70-66 in a meet which saw them place second ahead of Eastern Washington State, the other meet contender. Previously their only loss had been to the University of Washington.

MacFarlane credited several frosh and varsity track men with outstanding performances during the vacation road tour.

Outstanding Performance
"Undoubtedly, the outstanding performance of the tour and probably of the season was turned-of the tour meets. Frosh quarter-miler George Smith and high jumper Steve Brown were also credited with "fine performances." Smith is the best 440 man we've got," the Idaho mentor continued. "His best time to date is 49.9.

Brown posted his best jump of the tour against Lewis and Clark and Portland U when he cleared the cross-bar set at 6-6½.

Season Bests
MacFarlane's two speedsters, Bill Bryson and Joe McCollum also posted "fine marks" for the Vandal crew. Both hustled through the marked 100-yards in 9.7. The time was the best for both runners this season. Bryson recorded his season best April 9, but he too pulled a leg muscle and was unable to compete in the remainder of the tour. McCollum posted his season best April 15.

Perennial favorite Ray McDonald was his usual self. His best performances for the tour were 55 feet in the shot and 181-8½ in the discus, both April 15.

Cafferty Wins
Cafferty thundered through the 120-yard high hurdles in a winning time of 15.1 against Central Washington. Murrell posted a 15.0 in the 120-yard hurdles in Idaho's April 9 meet with Lewis and Clark and Portland U. He also broad jumped 23-4 in the same meet. However, he pulled a leg muscle and was unable to compete in the remainder of the tour. Murrell posted a 15.0 in the 120-yard hurdles in Idaho's April 9 meet with Lewis and Clark and Portland U. He also broad jumped 23-4 in the same meet. However, he pulled a leg muscle and was unable to compete in the remainder of the tour. Murrell posted a 15.0 in the 120-yard hurdles in Idaho's April 9 meet with Lewis and Clark and Portland U. He also broad jumped 23-4 in the same meet. However, he pulled a leg muscle and was unable to compete in the remainder

Reunion Held For Former Vandal Coach

Ted Bank, who coached the University of Idaho Vandal football teams from 1935 to 1941, retired this year and 50 of his former Boise Vandal gridders honored him April 16 in Boise.

Bank is retiring from the presidency of the Athletic Institute in Chicago. He plans a world tour.

Idaho students who played under Bank held the reunion with him in the Boise Elk's Lodge, according to Leon Green, professor and head of physical education at the university. Green played under Bank two years.

Co-captain of another Bank team, John Cooper, Salt Lake City was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Lyle Smith, who was on the outstanding 1938 squad and is currently with Boise College, was local arrangements chairman.

A big year was 1938 for Idaho, Bank and the Idaho Club, a now extinct dormitory which over the years housed many Idaho athletes.

"The school spirit engendered . . . in the Idaho Club probably glowed brightest one bleak Sunday afternoon in the fall of 1938," writes Rafe Gibbs in his history of the university, "Beacon for Mountain and Plain." "The football team, coached by peppery little Ted Bank, had tied the University of Washington team at Seattle on Saturday, 12 to 12. On the preceding week-end, Idaho had won from Oregon State, 13 to 0, and Idaho fans generally had expected this great in Seattle. It had not dawned on them what a terrific battle the Vandals had fought to tie the mighty Huskies. But at the Idaho Club the spirit was there.

"All 118 residents of the cooperative, with banners waving, marched down to the depot to hail the returning football players. Perhaps not more than 20 other persons were on hand, but the team was greatly impressed by the crowd of greeters, and next week whipped North Dakota State, 27 to 0."

On that winning team were Steve Belco, Tony Knap, and Lyle Smith. Among others, these three coaches will honor their former head coach Saturday.
