Registration Hits New High

5940 Begin Classes Thurs.

The University of Idaho approached another all-time enrollment record today as graduate students and late-comers kept enrollment climbing.

Thursday afternoon, the count for resident students this fall had reached 5,940, with registration running about a hundred more than for the same time a year ago. Last fall, when late registration was completed, a new all-time record for fall enrollment was set at 5,961.

"Within the next few days we should pass the 6,000 mark, setting another record," said Registrar F. L. O'Neill. "It was only four years ago that we reached 5,000 for the first time."

For those draft eligible males who have registered, Frazier also had a warning.

Under the new draft laws, a student must request a 2-S deferment from his draft board. The card in the registration packet does not constitute a request for a deferment.

Application forms may be picked up at the registrar's office in the Administration Building Annex.

The card in the registration packet just authorizes the registrar to send information to the draft board.

When the student signs the card in his packet, the registrar will send two cards to the student's board; a card sent immediately telling his draft board that he is enrolled, and a card after the last day to drop courses telling the draft board he is a full time student.

The new draft law does not require the university to send grade point averages or rankings, Frazier said.

Once a student gets a 2-S deferment, he will keep it until he graduates, he falls to be a full time student, or until he reaches age 24.

After a student graduates, he is liable for induction within the prime age group, regardless of his actual age.

Frazier emphasized that the student had to send the form in himself in order to get a 2-S deferment.

Total registration for this semester will be between 6,100 and 6,200 Robert Van Wagoner, director of institutional research said yesterday.

The figure is based upon the usual 5 per cent of the students that register late. Last year late registration was 4.7 per cent of the total.

This year's registration totals are in line with the University's projection of slow steady growth, Wagoner said.

Wagoner said that he expects the increase to be in all classes this year, but in the future the graduate school will grow faster than the undergraduate school.

The number of women on the Idaho campus is rising very slightly. Last year women constituted 31 per cent of the student body, up from 30 per cent the year before. The trend is likely to continue.

U OF I AND BUSTED was the only comment after looking over their checkbooks of approximately 6000 students completing registration in the gym for three days. Students gathered their books and headed for the class rooms yesterday.

KUOI Updates Facilities; Student Service Improved

KUOI, the student owned and operated radio station on campus, is going into its twenty-third year of broadcasting in 1967-68 Sunday. KUOI is presently broadcasting from temporary studios in the Pine Room, while the permanent studios and offices on the third floor of the SUB are undergoing extensive remodeling. The remodeled station area will include a reception area, production room, offices, an engineering room, news room and control room. New equipment worth nearly $5000 will be installed in the station.

"This new equipment will make a tremendous improvement in the technical operation of KUOI," according to Larry Seale, off-campus, station manager.

"We will also be serviced for the first time in several years with a teletype which will complete our international, national, and regional news coverage. Coupled with KUOI's extensive local and campus news staff, the teletype will make our regular news coverage one of the most complete in the area. Campus news will be particularly emphasized in our newscasts," said Chris Robinson, Willis Sweet, News Director.

The station has also made considerable progress with its plans to establish an FM operation this year, and with its advertising program. Chuck Simmons, Willis Sweet, Business Manager, reported KUOI has sold more advertising since the beginning of the semester than it did during the entire 1966-67 year.

KUOI is affiliated with the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, an association of college radio stations. The station was established in 1945, and is one of the few student owned university stations in the West. A staff of nearly fifty students operates the station 109 hours each week.

Several staff positions are now open in the areas of news, writing, production, engineering, public relations and announcing. Anyone interested in becoming a staff member is asked to come to the Organizations Work Room in the SUB.

Three Sigma Chis Die In One-car Accident

A rash of accidents have hit Idaho students this past week, the worst of which left three dead and three injured.

A car carrying six Sigma Chi's left the highway and ran into a tree when the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Dead are Daron Bell, Spokane, John Dropping, Boise, and Jeff Toler, Twin Falls. Injured were Wally Wickham, Tom Coggins, and Fred Cantrell, all Twin Falls.

The six were returning from Coeur d'Alene when the accident occurred. The three dead were riding in the front seat of the vehicle.

Cantrell, the worst injured, was sitting in the middle of the back seat and was thrown between the two front bucket seats. He suffered head injuries and a broken right leg and arm.

His condition although critical is improving. It is doubtful that he will return to school this semester.

Wickham and Coggins will probably be back in Moscow today.

Funerals for the men were held Wednesday. Thirty Sigma Chis were excused to attend the funerals in southern Idaho, while 35 other Sigma Chis went to Bell's in Spokane.

Bell, a sophomore majoring in Ag. engineering, was a member of the Sigma Chi intramural skiing team, and was to be House manager this year for the Sigma Chi's.

Dropping, a Chemical engineering major, was also a member of the champion intramural skiing team. He was a member of the Vandal golfing team and was to be Sigma Chi work chairman. Toler, an honor student at Twin Falls high school, was interested in business and was going to turn out for frosh football.

The only witness to the accident said that the car was not going at excessive speed and drifted off the road at a gentle curve. There were not any skid marks on the road.

A passerby who stopped at the accident, luckily had a first aid kit to aid the injured.

In other accidents, Bruce Lamphear, off campus, was hospitalized with a skull fracture after he fell from a scaffolding in the Engineering Lab.

He was working as a carpenter's assistant last week when he fell. He has been released from the hospital.

Jake Kaschmitter, Delta Sig, was taken to the infirmary after a bell fell on his head Wednesday.

Kaschmitter was climbing onto the Delta Sig front porch where an intruder was apparently trying to ring or steal the fraternity's bell. Kaschmitter's weight on the bell rope pulled it down on him.

He was released from the infirmary yesterday.

In minor accidents Tom A. Parnell, off campus, was cited for failure to yield right-of-way when his vehicle struck that of Rock Slutz, off campus, at E on 8th.

Booksale Ends Today

The IK Booksale will end today at 5 p.m. according to co-chairmen Taylor Gudmunsen and Doug Davey.

The expected close-out will top last year's established record of $3000.

Pres. Hartung Addresses Frosh

Dr. Ernest W. Hartung, president of the University, told more than 2,000 new students at the first full convocation that they have a major opportunity to find out what they want to do with their lives between now and 1971.

Opening on a solemn note, President Hartung asked for a moment of silence from the gathering in remembrance of three University of Idaho students, who were killed early Sunday morning in an auto accident.

"The college education of today is a very different one from the one earned 20 years ago," said President Hartung, and added, "time has a way of moving on."

"The individual does not realize that he can be left behind before the race has started. Don't you be left behind in your academic work," urged the president.

He said that the university offers all the academic elements, "but it takes dedication on your behalf to make something out of your college life." "The university is just like a river—it moves with the tide, but the times of today are far different than those of the past. The new proliferation of knowledge and the constant general pressure of international events loom overall of you today."

President Hartung pointed out that past student bodies at Idaho have faced such pressure, and that their spirit in former years reflects upon the creditability of the University of Idaho today.

"If you can try your best, your reward will be achievement and a sense of accomplishment when you leave the University of Idaho in 1971," he concluded.

'King and I' Tryouts Continue

Tryouts for the University of Idaho's Drama Department's fall production "The King and I" will be completed tonight at 6 p.m. in the Music Building Recital Hall. Tryouts tonight include the auditions for the eleven children needed in the production. Children between the ages of six and twelve are urged to try out according to Director Edmund M. Chavez.

Six girls and five boys are needed in order to round out the company of forty-five actors. Two older boys twelve to fifteen who are interested in solo singing and acting roles are also required for the production.

"Because of the musical's setting in Siam, preference will be given to dark hair types of children," stated Director Chavez.

Children at the tryout should be prepared to sing any selection of their choice to demonstrate basic singing ability. An accompanist will be present.

Students interested in trying out for the production may review a copy of the script at the U-11ut before actual auditions. There are openings for approximately 20 women, 14 men and 11 children. There are also many choice acting roles which do not require singing.

"All interested students who have an interest in acting, singing, or dancing roles are urged to try out tonight," Chavez said. The production will run from Nov. 1 to Nov. 4, with shows being scheduled each night at 8 p.m. at the University Auditorium. The show will be a joint offering of music and drama.

The production team for the musical will include Charles Walton as musical director, Le Roy Bauer as orchestral conductor, Lucy McIver as choreographer and Robert Thompson as designer-technician.

"The King and I" is a Roger's and Hammerstein musical which opened on Broadway in 1951. The title roles were played by the late Gertrude Laurence and Yul Brynner. The play was based on the novel "Anna and the King of Siam."

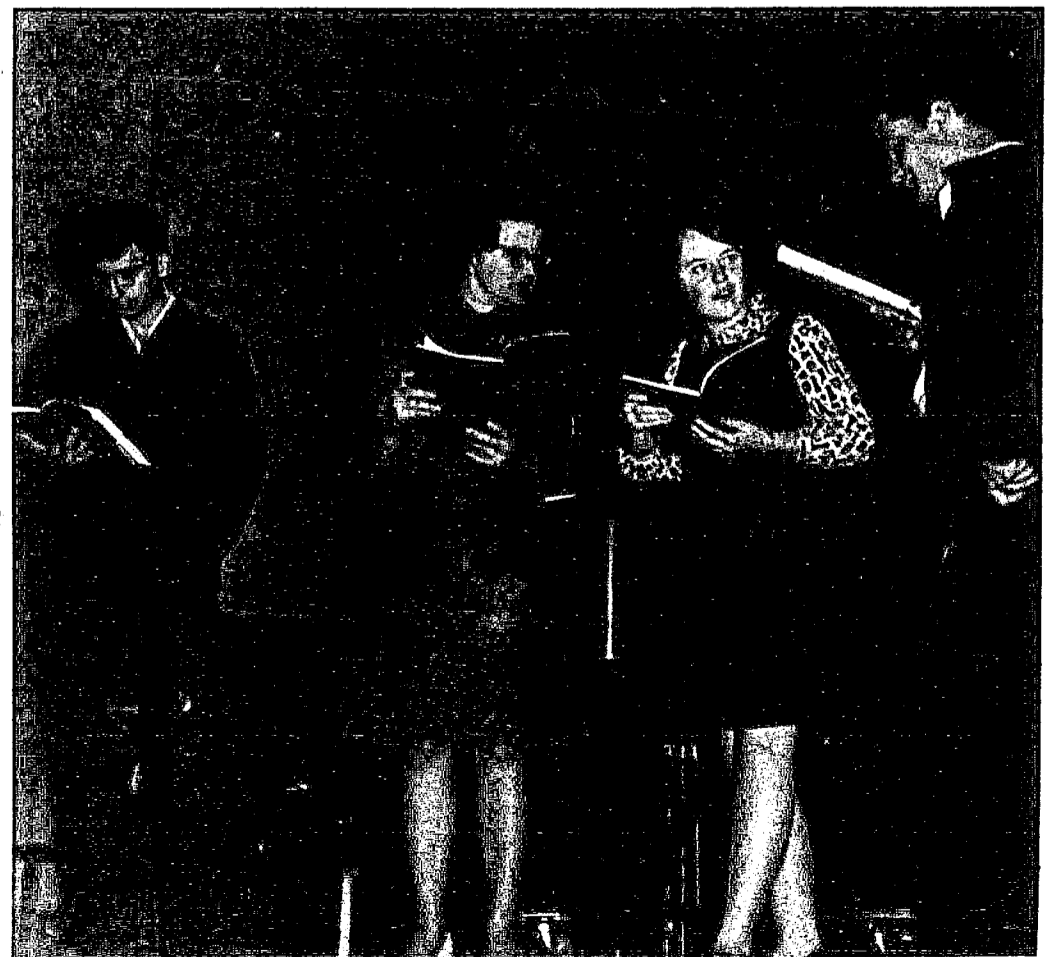

The musical numbers which include such favorites as "Getting to Know You" and "Hello Young Lovers" have all become popular songs of the musical theatre.

Two years ago the music and drama departments joined forces and produced the musical hit "Oklahoma." The play was well accepted by the student body with a full house for the three nights that the musical ran.

The musical "Oklahoma" has been said to be one of the instigating factors in promoting the Performing Arts Center. The drama and music departments hope in the future to alternate each year an opera and a musical in order to utilize the full talent found in each department. This plan will be used as a training ground for new freshmen who are interested in the musical or theatrical field.

"KING AND I"—Steve Scott, Fiji, and Dorothy Neuer, Carter Hall, audition for the musical the "King and I." The production will be a combination of the efforts of both music and drama departments and will be presented at 8 p.m. Nov 1 through 4 at the Ad auditorium.—(Arg. Photo)

"Nationally, the Greek system is growing, but at Idaho the Greeks are killing themselves," said a campus observer this week. No one can argue that the Greek system at the University of Idaho is a strong one and a good one, but Greek attitudes have not changed much in the 50 year ascendancy of sororities and fraternities on this campus and the Greeks are cutting their own throats if they fail to recognize that winds of change are blowing and systems, like trees they must bend with them.

Two problems face the Idaho system. One is its introverted attitude toward the Independents, who now number more than 50 per cent of the student body, and the other is the inadequacy of "rush" as a system for acquiring members.

The Independents, though disorganized, are becoming an ever stronger power block in a political and social student opinion. Their collective attitude toward the Greeks is a combination of plain dislike, and of jealousy.

The dichotomy between Greek row and the halls is large with little communication, except through organizations like AWS, to bridge the gap. With no communication and cooperation, there are the inevitable frustrations and misunderstandings.

"No one likes rush," say many Greeks. Why then do they compound the problems by playing the game. Criticism can be leveled more at the sororities than at the frats. The legacy system should be abolished and the scramble to pledge only 3 point and above grades, creates bitter misunderstandings among those who are rejected. The so called rejected can be deeply hurt psychologically because they cannot understand why they were not pledged even though the rush manual says that girls may enter rush with a 2.5 GPA from high school. If they don't want anyone below a 2.8, then they should say so.

Alumni can be blamed for part of this problem when they tell their sons and daughters that only one sorority or fraternity is good enough for them to pledge. In this way new houses that are attempting to grow and improve are kept perpetually at the bottom. However, the status quo is not remaining much longer.

As higher education becomes more necessary in this technical age, and large Universities become even larger, the Greek system, with its small, fraternal organization, can give the individual a much needed sense of individuality and identity.

Instead of an introverted preoccupation with which house has the most trophies or highest grades, it might seem better to extrovertly open some sleepy eyes and see how the other half lives. If the Greeks fail to do this, they are doing a disservice, not only to themselves, but to the University.—J.L.A.

Freshmen Learn Fast!

The glamour and tensor of rush, registration, and the moving into a new dorm is now over for the excited freshman. He has been run through then confusion at the bookstore and has learned his first college lesson. This lesson is to find the shortest line and push your way to the front. If this struggling freshman has missed this lesson, he may be found still standing outside the bookstore or maybe he is among the number of late registers.

Once this lesson has been learned and practiced the freshman is ready for bigger and better things. If he has ventured his way into the room of a senior he will soon learn lesson two. This is one of the most important lessons for both male and females because it involves the interesting subject of dating.

The freshman boy will be told by his friend the senior that all freshman girls soon develop the "golden ass" attitude which is the traditional characteristic of the Idaho coeds. The only chance the freshman boy has is to meet a girl the first few months of school or he will have a hard time finding a date for the next three years. If he cannot find a girl his only chance to survive is to find the TV room and claim a seat early.

The senior girl may volunteer the advice to a freshman girl to schedule her dates for the next four years her freshman year because by the time she achieves the status of a senior she will not be asked.

Included in this lecture on dating is a special University of Idaho kit. For the boys this includes a WSU hunting license. A fringe benefit found in this kit is a map of the hibernating spots of WSU coeds.

The freshman girl is also given such a dating kit. Her's includes a booklet entitled "Fifty Ways to Shoot Them Down." Chapter One outlines the quick ways to develop a headache at the last moment. Also found in he kit is a TV log. This is used by freshman girls who are waiting for the frosh boys to return from their Wazoo wenchies. The problem that such kits produce on this campus is that the Idaho boys are afraid to ask an Idaho coed out for fear of being turned down. The Idaho coed spends her time sitting at home waiting for the boys to dig up some courage.

Lesson number three for a freshman is to learn how to brown nose a professor effectively. The girls certainly have a headstart on the boys in this field. Flashing eyes, tight sweaters, and of course the old clincher crossing the legs help to keep the girls in the lead. But of course the boys have their own techniques. Bringing an apple to the teacher is out but "gee, I think your education lectures class is the most interesting class I have taken" is definitely in.

Lesson number four is how to get into Mort's if you are only eighteen. This lesson also comes with a do-it-yourself kit to make fake identification cards. The only problem that this presents is that Idaho State has perfected the method and the University of Idaho is still trying to shave the numbers off the drivers licenses.

Incorporated in this lesson is how to drink more than your date without passing out. This is a trick that most of the Idaho males are still working on. It seems that the coeds are still in the drinking lead, but there is hope that the male consumption will go up this year.

The only advice to a new freshman must be to stay out of the room of an aging senior and find things out for himself. Who knows, maybe you can find a date by the time your four years are up.—G. E.

T. H. E. Column By Marty Peterson

Work, unpacking, moving, registration and ack of E-Board activity. Add these four ingredients together and you have the reasons for the patched-together form of today's column.

Those of you who are new to this campus may not understand how the E-Board fits in with the rest of these. Until the E-Board has met and decided what it is going to do for you this year, there will be very little controversy to write about.

Down through the years, University of Idaho students have had a choice between becoming Greeks or remaining independent. This year something new has been added. Idaho students now have the choice of being Greek, independent, or becoming JEWS.

JEWS is the short title for the Joint Establishment of Withdrawn Students. The movement was organized last spring on the University of Idaho campus and has since doubled in size.

The JEWS are organized much like any other fraternal group. Let's use this year as the example of how the group functions. The fall activities started out with Lush Week. According to a spokesman for the JEWS, Lush Week is a time for great festivities. It is somewhat of a cross between Oktoberfest, Homecoming and Grangeville Border Days.

Lush Week began with an informal party for fledgling members (Fledges). The party was held in a building owned by Bill Stokes, a Moscow business man. After several days of merriment in Stokes' establishment the festivities moved to the Lewiston-Clarston Valley. The group enjoyed several evening in Lewiston and Clarkston, taking in the Valley's elite night-life at the Golden Spur, The Barge Inn and The Green Mill Tavern.

The Lush Week festivities came to a close with the Fledges going on a sneak to Bovill and Deary. The JEWS' president informed me, just prior to press-time, that plans are underway for a repeat of last spring's popular "Win A Vacation" raffle. Last year freshmen students bought over $500 worth of raffle tickets. The winner of the contest received an expense paid day in fun-filled Viola. Let's wish them continuing luck in this worthwhile project.

With the year getting off to a fast start it's time to list a few of the most commonly asked questions on campus. If someone knows the answers to any of these questions, I am sure that many people would be interested in hearing from you.

1. Why wasn't the Arboretum closed to all recreation during the recent closure of all state forest recreation areas?
2. Is the state of Idaho really so tight that the SUB has to reclaim its dish water and sell it for 10¢ and 15¢ a cup?
3. Will Hall Macklin ever be able to replace "Hoggy and the Blossoms"?
4. Why did the University have a cistern installed in front of the University Classroom Center?
5. Who is Davy Leroy?
6. Is the "Wizards' Wipe" really the trade journal for the University Sewage Department?

There are a great many new students on the campus this year. Many of them are not yet 20 years old and many who are don't partake. Don't be left-out of the happenings. There are still things that you can do besides the old run-of-the-mill stuff.

The University Museum offers interesting and informative displays. It is open every day and a list of current and future displays is posted at the entrance.

Take a tour of the SUB sometime. There is always an art display in the Vandal Lounge. You can play pool or bowl in the basement. If you are still looking around, go to the top floor and take a tour of KUOI.

The Radio-Television Center behind the Administration Building is open to visitors afternoons and evenings during the week. You might even watch KUOI-TV or listen to KUOI-FM.

No matter how bored you might get, there is always something to do at the U of I. I think get bored enough, you might even try a cup of the SUB's coffee.

Meter Lot Brings Complaint

THE SILENT SENTINELS guard empty parking spaces in the new parking lot across from the Perch. These lots are desperately needed for fraternity parking in the area.

TIME EXPIRED is a sight more and more students will see. It is one more machine demanding to be fed, either by nickels or by fines.

Logical fallacies from the administration seem to be the order of the day whenever the sticky subject of parking lots is broached. The one new metered lot at Deacon and University avenue is typical.

The lot was built with money raised from the student bookstore. In the articles of incorporation for that Regent run enterprise it states that the profits from the sale of books will be used for projects to aid the students.

The new parking lot seems almost inconsistent with the basic idea of student welfare being the major use for bookstore profits. "The parking lot is their for the visitors to the campus," says the administration.

Since the lot was built for the use of visitors to the campus who are here for a couple of hours, it would be expected that they would be required to park there. But no, campus visitors don't go by that lot on their way to the campus proper, and most of them aren't so familiar with the campus from past visits as to know the location of the lot. They therefore park anywhere they please, and the campus cops are powerless to stop them.

Most visitors to the campus are either going to the administration building or the S.U.B. Few have business in the vicinity of the new lot. When the occasional visitor heads for the ad building it never occurs to him (understandably) that he is supposed to park a quarter mile away and walk to his place of business. The administration could solve part of that problem by putting up signs informing visitors where they are expected to park, but that would only be an exercise in compounding an error.

A real solution for the problem of visitor parking on campus would be to install a few meters in the lot across from the sub, and label a portion of it for visitor parking only. Another lot then should be constructed in the vicinity of the Ad building to accommodate visitors there. Appropriate signs to inform visitors where they are expected to park their vehicles are also called for.

The meters should go from the new lot. That parking is needed for the residents of the houses located in the area.

When the new lot was built, a dirt lot that usually accommodated ten to twelve cars that more often than not bore greek letters, was eliminated. That parking has never been made up for the residents of Greek row. A dirt lot behind the SAE house has also recently perished in the wake of university construction. Those places have also never been replaced.

The Administration has always admitted that the bookstore makes a profit off the students, as this year's student body can well attest. But it has always said that it uses these funds in the students best interests. How benevolent can the administration get? — R.A.

YOU WOULD SEE DOUBLE TOO if a bell dropped on your head. Jake Kaschmitter, Delta Sig, tried to climb up the bell rope to the upper porch of the Delta Sig house to protect the bell from an intruder. Instead Kaschmitter pulled the bell over the ledge onto his head. Kaschmitter's head was only cut, but the bell was ruined.

U-I 1967 Homecoming Features Everything This Fall

★ Seventeen Coeds Vie For Homecoming Queen ★

Seventeen Idaho coeds will be vying for the title of 1967 Homecoming Queen this year. The queen will be announced at the Idaho-Idaho State game in Boise on October 30th. This is a major change from past years when the queen has been announced at the pre-game rally on Friday night.

The Homecoming Committee decided to have the queen and her court announced a week in advance in order to publicize them throughout the state before the actual Homecoming game. The queen and her court will be making various appearances in surrounding areas at various Vandal Booster clubs.

They will also make an appearance at the Moscow Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The queen candidates will tour men's living groups on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during the noon hour and also at the evening meal. They will be escorted by members of Blue Key.

The preliminary voting for the five queen finalists will be held on Friday, Sept. 22 with the final voting for the Homecoming queen being held on Wednesday, Sept. 27.

Among the candidates running for Homecoming queen are Nancy Andrus, Gamma Phi Beta, a senior majoring in Elementary Education from Lacrosse, Wash., and Candy Barnett, Kappa Alpha Theta, a junior psychology major from Lewiston.

Representing Campbell Hall will be Jackie Bodenhofer, a sophomore from Gooding, Diane Borgeson, a senior from Missoula, Montana, will be representing Houston Hall.

Other candidates include Twyla Brunson, Hays Hall, a music major from Weiser; Cathy Connor, Delta Gamma, a junior political science minor from Boise, and Carla Hennings, Alpha Chi Omega, a senior English major from Weiser.

Ann Hildebrand will be representing Ethel Steel House from Blackfoot and from Kappa Kappa Gamma will be Ann Jones, a junior from Boise.

Among others will be Jane Langley of Pi Beta Phi from Twin Falls, Anita Mills, Foreney Hall, a junior from Jullietta, and Kaye Nally of French House from Sweet.

Many Attractions Are Featured

Homecoming is just three short weeks away and the Homecoming committee has a variety of events planned for the big weekend, Oct. 6-8. The official theme for this year's Homecoming is "Showdown at Vandal Corral — Bobcats Bite The Dust."

New Halls Are Named

Mrs. M. J. Whitman

Three women who pioneered major contributions to Idaho education have been honored by the naming of University of Idaho dormitory halls after them.

The halls, which are in the newly completed, six-story Gooding unit of the Wallace Residence Center, will be named after Miss Ella Olesen, former Registrar at the University, and Mrs. Marcus Whitman and Miss Bernice McCoy, both former Regents. The combined three halls are designed to serve a total of 312 women.

Miss Olesen, a native of Moscow who continues to make her home here, is the only living member of the trio. The University of Idaho has been a great part of her life. She not only did her undergraduate college studies at the university, but also attended its prep school. Then, in 1915, she accepted her first position at the university as a stenographer.

In 1917-18, during World War I, Miss Olesen served as secretary to the Home Economics Director, Food Administration. At the end of the war, she became secretary at Idaho to President Ernest K. Lindley, after whom a hall is also named. In 1920, she was made the university's first full-time Registrar. Previously, the position had been a part-time responsibility of Dean of the Faculty J.G. Eldridge. Miss Olesen retired as Registrar in 1944, and since then has traveled widely throughout the world.

Mrs. Whitman, who was the first woman ever to become a Regent of the University of Idaho (1897-99), was a pioneer in many phases of woman's emergence into the business and professional world. Born at Oquaka, Ill., in 1863, she attended Monmouth College in her home state and Kansas State Agricultural College. She assisted in organizing the school system in McCook, Neb., going there shortly after the railroad arrived to take up a homestead and live alone in a little sod house. For a number of years she was a law clerk. In Paris, Idaho, she met and was married in 1890 to Frederick Whitman, a distant cousin of Dr. Marcus Whitman of Walla Walla, Wash. They made their home in Montpelier, where two girls and one son were born.

When Idaho was to become a state, Mrs. Whitman was appointed deputy clerk of the U.S. Circuit Court for the Territory of Idaho, and spent many months in Blackfoot transcribing territorial records into state records. Elected president of the Idaho Equal Suffrage Association, she played a major role in the victory in 1896 which gave women the right to vote. She was a charter member and one of the officers of the State Association of Federated Clubs which she helped to organize. She died in 1939.

Miss McCoy, who made her home in both Moscow and Boise, was State Superintendent of Education and an ex-officio member of the University of Idaho Board of Regents and State Board of Education, 1915-1917. Born in 1878 of a pioneer Northwest family on her grandmother's farm near The Dalles, Ore., Miss McCoy attended Lewiston State Normal School and Teacher's College, Columbia University, before enrolling at the University of Idaho. She received her bachelor degree in education from Idaho in 1922 and her master's in 1923.

Also in 1922, Miss McCoy joined the faculty of the University of Idaho, teaching education courses. In 1925, she became the first head of the University's Placement Bureau, established that year to help meet the increasing demand in the state for Idaho-trained teachers. Death came in 1944.

Kick Off Banquet Slated For Arts Fund Drive

Official kickoff for the National Funds for the Performing Arts Center Rally will be signified by the cutting of a cake, baked in the form of the future Performing Arts Center, Sept. 27 at 6 p.m.

Being televised statewide, live from the ballroom of the Student Union Building, the banquet will signify the beginning of the FPAC's fund raising campaign to seek a needed appropriation of approximately $2.5 million, to be used for the construction of the center which is expected to be completed in 1970.

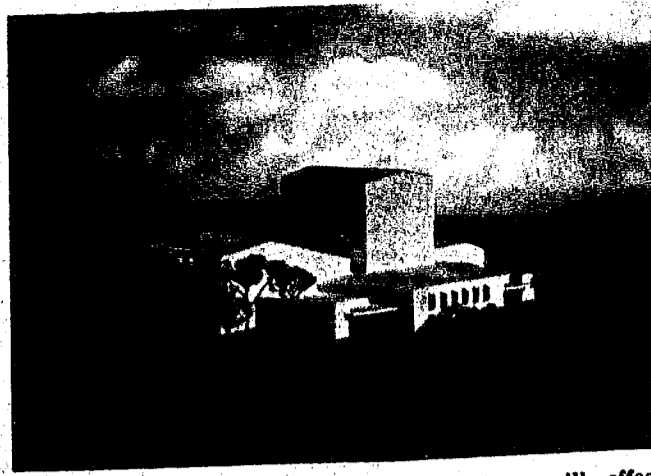

With an expected attendance of approximately 800 persons, the rally will be the first of 30 area rallies to be held in the State of Idaho during 1967, and the national rally conventions to be held in the Spring of 1968. With President Hartung acting as Master of Ceremonies, and the Vandaleer Concert Choir furnishing a repertoire of music, the rally will be televised on major television stations at Boise, Spokane, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, and Twin Falls.

Sponsored by the Board of Regents of the University and the Alumni Association, the FPAC expects to release the gymnasium from an estimated 90 per cent of the functions now scheduled for its use. The center, which will replace the existing facilities which include such outmoded structures as the Hut (a World War I barracks) and gymnasium, will have a music hall with a seating capacity of 1,700, a theatre seating 415, and experimental theatre seating 150, classrooms, workshops, studios, dressing rooms, storage, lounges, and facilities for radio and TV, which will be most significant for future televised programs from the campus to statewide and national networks. The FPAC is expected to appropriate money from gifts and grants, with the ultimate goal of achieving "more than $2 million" of which there must be Leadership Gifts of $10,000 and more, and many pledges being $1,000 and more, obtained.

The direct effects of having such a needed facility as the Performing Arts Center, as well as the less superficial effect of the establishment of permanent fund raising service in the University, to supplement the few

Vandal Gridders Open at U of Pacific

Game, Final Workouts Played Under Lights

Head Coach Steve Musseau sent his Vandal gridders through their final tuneup last night under the light in preparation for their opener against the University of the Pacific at Stockton tomorrow night. The team is scheduled to leave this morning at 9 a.m. for Spokane where they will fly to Stockton.

Three weekends of hard workouts will climax tomorrow night as the young, scrappy Vandals take on their first opponents of the season. The past week of workouts were tough and the pads were cracking as final preparations were made.

The only place Musseau can count any veteran strength is in the defensive backfield where Byron Strickland, Kenny Dotson, Dick Nelson, and Darrell Danielson are all returning. Sophomore Joe Tasby will spearhead the defense as he takes his natural ability and desire to win into varsity action. Tasby was named by Sports Illustrated as one of the top college sophomore prospects for the future pro.

Another sophomore, Jerry Hendren from Spokane will carry most of the passing attack from his position at end. Senior Paul Gentle will start at quarterback, a position he won during spring ball and has held ever since. Steve Garman is also expected to see action at the quarterback slot.

Jim Thiemeis at offensive right tackle is the Vandal's top All-American candidate and will add a strong punch to the offensive line.

Defense will see John Knowles and Mike Smith at ends; tackles will be John Jacobson and Tim Tuura. Joe Tasby will start at middle guard. Linebackers will be Dave Dixon, Roosevelt Owens and cornerbacks will be Mike Eugene and Dick Nelson, Byron Strickland and George Smith will start at the safeties.

Troxel Moved For Challenge

"I moved to the University because I want the opportunity to help the boys and this is a new challenge to me," Ed Troxel said.

"My formula for victory consists of three things. The ability to play, the desire to play and the will to win," he continued.

"You put all of these things together and they will win," he stated.

"Anytime you are a coach you have to win," he emphasized, "it is not a question of whether or not it will be this year."

"I think winning is really important because that is why you play the game. If you don't play the game to win, you shouldn't play the game," he said.

The coaching staff includes Billy Hughes, defensive backfield, George Davis, defensive line, Herb Adams, offensive backfield and frosh coach Norm Thomas.

"We have a chance to win this weekend on the fact that maybe our kids are in a little better condition and can out-hustle them," he said.

"The films from last year show a well-drilled club and we will have a tough time with them, but I believe we can beat them on just the desire.

Ed Troxel came to the Vandals from Borah High School in Boise where he was highly successful. His experience in the Boise area spans nine years and includes a position as the head coach at the College of Idaho. He coached several state championship teams at Borah and has a fine reputation for developing good players with his conditioning and basic football program. His coaching career started in Mansanona, Colorado, where his teams won the state championship two years in a row. A third year they were runner-up. They were in the playoffs a fourth year during his stay.

In 1953 he moved to Caldwell where he coached the high school team until 1955 when he took over the head position at the College of Idaho. He remained there until 1959 when he made the move to Borah in Boise.

During the nine years he was at Borah his teams won the Southern Idaho Conference for 8 years. His teams won the state championship several times during these years.

Coach Troxel describes all of the players he has coached as special.

The game of football will be the big interest in the minds of millions of men between now and the second of January 1968.

The "Autumnal Madness" as it is often called will see thousands of girls drug to football games where they will sit and not understand a thing other than the halftime performance by the band or drill team.

"Boredom" was once defined as a woman at a football game. In an attempt to relieve this boredom this explanation of football is directed to the women so they may understand the game and maybe like sitting in the rain to observe.

The football field is 100 yards long and is divided into 10 yard sections by white lines. The basic playing field is 50 yards wide and has a 10 yard end zone on each end for a total length of 120 yards.

The object of the game is to carry the ball over the opponents goal line without breaking the rules of the game. These rules are enforced by the men in striped shirts who are called referees or judges depending on their position on the field.

The opposing teams line up on opposite sides of the line of scrimmage, which is the imaginary line running across the field along the front of the ball.

The ball is put into action by a "hike" from a man on the line called the center to the quarterback. A quarterback is the man who calls the plays and is the primary passer and ball handler. It is the quarterback's option to decide where the play goes and to whom the ball will be given.

The team with the ball (called the offensive team) has four chances to move the ball ten yards. If the yardage is covered in four chances or "downs" then the team is awarded with another four chances to do the same thing. This continues until the team with the ball scores.

However, if they do not gain these ten yards they have to give the ball to the opposition. Usually on the fourth down if the yards have not been gained and the distance remaining is long the offense will kick (or punt) the ball and give up possession in this manner.

Actual playing time is sixty minutes which is divided into four quarters. The whole game is four quarters. The whole game will usually run to 150 minutes by the time you count time-outs, injuries and halftime into the time spent.

The penalties and fines that exist in football may be likened to fines of everyday life and payments are made by the loss of yardage or downs.

The most common penalty is for offside which is called when a player is on the wrong side of the line of scrimmage when the ball is hiked or makes contact with the opposition before the ball is hiked.

Another penalty is clipping, which could be called a felony because it costs you 15 yards as compared with just 5 for off-sides.

More details will be given next week.

Baseballers Meet Tuesday

A meeting for all varsity and freshman baseball candidates will be held in the gym Tuesday September 19 at 4:00 p.m. coach John Smith announced.

This meeting will be for those interested in playing ball in the spring.

Vandal Harriers Have 3 Veterans

The Vandal cross country hopes will travel on the legs of three veterans and five newcomers.

The old-timers are Ted Quirk, Larry Bond, and Gary Johnson. Quirk will be using his last year of eligibility, but Bond was a freshman last year and Johnson was a sophomore.

The promising newcomers include two junior college transfers and two freshmen from Spokane, Wash., and one from Anchorage, Alaska.

Joe Ross, who comes to the Vandal harriers from Ferris High school in Spokane, was second in the mile in Washington state.

He will be joined by an old Spokane rival, Pete Whitford, who was the Washington State cross country champion his senior year at Central Valley.

The third high-schooler is Ned Lewis of Anchorage, Alaska, who holds the mile record for that state.

Both of the junior college transfers are making the switch from Spokane Community College and will be classified as juniors on the eligibility charts.

Fred Lake was second in the state of Washington for the half mile during his high school career and has turned in the second best time in the nation in that event since then.

Bern Deahl, one of Lake's teammates, will be the second man from SCC and the fourth newcomer from Spokane on the team. His high school record is impressive and includes membership on two state cross-country championship teams.

Coach MacFarland has hopes of reviving Idaho's past standing in the conference cross-country competition. The Vandals have won the crown two of the four years since it was created, but they finished fourth in the conference last year.

With a team of three veterans and several good newcomers he feels the Vandals will have good depth and should be in the middle of the conference competition.

COACH MUSSEAU—Head Coach Steve Musseau is shown here as he ponders the fate of his Vandals as they travel to Stockton, Calif., for their opener with the University of Pacific. The game which will be played tomorrow will be carried on the Vandal Sport Network which includes radio stations throughout Idaho.

Intramural football leagues were set up at a meeting of the I.M. managers Wednesday evening. The football program will have six leagues with Leagues I and II being composed of fraternities and the other four having dormitory and off campus teams.

All games will start promptly at 4:05 p.m. with forfeits being declared at 4:20. Each team will appoint a man to act as scorekeeper for his organization. These scorekeepers will be required to sign all score sheets at the end of the contests.

It was also pointed out that only the Intramural Department can cancel a contest. All teams will be notified in case of cancellation.

League I will be composed of teams from the Theta Chi, Sigma Nu, Pi Kap, Lambda Chi, Delta, Phi Tau, Delta Chi, L.D.S., and Phi Gamma Delta.

The second league which is composed of nine fraternities includes: Delta Sig, Beta, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sig, Phi Delta, ATO, Farmhouse, SAE, and TKE.

League III includes Lindley, Shoup, TMA, Willis Sweet, Gault and McConnell.

League IV is Chrisman, Graham, Borah, Campus Club, Snow and Upham Hall.

The fifth league has six teams that are all second teams from the dorms, and TMA. Included are TMA, Shoup, Lindley, Borah, Campus Club, and Snow.

The final league is also second teams from the dorms: Graham, Upham, Willis Sweet, Gault, McConnell, and Chrisman are included.
