

Student Bill Of Rights To Appear On Election Ballot

The Student Bill of Rights will appear on the ballot March 5 for Executive Board elections, but will be simply a chance for the students to express themselves. The Bill will not appear as a constitutional amendment, just for an advisory vote by the students, according to Tom Carroll, chairman of the committee that revamped the concept after Faculty Council failed to act on the original Bill.

"Student government is supposed to be representative of the students," Carroll said, "and on such an important matter they should be consulted."
The Student Bill of Rights Revision committee, which was formed last November, completed the Bill over the weekend and gathered enough student signatures to guarantee a place for it on the ballot.

The Associated Women's Students originally proposed the finished draft be put on the ballot and the committee, which has been meeting almost three times a week since November, agreed.

The text will be printed in the Argonaut at least twice before the election and will not appear in its entirety on the ballot. Only the major concepts and a short explanation will be on the ballot, Carroll said.

PREAMBLE

The Board of Regents of the University of Idaho recognizes that all students enjoy the same inalienable rights as all citizens under the Constitution and laws of the United States. It therefore adopts the following Student Bill of Rights, the purpose of which is to guarantee basic and fundamental rights to students at the University of Idaho.

Section I. FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION

1. Students shall be free to organize and join or organize and join associations to promote their common interests.

2. University approval shall not be required for the organization of any student association; operation of such association is subject only to regulations necessary for the orderly scheduling of events. In no case shall scheduling regulations be used to suppress an organization's meetings.

3. Organizations shall not be required to have a faculty advisor.

4. Student organizations may be required by the University to submit a current list of officers and objectives, but they shall not be required to otherwise disclose their membership.

Section II: FREEDOM OF INQUIRY AND EXPRESSION

1. Students and student organizations shall be free to examine and discuss all questions of interest to them and to express their opinions publicly or privately, subject only to civil and criminal laws.

2. Students shall be free to support causes by any means which do not disrupt and endanger the essential operation of the University.

3. Student organizations shall be free to invite and to hear any person at their meetings.

4. All official student communications media shall have the right to establish and maintain control of operations and content, free from prior cenship. Only for proper and stated causes will editors and managers be subject to removal and only then by procedures prescribed at a prior date.

Section III. DISCIPLINARY REGULATIONS

1. Disciplinary regulations may only be enacted to govern the conduct of students on campus or at authorized University activities. All such disciplinary regulations shall be approved by the Faculty Council and shall be codified and published under the title of a "Student Code of Conduct."

2. Internal regulations of living group organizations need not be included in the "Student Code of Conduct," but shall otherwise conform with the provisions of this Section.

3. No disciplinary regulation shall take effect until after it has been published. No ex-post facto regulation shall be enacted.

3. No disciplinary regulation shall take effect un-against any student because of race, religion, national origin, or sex, nor shall any regulation in any way deny to any student equal protection of the laws.

5. Alleged violations of academic regulations involving factual disputes will be subject to the provisions of Section III and IV of this Bill.

Section IV. DISCIPLINARY HEARINGS AND PROCEDURES

1. "Disciplinary Action" is defined as any penalty imposed for misconduct. Disciplinary actions shall not be taken against any student until after his guilt has been ascertained at a fair and impartial hearing, before a judicial body authorized by the Faculty for that purpose. Minimal requirements of both substantive and procedural due process, as described herein, must be observed.

2. Disciplinary proceedings shall not be commenced, except for alleged violations of regulations which have been enacted in accordance with Sections I, II, and III of this Bill.

3. Persons questioned because of alleged violations must be informed of their rights as enumerated in this Section at the beginning of such questioning, and no form of harassment shall be used to coerce admissions of guilt or information about conduct of other persons.

4. Under no condition shall premises occupied by students nor their personal possessions be searched or seized except as provided for in state and federal requirements for lawful search and seizure.

5. The accused shall be informed in writing of the specific charges for proposed disciplinary action

11 CUP candidates; 13 others vie for offices

The election ballot for March 5 went to press this morning, according to Mike Powell, election board chairman.

Eighteen candidates will be on the ballot for Executive Board, three candidates for vice-president and three candidates for ASUI president.

Running for ASUI president are Jim Willms, CUP; and two independent candidates, Mike Clay and Chris L. Smith. Vice-presidential candidates are Bill McCurdy, CUP; Dick Sams, ASA; and Houghton Whithed, who is running independently.

Allied Student Association candidates for Executive Board are Marshall Mah, Rick Ritter, Scott Cunningham and Bill Hoene.

Running on the CUP ballot for E-Board are Roger Enlow, Bob Crawley, Robyn Remakulus, Pam Dol, Lee McCollum, Don Miller, Randy Luce, Jim Mottern and Kristi Greenawalt.

Independent candidates for E-Board are Gomer Davis, Mary Hanks, Tom Loucks, Mike Mann, and Bryce McProud.

On the ballot will also be four constitutional amendments and one initiative on the Student Bill of Rights. One amendment would change class officer elections from the fall to the spring, so that they could be held with the other ASUI general election. The freshman class officers election would still be held in the fall, under this constitutional amendment.

Another constitutional amendment would change the chairman of Communications Board from the ASUI president to a nominated position. Presently Communications Board is being manned by a president elected from the board itself.

The third amendment on the ballot would change the constitution to read Ex-officio members of Executive Board are appointed and approved by ASUI Executive Board. The present constitution reads that Ex-officio members are appointed to the Board by Faculty Council.

Candidates are reminded by Election Committee Chairman Mike Powell that there have been several poster violations already. Collection of fines from posters violations will be handled this spring by the student judicial system.

Urban Problem films shown Thursday in the Ag. Science Building at 2 p.m. will be "Run from Race" where Philadelphia Negroes tell of the life and problems within the Negro community, and "How to Look at a City," which tells about the standards of human scale density and variety as applied to the contemporary city.

Television debate set by Rocinante

The three candidates for ASUI president will square off in a Nixon-Kennedy style television debate Thursday night on KUID TV Channel 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Jim Willms, ASUI Executive Board member and CUP party's nominee, Chris Smith, former Argonaut editor, and Mike Clay, both independents will appear on the half hour session that will have a panel of three asking the questions.

The debate will be aired by Rocinante and is the first time KUID has participated in such a program.

A television set will be provided in the SUB lounge for student viewing and living groups are also being encouraged to tune in.

The staff of Rocinante hopes to spark some interest in the election by bringing the issues and the candidates to the students.

Asking the questions will be Larry Duffin, John Orwick, student activist and Sam Bacharach, former Argonaut editor. Bob Young, present E-Board members, and a staff member of Rocinante will emcee the panel debate.

FINE ARTS—"Les Fouberies de Scapin" was presented Sunday afternoon in the U-I Auditorium. The play, which was done entirely in French with French actors, kicked off the Fine Arts Festival which will run through March 17. See review on page 2. Another feature of the Festival is "Barefoot in the Park" being presented by the Drama Department March 6-8. (Bower photo)

Arts run through March

The University of Idaho's Fine Arts Festival kicked off last Sunday with the French playwright Moliere's "Les Fouberies de Scapin" and a preceding French buffet.

Robert S. Newman, artist, will present the final half of his two-day exhibit at 2 p.m. in the SUB this afternoon with a seminar. Newman, former student at the U of I, is an internationally known modern painter. Here is a reminder of the three-week schedule:

A Graduate Student Water Color Show will be presented tomorrow from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Museum. The show will be continued through March 4.

Thursday, February 27, a Faculty Recital will be given at 8 p.m. in the evening by Charles Walton, tenor, in the Music Recital Hall.

Friday will feature a concert by the Utah Concert Choir in the Music Recital Hall at 3:10 p.m.

Saturday at 3 p.m. Orchestris will present a Dance Workshop in the Women's Gym.

Sunday, March 2, will feature the University Symphony in the Music Recital Hall with Mr. LeRoy Bauer as conduc-

As part of the University of Idaho's Fine Arts Festival, the University of Utah A Cappella Choir will present a concert Friday, February 28.

The 65-voice choir, under the direction of Newell B. Weight, will perform in the Music Recital Hall at 3:10 p.m.

Well known throughout the West, the choir has been widely acclaimed by both musicians and critics.

tor, followed by an Oriental Buffet in the SUB. The symphony is scheduled for 4 p.m. with the buffet lasting from 5 until 7 p.m.

A Faculty Recital featuring David Seiler on the clarinet will be given Tuesday, March 4 at 8 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall. Seiler will be assisted by Sandra Hahn, Linda Spevacek, Richard Hahn, and Ronald Klimko.

The University of Idaho play, "Barefoot in the Park," will be presented at 8 p.m. in the University Auditorium on Thursday, March 6.

On Friday from 1 until 5 p.m. an Art Exhibit will be shown in the Museum. The exhibit, which will be continued through March 20, is on "The Bold Tradition, Mexico Paintings." At 8 p.m. that night

"A Schlitz beer sign in Moscow Idaho can be as interesting and artistic to one person as a contemporary painting is in an exhibit in New York." This comparison was made by Mr. Robert Newman, internationally known artist, as he met with Idaho art students and faculty yesterday and today as part of the Festival of Arts now underway. Mr. Newman spent two days in informal discussions as his contemporary designs were on display in the sub.

He comes to the University as a former art student and presently a lecturer at Harvard. His seminars and exhibits have been presented in major galleries throughout the world.

As a lecturer on drawing his teaching

"Barefoot in the Park" will be performed again. The play will also be given at 8 p.m. Saturday night, March 8, in the Auditorium.

The Vandaleer's Concert Choir will perform in the Auditorium on Sunday, March 9, at 4 p.m.

Tuesday, March 11, will feature a Faculty Recital at 8 p.m. in the Music Recital Hall. David Tyler will perform on the piano.

A Joint Composer's Concert will be given in the Music Recital Hall on Thursday, March 13, at 8 p.m. The concert is sponsored by WSU and the U of I.

The 1969 Fine Arts Festival will end Saturday, March 15, with the U of I Jazz Band. David Seiler will conduct. Guest artist is Bud Brisbois. The show is in the SUB at 8 p.m. experiences with Harvard students were basically the same as with Idaho art students. To him teaching is a challenge and a satisfaction.

"It is a hard job to help students create using their hands and eyes together. Some people have the creativity and not the intelligence or vice versa. They have to learn to develop both and then work with them together."

The man also noted that in art, communication between student and instructor is difficult. Dedication is abundant however. He recalled, "He would watch students work from 2 to 5 p.m. and return late at night and find them in the same place still trying to work."

Soem art, or works supposedly called

Willms, who said that it was his fourth appearance before the convention in the last four years, received the nomination on a very happy note. "Today," said Willms, "is my twenty-second birthday, and this is certainly a very nice birthday present."

Candidates running for Executive Board under CUP are Kristi Greenawalt, Jim Mottern, Randy Luce, Don Miller, Lee McCollum, Pam Dol, Robyn Remakulus, Bob Crawley and Roger Enlow.

Difficulty developed on the convention floor on the seventh ballot, when neither candidates Marie Shelley and Houghton Whithed received a majority of the convention votes. The chairman, Wade Curtiss, declared Whithed the winner, but discovered that the candidate had to receive 51 per cent of the vote to be a candidate and Whithed only received 47 per cent of the convention vote.

The seventh ballot was then declared invalid by Curtiss. The revoting on the ballot was dominated by living groups that were abstaining instead of voting for a candidate. As a result, several halls threw their support to Roger Enlow, who had previously announced that he was running under A.S.A. banners.

In the final tally, Enlow received 54 votes and Whithed received 30 votes. The convention still accepted Enlow as their candidate, even after A.S.A. spokesman Ron French took the floor and said that Enlow had verbally agreed to run A.S.A. and had no business being a CUP candidate.

The debate was resolved when Whithed yielded the nomination to Enlow.

Keynote speaker for the convention was ASUI president Larry Craig.

Craig told the convention that student government must be effective and have plenty of vitality. "Student government has to be an effective coalition," said Craig. "It can't be one-sided for one group of students."

Executive Board has done a good job this past year said Craig. "In looking through our legislative books, there have been at least 16 major pieces of legislation approved by E-Board this year."

These include a scholarship fund, the founding of ISGA, a new revised constitution for the ASUI, an off-campus living service, a senior days, and a new student information service, to mention just a few of the items, Craig said. Craig continued by saying that it will take good hard working E-Board members to keep the ASUI running smoothly.

Campus Union Party backed Jim Willms and Bill McCurdy for ASUI president and vice-president respectively at their annual convention Sunday afternoon. A total slate of candidates was also approved, despite complications on the seventh ballot, which forced the convention into an extra hour of debate.

Willms in his acceptance speech said that it was time that student government stop talking and start representing the students.

"It is time that Executive Board members stop telling students what to do," said Willms. "Executive Board members should start asking students for their opinions."

Furthermore, E-Board is going to have to stop philosophizing on Tuesday nights and start dealing with the critical problems we face on this campus, Willms said. "Student voice is needed in the building of an athletic complex," Willms said. "We want a complex for 6,000 students, not just 200 athletes."

Willms' oratorical delivery continued with more of his platform, the opening up of the channels of the business office and the physical plant, more autonomy in student government, and a districting visitation system.

McCurdy's platform was basically to broaden the scope of the vice-presidents job. "The vice-president should exercise a full voice on Executive Board," McCurdy said. McCurdy also suggested that Activities Council be streamlined.

A move was made by the Lindley delegation early in the convention to add an issue to the CUP platform.

"I move that CUP go on the record as being in favor of women's hours," said Kermit Stagers. "It's about time that CUP takes a stand," Stagers said.

It appears in this platform that CUP is afraid to take an issue on anything, said Stagers. The amendment to the platform failed by a 56-31 vote margin.

MUN Session held March 2

The campus Mock United Nations session will be held in the SUB Sunday, March 2, from 2 to 5 p.m.

All living groups are invited to send delegations of three to five people. Letters of application with preference of country stated are due February 24.

There will be a meeting for all participating living groups February 25, during which resolutions and country assignments will be distributed, according to Eda English, committee chairman.

The campus MUN session is being held to increase student interest be for the better and not just for the experience.

Mr. Newman has won both the Fulbright and Guggenheim Awards in Europe and has had exhibits in the Seattle World's Fair. He graduated from California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland after attending the University of Idaho and finishing high school in Kellogg, Idaho.

His paintings are on exhibit in the Vandale Lounge. A no-host luncheon is being sponsored today at noon in honor of the man and open seminar is again scheduled for 2 p.m. in the SUB. Today is his final day at the University.

His seminars and exhibits are sponsored by the Art and Exhibits Committee, the Art Club and the Department of Art and Architecture.

Editorial Opinion

An Open Convention

After spending an afternoon at the annual CUP convention, I decided to write an editorial. I was going to write about all of the bad things that had happened, the mass-disorganization at the end, but decided that it would take a whole editorial page to handle the matter. I thought about mentioning the good things that had happened at the convention, but I decided that they would speak for themselves, so...

If I were improving CUP convention, I would make several major changes. Number one, if I had a chairman that couldn't run the convention, I would hire a parliamentarian for the afternoon to interpret the rules of the convention and keep things in order.

Number two, when a delegation moved for unanimous approval of a candidate, and there was opposition to that motion, in my opinion the motion had failed, not passed as demonstrated by CUP leadership.

Number three, if CUP party has nine slots to fill on their ballot, and only candidates worthy of the nomination, in the eyes of the delegates to the convention, the CUP Ballot should then be limited to eight candidates. A political party should not be in a position to water down its slate, by having to completely fill its ballot.

Number four, alien parties should not be allowed to enter the convention floor, much less address the convention.

And number five, there should at least be a quorum of the members present at the end of the meeting so it can be adjourned. Oh well, at least CUP party won't have to open their convention next fall, because this convention never officially closed.

It Should Be Ass

Allied Student Association made a very bad mistake last Sunday. It attended the Campus Union Party Convention in its full force, with all of its candidates present at the convention.

Yes, true they were also members of Campus Union Party since they paid their dues. It was questionable on which side of the road they wished to drive. They upset the convention, and even did a little electioneering by putting up their poster over the gateway to the ballroom where the convention was held. They also talked with the delegates and it was rumored that they were encouraging delegates to abstain from voting.

Larry Craig, might have very aptly put it when he referred to them as the ASSOCIATION OF STUDENT AGITATORS, they are going to have to prove themselves like several other organizations on campus, and if they don't, they might as well not exist as an organization.

Sure, there was confusion over a candidate. In the future, get their signature that they are going to run on your ticket and tie them down to your party.

I am sure there is a lot of confusion on everybody's part about the new political "association." In fact, one Idaho student approached me the other day and asked, "What is the Allied Student Society doing these days?"

C.J.E.

The Student Bill Of Rights, Yes

Finally, after months and months of talking and working, the Student Bill of Rights will be presented to the student body for its approval. It took a long time to write the Bill and many hours of study and research went into the finished product.

It seems to satisfy the liberals on the committee that wrote it and it seems to leave the conservatives in a receptive mood. Some of the best minds in the student community strained for the answers, and even though they all aren't there the new version is a vast improvement over the first that warrants support for that reason alone.

Tom Carroll, the Student Bill of Rights Revision Committee chairman, called the group, "A Hell of a good committee," and pointed with pride to the attendance at the meetings which have been held three times a week since November.

Participation was fantastic and the Bill is only slightly less than superb.

Over Dean Decker's insistence not to protect the student from the University the safeguards have been included and hopefully the wording isn't so ambiguous as to cause years of legal headaches if it is passed.

Of course the student as the lowest rung on the ladder can do more than approve the Bill and hope that the Faculty and Regents will do the same, but the odds are not overwhelmingly against adoption.

To the committee a salute for a job well done and to the student body a plea to vote and express your opinion. Even if you think student government is a farce and the officers aren't worth the time involved, a strong endorsement of the Student Bill of Rights is extremely important. s.a.b.

Theater as it should be

By Steve Bellstrom

What is there to say about Sunday night's performance of Moliere's Les Fourberies de Scapin? It was all that anyone could possibly hope for in the way of acting, costuming, scenery, directing and interpretation of Moliere for a college audience, whether one looked in New York or in Moscow, Idaho.

The miming was extremely well synchronized—there were no missed cues (which might well have been disastrous, what with the proximity of "water" and the distance of some of the falls); the grimaces and facial distortions left no question as to their significance and achieved the broad, farcical effect for which Moliere intended them; the characterization was almost without exception true and faultless; so what is there to criticize? Well, if I had to find fault with the play

I would do so only with the disclaimer that I am in no way qualified to pass judgment on a troupe of such high professional calibre, such polished expertise as Le Troupeau de Paris. My reactions are those of an average playgoer, not of a qualified theater critic.

There are, however, two criticisms I would make of the performance: the first is the characterization of Scapin and the second is the dance routine at the beginning of Act III. In my reading of the play and in my research about the character of Scapin, I got the impression that he was more of a scoundrel, a "fourbe" (cheat) that Robert Pages portrayed him. Pages came off too much like a hero, without the necessary moral underpinnings of knavery and deceit; his desire for vengeance against Geronte was not as convincing as it should have been and when Geronte emerged from the sack seeing that it was Scapin who had been beating him, I thought Scapin should have fled, not laughing, but in terror at being discovered, as a true scoundrel would have. The dance scene which began Act III, although a good idea and one which was in keeping with the tone of the play, seemed listless and a little clumsily done, I think it slowed down the action of the play, which consisted mainly of slapstick, double-takes and plays on words.

These possible faults are, however, vastly overshadowed by the éclat and brilliance of Moliere's wit, by the general excellence of the acting and, I was happy to see, by the very spirited participation of the audience.

Famous Potatoes

To The Editor

SCEE gives facts

Editor, The Argonaut:
Although I consider a letter of grievance a superfluous means of communication, I am forced, at this time, to write you and maybe set a few of the facts straight about myself and SCEE.

I am referring, of course, to the article about the proceedings at the Feb. 18 ASU E-Board. The article, written by Cliff Eidemiller, has openly misquoted and distorted statements made by me during that meeting. I am convinced that unless these distortions are clarified, SCEE and its concepts could be seriously damaged.

First, I might point out that I did state that 75 scholarships at $300 each was ridiculous. I also stated that the sum was insufficient. It is my opinion that the number of available scholarships should be reduced from 75 to some number, allowing more money for each recipient (perhaps $450 to $500 each). An increased amount would allow the student to pay fees (including out of state tuition) as well as buy his books and pay other expenses.

Secondly, I did not state that ASU should give SCEE the total sum of $25,000 to let SCEE do what it wanted. I SUGGESTED that if ASU is going to continue to state that they have given us (SCEE) $2,500, it should be made explicit in the Bill. As the Bill now reads, ASU has made available $2,500 to be used for scholarships to underprivileged and for minority groups by an organization, for example, SCEE. I also added that in order for SCEE to prove it "worthy" of $2,500, it needed the mechanics to work with in proving its worth. I SUGGESTED that ASU give SCEE the $2,500 to prove its worth.

A third and final point concerns SCEE's position with ASU. SCEE is an autonomous organization that has goals to support a student(s) financially through a scholarship program. It is SCEE's intent to utilize what ever funds that are available. SCEE has no intention of "leaning on ASU" for all of the needed funds. It is my personal belief that SCEE has played a dynamic role in promoting the need for an effective scholarship program on our campus. I also feel that because SCEE is a unique organization (to most college campuses) that it deserves better lines of communications with those who run our student government. It was not until after I had made my few statements that Jim Willms told me informally how SCEE was expected to show its worth. Jim explained to me that SCEE had only to submit an outline of its program and have the program approved by ASU. It is apparent that if this information had been available at an earlier date, there might not have been the erroneous article and a lot of ruffled feathers.

Sincerely,
Dan Gaitner
Co-Chairman of SCEE

consider last Saturday night's basketball game. Some two weeks prior to the game, an area high school informed the committee that it could not perform for the game as scheduled. The logical next step for the committee would be to contact the Idaho Pep Band and area high school bands to find a replacement. However, the Half-Time Committee managed to inform the Idaho Pep Band only three days before the game that the band was expected to perform.

The Idaho Pep Band is made up of students who, unlike the Half-Time Committee, plan more than three days in advance. Many are professional musicians who arrange their dance jobs so they are able to perform for their school's pep band. Common respect to these and other pep band members would require notifying them more than three days in advance, especially when the committee knew two weeks earlier.

If there was no music at the game Saturday, who would get blamed? Not the Half-Time Committee. . . The Idaho Pep Band. The pep band members managed to cancel their previous plans and provided the music Saturday night, without which the team, the pom-pom girls and the University would have suffered.

Saturday night's poor planning was not a first for the Half-Time Committee. The athletic department and pep band have grown accustomed to this sort of treatment. The logical solution to the problem would be to put the student director of the pep band either on the committee or make him chairman of the committee. This would eliminate the middle man and lack of communication between the band and the committee. Hopefully, students will consider this or demand its consideration by the new administration about to be elected by the A.S.U.I.

Sincerely,
Robin Wells

Play pits youth vs. business

What happens when the restless graduate, intent on doing his own thing, gets lured into the business scene? An upcoming television play will dig into this problem with unusual candor.

"The Experiment," coming up February 25 on CBS Playhouse, shows a science PhD arriving at a medium sized company that has promised him a fully equipped lab and the freedom to do his work as he wants. Soon, management is concentrating its attention on his appearance and his living arrangement with his girl. M.K. Douglas, 24-year-old son of the young scientist, Barry Sullivan plays the head of the company.

The author, Ellen Violet, who wrote her first TV play in 1950, says she got the idea for "The Experiment" when visiting her nephew, a science PhD at Stanford University.

The sponsor of the program, General Telephone and Electronics, follows a strict policy of keeping hands off all CBS scripts. Ironically, the company recently ran a two-page ad in Life headed, "Do you have to give up your identity to make it in a big corporation?"

A meeting of all living group delegates of MUN will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the Cataldo Room of the SUB to prepare for the convention. Countries will be assigned to living groups, rules will be explained and any questions will be answered. Country preferences will be picked up at living groups this afternoon.

CUP plays games

Editor, The Argonaut:
Before exposing the reason for this letter, I would like to assure you that it is not written out of anger or bitterness, but rather out of disappointment.

Sunday afternoon I went to the CUP convention firm in my belief that the job of picking the best candidates for the upcoming election was at hand. I was also under the impression that this would be done on the basis of ability and desire. Instead, I found myself lost in a complicated game of vote trading, back stabbing, and hot tempers. Being very incompetent in this type of activity, I found myself on the outside of a more or less machine. Needless to say, I got cut to ribbons. I learned a very important lesson Sunday: A guy needs more than just ability and desire, he also needs tact in the handling of people. I can't blame anyone or anything except myself and my naive values in regard to politics.

This brings me to the reason for this letter. In the trashing which I underwent on Sunday, I was able to hang onto one thing, this being my integrity as a CUP member. I voted as I saw fit, never promised anything unless I was sure that the individual was in my opinion qualified.

This idea of integrity was so completely forgotten or ignored that an individual, who had associated himself with another campus political party, was selected by the convention to serve CUP as an E-Board nominee. This gross breach of party constitution, loyalty, and unity is not solely this individual's fault, but that of all who supported him. I cannot help feeling that this mistake has dealt CUP a hard blow. Without unity a party is nothing more than an elite group of quick thinking individuals working towards their own ends. I hope that CUP will in the future be more practical (or should I say political) and less emotional in cases such as this.

Technically (considering Roger Enlow's ineptitude and Houghton Whithead's withdrawal) I am the CUP nominee for E-Board on the 7th ballot. However, I feel that because of my antiquated political values, my inability to play games, and my tendency to wear stay press shirts with button down collars, I am unworthy and incapable to serve CUP in its capacity.

Demands placed on band

Editor, The Argonaut:
As a student who has observed the workings of the A.S.U.I. Half-time Committee, I feel a few facts should be brought to light.

The Half-time Committee is responsible, among other things, for arranging a pep band to provide much needed music and spirit for the University's basketball games. The Half-time Committee is failing to correctly carry out all its responsibilities.

At the beginning of the school year, a schedule is arranged by the committee in cooperation with the Idaho Pep Band. At this time, area high schools are given the opportunity to be placed on the schedule and perform during some of the University basketball games. This is excellent public relations for the University and gives the high schools a chance to visit the University. If this schedule is correctly set up and adhered to, there should be no problem.

However, the Half-Time Committee shows incompetence and lack of courtesy in dealing with the Idaho Pep Band. For example,

Don't vote

Editor, The Argonaut:
This is concerning the upcoming student election. We have a choice? On one side we have a "liberal" and on the other a "conservative," neither of which are relevant or even meaningful. The entire student government is a farce, not just Chris or Willms.

Not just because student government represents no one nor because they get little done, but simply because there is no reason for its existence.

I suggest we abolish student government and spend money on up-grading this institution. If you agree, DON'T VOTE.

KUIO staff members ready charity marithon

Beginning tomorrow at 12 midnight, three KUIO staff members will hold a marathon, broadcasting twenty-four hours a day for eighty straight hours to help raise funds for the Campus Chest Drive.

Interviews of all the Campus Chest candidates will be aired. Those marathoners who will be awake during the eighty hour broadcast are: Larry Doss, Tom Blingham, and Kenneth Seigota. They may be called at any time during the matathon.

Serving the University of Idaho since November 15, 1945, KUIO, the student-owned and operated radio station has placed on display articles covering its beginning history to the present day.

The oldest radio station in Moscow, the Voice of the Vandal, is probably least known by local residents and students being the first radio station in Moscow. KUIO has for two decades been a campus-limited station and could be heard only in various campus living groups.

November 17, 1968, KUIO began officially to broadcast on the FM band. Today, KUIO reaches Moscow and Pullman and has a potential audience of 35,000 listeners. KUIO is a member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, which is comprised of over 330 similar college stations. However, KUIO is the only one of its kind in the Pacific Northwest.

Next Public Events film 'The Lavendor Hill Mob'

The Public Events film this week will be "The Lavendor Hill Mob," a British comedy (1951) starring stage and film actor Alec Guinness. The showing will be tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Ag Science auditorium.

"The Lavendor Hill Mob" is one of a number of British comedies in which Alec Guinness starred in the late 1940s and early 1950s. "The Lavendor Hill Mob" is in the tradition of the European crime comedy such as the Italian film, "Big Deal on Madonna Street," shown on campus here last year, except that in the British picture the police, not the thieves, appear ludicrous.

A most unusual bank robbery is the theme of this film. A gentle, trustworthy clerk of the Bank of England who has served faithfully for twenty years (Guinness) masterminds the robbery of one million pounds worth of gold bullion. The gold is then melted down into paper-weights in the form of the Eiffel Tower by a would-be sculptor (Stanley Holloway) and smuggled into France. When several of these paperweights are inadvertently sold to some traveling British school girls, the "mob," concerned that these "souvenirs" may arouse the curiosity of the wrong people in England, pursues the girls in a wild chase. The police in turn are drawn into this chase and pursue the pursuers, but they are outwitted by the thieves in spite of their "scientific" methods and technological gadgetry in a thoroughly wild and slapstick scene.

Two short plays set for tonight

Two one-act plays will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the U-Hut at 7:30 p.m. There will be no admission charged.

The plays will be: "Come Back Little Sheba," directed by Greg Melton, and "Volpone," directed by Frank Yamamoto.

The cast for "Come Back Little Sheba" includes Jane Cooke as Lola; Chuck Bonney as Doc; Nick Valochos as Bruce; Dorcan Carr as Marie; Andy Slegenthaler as Ed; and Clyde Callen as Elmo.

Taking roles in "Volpone" are Bob Mikelson as Volpone; Jim Cash as Mosca; Monte Ralston as Voltore; Ron Ravenberg as Corbaccio; and Steve Leroy as Corvino.

Silver opinion competition will offer scholarship

During the month of March, Reed and Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarships totalling $2050 are being offered to duly enrolled women students at a few selected colleges and universities.

The University of Idaho has been selected to enter this Competition in which the First Grand Award is a $500 scholarship; Second Grand Award is a $300 scholarship; Third Grand Award is a $250 scholarship; Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Awards are $200 scholarships; and Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth are $100 scholarships. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $75.

In the 1969 "Silver Opinion Competition," an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrants simply list the three best combinations of sterling, china, and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Scholarships and awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of table-setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Polly Crowley is the Student Representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at the University of Idaho. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact her at Kappa Alpha Theta for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the competition rules. She also has samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Williams will address Ohio geology seminar

University of Idaho Hydrologist Roy E. Williams has been invited to address a geology seminar and participate in an engineering geology symposium at the University of Ohio, February 26.

In his speech, entitled, "Ground Water Flow Systems and Origins of Evaporates," Dr. Williams will explain a new theory which he has developed regarding the origin of evaporite mineral or salt deposits in the United States.

According to Williams, "The classical theory for the formation of extensive layers of salt states that large volumes of sea water collected, and then evaporated, leaving behind dissolved solids. I believe, however, that salt is also supplied to basins of accumulation by ground water which discharges into basins over long periods of time."

Williams, an assistant professor of hydrology, earned his bachelor and master of science degrees at Indiana University and his doctor of philosophy degree in hydrology at the University of Illinois.

Idaho receives grant

The University of Idaho has received a $1,200 grant for undergraduate technical scholarships as part of 3M Company's annual aid-to-education program. The money may be awarded to one or more qualified students as the University decides.

Nationwide, 3M is giving $525,000 in cash during the 1969-70 academic year to about 350 colleges and universities.

INTRAMURAL POOL CHAMPION Tom Andrews shoots while his opponent in the championship match, Jim Johnston looks on. Andrews beat Johnston last Thursday 50-38.

JIM DEAN set a freshman record in the 200 yard individual medley with a time of 2:11.3 at the swimming meet with Highline College. This was Dean's first appearance in competition for the Vandals.

Swimmers top Highline 56-44

Jim Dean set a freshman record while winning the 200 yard individual medley event as Idaho downed Highline College 59-44 in dual meet competition Saturday. The win advanced the Vandal swimmers' season record to 7-4. The finnen have won 3 against no losses at home this year.

Dean swam the medley event in 2:11.3 to better the record set last year by Marc Greenwell. It was the first time that Dean swam the 200 individual medley in competition for the Vandals. Dean also won the 500 yard freestyle event and swam on the winning 400 yard freestyle relay team.

Co-captain Dick Curtis was also on that relay combination. Curtis won the 100 yard freestyle as well as placed second behind Vandal Terry Theissen in the 200 yard freestyle event.

Dan Kirkland continued to pile up points for the team, with firsts in the 1000 yard freestyle and 22 yard butterfly events, and a second in the 200 yard breaststroke.

Bob Bonzer picked up a first in the 200 yard backstroke event and came in second behind Kirkland in the 1000 yard freestyle race.

Marc Greenwell, one of the top Vandal swimmers was suffering from a severe cold and did not compete in the meet. Neither did Tom Jones, the leading one-meter diver. Jones broke his nose in practice on Friday. Both swimmers are doubtful starters for the Vandals' dual matches here Friday and in Spokane on Saturday.

The swimmers forfeited 16 points at the beginning of the meet for the 1 and 3 meter diving events. The 1 meter diving board is broken, and Idaho does not have facilities for the 3 meter event.

IK's will have their initiation banquet tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the SUB. Besides initiation, election of officers will take place. All members planning on being initiated should wear a coat and tie and bring a blindfold.

SPORTS OPINION

by Dave Finkelberg

Swimmers' woes

ITEM: Idaho finnen defeated Highline College here Saturday 59-44.

COMMENT: Talk about a coach with troubles. The Vandals defeated the same team 70-33 in Midway, Washington a week ago. The fickle finger of fate seems to be pointing at coach Chet Hall and his swimmers lately, though.

On Friday afternoon Hall's best one meter diver, Tom Jones, broke his nose on the bottom of the pool. While Hall was tending Jones to the infirmary, someone in his sophomore diving class hit the side of the 1 meter board and broke it.

Previously in home matches the Vandals have had to forfeit 8 points for the 3 meter diving event. There are no 3 meter diving facilities at Idaho. With the broken board the swimmers were forfeiting another 8 points and started their home meet Saturday 16 points behind Highline.

Coach Hall's troubles weren't over yet. On Saturday afternoon Marc Greenwell, one of Hall's best swimmers, arrived with a severe cold that bordered on pneumonia, and reported that his doctor didn't think he should swim.

Even with Greenwell out of the lineup, the story had a happy ending. The swimmers overcame the setbacks and Jim Dean set a new frosh record, his third of the year, enroute to the victory.

Spokane boat show

ITEM: The Spokane Yacht Club held its 13th annual boat show at the fair-grounds in Spokane last week.

COMMENT: We were fortunate enough to be able to spend some time Saturday looking over the boats and accessories. Commercial exhibitors brought in nearly a million dollars worth of boats for the five day affair.

We were impressed by the display — everything from folding kayaks to cabin cruisers to houseboats, plenty of inboard-outdrives, outboards, and a few sailboats besides.

Not being versed in the technical aspects of power sailing, we didn't bring back much information about sailing innovations. It was plain to see, however, that boating isn't getting any cheaper. One class of boats we looked at are priced about 10 per cent more than last year for what is essentially the same hull and power-plant. The cost of living takes its toll. We doubt that the extra $300 was just paying for a new padded instrument panel.

A couple of interesting items we saw were an air-boat and a Seadoo. The air boat floats on a cushion of air, and travels on land as well as water. The Seadoo powered by a water-jet, is the boat version of a snowmobile and looks like a lot of fun.

Being partial to sailboats ourselves, we spent much time looking over the small class boats and wishing that college students weren't such a destitute lot.

We'll try to sneak sailing into the picture here more often. In the meantime spring and good sailing weather really aren't so far away . . .

Wrestling championship held at Missoula

The University of Idaho wrestling team picked up two second place finishes in the Big Sky Wrestling Championship to place fifth with a total of 20 points. The meet, held at Missoula, Montana, on February 21 and 22 saw two Vandal grapplers make it to the finals.

Ed Clauson, 191 lb. weight class, lost to Carlton Tanaka in the finals by a score of 5-2. Craig Stuart, 130 lb. weight class, lost in the finals also.

Speaking about the conference meet, Coach Ron Stephenson said that the match between Clauson and Tanaka was the closest match in the finals.

ED CLAUSON, wrestling at 191 pounds, was one of two Vandals to make it to the finals at the Big Sky tournament held in Missoula last Saturday. Clauson lost in the finals 5-2, as did Vandal Craig Stuart in 130 pound class.

Do you think a bright young engineer should spend his most imaginative years on the same assignment?

Neither do we.

That's why we have a two-year Rotation Program for graduating engineers who would prefer to explore several technical areas. And that's why many of our areas are organized by function—rather than by project.

At Hughes, you might work on spacecraft, communications satellites and/or tactical missiles during your first two years.

All you need is an EE, ME or Physics degree and talent.

If you qualify, we'll arrange for you to work on several different assignments . . . and you can help pick them.

You may select specialized jobs, or broad systems-type jobs. Or you can choose not to change assignments if you'd rather develop in-depth skills in one area.

Either way, we think you'll like the Hughes approach.

It means you'll become more versatile in a shorter time.

VANDAL JERRY SMITH (32) shoots against Montana State's Jack Gillespie (43) as Idaho's Steve Brown (35) prepares to rebound, just in case. Smith had 21 points Friday night. Phil Waddell and Jim Thacker had 24 and 22 points respectively. Idaho beat Montana State Friday 84-75, then dropped Saturday's game to the Bobcats 57-67.

Vandals split two with Montana State

Alternating evenings of hot and cold field goal shooting was the story for the Idaho Vandals over the weekend as they managed a split with the Montana State University Bobcats. The Vandals had 48 per cent accuracy Friday night in defeating MSU 84-75 but the Bobcats held the hot hand Saturday night as they connected on 42 per cent of their field goal attempts on the way to a 67-57 victory.

Idaho 84, Montana State 75

The high scoring trio of Phil Waddell, Jim Thacker and Jerry Smith led the Idaho Vandals to their third Big Sky Conference win of the season as they combined for a total of 67 points.

Phil Waddell had his finest night of the season as he dumped in a total of 24 points. Jim Thacker and Jerry Smith added 22 and 21 markers respectively to counter-balance Montana State's two man attack of Jack Gillespie who led all scorers with 26 points, and Jay Harrington who pumped in 15.

It wasn't till late in the first half that the Vandals managed to take the lead after trailing since the opening tip-off. Phil Waddell's short jumper with 3:12 left in the half put Idaho ahead for the first time 33-32. MSU's Jay Harrington tied it with a pair of free throws with 3:04 remaining after Henry Pettis' free throw had increased the Vandals' lead to two.

Jerry Smith's jumper from the top of the key with 2:55 remaining on the clock put Idaho on top to stay. The Vandals increased their lead to seven before halftime as they led 43-36.

The second half was all Idaho as the Vandals maintained an eight to ten point lead throughout and that was hot it ended 84-75.

The Bobcats held the edge in rebounding and in the free throw percentages but their 35 per cent showing from the floor wasn't enough to overcome the Vandals. MSU's Gillespie pulled down 22 rebounds as his team totaled 46 compared to Idaho's 43. Jim Thacker — the shortest man on the Idaho team — led the Vandals in rebounds with 9.

Idaho 57, Montana State 67

Montana State's big 6'9" center, Jack Gillespie, and 6'0" guard Jay Harrington combined to lead the Bobcat attack again Saturday evening and this time it wasn't in vain. Idaho got support from only two of its trio that led them past the 'Cats the previous night and that support wasn't quite enough. Montana downed the Vandals by ten, 67-57.

Montana State jumped off to an early lead that they never relinquished to the cold shooting Vandals. The Bobcats led 36-25 at the intermission and Idaho rallied only briefly in the second half. That coming with only about five minutes left when the Vandals cut the margin to four, 47-51, but a couple of quick baskets by Gillespie put out the fire.

Guards Jim Thacker and Phil Waddell led the Vandal attack with 15 and 12 points respectively. Idaho's Jerry Smith, who held a 20 point-plus average before this weekend, was held to a mere six points.

Rifle team wins second

The University of Idaho Naval ROTC rifle and drill teams competed against Naval ROTC teams from Oregon State and the University of Washington last Saturday in Corvallis. The Idaho teams placed second in both the drill and rifle competition.

The three schools meet annually in non-conference competition for the H.D. Powell Trophy. Last year Idaho was third in both events.

The rifle team totaled 1336 points behind Washington's 1365 and slightly ahead of Oregon's 1334.

Top man on the Idaho rifle team was Mike Kephart with 282. Kephart was second over-all. Other men on the Idaho team were: Paul Lother, 274; Van DeWitt, 267; Mike Mather, 261; and Jim Bussler, 252.

Although the final results on the drill team competition have not been released the Idaho team is assured of second place. Apparently Idaho took first in the regulation area of drill by a slight margin over OSU and second place in the exhibition area, said team advisor Gurney Sgt. Chancey.

The Navy rifle team will host the Inland Empire Tournament this Saturday. The match which will be shot for conference points is open to all interested persons. It will begin in the armory at 9 a.m.

The rifle team beat Auburn University 1275-1253 in a postal match fired last Thursday.

Vandals win over Montana last night

The Vandals dumped the University of Montana Grizzlies 75-65 last night in a rough house affair in the Memorial Gymnasium. Control ball won the game but there wasn't much about the game that resembled control — ball, as both teams pressed, zoned, and used the fast break in the close contest.

Idaho had four men in double figures in one of its best scoring efforts of the year. Phil Waddell led all scorers with 18, and Jerry Smith had 17. Jim Thacker tallied 15 and Adrian Prince found the basket and watched their 43-33 halftime advantage fade until Montana went ahead 51-50 with 12:31 left in the game. The teams traded the lead 10 times before Nelson's lay-up put the Vandals ahead for good.

In the preliminary the Idaho freshmen fell to the Grizzlies frosh 70-61. Ron Pollock led the Vandals with nine field goals for 18 points. Matt Oliver scored 12, Don Alquist 10, and Adrian Wegner 9 in the losing effort.

Game scoring honors went to the Grizzly-frosh center, 6-8 Don Howard, Howard tallied 26 and teammate Bill Johnson had 22 to lead the Montana freshmen.

Marv Williams was fouled on a wide open lay-in and converted the free throw for the three point play. Thacker hustled through the Montana press for most of the final minute. He sank two foul shots and John Nelson sank a lay-in before the final gun.

In the first opening minutes of the game the score was tied three times before jump shots by Thacker and Prince put Idaho ahead 10-6. The Vandals held that advantage for nearly six minutes before running off 11 unanswered points to lead 31-16 with 6:25 left in the half.

A lay-in by Waddell after he stole the ball, a fast break lay-in by Nelson, and a jump-shot by Prince sapped the Idaho scoring burst. Montana began chipping away at that lead, using a full court press to produce Vandal turnovers.

Cold as ice in the opening minutes of the second half, the Vandals couldn't make a

Frosh lose two last weekend

The Idaho freshmen lost two preliminary encounters last weekend. On Friday night the WSU freshmen ran away at the end for a 76-56 victory. On Saturday the highly touted College of Southern Idaho Eagles edged the Vandals 67-64.

Adrian Wegner led the freshmen, scoring 17 points Friday night, and was top Vandal rebounder in both games. Wegner pulled in 9 rebounds against WSU and 8 against CSI.

WSU center Jim Nielson scored 25 points and garnered 15 rebounds to lead his team to the win. Ten of the 6'9" center's points came in the final five minutes on layins against the Vandal's pressing defense.

A 39 point output by freshmen guards Tom Thomas and Ron Pollock was not enough Saturday night to get the Freshmen by the CSI Eagles. The pressing guards were hot, hitting on 17 of 33 shots between them. Thomas had 20 points and Pollock 19. Wegner again scored 17 tallies.

The big post-man hurt the Vandals again, as Eagle center Tom Bush scored 27 points. The 6'11" center also gathered 11 rebounds.

Andrews is IM pool champion

Tom Andrews defeated Jim Johnston 50-38 last Thursday to win the intramural pool championship.

Andrews won his way into the finals by winning three matches and whipping Don Ricketts 50-18 in the semi-finals.

Johnston also won three matches and then defeated Denton Dance 50-37 to win his way into the final.

Andrews played skillfully throughout the game, taking chances to pick up critical balls when necessary. He ran a string of six balls the last time he had the pool cue in hand.

Andrews commented after the match, "It was an extremely rough match and I was glad to win."

Among the CUP nominations were Jim Williams for Associated Students of the University of Idaho president and Bill McCurdy for ASUI vice-president.

NSA fights abolition of youth air fares

The United States National Student Association (NSA) will fight the recommendations of a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) examiner calling for the abolition of youth fares as "unjustly discriminatory," and has retained legal counsel to prepare briefs and oral arguments for presentation before the CAB.

The announcement of NSA's action came from Services Division director Alan C. Handell, who noted that at present the Association is the only group representing student users of the airline youth fare which will make arguments before the Federal board.

Abolition of youth fares is being sought by a number of bus companies. NSA will argue that in view of the educational, social, economic, and cultural benefits afforded by the youth fares and young adult fares, the fares should not be cancelled.

Written arguments will be presented to the CAB by February 26. Oral arguments will be made at a later date. NSA is being represented by the Washington law firm of Koteck and Burt, who are experts in air fare matters.

New Pan Hellenic president installed

Sharon Langley, Gamma Phi, was installed as new Panhellenic President at the Panhellenic Workshop held February 22. Outgoing president was Mimi Henriksen, Tri Delta.

Other officers installed at the workshop were: Linda Eskberg, vice president; Kay Rosenberger, secretary-treasurer; Carol Heimgartner, public relations; Gail Ostheiler, scholarship; and Karen Clements, rush.

Sharon Langley, Janie Slaughter, Nancy Johnston, Kathy Poleson, and Allison Miller also served with Mimi Henriksen as last year's officers. Sharon Stranahan, Tri Delta, received the Panhellenic Scholarship at the Saturday luncheon.

Keynote speaker for the workshop was Mrs. Howard Ramey from Eugene, Oregon. Mrs. Ramey is the National Membership Director of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mrs. Frank Hiscock, Grand President of Gamma Phi Beta, spoke on "The Greek Way — a Positive Approach" at the luncheon. Mrs. Hiscock is from Seattle.

The workshop included 12 discussion groups on such topics as attitudes and orientation for pledge trainers, cooperation with L.F.C., and the role of the chapter president.

Why Do You Read So Slowly?

A noted published in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to increase your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher many people, regardless of their present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve their reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in his new booklet, "How to Read Faster and Retain More," mailed free. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Reading, 835 Diversy, Dept. 164,412, Chicago, 60614. A postcard will do.

Handell urged that students interested in retaining youth fares contact him at USNSA, 2115 S. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.

NSA is a national confederation of nearly 400 student government associations. It is the oldest national grouping of American student governments, founded in 1947.

Cars needed for caravan

Cars are needed to form a car caravan to attend the Nez Perce Indian Tribal Invitational War Dance competition being held at the Nez Perce community building, Lapwai, Idaho March 1.

Interested persons are asked to call Mari Watters at 6394 and give their name and how many people they will be able to take. Currently 70 people have signed up for the trip and, therefore, more cars are needed.

Stops will be made along the route to point out Indian legends and historical sites, such as "The Sleeping Indian Chief," "The Rattlesnake and the Rabbit," "The Indian Woman Who Was Turned to Stone," and others.

Admission to the dance is $50. The caravan will be leaving the Student Union at 4 p.m., March 1. Everyone attending should bring cameras and colored film. Indian items will be on sale at the community building.

Play tryouts announced

ASUI drama announced today that tryouts for the Northwest premier of the biting anti-war play, "Summertime" will be held from 4-6 p.m. this Thursday and Friday in the University Auditorium.

There are roles for three men and two women in this experimental script, that first premiered last spring at the Lincoln Center Forum Theatre, according to drama director Forrest Sears.

"The play, which is cinematic in form, traces the short life and untimely death of a young man in the Vietnam war conflict," said Sears. "The play, while making a strong anti-war statement, probes with tremendous insight the young man's conflicts with his parents, and deepening relationship with his girl."

"The play shows extreme talent by its 23-year-old author, Ron Cowen," said Sears.

Forums committee to sponsor smoker in SUB on Thursday

By Jane Anderson

Are you choosing between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea or are you even choosing? What are the differences between the 25 odd candidates for the ASUI offices? The Issues and Forums committee is trying to help the University of Idaho students to make up their minds by sponsoring a campus "Smoker" in the sub cafeteria starting at 7:30 Thursday.

Tom Carroll, E-Board member, will moderate an open discussion between ASUI presidential candidates Mike Clay, Chris Smith and Jim Williams. The debate will last about 30 minutes, leaving time for students to question the speakers.

Following the debate candidates Bill McCurdy (CUP), Dick Sams (ASA), and Houghton Whithead (Ind.) will be given the opportunity to speak for five minutes about campus issues they feel pertinent to their campaigns. Those vying for the nine E-Board openings will be allowed three minutes to present themselves to the student body. Split into the three political camps, E-Board candidates are, representing CUP, Bob Crawley, Pam Dol, Roger Enlow, Kristy Greenawalt, Randy Luce, Don Miller, Lee McCollum, Jim Mottern, and Pam Remakus. The newly organized ASA party is sponsoring E. B. Cunningham, Bill Hoene, Marshall Mah, and Roger Ritter for E-Board. Independent candidates are Gomer Davis, Mary Hanke, Tom Loucks, Mike Mann, and Bryce McProud.

Issues and Forums realizes the necessity of direct contact between the students and their too often obscure candidates. Here's the students' chance, Independent, or off campus, Greek or just hungry, to come to the SUB cafeteria and listen to the issues of campus politics.

Robert Thompson hired as assistant coach

Appointment of Robert E. Thompson as an assistant football coach at the University of Idaho has been announced by Paul Orty, director of athletics.

Thompson, who previously served as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State University, will be a receiver's coach at Idaho. His appointment will give Idaho its first seven-man staff.

A native of Guthrie, Okla., the 31-year-old coach attended Eastern Oklahoma Junior College where he was named outstanding player in football, basketball, baseball, and outstanding quarterback. He then went to Adams State College, Colo., where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

Following graduate study at the University of New Mexico, Thompson coached football at Highland high school, Albuquerque, N.M., and Altus high school, Oklahoma. In 1966 he joined the staff of Oklahoma State University as a defensive and receiver's coach.

An International Buffet will be held this Sunday from 5-7 in the Blue Bunker where an Oriental dinner will be given. Prices are $1.75 for students and $2.25 for adults. Colored lights will serve as decor and appropriate music will be piped in from the stereo lounge.

Vandaleers to perform in 11 cities and towns

The University of Idaho Vandaleer Concert Choir will present a varied program ranging from Bach to sea chantees in its concert tour of southern Idaho, March 3 through 7.

The choir, under the direction of Glen R. Lockery, will begin its 22nd annual tour with a performance at Meridian high school, March 3, 8 p.m. It will then appear at Caldwell high school, 11 a.m.; Vallivue high school, Caldwell, 2:30 p.m.; and Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, 8 p.m., March 4.

On March 5, the Vandaleers will perform before the Legislature at 10 a.m.; Borah high school, 12:30 p.m.; and Wendell high school, 8 p.m.

On March 6, concerts are scheduled at Jerome high school, 9 a.m.; College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, 11 a.m.; and Blackfoot high school, 8 p.m.

The tour concludes March 7 with performances at Skyline high school, Idaho Falls, 10 a.m., and Salmon high school, 8 p.m.

The choir will then return to the campus and present a concert in the University Auditorium March 9 at 4 p.m.

Included in the program throughout the 10 city tour will be "Sleeper's Wake" by Bach; "Te Deum Lau Damus" by Haydn; "The Magnificat" by the contemporary composer Jean Berger; a group of Renaissance madrigals; folk songs; sea chantees, selections from the Broadway musical "Brigadoon," and "Serenade" by Schubert.

Accompanying the choir on the tour will be a chamber orchestra composed of Idaho music faculty members and students.

Drama class formed for young children

A creative dramatics class for children 9-11 will be held April 3 through May 15, it was announced by Ed Chavez, head of the Dramatics Department at the University of Idaho.

The class will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays in the University Hut from 4:10 until 5 p.m.

Susan Dalby and Diane Konen were recently tapped by the Army ROTC sponsor unit to serve with the group. The girls act as social hostesses and drill with the cadet brigade of Army ROTC.

Walton to present tenor recital

A program ranging from operatic arias to modern French songs will be presented by University of Idaho music faculty member Charles Walton, tenor, in a recital, Thursday, February 27.

The recital, featuring songs by Handel, Strauss, Rachmaninoff, Rucini and Poulence, will be given in the Music Recital Hall at 8 p.m.

Walton joined the Idaho music faculty in 1961 and has been heard in many area musical events, including Summer Theatre productions of "Fantastika" and "Little Mary Sunshine"; as Gastone in "La Traviata" with the Spokane Symphony, and as soloist with the University of Idaho Symphony Orchestra.

A graduate of the University of Michigan where he earned his bachelor and master of music degrees, he has also studied voice at the Vienna Academy of Music. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Idaho educator serves on accreditation team

University of Idaho Educator Hervon L. Snider has been appointed chairman of a 13-man accreditation team which will evaluate teacher education at the University of Wyoming.

Appointed by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, Dr. Snider and his group will spend next week '63 VW, excellent condition and low at Wyoming to determine that institution's mileage. Red, ski acgs, good tires. accreditation for the next 5-10 years. $850.00. 882-3465.

Vandalettes tryouts will be held Sunday, March 2, in the SUB. Those interested in trying out should contact a Vandalette member for information.
