Argonaut Staff Needs Reporters

The Argonaut is the place for students to express themselves, use their literary talents, develop writing skills and make many valuable acquaintances. Any students interested in working as a staff member may call or stop by the office, in the basement of the student union building and inquire. New ideas and personalities are always welcome.

Positions are always open for reporters, feature writers, columnists, critics, copy readers, photographers and a multitude of other jobs which make up the campus newspaper.

The newspaper is yours, and you can write it. Stop by the office Monday or Thursday, or call any of the editors listed on the inside page.

President Hartung Addresses Class Of '70 At Convocation

President Ernest Hartung presented a welcoming address to members of the class of 1970 who gathered for the first time Sunday evening at the memorial gymnasium for the traditional President's Convocation.

Hartung emphasized that each college experience is "a once in a life time experience" and it is the responsibility of the individual to meet each challenge with his best. Today's college student, stated Hartung, has much more responsibility to meet than the college student of the pre-World War II period. In those days, a college education was a privilege, where as today, a college education is a necessity. "The Revolution of the Computer" has signaled a new era in higher education because of its importance to the national well being, Hartung stated. The college student today, is faced with much more responsibility than those of the "racon coat era."

Hartung stated that the university could be likened to a river, which is always the same, unchanged by passing time. Where as, the students, like water in that river, are always changing, each having an effect on the course of the river. It is the responsibility of the student to make sure the effect is beneficial, said Hartung.

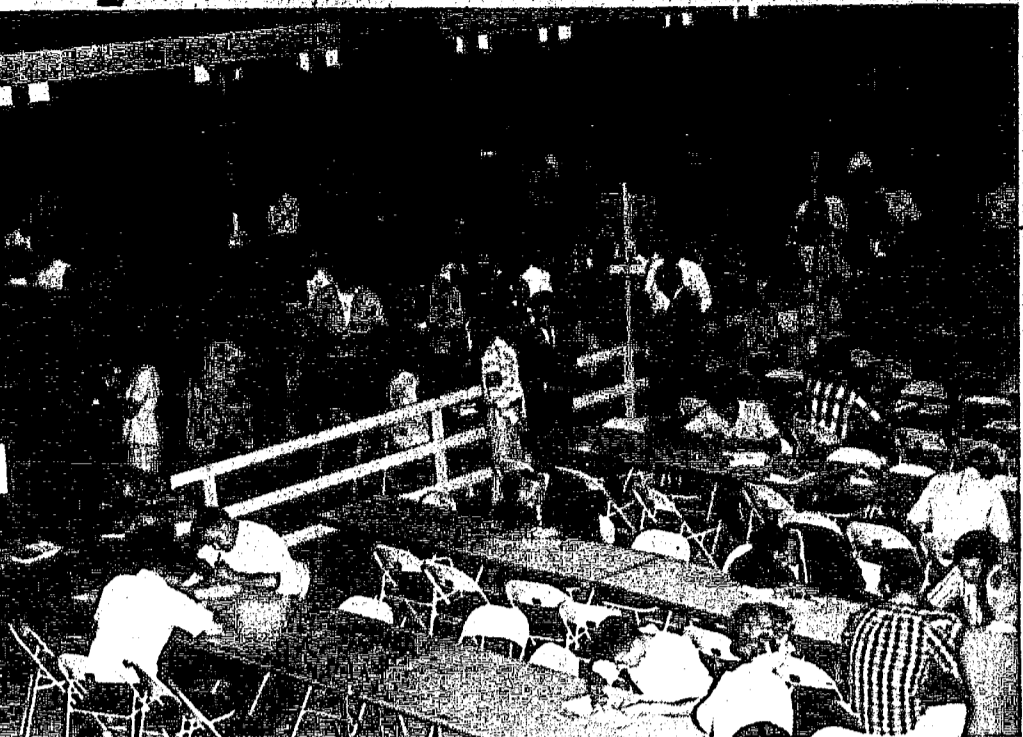

The attentive audience heard Hartung introduce deans of the respective University colleges, the dean of women, dean of students, member of the board of regents, academic vice president, and vice president of financial affairs.

Dick Rush, ASUI president presented a welcome preceding Hartung's address, encouraging better relations with University faculty and outlining major activities sponsored by ASUI. Invocation and benediction were conducted by Dr. Stanley W. Thomas, director of the campus Christian Center.

Vocal solos were presented by Mary Barnett, off campus, accompanied by Prof. Hall Macklin on the organ, who also played prelude, processional, and recessional music.

2,802 Students Register

First Day's Total Under Last Year

IF YOU CAN WRITE YOU ARE IN was the comment of many as the first day of registration for Idaho classes began. Feeling somewhat like cattle being herded through the gymnasium students went to the various tables for their class cards, filled them out in ink and slowly made their way to the tuition counter.

Yesterday's registration ended with 2,802 students enrolled, down from the 2,861 for the first day registration last year. At the first faculty meeting of the year President Ernest W. Hartung predicted that the control figure of 6,400 students would be filled. Registration will continue today with late registration ending Oct. 5. The control figure, 6,400 students, is the number of students the administration will attempt to accommodate, F. L. O'Neill, registrar, said yesterday. O'Neill said that returning students would make up approximately 4,300 of the enrollment. New students are predicted to number 2,100.

Predictions on returning are usually accurate, O'Neill said, because of reliance on experience, factors, 94 percent of the Freshmen, 97 percent of the sophomores, 96 percent of the junior, and 44 percent of the senior usually return. Rumors circulated that enrollment of new students would be down because of the closing of applications at an earlier date this year.

In practice no instate new student was turned away because his application had been turned in late, Frank Young, director of admissions, said. Since the deadline had been changed to June 30 from a previously published date of August 1, any good excuse was accepted, he said.

The main effect of the earlier deadlines was to secure earlier applications he said. Young said that he had no information that registration would be lower than anticipated. He said that he felt the prediction would be a success if it came within 100 of the actual number. Rumors of lower registration partly stemmed from a lowered number of students going through rush. The situation in independent housing is not yet known. Richard W. Reed, Assistant director of housing, said that on paper all the women's halls were filled and there are 50 vacancies in the men's halls.

A student has until midnight tonight to claim his assigned room, Reed said. Last year the two day registration total was 5,715 with the final registration at 5,961. Late registration usually brings the final figure up from 4 to 6 percent over the two day registration total.

Graduate students may register Thursday without late fee, and faculty have until September 21 to register without late fee, O'Neill said.

TGIF, thank goodness it's Friday talent committee, will present "Starting the Year Off Right" at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the SUB Diner. The program includes folk singing and other entertainment says Paul Chappell, Beta, chairman.

Battle Of Palouse Schedules Uncertain

By TIM RARIK
Argonaut Sports Writer
Idaho and Washington State University shocked football fans this fall when they announced no play off games for the 1969 and 1971 football seasons. But athletic officials at both schools claim it is not the result of poor relations. Stan Bates, W.S.U. athletic director, and Paul Ostyn, Idaho's athletic director, both say that it is an inability to get together on a scheduling date that has caused the gap in rivalry and insist it is not a move to break the 73-year-old football tradition. The conflicts resulted when both schools were playing independent, non-conference schedules and both were having trouble filling out their football slates.

Bates pointed out that football games were scheduled between the two from 1972 through 1976. "If we were considering dropping Idaho from our schedule, we certainly wouldn't have made dates for those years," he said.

Bates mentioned that all remaining games between the Cougars and the Vandals will be played at Roger's Field on the W.S.U. campus, after this year's game October 15 at the Moscow stadium. "We were told we'd play future games at W.S.U. or not at all," said Ostyn "We want to continue this rivalry, so we agreed to play at Pullman."

"The larger size of the W.S.U. stadium makes it more profitable to play at WSU rather than at Idaho," Bates explained. However, the University of Idaho hopes, in the future, to have a new stadium to replace old Neale stadium. Ostyn explained that with this new structure he was confident a home basis could again be arranged.

University Bookstore will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Torchlight Rally Set Thursday

Torches carried by Intercollegiate Knights and marching students will mark first Idaho football rally of the season at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at McClean Field. Torchlight parades to the rally will begin at 8:10 p.m., from the Wallace Complex, Alpha Phi house and Teke House, according to Jim Williams, Upham, chairman of the pre-game rally committee.

During the rally, Dr. Ernest Hartung will speak. Coach Steve Musseau will introduce the Vandal football team and the Pom Pom Girls will teach the Vandal Fight Song, he said.

Law Students Get Scholarships

The Title Insurance Company Foundation of Boise presented scholarships totaling $1,050 to three University law students. Bud Ponack, company vice president, Lewiston, presented $350 awards to Faye Collier, Ritzville, Wash., a senior, Robert Farum, Moscow, a first year law student, and Charles Kozak, Kirkland, Wash., a former University basketball star and second year law student.

George M. Bell, dean of the College of Law, said, the Title Insurance Company Foundation has provided scholarships in law for the past six years.

Tryouts Begin for Vandaleers

Tryouts for Vandaleers will be held from 9 a.m. through 6 p.m. Friday at music building, according to Glen Lockery, group director. Membership in the Vandaleer concert choir is open to all regularly enrolled students in the University.

A male chorus, as a separate performing unit of the Vandaleer group, will be organized this year for special performances on the campus and in the Moscow community. The first appearance for the men is scheduled for October 27 when they will sing for the state convention audience of the Idaho Grange in Moscow.

Featured program of the season will be the traditional Christmas Candlelight Concert Dec. 18.

HANDING HER CARDS IN FOR A FINAL check is Linda Schwartz, Houston. Chuck Turner, Upham checks while John MacPhee looks on. Registration began yesterday and will continue through this afternoon. The last day for adding classes following registration is October 5.

Faculty Members Guests At Tea

New and returning University faculty had an opportunity to meet each other, the University president, vice presidents and a representative of the Board of Regents Sunday afternoon at an informal Presidential reception in the Student Union Ballroom.

In the receiving line, greeting faculty and staff, were Regent and Mrs. Elvon Hampton of Genesee, President and Mrs. Ernest W. Hartung, Vice President and Mrs. H. Walter Steffens, and Vice President and Mrs. Kenneth A. Dick.

Deans of the eight colleges and graduate school of the University served as hosts and hostesses for the reception. They included Dr. and Mrs. David Kendrick of the College of Business Administration, Dr. and Mrs. George Bell of the College of Law, Dr. and Mrs. Rolland Reid of the College of Mines, Dr. and Mrs. Melbourne Jackson of the Graduate School, Dr. and Mrs. James Kraus of the College of Agriculture, Dr. and Mrs. Boyd Martin of the College of Letters and Science, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Samuelson of the College of Education, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Janssen of the College of Engineering and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Wohletz of the College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences.

Those presiding at tea tables under the direction of Mrs. Heron Snider and Mrs. George Williams, included Mmes. Charles Dotts, George Roberts, Edmond Tyhtki, Ward Crowley, Robert Jones, Donald Clifton, Lonnie Williams, Dwight Kindschy, John Dixon, James Guthrie, Rueben Wagner, Edward Woolms, Donald Kees, Paul Kaus, Richard Snyder, and Ronald Ensign.

Ice carvings for the tea tables were created by Dean Vetrus, student union food service director. Flower arrangements were by William Snyder. Others assisting with decorations included Mrs. Robert Burns and Mrs. Victor Montgomery.

Alumnus Given Medal in Vietnam

Kenneth D. Randall, formerly of Craigmont and a 1963 alumnus of University of Idaho, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Phan Rang AB, Vietnam.

Captain Randall received the medal for meritorious service as assistant staff judge advocate at Turner AFB, Ga. He was cited for his exceptional initiative, skill and devotion to duty. The captain, who is assigned to Phan Rang, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K.K. Randall of Craigmont and is a graduate of Craigmont High School.

He earned a B.A. degree in political science in 1960 at the University of Idaho and a LL.B. degree in 1963 from the university's College of Law. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Alpha Delta.

His wife, Vauna, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Blewins of Craigmont.

Exhibit Features Husband-Wife Art

Drawings, prints and montages by Nicholas and Pamela Sazonick open the ASUI art exhibits in the student union.

The exhibit is the first of 14 that will be shown in the Vandal lounge of the SUB throughout the school year.

Sazonick, a new member of the Idaho art faculty, will be teaching drawing, design and sculpture. He received his Master of Fine Arts degree from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale this year. Prior to that he studied at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Mrs. Sazonick has studied at the Rhode Island School of Design for three years and hopes to finish her studies at Idaho. Her works in the show include the color prints, montages, and color drawings. The Sazonick husband-wife exhibit will be shown until October 15.

Case To Be ROTC Head

Colonel William N. Case, U.S. Marine Corps, relieved Captain Harry E. Davey, Jr., U.S. Navy as commanding officer of the University of Idaho's Naval Reserve Officers Training Corp. Colonel Case is the first Marine to command the naval unit in university history.

A Marine veteran of 25 years, Colonel Case was born in Portland, Ore. He saw duty as a fighter pilot in the South Pacific during World War II. He served as executive officer in a jet fighter attack squadron in Korea during 1952.

Colonel Case comes to Idaho from Washington, D.C., where he served with Marine headquarters and the Joint Chiefs of Staff in aviation matters.

A Marine aviator, he holds five Distinguished Flying Crosses, 16 Air Medals, a Purple Heart, Navy Commendation Ribbon, Presidential Unit Citation and Navy Unit Citation.

A 27-year Navy career came to an end as Captain Davey was "piped over the side" in ceremonies symbolizing his retirement.

Captain Davey, born in Keene, N.H., is a 1939 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He served here on the Navy ROTC faculty from 1950 to 1952, and returned in 1961 to complete his tour of duty.

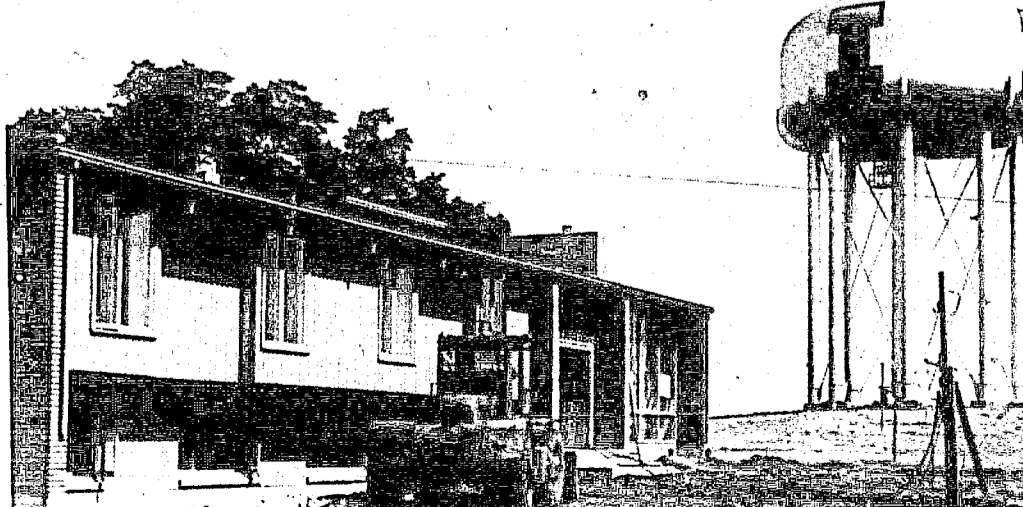

He has served on battleships, cruisers, destroyers, destroyer escorts, and submarines. During World War II, he was on submarine duty at the invasions of North Africa, at the Bay of Biscay, Iceland and Norway. His ship later joined the Pacific submarine force.

Captain Davey's decorations include the Silver and Bronze Star medals, commendation Ribbon and numerous other service medals. The NROTC staff presented Davey with a plaque commemorating his years of service at the university.

Captain and Mrs. Davey will make their home in Moscow. Davey has accepted the position of assistant dean of students with the University of Idaho.

PRES. ERNEST HARTUNG welcomed the class of 1970 to their first year at the University at the President's convocation Sept. 11. Over 1800 freshmen and many other students and faculty attended the convocation in the gymnasium.

A NEW HOME FOR THE PRESIDENT which was begun last spring is nearing completion and will soon be ready for the President and his family to move into. The home is located on Nez Perce drive near the large "I" Tower. Outdoor landscaping and indoor decorating is practically all that remains to be completed.

Argonaut Welcomes New, Returning U-I Students

Welcome to the University of Idaho Argonaut. The Argonaut first appeared in November, 1898, and is now published twice a week. A student-operated publication, the Argonaut offers interested students experience in news writing, photography, advertising, news editing, and copy reading. Anyone interested in working in any of these areas is welcome to visit the office in the basement of the SUB. Students of mythology will recognize an Argonaut as one of Jason's sailors aboard the good ship Argo. Searching for the Golden Fleece they sailed on much like our editors, will go forth searching for truth on matters of student interest.

In the spring of 1949, the "Idaho Argonaut" had completed fifty years of continuous service to its readers. The story of the Argonaut is a story of growth and progress. The paper was born during one war and has lived through two more. More than 60 "Jasons" have guided the Argonaut. It is the oldest student publication in the Inland Empire. This year Jason's post is being filled by two journalism coeds. First semester editor is Ellen Ostheller, Second semester Jean Monroe will take over the ship. And so the year of 1966-67 begins. We know that it will be a good one and we will earnestly try to serve you.

Roll Call

By Mike Wetherell

EDITORS NOTE:-----Mike Wetherell, off campus, has been the president of the University of Idaho Young Democrats for three years. This semester he will be writing his comments, from a political point of view, for the Argonaut in this weekly column. His topics are of his own choice and do not necessarily represent the views of the editorial staff. The Argonaut invites any criticism or opinions of the opposite point of view.

This is Roll Call. The name is chosen for a reason set in the author's mind. The Roll Call is the final vote. It's the place the big men can't hide any more. When the final decision is made, it is made... the vote must be cast and the vote is the record... the action has taken place and it should be open for all to see. This column will deal with record... the facts as they happen and why they happen... it is a political column and as such it will deal with matters that are in controversy... you may not agree with my opinion... but once this column is written it is the record... my record... which you have a right to criticize if you desire.

On campus: The Freshmen are here and a new administration is ready to begin the year. What the Executive Board and Mr. Rush will do is yet to be seen, but they might take a long hard look at student housing, the upcoming session of the Idaho legislature, the recreation facilities of the Wallace Complex and Student Government review and Revision. These are only a few of the problems that should be, but never have been, dealt with.

In the State: The long hot summer is over, and with its fall went up the resounding crash of Governor Robert E. Smylie's hopes for making the big time. 20 years on the public payroll ended for Smylie in the biggest primary upset in the nation. "After the Lion came the Jackie" Philip Jungert of Lewiston sniffed the seat of the Smylie death and rushed in the carcus with a shroud of Green Felt guaranteed to inture the deceased in style and solve all of the problems of the widowed Idaho. Gambling was now exhumed and preached Jungert promised to deliver a silverlined oration at the Smylie funeral.

State Senator Perry Swisher saw both of the men that he considered progressive turned down at the polls. With Smylie and State Senator Cecil Andrus, both six feet beneath the soil, Swisher felt it imperative that the graves be properly tended and set himself as groundskeeper in the progressive cemetery. Swisher, a born proponent of the lost cause, announced for Governor providing a free-for-all unparalleled in Idaho history.

Meanwhile Charles Herndon, the candidate of Idaho's long defunct Democratic Party sat as his ranch laying plans for the coming battle... or perhaps we should say watched his plans being laid for him. With Swisher taking the liberal as well as the Republican vote... with Jungert taking care of the gambling block and with Samulson courting the conservative element. The largest block of Idaho Voters... the Independent Moderate... looked upon Herndon with glazed eyes... Charles Herndon of Salmon may well be the next governor of Idaho... the First Democrat in 20 years... But then who knows... Dr. Hartung may run for Governor yet... everybody else is

Argonaut Goes To Press; Needs Writers, Information

The first time the Argonaut goes into production at the beginning of each school year is always a day of wonder, doubt, happiness, missed deadlines, forgotten formats, and relief when the pages are finally locked on the press. The question that always comes to mind is, how on earth does a college paper go to press? This question remains throughout the year but is most prevalent the first few issues, when new students aren't aware of the paper's existence and returning ones have forgotten. This year the Argonaut editors were lucky. People remembered the paper and have been asking for a week when it would come out. However, we always have that element of doubt, will reporters come down to help write the copy? This year, again, we were lucky. When Ellen and I arrived at the office yesterday at 1 p.m., the only person in the office was our advertising manager. We jokingly remarked that we might have to write every inch of copy. The joke fell flat because it has happened to past editors. Soon our managing editor and news editors arrived on the scene followed by the social editor. Sweet relief. A sports writer came down to volunteer his services and was given some strange assignments because the sports editor couldn't be found. Soon he came dashing in from the athletic department with an armload of copy and information and we were in business. The day was complete when our photographer came down to take pictures and develop them (photographers usually can't be found for weeks) and some past reporters and a new volunteer arrived to offer their services.

As if by magic, people with news found out we were writing again and the stories started to pour in. Everything was written, edited, assigned a place on the pages and the first issue of the 1966-67 Argonaut was ready to go to press. This is not to say that all issues will go this smoothly nor will all issues be this small. In order to put out a good paper, help is needed and volunteers are welcome. Throughout the year the Argonaut will try to cover campus issues thoroughly and fairly. It is designed as a campus newspaper and will deal primarily with campus issues although we may stray occasionally into politics and special issues of state, national and international significance. We thank those who helped with the first issue and hope their numbers increase. J.M.

Golden Fleece

By Ellen Ostheller, Jason 79

Welcome to the University of Idaho, both new and returning students. Awaiting you this year is a big new world of excitement, complexities and challenges never before experienced by any class in the University's 76 year history, for there have been many changes, many improvements and many additions made to the old Idaho campus.

Both the state and city are in a squeeze; the state to raise the money to support the institution, the city to house the minimum 2500 students that are predicted to live in off-campus housing, either by choice or due to the shortage of dormitory space.

Prime the Pump

For the freshmen who are finding everything new and confusing, life here will soon become a part of the old routine. And like many of the upperclassmen, newcomers will grow to love and respect the University as a part of themselves. For it is a part of them; their time, effort, patience and learning that make up the character and reputation of this institution. They will find that their studies here are somewhat like the words to the song about priming the old well pump, which say...

The state's problem was partially solved last year when the sales tax came into effect, giving the university a 30 per cent budget increase for the biennium. But according to the University President Ernest W. Hartung, a 30 to 40 per cent budget increase is still needed for the next biennium, and in the event the university budget were cut back to the pre-sales tax level, there would be a decrease of 60 per cent. This, he said, would cause loss of faculty, and federal grants and the capital outlay program would have to be abandoned.

You have to prime the pump. You must have faith and believe. You must first give of yourself before you can receive.

Money Needed

Using the analogy of the well, the studies at the University are also similar to it, for in both you may dip as deeply as you like, with the most effort resulting in the most refreshing rewards.

New Atmosphere

For returning and continuing students, the University is taking on a new atmosphere, also. For one thing it is bigger. Not only do registration lines seem longer, they ARE longer. Enrollment projections are shooting beyond the 6400 mark and total enrollment has gone up 30.97 per cent over the past two years. Even the campus landscape is changing with the addition of the new art and architecture building, the construction of the new St. Augustine's Catholic Center, and the new wing of the Wallace Residence, and now a big space in back of the administration building where the temporary classroom buildings were and where the proposed education building will be.

Housing Needed

While there are problems, there are also many points of merit which need mention. Associate Professor of Accounting, Robert Clark, for example, was cited by Esquire Magazine recently as a "super-prof." The listing came in Esquire's annual September back-to-school issue, which included thirty-three professors representing schools throughout the country.

Growth Makes Problems

But with this growth there are also problems. Where will the additional students be housed? Will there be enough teachers, classrooms, equipment? How is this giant in education to be financed?

Super-Prof Cited

Another point of interest, and something we might not know if the editor didn't talk to "wrong numbers" on the telephone, is that State Sen. and independent candidate for governor, Perry Swisher, will be in Moscow next Wednesday. Swisher dialed the Argonaut by mistake Monday night and in answer to many consequent questions, expressed an interest in speaking to University students during his stay. He suggested a joint meeting of both young democrats and republicans.

U of I, WSU Plan Parking Program

The University of Idaho and Washington State University have reported serious traffic problems due to large numbers of pedestrians and cars concentrated in a small area. Both universities have tried to correct this problem by setting up new car lots and pedestrian crossings.

Idaho has set up a zoning ordinance. Each student must register his car by using the special IBM card found in each registration packet. He will then receive a decal, free of charge, which can be obtained at the Student Information Center between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The decal will classify the student in a certain parking zone. Classification is based on the individual's housing location.

Failure to register a student motor-driven vehicle or failure to display the decal in the proper location, constitutes a traffic violation which is subject to a $5 fine. The decal should be displayed on the lower right hand corner of the rear window. They must be obtained and cars must be marked by Monday, motorists will be subject to fine.

Three zones besides the restricted area have been mapped out. Zone A is designated for those associated with Wallace Complex and Park Village areas. Zone B is to be used by commuting off campus population. Zone C is supplied for Greek affiliated persons. Students are urged to observe their zoning privileges and the restricted areas marked for the staff and faculty.

Although the parking lot behind Gault Hall has been closed, another lot, located behind the library, will be completed in the near future. A new meter lot is planned behind the Pi Phi House.

WSU has resorted to more drastic traffic control measures on the campus. In order to protect pedestrians, officials have chained off a T-shaped mall in the center of campus. Traffic and parking are restricted in this area from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

A new parking lot for staff, students, and visitors was constructed to compensate for the lost space due to the mall. The mall and new lots are part of WSU's long-range plan to completely eliminate traffic in the center of campus.

Both campus police forces urge motorists to observe all traffic rules and obey all speed limit restrictions. The U of I campus speed limit is 20 MPH on all campus streets and 10 MPH in family housing areas.

WSU Begins Rush Activities Friday

WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY — Rush activity for 340 girls begins Friday at Washington State University.

A week-long schedule of activities will be climaxed on Sept. 23 when the girls will receive their pledge bids and choose their sorority.

E. Anne Winchester, assistant dean of women and advisor to Panhellenic at WSU, said the number of rushees is considerably smaller this year because the grade point eligibility has been increased. To qualify, freshmen women must present a grade point average of 2.8, compared to the previous requirement of 2.5. Girls with previous college work must have an average of 2.5, compared with 2.3 last year.

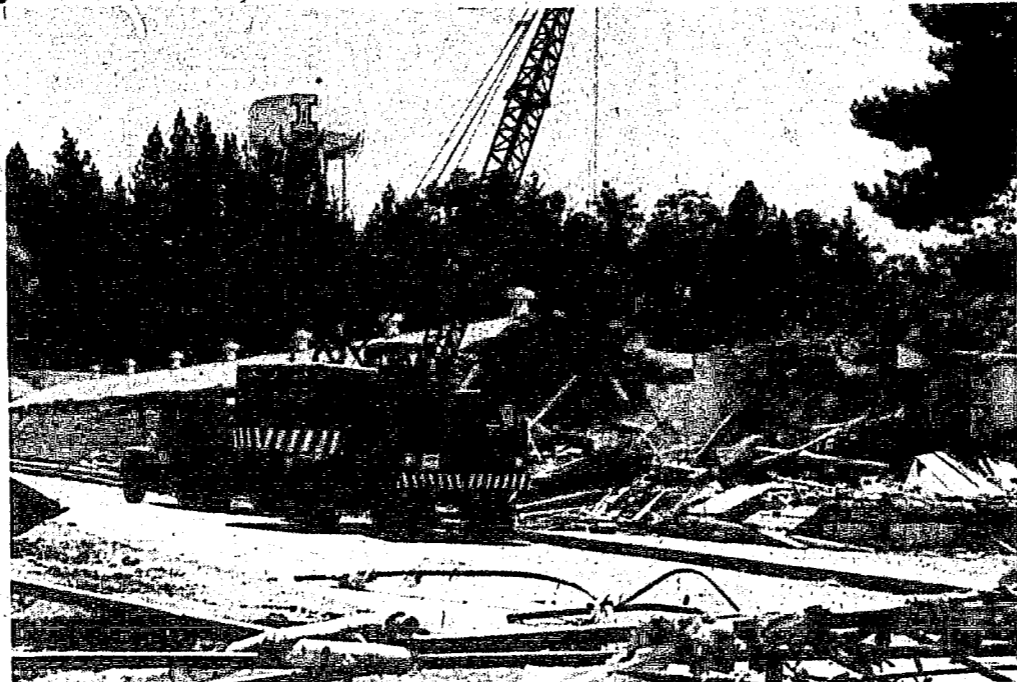

Miss Winchester said a much larger percentage of the girls going through rush will be pledged because of the elevated standards. As of last spring, there were 721 girls living in the 14 national sororities at WSU.

The girls will begin arriving on campus Friday, where they will be housed in Streit-Perham residence halls. Twenty-two members of the Panhellenic council at WSU will live with the girls and serve as rush counselors during the week.

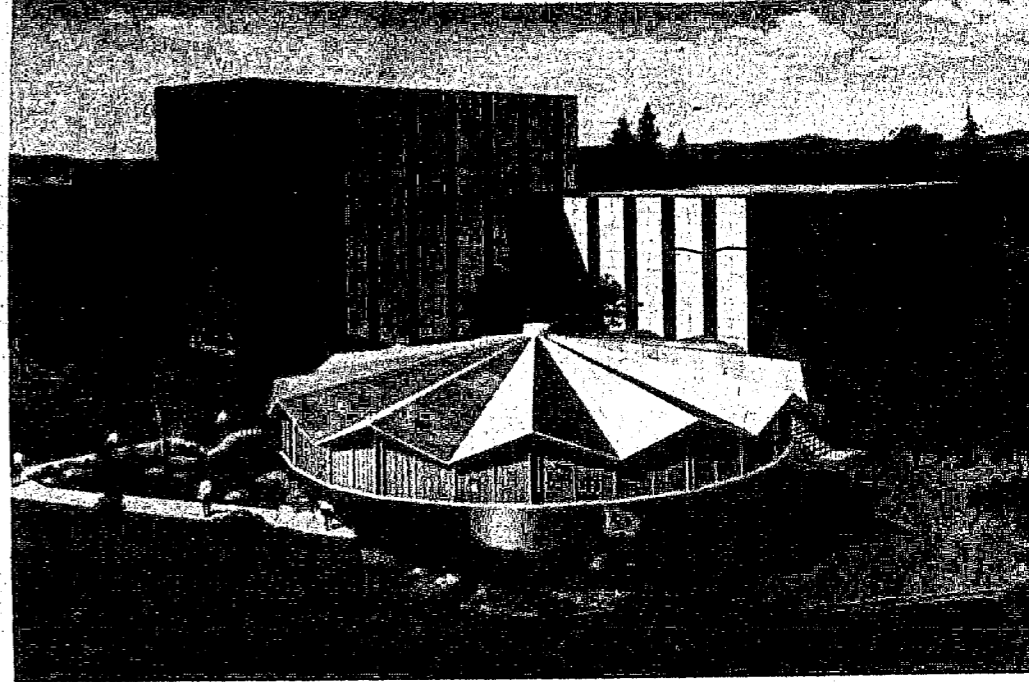

The rushees will attend their first parties Friday evening, kicking off a round of activities including coffee hours, talent shows, rush meetings, house visitations, dinners and open house.

Pledge bids will be handed out at 10 a.m. Sept. 23 outside Streit-Perham halls, after which the girls will go to their new sororities for the traditional "squeal" luncheons. The girls will remain on campus to start adjusting to their new life and for the beginning of school Sept. 29.

Old Makes Way For New

FAMILIAR SIGHT—The old TC2 building behind the Administration building was torn down this summer to make way for the new College of Education. The prefabricated structure was moved to the University in 1947 to help relieve the crowded classroom situation caused by war veterans.

NEW LOOK—Artist's conception of the new College of Education as it will be seen from the baseball field shows what will take the place of the TC2's, which were torn down the last week in August. The circular room in the foreground, is the kiva, a new concept in lecture rooms.

The area behind the Administration building will be taking on a new look in the near future. The new College of Education building will stand where Temporary Classroom Building 2, better known as the TC2's, stood until the last week in August. The TC2's have been temporary since 1947, when they were moved onto the campus to relieve the post-war crowded classrooms situation.

But the old structure is now a thing of the past and in its place will be a $1,700,000 College of Education. Plans for this building were approved by the last session of the legislature and bids will go out this spring.

In conjunction with the new college will be a $225,000 Industrial and Technical Education Building, to be built behind the SAE house. Both buildings were designed by Hummel, Hammel, Jones and Shawver of Boise.

"The new buildings will greatly improve the College of Education curriculum. The staff has been doing a wonderful job but it just doesn't have the facilities," Everett V. Samuelson, dean of the College of Education, said.

The five-story center will include everything from kindergarten facilities to a floor devoted to the psychology to a research bureau.

Samuelson explained that the first floor will contain the kindergarten, closed circuit TV center and University reading clinic. All rooms in the building will be able to tune into this TV circuit, which can broadcast actual clinical situations through two-way mirrors or can broadcast films.

The University reading clinic is composed of individual cubicles, where any student may work to improve his reading skill.

Staff members will work with the students and the cubicles will be equipped with reading pacers and other apparatus. During the summer the clinic will be used in the teacher education program.

First floor will also include a special education wing featuring a speech and hearing clinic and speech therapy. This area could also be opened to University students, who had been advised by the speech department to work in these areas, Samuelson said. A special education classroom for mentally retarded students will be included in the wing.

The second floor is devoted entirely to psychology. Experimental and general psychology and guidance and counseling will be emphasized.

The new concept in teaching, the kiva, is also at the second floor level. The circular structure is centered by a pit 20 feet in diameter, which can be used as the teaching and lecture center. The center is ringed by three platforms, each 18 inches above the preceding one. Lectures can be given from the center the class can separate in groups and hold discussions or students may do individual work on the top platform while a lecture is going on, Samuelson explained.

With the proper lighting and dressing room facilities, the kiva could easily be converted into a theater-in-the-round for use by the drama department, he pointed out.

Third floor will contain the learning center with a new media area for audio-visual aids education and a curriculum library, which will include library science education.

Fourth floor will house the special studies laboratories. Rooms will be equipped for education in social studies, science, math, the language arts and school administration. This floor will also contain the faculty lounge.

All research projects and the Bureau of Education Research will be placed on the fifth floor, Samuelson said. The entire building will be air conditioned.

The Industrial and Technical Education Building will be a single-floored structure. Included in it will be labs for metal work, electronics, the graphic arts and wood working. A planning and research area will also be included.

Season Highlight Set For KUID-Viewers

KUID — TV, channel 12, at the University will offer its viewers a sampling of highlights from programs in National Educational Television's 1966-67 season at 8 p.m. Tuesday, and 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 22.

Actor James Daly, one of many performers who will appear this year on the network's programs, will serve as host and narrator on the special N.E.T. preview. The half-hour program will include excerpts from new weekly series in public affairs, drama, and science, as well as segments from individual special programs.

N.E.T. Journal, which each week will examine "one of the vital issues which affect our lives as citizens of a land in ferment and a world in turmoil," is represented by highlights from "To Be a Man," a film about the complicated life of today's college student; from "Schizophrenia: The Shattered Mirror," an exploration of this country's most prevalent and most misunderstood mental illness; and from a two-part study of the American press.

N.E.T. Playhouse, a year-long series of full-length weekly dramas, films, and musical presentations, is represented by a climactic scene from the Arthur Miller adaptation of Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People," in which Daly, winner of a 1966 Emmy Award, portrays the controversial Dr. Stockmann. N.E.T. playhouse will include works by Tennessee Williams, Maxwell Anderson and other giants of the theater.

Channel 12's N.E.T. preview will also include a brief glimpse of a "Segovia Master Class," one of 14 half hours which show the 73-year-old classical guitarist teaching a group of young guitar virtuosos from all over the world.

Excerpts from N.E.T. special programs will include a portion of "The Golden Ring," which documents the recording in Vienna of Wagner's "Goetterdaemmerung"; an intimate portrait

"The Park Bench" To Be Shown Thurs.

"The Park Bench" or "...", a film which was televised by students in the drama and radio and television departments last year will be shown to all students interested tomorrow evening at 4 p.m.

The one act play was written and directed by Julie Martineau. Students will meet at the U-hut for the meeting.

WSU Regents Okay Next Head

Washington State University board of regents recently announced the anticipated appointment of Dr. Wallis Beasley as acting president of the University. Dr. C. Clement French was named president emeritus, his formal retirement to be Oct. 31, but he will relinquish his duties Sept. 1.

Dr. French was praised by the regents for his 14 years of "distinguished service in which the university made steady and continuous growth." "In My Opinion," "Interrel," "The Creative Person," and (for children) "What's New."

Dr. Beasley has been academic vice president at Washington State since November, 1964.

Three Doctors To Head This Year's Infirmary Stafflist

Students now receive the most comprehensive health service ever offered in University history," said Charles Decker, dean of students.

For the first year students can participate in new low cost health and accident insurance programs to reduce possible financial burdens, and assure a continued education, said Decker.

Three new full-time physicians and two nurses have joined the university staff. Dr. W.D. Fitzgerald heads the out-patient clinic and student hospital. He had been college physician, for the last 15 years, at Delta State College, Cleveland, Miss.

Dr. Robert Leonard, retired chief of medical service at West Point, and Dr. Myron Baumgartner, who for the past 15 years practiced medicine in Alamogordo, N.M., complete the medical staff.

According to Dr. Fitzgerald, all students entering the university are required to take a complete physical examination. This is usually done by the family physician, and his report is reviewed by the university clinic. The clinic examines all athletes. This week 55 football players must meet rigid physical requirements.

Dr. Fitzgerald says that 75 percent of all university sickness is found in upper respiratory infections, colds, sore throats, and earaches.

Physical and mental fatigue are also common to hard-working students. An education, according to Dr. Fitzgerald, is hard work, and most sickness can be avoided by adequate food and rest.

Dr. Fitzgerald praised the university for its modern, up-to-date hospital, and encouraged students to make complete use of the facility.

KUOI In 21st Broadcast Year

KUOI began its 21st year as the "Voice of the Vandal" when it resumed broadcasting Sunday afternoon. KUOI was established Nov. 15, 1945, making it the oldest radio station in the Moscow area.

"Staff members are looking forward to a rapidly expanding professional-sounding radio station," according to Advertising Manager Larry Seale, off campus. "We anticipate using the revenues from our new advertising program to build the ideal campus radio station. This program was given final approval by the Board of Regents last year and will be initiated soon."

"Our main purpose is to serve the students of the University of Idaho," said Program Director Emma Sawyer, Pine. "We do this by, not only trying to offer music which appeals to the college listener, but also by presenting news, sports and special events of both an educational and entertaining nature. During the 109 hours a week that we broadcast, we try to offer as much uninterrupted music as possible, because we feel that this is what our audience wants. We want to build a station designed with the student in mind."

"Although KUOI is a carrier-current (closed circuit) radio station," explained Chief Engineer Alvin H. Burgemeister, off campus, "most students should be able to receive it like any other station by tuning to 660 Kc. on the dial. A few of the living groups (notably Wallace Complex) are not fully connected to our system yet," he continued. "We hope to connect them before the semester is over."

There are approximately 250 stations similar to this one, which broadcasts only to those students living on campus. However, KUOI is the only campus radio station in the West that is completely owned and operated by students. The staff consists of over 50 men and women of varied backgrounds. Those who operate the station rarely put in more than five hours per week. Of the entire staff, almost ninety per cent are majoring in fields other than radio-television, and are representative of almost every living group, both Greek and independent.

NEW DISC JOCKEY Marshall Baker, smiles as he shows the photographer how he goes on and off the air. The University radio station, KUOI, is on the air 109 hours a week. The station broadcasts from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. weekends.

Gail Hanninen Is Volunteer

Gail Hanninen, daughter of Mrs. Frieda E. Hallstrom, Ennis, has been named Peace Corps Volunteer to Jamaica, having completed 10 weeks of training at San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif.

New volunteers will work with service teacher training concerned mainly with pre-school and primary teachers. They will also work in home economics and vocational industrial arts fields. This group will also be among the first to work with educational television with particular emphasis on obtaining maximum use through better trained teachers. The entire group will be scattered throughout the island particularly in small mountain villages. Some of these volunteers will also be working with rural co-operatives.

With their arrival, 100 Peace Corps Volunteers will be working on the Caribbean island in teaching and teacher training, health and community development programs.

During training the Volunteers studied methods of education, education television methods and development of cooperatives. They practiced their teaching for 3 weeks in San Diego schools while the community development program Volunteer spent the same 3 weeks of field work in nearby slums.

This new group of Volunteers departed for Jamaica on Aug. 30.

The University of Idaho was founded in 1898. It was the first four-year institution in the state.

Vets Must Apply For Benefits

"Veterans who plan to register for classes this semester must complete applications for Veteran Administration Benefits prior to registration," said Dewey Newman, assistant dean of students. Applications can be obtained from Newman in room 101 in the University Classroom Center (UCC). "Veterans must present a record of their service, marriage and dependents with the application," Newman said. "Many are unable to do so and will be unable to receive the benefits of eligibility at the registration line and report to the veteran's table at the head of the registration line."

This procedure applies to all veterans, disabled veterans, war orphans, and children of disabled veterans. This entire procedure is encompassed by GI bills passed by Congress. During its history, KUOI has provided training and experience for many persons who have gone on to careers in radio as a result of their association with it at the University of Idaho. All of the equipment which is used in the operation and maintenance is owned by the students, and in some instances was designed and built by students or faculty of the University. Because of the investment of time, money, talent and faith which has gone in to KUOI's conception and operation since 1945 by the students of the University of Idaho, it is truly the students' "Voice of the Vandal."

Science Information Topic For Speaker

Richard Sweet, of the Institute for Scientific Information, will be on the University of Idaho campus Tuesday, to describe the Science Citation Index. His talk will be given in University Classroom Center, room 202 at 1:30 p.m. All members of the faculty, staff and student body are invited. Sample copies of the SCI are available on the third floor of the library for examination.

The University of Idaho campus, including the "home" farm of the Agricultural Experiment Station, covers more than 1,200 acres. There are more than 100 buildings. In a 1960 survey, the University of Idaho was ranked 55th among 836 colleges and universities in graduates doing advanced work leading to college teaching careers.

Idaho football hopes have soared upward since 1893 when the Vandals played their first organized football even though they lost their opening game to the Spokane Athletic Club, 10-8. The rough-and-tumble Vandals finished out their two game schedule that year with a 10-0 shutout of Washington State.

In 1898 the only games scheduled were with Washington and when the Cougars refused to play on Idaho's field, the season abruptly ended with nobody setting foot on the gridiron. The next year was action-packed as the Vandals took on the Wallace Athletic Club. Yes, that's right—the one up north. There is no record of the outcome but a game was played.

Huskies a Nuisance

The following year Idaho played only one game in which they edged Washington, 12-6. From then on the Huskies have stopped the Vandals in their tracks beating them 26 times with only one other defeat. Among their 26 victories, 16 of them have been shutouts. After five consecutive shutouts, the Vandals waited an even 10 years before they scheduled another game with the Huskies in 1922 but were promptly held scoreless for three more years.

In 1905 Idaho football fortunes hit their peak as the Vandals completed a five-game schedule undefeated. That year Montana State fell by the wayside, 50-0 as did four other opponents: Washington, 9-0, Washington State, 5-0, Lewiston Normal, 41-2, and Whitman, 9-0.

Last spring the Vandals traveled to Coeur d'Alene for an intrasquad game but back in 1906 Idaho played Coeur d'Alene High School in a regular game. The collegians defeated the bubble-gummers, 23-0, but don't laugh. The following year the best they could do was tie them, 0-0.

During the next decade, the Silver and Gold played such teams as the Bremerton Navy, College of Puget Sound and the College of Idaho emerging each time with a victory. The Vandals whopped the Boise All Stars, 21-0 in 1909. It's no wonder that the northern boys don't always receive such a warm reception down south.

Gonzaga Tries Their Luck

Gonzaga's Bulldogs had a football team in 1910 and the Vandals rudely christened it, 46-6. Lucky 1913 was a banner year for the Vandals until they were defeated by the Multnomah Athletic Club, 20-9. I haven't decided whether that is an Indian tribe or an extinct race but it's on the record books and Idaho is on the short end of the score.

Then along came World War I and Idaho entertained such opponents as the Ninth Army Corps which they defeated 6-0, but then came the Marines. The Vandals got ambushed, 46-0, and that was the last of the service teams for awhile—but two years later in 1923, Idaho enjoyed its greatest margin of victory with an 83-0 drubbing of Idaho College. I think the Vandals scored twice before the national anthem was even played.

To go along with the stock market crash in 1929, Idaho's gridirers suffered their worst defeat in history. This was a 72-0 humiliation at the hands of the Trojans of Southern California. Previously Idaho had not beaten the big-town boys from Los Angeles and this defeat was just sort of a climax since the two teams have not tangled on the gridiron since.

Anderson Assumes Basketball Duties

Wayne D. Anderson, 35, was named the new head basketball coach for the University of Idaho following the August 18 resignation of James Goddard, who had accepted an administrative position with the Oregon State Department of Education at Salem, Anderson, who has held the position of top assistant through four head coaches since 1957, was chosen Sept. 9th from a group of 38 candidates from various parts of the country. He has also coached football and baseball at Idaho, last year directing the Vandal baseballers to a 34-9 record, winning the Big Sky conference title and finishing second in the district NCAA playoffs.

Wayne Anderson
New Basketball Coach

Goddard, whose three seasons as head coach at Idaho were unsuccessful from the win-loss viewpoint, resigned his position stating that his "association with Idaho the last three years has been an educational and enlighted the St. Louis Hawaii Alumni, 20-14. Following this triumph they played their cousins at the University of Hawaii but were defeated by a 37-0 margin. Finding the Islands not too hospitable, the Vandals traveled East to Massachusetts where they were host to the Eagles of Boston College. Boston didn't take too well to the foreigners and Idaho ended up on the short end of a 60-0 deficit.

Before long we were again at war and the Vandals tried a steady diet of service teams starting in 1942 Idaho again did not have any luck with Uncle Sam's boys in uniform as they were defeated twice by the Farragut Navy and blanked by the Second Air Force, 14-0. This time the Vandals did not even invite the Marines to a friendly contest.

Beginning in 1949 the Vandals decided to go big time and that they did as they played the University of Texas but the Longhorns proved a might too strong for the Vandals defeating them, 56-7. This was followed by a 51-7 shellacking by Army. From there Idaho played the Air Force Academy 10 years later but the old service plague was still with them as they dropped a 21-0 decision to the Falcons.

Three years ago Idaho scheduled a game with Big Eight Conference contender, Missouri, but again the Vandals were held scoreless by a 24-0 margin. In 1964 the Vandal gridirers traveled to Iowa City, Iowa. After leading 24-21, the Vandals succumbed to Big Ten Iowa in a 34-24 thriller which the Hawkeyes still remember.

This year the men in silver and gold start their 74th campaign on the football field with Vandal football fans having a good opportunity to see them in action with four home games on the agenda. The Vandals have had a colorful history and will continue to have as they play coast to coast for the cause of football.

Located in Moscow, with a population of about 14,000, the University of Idaho is largely a residential institution.

ning experience, I am resigning my position as head basketball coach because I couldn't pass this opportunity up professionally or financially."

Paul E. Ostyn, University of Idaho Athletic Director said, "I am happy that Goddard has an opportunity to continue his career in a new and enjoyable area. We wish him all the best."

Goddard, who replaced Joe Cipriano in 1963, had coached previously at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, his alma mater, before joining the Vandal staff.

The announcement of Anderson's hiring was made by University President, Ernest W. Hartung following a meeting of the Board of Regents in Boise, Anderson's was recommended by the University Board of Control and Athletic Director Paul Ostyn.

Anderson graduated from Idaho in 1953 where he won letters in football, basketball and baseball. A native of Spokane, he was an outstanding athlete at John R. Rogers High School. Following a tour of duty with the Army after graduation, Anderson returned to the Idaho where he was a director of intramurals while earning his masters degree in Education.

In 1957 he became freshman football coach under J.N. Stahley and assistant basketball coach under Harlan Hodges. He was also named head basketball coach. He quit coaching football in 1960, but continued in basketball and baseball.

Ostyn said that Anderson will relinquish his baseball duties and two new men to fill the open positions will be named in the near future.

Idaho Gridders Look Impressive

This year could be a big one for the Idaho Vandals, as they are fielding a team that has both depth and experience. The football gridirers have been practicing an even two weeks and are pretty well set for the season opener in Seattle against the Washington Huskies.

In last Saturday's scrimmage, head coach Steve Musseau had praise for his quarterback John Foruria. Said Musseau, "He looks great and I think he'll give us a little something in the way of a passing attack that Idaho fans haven't seen."

Backing up Foruria are Joe Rodriguez (6-0, 200), from Compton, Calif. and Steve Garmon (6-1, 185), from Caldwell. Rodriguez finished 8th in the nation last year in punting with a 42.1 yard average in 36 punts. Rounding out the quarterback corps is Paul Gentile, a junior from Boise.

In the backfield the Vandals will have Joe McCollum (5-9, 165) at wingback backed up by sophomore Ken Dotson (6-0, 179) from Berkeley, Calif.

At the deepback position will be Al-American Ray McDonald. Thunder Ray looks as strong as ever and should do his usual amount of damage of opposing enemies this year. Backing up McDonald is Spokane's Rob Young (6-1, 205).

In the setback position, Denny McCanna, another Spokaneite, is firmly anchored followed by Butch Slaughter (5-9, 194) who has looked quite impressive in early drills.

At the ends will be Manny Murrell, a sophomore from Long Beach, Calif. and Twin Fall's Tim Lavens who has been switched from his fullback position of last year. Next in line are Rich Toney (6-0, 196) from Boise and Jim Thieman from Coeur d'Alene.

Taking over the tackle positions are Gary Fitzpatrick (6-4, 250) from Calgary, Alberta and Gary Grove (6-5, 250). Other rough - and - tumble veterans include Spokane's Jack Bryant and Brian Evans from Baker, Ore.

Staking out the guard positions are Steve Ulrich (6-1, 212) and Bill Bufton from Vancouver, B.C. Right behind them is Bob McCray, 6-0, 220 sophomore from Spokane.

Holding down the center position are Bob Skuse (6-1, 220) from Los Gatos, Calif. and Gary Atkinson (6-2, 230), a junior from Lakewood, Calif.

Weber State Poses Big Vandal Threat

If this year's football predictors are true to their word the Vandals should walk away with the Big Sky football title. The Vandals are in the best physical condition ever and should have the depth in case of any key injuries.

Challenging the Vandals will be Weber State who tied Idaho for conference honors last year. They have a good scoring threat in all-conference talkback Henry Owens and have their entire defensive backfield returning. Weber State was ranked fifth in the nation last year among small colleges and will have to sharpen up if they are to improve on last year's 8-1 record.

The Montana State Bobcats are an average team in scoring potential but have an excellent field goal kicker in ski ace Jan Stenerud, a soccer-type kicker who set a national record last year with a 59-yard boot.

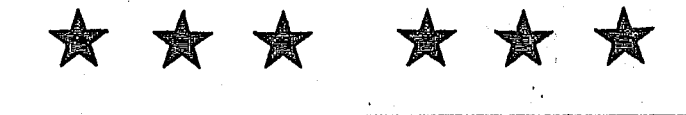

The Grizzlies from Montana could be a year away from victory which means one thing—they are in the midst of a vast rebuilding program. The team is mostly composed of sophomores and juniors who will have to turn their potential if Montana is to win this year.

Something New

Things are kind of slow down south at Idaho State as the Bengals inherit a new coaching staff and new offense. They will have a pro type offense which new head coach Leo McKillip hopes will bring success.

Jim Martin, former NFL kicking star and linebacker has joined McKillip and they are both Notre Dame products. Former head coach Italp (Babe) Caccia has moved to assistant athletic director after 14 years as football coach.

The other Big Sky member, Gonzaga, does not have a football team so only five teams will be competing for the football crown.
