Liquid Sunshine Just Ain't That Great

So this is spring in the Palouse?

The weatherman is making liars out of all the old students who have been caroling to the frosh about the wonders of Moscow in May. The old line about the joys of springtime just doesn't hold water-or does it? Judging from the recent misplaced April showers, it holds buckets and maybe even gallons.

Students look miserable, new shoes are ruined, bright spring clothes are never seen, colds are thriving and, worst of all, there is nothing to do but study. Disappearing in the streams of liquid sunshine are the days of pastoral pleasure and sylvan silence.

Ah, well, things may be better in June. But who cares? We won't be here anyway.

Closer Look At The Bookstore

Steps are being taken to investigate the use of profits from the University Bookstore. At the same time, mutterings from students suggest that perhaps an investigation of the stock at the bookstore and policies concerning what is stocked and what is not should be examined.

One student reported that he could find no E. E. Cummings poetry or J. R. R. Tolkien books. He had heard that the Cummings works weren't stocked because they were "too rank" and he simply couldn't understand why Tolkien wasn't allowed on the campus.

A quick check proved that both beliefs were erroneous but undoubtedly believed by many students. The Bookstore happens to be out of works by both authors at this time but has stocked them before and will

What Students Want

However, this does open the door for discussion of what students want to read, The E-Board committe that is studying the Bookstore is seriously considering circulating a questionnaire about the use of profits to the students. Perhaps that would be a good time to check and find out what students really want to read.

There has been some conversation about carrying periodicals of various sorts at the Bookstore. However, as rumor has it, the campus store does not want to go into competition with downtown businesses. Truth or fiction, there is still a demand for magazines readily accesible to the students. Why not at the Bookstore?

As a quick refresher course in how the University Bookstore works, here are a few is a profit making organization owned by the Regents of the University. The corporate statement says that the profits are in trust to Idaho students and must come back in some form to the students.

This practice has been followed faithfully but most students don't realize that various projects are being financed by this particular money.

Questions

The question in the minds of the E-Board committee members is whether this money could be used for many small pro jects rather than a few large ones. In the past the money was devoted almost entirely to large one-time-only expenditures.

The committee is also investigating the possibility of recommending to the Board of Regents that it lower the mark-up rate on supplies. There is little that can be done about the price of books because of the publisher's fair trade rules, one committee member said.

Judging from the interest students are taking in the Bookstore, this investigation and any possible recommendations may be one of the more worthwhile things E-Board will do during its term of office. Even if it does no more than strip away the cloak of doubt that has enveloped the operation for some time, it will be worth the time

U-I Civil War

Our nose for news and super sleuth Editorial ears have picked up rumors that with the advent of spring (?) the campus may well erupt into civil war. It seems that the enthusiastic tenants of Gault and Upham Halls have the nasty habit of stealing up the hill and firing off the TKE cannon. This leads to unhappiness and physical disagreement.

In other words, several nights ago there was out and out warfare up and down the hill, which very few knew about except the participants. In fact, the fighting was so secret that even the campus cops couldn't find out what was going on. But then, what else is new?

Thoughts of Peace

Thoughts of war seem to lead to thoughts of peace these days, so here is the latest offering on that subject from California. It is a reprint from the May 2 edition of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Editor: Our government does not hear those of us who want peace in Vietnam. We are passed off as a minority fringe. We are not. Let's prove it: Beginning Memorial Day, drive with your headlights on at all times to show your devotion to peace and to human life. Our government will see the millions of us who shine the Light of Peace. Signed, Kent Bach.

If nothing else, it should provide a coming business for America's headlight companies.

New Jasons

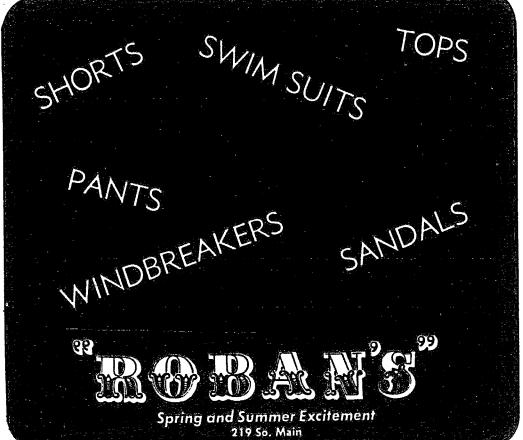

Well, the new editors of the Arg were named today and it looks like the swan song for old EO and Jason-we don't think we'll detect too many tears on campus.

It looks like things could be lively around here next year. For one thing Julie Anderson will no doubt appear as a rose among thorns, but we'll see how long that image lasts after her first Fleece.

Andersonville

Then there is the aspect of both Jasons having Anderson for a surname. We assure you, they are not related although the name could lead to some interesting situations. They are now trying to persuade Dick Sherman, who will be managing editor, to get into the swing of things and change his Anyway prospects are good that the Argonaut may be renamed Andersonvilleand anyone who has taken American history knows what that was.

WHAT'S AMATTER? DAUGHTER PREGNANT, WIFE LEAVE YOU OR DID YOUGET YOUR TEACHER EVALUATIONS BACK?

Dogcatcher Chases Church; Argonaut Writer Bites Back

Idaho politics has once again taken a bizarre turn. The John Birch Society has a dog catcher, armed with a recall petition, chasing a United States Senator. As much as it sounds like a scene out of the three stooges, it's happening in Idaho.

The dog catcher, from Saint Maries, has filed a petition to recall U.S. Senator Frank Church with the Idaho Secretary of State. In his petition, which is signed by 20 people—25,500 short of the required number to authorize a recall election — the dog catcher charges Church with "giving aid and comfort to the Soviet Union." He predicates his charges on the grounds that Church has opposed escalation of the war in Vietnam, and voted for the Soviet Consular treaty.

"RUBBISH!"

This type of political action is totally unacceptable for two reasons.

First, it is an abuse of the recall machinery and of questionable legality. The machinery that authorizees a recall election was instituted around the turn of the century, along with referendum and initiative.

Recall movements were never intended to take the place of elections. Recall was not intended to be used to fight philosophical battles. Those should be waged at regularly scheduled elections, and not in the interim.

The legality of attemtping to recall an elected federal official has also been contested. Since a senator falls under the jurisdiction of the United States Constitution, and it prescribes no recall machinery, it may not be possible to recall him under the provisions of state

Secondly, if the positions that the John Birchers are persecuting Church for are grounds for anything, it is reelection in 1968—not recall.

The recall petition cites two reasons for the proposed action. First, "Church has supported the Soviet Consular Treaty, thereby giving aid and comfort to the Soviet Union."

they should remember that J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F. B. I., who endorsed the treaty and said that it would present "minimal security problems which can be easily handled. The recall petition also charges that Church has "consistently opposed measures that would help win the war in Vietnam." By this, one must suppose that they are referring to the fact that he has consistently taken a stand opposed to the present policy of escalating the military involvement in Southeast Asia. Such a stand shows not a man worthy of recall, but one who has had the courage to forcefully state his con-

Secretary General of the United Nations, U. Thant, has stated that we may be inviting a third world war with the present American escalation of the bombing policy. As American bombing of Vietnam bases that are closer and closer to the Chinese borders continues. it cannot help but raise the fire of the Chinese, and perhaps involve Peking in a conflict with the United States.

Even if the Chinese are not brought into the war, many people feel that the war in Vietnam cannot be won on military terms. It must be fought on sociological terms, and reach the minds of the people, Reaching the minds of the people, through American help directly to the people of Vietnam is what Church has been recommending for years.

So, when one considers the rationale for the recall movement, it can easily be seen that the logic behind it is bad, the tactics are worse, and the grounds are non-existent. They are grounds for re-election, not dismissal.

By Don Fry

The University of Idaho appears to be due for some hard times in the next few years. As things appear from the menagerie there will be little hope for a massive increase in the money appropriated by the legislature. The state simply is incapable of producing too much more. You can't tax a piece of ground for more than it is capable of yielding.

Most of Idaho is non-taxable land. About 3/5 of the territory was kept by the Federal Government when Ida. ho became a state. Another one-fifth or so is owned by the state itself. That leaves only one-fifth to be taxed.

Idaho has no broad range of industries to be a tax base, either. Industry tends to shun Idaho because of antiquated (from a business viewpoint) laws, our landlocked and rather isolated position, and our lack of a large concentrated labor force. In addition, many Idahonians don't want industry. People live here because there is low population, no smog (except for Lewiston), and a generally rural atmosphere. To lose these things would indeed be a tragedy for many who live here.

What, then, can our state and our University do? One possibility is for the state to develop tourism. One of our greatest assets is our scenery and our easygoing way of living. There are thousands of frustrated, ulcer-bearing Californians who would give their eyeteeth (well, at least their vacation pay) to enjoy these

To do this we will certainly need to improve our highways and provide more motels, marinas, and services.

We also would need to educate ourselves in order to be able to realize and accept the benefits of tourism. Many Idahonians are suspicious of "Californian who speak with forked tongue—stealem Buffalo—rapem wo-men—scarem elk away forever—teachem papoose smoke marijuana." Now, granted, Californians aren't always our favorite kind of people, but we should at least try get them to come up here and drink our water. So much for the state. What of our University?

Our administration has done an admirable job in keeping costs down and getting as much good from each dollar as possible. Any cries of anguish coming from Mr. Dick's office are from dollars being squeezed and not from Mr. Dick. (Some of us would do well to remember that the business office has a lot more to worry about than the 6th Street sidewalk.)

There are always places where we could economize a little more if we had to. Might I suggest removing stu-(Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

There's nothing sacred for the KUOI staff to operate about the automobile and the University is under no obmore up-to-date equipment in ligation to provide a place to put several million pounds preparation for the new equip- of iron every day. The saving in campus police salaries ment KUOI is now in the process alone would probably pave not only the Sixth Street sideof ordering," said Gerald Thax- walks but all the lawns along the way, too.

The real need for efficiency is statewide. One way to stretch the education dollar would be to eliminate duplication. Why, for example, should ISU be maintaining all the background courses for her Nuclear Engineering degree when the U of I is already set up to teach them? Why couldn't students transfer freely from one state institution to another, allowing each institution to make cutbacks in the areas where some other institution is

This would require swallowing a lot of pride, both here and in Pocatello. We would have to yield to Boise and ISU in some departments and they to us in others. It would mean going to the legislature with a combined budget which would consider the needs of the state rather than of the individual institutions.

The next step will have to be something like this. Competition is good when the Vandals play the Bengals, but we all know that we're playing a game then. When the battlefield shifts to the Statehouse, there can be no real winner. The only real losers are you and I.
