Turnout for election nets 374 freshmen, Mah leads

Wednesday, 374 freshmen turned out to elect Edwin Mah, Upham Hall Freshman President. Jere

Schulte, TKE, was elected Vice President, and Barbara Benjamin, Alpha Chi, was elected new Secretary Treasurer.

Edwin Mah ran on a platform of getting more freshmen active in campus affairs. He plans on visiting each living group in the near future to talk to the frosh. On his list of proposed projects is pushing for the extending of frosh women's hours.

Schulte's platform was to try and make the frosh class more active and powerful in the area of student government.

By the closing time at the polls yesterday, 374 of the campus's 1,480 freshmen turned out to vote for the candidates. Defeated were: Dennis Veltri, Rob Wolf, John Burlison, Julius Carstensen, Bob Neidner, and Marsha Johnson.

ASUI President Jim Willms commented that of the last six frosh presidents, four have resigned. Perhaps they reflect the apathy of the electorate.

Last spring, E-Board moved the election date for sophomore, junior and senior class officers to the fifth week of the spring semester.

Carter discusses fee increase with University students

Tuesday evening Financial-Administrative Vice-President Sherman F. Carter, George Anderson, a University auditor, and Don Amos, the University budget director, met with the ASUI Executive Board and about 30 students to discuss the University's proposed fee increase. During the hour-long session many areas of the University's financial operations were discussed.

Dr. Carter made a brief statement about the need for the fee increase. After Dr. Carter's introductory remarks, ASUI President Jim Willms opened the meeting to questions and discussion.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Carter stressed the University's need for $226,000 to conduct the 1970 summer school session and for $100,000 to move the computer center and the basement of the Faculty

Office Building, formerly Willis Sweet

Hall. The proposed fee increase would be

$24 a semester for residents and $49 a semester for non-residents, Dr. Carter said. These increases would make the normal costs of instruction because such fees would constitute an illegal tution," said Orwick. "Your letter to Jim Willms and the E-Board dated October 13, 1969 you stated that the $315,000 to be derived from the fee increase was necessary to pay for salaries for summer school instructors, to move the computer center, and to pay for other things such as rain gutters for certain University building. It would seem to me that the use of this money for these things would constitute an illegal tuition," Orwick said.

"The question of what constitues a tuition and what does not is a hard one to answer," said Dr. Carter. "For instance, we have determined that we can legally use fees to pay off bonds on classroom buildings, as we are doing with the University Classroom Building.' "I'm not asking you to define a tuition," said Orwick. "I'm asking that if, under the definition stated by Dr. Hartung in 1967, your proposed fee increase is not a tuition. Does the University change its definition of a tuition every year to fit its needs?" Orwick asked.

Forty-eight of 106 men, present and past members of the Idaho Board of Regents, wore beards and or moustaches.

Students, faculty discuss diversified topics Saturday at annual university retreat

Students and faculty meet tomorrow to discuss diversified topics of current interest about the University of Idaho at the annual Student faculty Retreat.

Suggested discussion topics include improvements in on-campus housing, open visitation, teacher evaluation, curriculum development and a student code of conduct.

First discussion session will be followed by a speech delivered by Jim Willms, ASUI president. Lunch will be served at noon. Afternoon sessions include the second discussion period, a coffee break and a speech by a member of the faculty. The final discussion session will end with an evaluation of the day.

speakers as Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., both of whom sought the Democratic presidential nomination last year as anti-Vietnam war candidates.

in Moratorium

Closer to home, at the University of Idaho, a Peace Breakfast was held Wednesday morning at the SUB. In the afternoon, a panel discussion on the War in Vietnam was held. Participating in the panel were Professor Michael Brown, Idaho; Prof. Carl Baumgartner, Idaho; Siegfried Vogt, Political Science, WSU; Gary Tiegen, graduate student in political science, Idaho; and Dennis Powers, graduate student in English, Idaho.

Students were also able to see excerpts from "Summertree," an ASUI Drama production in the afternoon.

Wednesday evening, living group teachins on the Moratorium and the war in Vietnam were held. Teachers and students went to all living groups to discuss the days events.

In counterdemonstrations, supporters of the Nixon administration's Vietnam policy hoisted flags to full staff and turned on automobile headlights. In most places their demonstrations were outweighed by the highly organized antiwar activities. Some antimoratorium spokesmen said the antiwar observances were giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

The day's events pointed up the country's division over the war, but, despite passions on either side, incidents of violence were few. Disorders were characterized mostly by scuffles and thousands to hear such well-known speakers as Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., both of whom sought the Democratic presidential nomination last year as antiwar candidates.

Speaking to 10,000 persons at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., McCarthy declared that although President Nixon might hold military withdrawal from Vietnam to be a disaster, history "would call it a sign of great statesmanship.'

McCarthy also appeared at a rally of more than 20,000 in New York's Bryant Park. There were two other New York rallies of more than 10,000, one with a midtown candlelight procession.

On Boston Common police estimated between 75,000 and 100,000 at a rally. A Philadelphia gathering drew 15,000 persons and 10,000 assembled in Minneapolis.

Vietnam Moratorium Day in Spokane saw an estimated 2,300 persons march peacefully for two miles from Gonzaga University to the U.S District Court House in downtown Spokane in protest of the Vietnam War.

The marchers were quiet as they listened to the reading of names of Washington servicemen who died in Vietnam. A seriousness of purpose seemed evident.

City police, who escorted the marchers, estimated that 1,800 began the march at 4 p.m., with another 500 joining them along the way. The marchers - mostly area fees at the University of Idaho slightly higher than those charged at Idaho State University and $59 a year less for on this residents than those charged at d four Washington State University, he oart in continued.

Increased summer fees

Roger Enlow, an E-Board Member, questioned Dr. Carter about increased fees for summer school. "I realize that summer school fees have been increased," said Enlow, "but has this increase been minimized so that we don't antagonize school teachers and other people about the state who only take courses in the summer?

Dr. Carter explained that a proposal to increase summer school fees has been made. Under the proposal fees for parttime residents would be increased $2.50 per credit and full-time resident fees would remain at $110. Non-resident students face a $5 per credit increase for part-time work and a $15, from $125 to $140, for full-time work. Jim Mottern, an E-Board member, asked why regular students were being asked to subsidize the summer school when many of them would not attend summer school.

'We felt that the proposed increase in summer school fees was as great as we could make," said Dr. Carter. "However, this is something that could be looked into," he continued.

Summer fees fair

Argonaut Editor Ira Eick pointed out that based on the number of credits that could be taken the summer school fees were already higher than those for a regular session. "Except for full-time nonresident students, summer school fees seem to be fairly based," said Eick. "However, during a regular semester a non-resident pays $250 more than a resident. It would seem to me that nonresidents could be fairly charged $150 to $200 more as a summer school tuition," he continued. John Orwick, a student, asked Dr.

Carter about a statement made by Dr. Hartung in 1967 when students asked why fees being charged for the athletic complex could not be applied to pay teachers salaries.

An illegal tuition

"In the December 12, 1967 issue of the Argonaut, Dr. Hartung stated that fees could not be used to pay for instructor-s salaries, plant maintenance, or the

"For the Lawyers"

"I don't know, John," replied Dr. Carter. "This is something for the lawyers to decide."

Mike Mann, an E-Board member, asked if the University could not seek additional funding from the state legislature. "The state constitution has been changed to allow the legislature to meet annually instead of bi-annually specifically to deal with the budgets of state institutions on an annual basis," said Mann. "Could the University not ask the legislature for an additional appropriation to meet these needs?

"The University will have to seek additional funds in one or two areas," said Dr. Carter. "Under the new arrangements for employee health insurance we must have more money to offer all our staff this benefit. We could also ask for money for these other needs also," Dr. Carter continued.

Why Now?

"Since the legislature does not meet until January, why is a fee increase being considered now?" question Mann.

"This is being done so we may inform new students of the fees when the initial mailings go out,'' said Dr. Carter.

The subject of the discussion then changed to the use of money derived from the dormitories. Questions were directed to both Anderson and Amos concerning the use and handling of these funds.

Dorm profits

Eick questioned Anderson about profits derived from the dormitories. "Are any moneys derived from dormitory operation used for anything except for maintenance and operation of the dormitories, or retirement of dormitory bonds?" he asked.

"Nothing except to maintain the Dormitory Reserve Fund," said Anderson. "This fund is necessary if the University is to find additional bonding for new dormitories.'

'Does the University contemplate building more dormitories when they can't fill the ones they have?" asked Orwick.

"No,." said Carter. "There was some work contemplated on a dining area for the tower, but this has never

The program begins with breakfast at 7:30 a.m. in the cafeteria of the Student Union Building. Name tags will be issued and registration taken at that time. Those present will be divided into discussion groups

San Francisco group to give drama Sunday to satirize America

'San Francisco Mime Group'', a revolutionary dramatical company, will present a two-hour performance Sunday at 8 p.m. in the SUB ballroom.

'Congress of the White Washers'', to be presented by the group, saterizes the establishment, values and war.

The performers were ousted during presentations at Denver, Calgary and Sar Francisco. "San Francisco Mine Group" is presently doing a tour of Washington and Oregon.

The nine-year old group has worked mostly in parks of San Francisco, were at Harvard for a strike, Columbia for riots there and at Berkley and San Francisco State for strikes.

"In their humble way, their goal was to over-throw the United States government," says Time Magazine of the performers.

For their revolutionary action in the parks, "San Francisco Mime Throup" won an OBE award, and are presently considered one of the oldest and most established gorilla theatre in the country.

The submission deadline for the next issue of Amython is October 25, 1969. Amython needs short stories, essays, and drawings, and is always willing to accept poetry. People interested in submitting can leave their material at the SUB information desk or send it to 730 E. 8th, apt. 2, Moscow.

People interested in doing interpretative art should contact Doug Hill at 882-0366.

A steak fry and the return to Moscow conclude the retreat.

Among those expected to attend are Dr. Howard Alden, Dr. Gordon Bopp, Bruce Bray, Dr. Carlton Iiams, Dr. A.R. Gittins, Dr. Clifford Dobler, Tony Skrbek, Dean Evertt Samuelson and Pastor Ed Weiskotten.

Also Mrs. Earnest Hartung, wife of U of I president, and Robert Coontod, U of I vice president.

Admittance cost is $1 per person. The presentation is being sponsored by the Vietnam Moratorium committee.

name-calling.

Scores of schools and colleges observed the moratorium call for a pause in routine. In many only a minority participated actively and elsewhere the course of daily business mostly went on much as usual.

In Washington, that was the Nixon administration's official position, undisturbed by a clash at a White House gate in which police repelled about 20 demonstrators who tried to storm into the grounds. Four Negro youths and a blonde girl were arrested.

Later more than 22,000 persons massed near the Washington Monument to hear Coretta King, whose slain husband Martin Luther King was a strong advocate of a Vietnam pullout.

The civil rights leader's widow said: 'While we spend billions of dollars for destruction in Vietnam we refuse to recognize the necessity for life at home.' Afterward the protestors, bathed in orange light from hand-held candles, walked silently to the White House.

college and high school students ---carried signs expressing their feelings and gave the peace sign to the many pedestrians and motorists they passed.

The march was orderly and no incidents occurred. Police said a major traffic tieup did occur, as the march, legally authorized by the city, came during peak traffic hours.

Among the signs held were "Bring Our Brothers Home Now," "Napalm Kills Children, Not Ideas" and the sign sponsored by the Washington Democratic Council, "Mr. President, Stop Saving Face, Win the Human Race."

And a dog, accompanying a marcher, bore the sign "Give Peace a Chance."

The mass march climaxed the day in which studies were held on college campuses to explore America's involvement in Vietnam. Perhaps the only manifestations of the moratorium day seen off campus before the march were the flags being flown at individual homes and the white blood-stained arm bands being worn by students downtown who did not participate in formal activities.

Rallies and processions drew tens of

Idaho State University Prof. makes call for Nixon's impeachment at Moratorium

A call by a college professor for the impeachment of President Nixon marked Idaho's generally calm observance Wednesday of the nationwide Vietnam war Moratorium Day.

Dr. Arthur Stern, professor of government at Idaho State University, urged Nixon's impeachment at a Moratorium Day forum on the campus in Pocatello.

He said Nixon is "incapable of providing the leadership he promised during the last campaign.

Conflicting views on the Vietnam war were voiced at observances throughout the state.

No disorders were reported.

Robert Vesser of Pocatello also speaking at the ISU forum said the United States has a legal and moral obligation to defend South Vietnam.

Brad Pugh, a Vietnam veteran, urged that the United States step up hostilities in Vietnam, adding: "I think we should stay and fight, otherwise we are leaving the South Vietnamese open to complete and total annihilation.'

and faculty members marched from the campus to the Capitol steps Wednesday night in a candlelight parade. Anti-war talks were presented at the orderly gathering.

At the University of Idaho in Moscow about 600 students and faculty members participated in a discussion which touched not only involvement in Vietnam but patriotism in general.

Dr. Bernald C. Borning, political science professor, said the American flag "is a symbol that can mean whatever you wish.

"To me," he added, "it represents freedom, democracy, the right for various ideas to be in conflict and the right to dissent. It doesn't mean conformity for conformity's sake, or totalitarianism.

Thomas Carroll, a senior from Lewiston, criticized what he called "our attitude toward the 'third world peoples' - the people of Asia, Latin America and Africa.

The United States, he said, treats such people as "pawns in our political structure, not as human beings. We feel our national interests are more important than their rights.'

The dean of the faculty at Northwest Nazarene College in Nampa, Thelma Culver, voiced a prayer for peace at the daily student convocation. Students, faculty and townsfolk took part

About 100 of Boise State College's more than 7,000 students took part in a silent noon-hour vigil at the War Memorial Mall at the center of the campus in Boise.

An all-day forum on Vietnam was conducted in the student union building. There were no formal talks and speakers, students and faculty members, expressed their views as they wished.

The Idaho American Legion sent President Nixon a telegram expressing support of his conduct of the Vietnam war.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson, in Pocatello for one of his community forums, was asked by an Idaho State University student whether he supported the Moratorium Day observance. He replied "no, because it weakens the President's position."

Police in Idaho Falls investigated a report that a girl with three sticks of dynamite had threatened to blow up the Bonneville County courthouse.

About 700 Boise State College students

I wonder how many of us actually take the time to think how important our college education is. For many of us, it means receiving a diploma in June, so that we can compete for better jobs on a higher wage scale. But the real significance of an education goes one step beyond just preparing ourselves for a job. An education is the process in which an individual develops and increases his intellectual abilities. I suppose an education can also mean a process in which one enlightens himself to that which he had been ignorant of previously. But whether a college education is looked at as a precursor for a job or as a means to develop our mental faculties, it is not readily available to all qualified American students.

The Student Committee for Equality in Education was developed to provide scholarships for underpriviledged and or minority students who qualify for a college education. By bringing an underpriviledged or minority student to the university's campus SCEE hopes to develop a "pot pourri" in which both SCEE students and other students are receiving an education. The SCEE student will be receiving an academic education which will develop his intellectual capabilities as well as prepare himself for a job. By so the same token, the students of Idaho are participating in an educational program that will help other students to get educations while the students of Idaho are being educated about other American cultures, problems of poverty, and problems of racial prejudices. The education that we will receive from SCEE students has as much significance in preparing ourselves for the social world as receiving that June diploma.

SCEE is a unique organization. It was founded by students and works autonomously to raise funds and to provide tutoring for students who are in need. Since SCEE's beginning, it has received the endorsement of both Senators Jordan and Church. In addition, SCEE has been strongly supported by faculty members and administrators. But the fate of SCEE lies at the mercy of the University of Idaho student body. SCEE needs more volunteers to continue its program. This year, SCEE appeals expecially to the conscientious student seeking to do his thing in overcoming ignorance. Sunday, October 19, 1969, at 2 p.m. in the SUB, SCEE will have its first organizational meeting. d.g.

Last Wednesday there was an escalation in the protest against the war in Vietnam. Paralleling this escalation was a de-escalation in the Vietnam war effort.

The Vietnam war has been at full steam for four years now and the people of this country are weary of the war. Concomitant with the continuous war effort has been a fairly continuous protest against the war. Along with a weariness of the war has grown a weariness of the protestors with their many irresponsible statements and actions, many advocating immediate withdrawal ("unconditional surrender") of the United States in Vietnam.

Nixon has correctly judged the temper of the American people to be one of disgust with the protests. This judgement can be observed in Nixon's uncompromising statement not to let the October 15th anti-war demonstrations affect his decisions. This statement was also probably issued to counter the North Vietnamese endorsement of the October 15th moratorium.

While President Nixon continues quietly and deliberatively to solve the many problems of Vietnam through diplomacy, Senators McGovern and Kennedy took advantage of the October 15th moratorium to continue their own advocacy of a deadline to withdrawal American troops and to continue their vehement denunciations of the Thieu government.

While Thieu's government was being denounced on October 15th, President Thieu in an interview with NBC calmly stated that dissent expressed on October 15th was an essential part of democracy. K.S.

For What its Worth (Letters to the editor) _

Speaks against more fees

Editor, the Argonaut: Fact 1: The U of Idaho needs money (About $315,000)

Fact 2: The State of Idaho now has annual sessions. One of the primary reasons for the change was to review biennial appropriations to state institutions.

Fact 3: The U of Idaho is still a state institution.

Fact 4: The Administration is considering registration fee increases of $60 a year and increasing out of state tuition to meet rising costs of operation. Fact 5: The Administration wanted to present the proposed increase to the Board of Regents at the Board's October meeting (this month). Fact 6: Thus, the Administration desired to raise student fees before even asking the legislature for revenues it feels are necessary to adequately maintain and improve campus educational facilities (roofs and gutters for the Ad building), to offer summer school, and to increase instructors salaries.

Fact 7: Dr. Carter delayed offering the proposal to the Regents until the November Board meeting to allow "adequate discussion." (Why doesn't he wait to see what the legislature might do?)

Fact 8: It is unconstitutional for Idaho's state educational institutions to charge tuitions.

Fact 9: There is a lot of difference between:

a) Registration FEES - for gymnasiums, Student Union Buildings, ASUI and AWS dues, health services, athletics, parking lots - noneducation services that the legislature emphatically declares are "luxuries" that it will not allocate funds for.

b) TUITION - money expressly for the purposes of paying instructors salaries, educational and research facilities (computer centers), summer school "Necessary" curriculum, etc. – educational services that the state declares emphatically as its responsibility. (Why else the Board of Regents?)

Fact 10: The rationale the Administration uses for increased fees is 'similar neighboring institutions have higher student fees." Thus, Idaho students can easily absorb further increases. Administration examples are Idaho State, Boise State, U of Washington, U of Utah, and WSU.

However, no comparison should be made until a complete breakdown and analysis is made stating for what services these fees go. For example, at Idaho State the present fees are $220 a year as opposed to $196 at Idaho. But, Idaho State students go to all big name entertainment by simply showing their ID cards (At Idaho, as you will know, costs run from $1.75 to 3.50 or more per person per performance). At ISU, students go to their SUB movies again by simply showing their ID's. (At Idaho the going rate is half a dollar per person.) Needless to say ISU students control their "minidome" that was built with student fees (at Idaho, nothing). Are their traditional manner. Thus the world would be relieved of another burdensome problem at the trifling cost of a millionplus South Vietnamese lives.

If the U.S. public did not want its army to be involved in this undertaking, a simple alternative would be to subtly change the object of the U.S. "commitment" over a suitable period of time. The U.S. would then be able to strike a noble pose and precipitously withdraw its forces from the war. (A catchy slogan such as "Vietnamization of the War" would make the maneuver more palatable to the diehards still hung up on the original commitment.) The end result would be the same as in the first solution, and everyone would be satisfied

Class ring found

Editor, the Argonaut:

We received notice several weeks ago from a student at the University of Idaho regarding a class ring that had been lost at our restaurant in the Bud Lake Village here in Missoula. Our manager at the restaurant posted the letter for the employees to see, but since no one had seen the ring, the letter was torn down. After the letter was destroyed and the name of the student lost, the ring was found. Since we have no way of knowing the name of the student who lost the ring, we would appreciate it if you could post a notice to that effect in your University paper or bulletin advising the student to contact us and we will then send him the ring.

Call To Order And Approval Of Minutes

Vice President Coonrod called the meeting to order at 4:10 p.m. in the Agricultural Science Auditorium. There were 185 members in attendance. The chait asked if there would be any objection to ad-matting an interested student, Clifford Eidemiller, as an observer. There were no objections and Mr. Eidemiller was admitted. The minutes of the meeting of September 4, 1969, were approved as published in the Staff Letter of September 12, 1969.

Report Of Policy Actions Considered

The Faculty Council's "Report of Policy Actions," dated September 22, 1969, was taken up for action. The chair stated that since each of these policy actions had been approved by the Faculty Council, and since there were at least two members of the Faculty Council present who voted for the pedicies, each section of the report would be treated as a seconded motion at this meeting.

General Studies Program Approved As Amended Discussion was called for on the proposed "General Studies Program" adopted by the Faculty Council on September 18, 1969. Dean Martin po out that the proposal had been amended by the Fac ulty Council and that he was unable to support it in its present form. He noted that when it went forward from the University Curriculum Committee it enphasized the needs of "environmentally disadvantaged" students and their need for special counseling. In response, Prof. Seaman said that the Faculty Council had taken the position that specific provision for environmentally disadvantaged students need not be made because they could be included under the purposes as stated. Resuming discussion on the main motion, Dear-Reid asked who would counsel the students. Prof. Seaman responded that the counseling would be done by faculty members drawn from various divisions and would be coordinated by the Vice Presi-dent for Academic Affairs and the proposed General Studies Coordinating Committee. Prof. Hosack concurred in this view.

Prof. Winkler asked why a five-semester limitation was put on students in the program, Prof. Hosack replied that it was the feeling of the University Curriculum Committee that after five semesters a student should have "found his way." Prof. Byers noted that the program as proposed failed to provide for the student who, because of a low grade point average, would be unable to transfer to a college after five semesters. Dean Reid presented the following motion to amend which received a second: MOTION TO AMEND: That the proposed "General Studies Program" be amended by adding the fol-lowing new sentence at the end: "Students in this program who by the end of five semesters are not

Before the vote was taken on the above amendment, Prof. Dobler presented the following mo-tion to amend the amendment which received a sec-MOTION TO AMEND THE AMENDMENT: That the proposed amendment be amended to read 1.90 in place of 2.0.

The amendment to the amendment carried, after which the amendment, as amended, carried, and the main motion, as amended, carried.

During the discussion on the above amendments. Prof. Rolland asked for assurance that general studies students would receive the same consideration now afforded other students under general academic regulation M. Dean Reid agreed and made this provision a part of his amendment and this change was accepted by the seconder. Associate Dean Seale pointed out that we were dangerously close to treating these students more rigidly than other students. suggested that perhaps the five-semester limitation should be removed. Dean Reid stressed that the University is going to have to treat general studies students with special consideration because they are going to have special problems. At the close of the discussion, Vice President Coonrod noted that all of the administrative procedures of the program had not been worked out; however, once the proposal had been approved by the Regents, the procedures handled by his office and the General would be Studies Coordinating Committee.

report "Referral of Catalog Proposals," was taken up for discussion. The item proposed the establishment of a standing rule of the Faculty and of the Council, such proposals shall be referred automatically to the University Curriculum Com mittee for action. When the question was called, this proposal carried unanimously Veterans' Deficiency Requirements

The third policy action in the report, "Veterans' Deficiency Requirements," was taken up for discussion. Prof. Hervon Snider asked why these provi sions were limited only to veterans. Prof. Seaman explained that the Faculty Council's ad hoc Committee on Aid to the Disadvantaged had recommended a waiver of deficiencies for all student who successfully complete a year's work if the deficiencies were not prerequisites to courses in their curricula. The committee took the position that if this recommendation were not acceptable at least there should be a waiver of deficiencies for veterans as was done after World War II. He added that the Faculty Council decided only to set out a statement of existing policy for veterans. When the question was called, the proposal carried.

Standing Committees The fourth policy action in the report, "Actions

Relating to Standing Committees," was taken up for discussion. Each item was considered separately and was approved without discussion

Personal Interviews Recommended

The fifth policy action, "Personal Interviews of Prospective Appointees," was taken up for discussion. It was explained that this was more of a resolution to the administration than a strict rule Vice President Coonrod noted that there is some question as to the University's abilit, to imple ment the recommendation because of budgetary considerations. Dean Martin suggested that the money for the personal interviews would leave less money for salaries. Mr. Skrbek asked Dean Martin to clarify his statement; however, the chair ruled that this discussion was not relevant. Mr. Hirschi asked if it would be expected that the personal in terviews would in all cases be conducted on campus Prof. liams replied that they could also take place at professional meetings and under similar circumstances. When the question was called, the motion carried.

Salary Guidelines Recommitted

The sixth policy action, "Guidelines To Be Used in Salary Adjustment Considerations," was taken up for discussion. Professors Tisdale and Rolland answered many questions relative to the rationale of the proposal. Prof. Browne held that the policy would limit the University's ability to raise sal aries, and that a circumstance might come up where an administrator could use the guidelines to hold salaries down. Prof. liams disagreed with Prof. Browne's point of view and said that he saw no prob lem at all with the proposed policy. He added that in his opinion the proposal would help insure equal pay for equal performance. When the question was called, the proposal was defeated in a tie vote. A motion for a recount was made and defeated in a timotion for a recount was made and defeated, after which Prof. Browne presented the following motion which received a second:

MOTION: That the proposed "Guidelines To Be Used in Salary Adjustment Considerations" be returned to the Faculty Council for reconsideration. Motion passed by majority vote. Meeting Recessed

At 5:10 p.m., the chair asked if the members wished to continue in session and take up the proposed policy on "Evaluation of Teaching Faculty Members by Students" or recess. It was moved, seconded and carried that the meeting be recessed to a date to be announced (4:00 p.m., Thursday, October 16, in the Agricultural Science Auditorium).

WSU reportmore discrepancies? edly gives a "free" transcript service for life. (At Idaho, we get 5 transcript orders "free", the rest are a dollar apiece). And so on.

Thus, the question is what kinds of service do other students receive for their higher fees and specifically what do these fees go for. (It's not "All just a piece of the pie," as Dr. Carter says and would have us believe.)

Fact 11: If the Administration continues its present course and the proposal is approved by the regents not only will an outrageous and unconstitutional precedent be set, but in a period of less than 3 years student registration FEES here at the University of Idaho will have increased over one hundred and thirty dollars a year. Will the spiral continue?

We are being screwed (Think about it.) Bill Morrison Park Village No. 57

Writer proposes solution

Editor, The Argonaut:

As a typical younge college student (beautiful, noble, and dedicated to solving all the world's problems as quickly as possible). I would like to propose the following solution to the Vietnam Problem:

The problem, as I see it, is that there has been no compromise available which is acceptable to North Vietnam and the U.S. The U.S. is reluctant to withdraw for the first time in its history without a victory, and North Vietnam will accept nothing short of total liberation of South Vietnam. The solution, obviously, is to satisfy both criteria.

The U.S. should execute all officers and officials of the South Vietnamese government and army. All village officials, school teachers, policemen etc. should be put to death as expeditiously as possible. All political parties save the communist party should be abolished forthwith to insure political tranquillity. All landowners, prostitutes, people who might oppose the dictatorship of the proletariat, and similar parasites should be sent to the wall.

The U.S. would have a victory to boast of, and the North Vietnamese would have the greatest part of their liberation program effected. The people executed in South Vietnam would be ahead too, because the U.S. would naturally do a much more humane job of execution than the North Vietnamese have proven themselves capable of. The parasites would be better off with a clean execution as opposed to death by starvation in the

Thank you very much for your cooperation in this matter.

In defense of "The eight ball"

Editor, the Argonaut:

In the past weeks I have been quite gratified to see that the Argonaut has finally gotten a column writer who has something to say concerning problems of the students. I am refering to Mr. Joe Allen's column, "In Front of the Eight Ball".

Mr. Willms last Tuesday in the Argonaut seemed to have set himself up as final judge of what should or should not be put in a commentary column. His criticism of Joe Allen's column was prejudiced and unfair. By the mere fact that a student takes the time to express his views in the student paper shows a great deal of involvement for this University. In Mr. Allen's column on the Campus Police he not only critized the Campus Police., but offered a better plan for the reorganization of the Campus Police. I would not consider this, "study room stabbing". Mr. Willms must feel that the function of a column writer is the physical changing of the University rather than the commenting on University activities. If anything I would consider Mr. Willms guilty of that which he accused Mr. Allen of. To you, Mr. Willms, I would advise a quick trip to the nearest mirror to see if your precious teeth have been caved in.

Vice President Sherman Carter should be congratulated for his swift reply to Mr. Allen's requests. He showed that possibly one member of the administration is interested in student problems. The only thing Mr. Carter left out is a definite "when will needed changes take place?"

This is still a free country with a free press and I find it encouraging to see that a man is concerned enough to speak out against the establishment when the establishment is in the wrong.

Hare publishes "The Black Scholar"

Dr. Nathan Hare, architect of the black studies program at San Francisco State College and a speaker at last year's Borah Symposium on War and Peace held at the U of I, has announced publication of The Black Scholar, Journal of Black Studies and Research, the nation's first journal of black studies.

The first journal of black studies, The Black Scholar, today went to press with articles and position papers from members of the Black Power establishment around the world.

A special feature will be first hand coverage of the First Pan African Cultural Festival in Algiers, by Dr. Hare. Sekou Toure, President of the Republic of Guinea, will publish a major position paper, "Negritude vs. Revolution" in the November lissue of The Black Scholar.

"We are dedicated to publishing bold, controversial articles on the black revolutionary struggle in this country and abroad," Dr. Hare announced.

"The black movement needs a journal for debate and dialogue on all the major issues it faces. The Black Scholar will be the anvil on which we shall hammer out a meaningful ideology.

'We will also serve a research function, recovering historical data and generating new data on the black man's condition in this country. Thus, theory will be anchored by fact, and black students and teachers and intellectuals throughout the country will share the benefits of black studies.

The first issue, to reach bookstalls by November 1, zeros in on the First Pan-African Cultural Festival, held last summer in Algiers, Algeria. Dr. Nathan Hare, publisher and architect of San Francisco State College's black studies program, presents a long report on the Festival which, he says, "was recognized all around as 'ninety-eight per cent political' and clearly hinged at last in long and passionate debate, private and public, over the future direction of the struggle for liberation on the African continent and, indeed, the entire world."

The Stokely article, "On Pan-Africanism," takes the position that "a person is defined, really, at first by his pnysical presence, or in terms of his ancestral stock, whether they are Chinese, Japanese, or African.'

The articles of both Cleaver and Carmichael, in The Black Scholar, journal of black studies and research, touch on this conflict.

From Cleaver: "Society has been broken up into classes, into antagonistic ethnic and economic groups that struggle against each other for survival.'

From Carmichael: "To get rid of capitalism — I repeat — is not necessarily to get rid of racism. . .When you see a Chinese in America, you say 'there goes a Chinese.'" Now that Chinese may not be able to speak Chinese and may in fact be third or fourth generation American. If you see a third or fourth generation African-American, you say there goes a Negro. Let's ask ourselves why.'

Cleaver stresses class above culture. Carmichael calls culture "a cohesive force," or "what keeps people together." CLEAVER: "Those who control the economy of the United States are able to control the rest of society.' CARMICHAEL: "One is talking about more than just changing governments and power, and that is changing the value system. . .There needs to be a clear sharpening of our ideology." (In Carmichael's view, that ideology revolves around Pan Africanism and a quest for a "land base that can be used for black liberation, a land that we can say belongs to us").

CLEAVER: "Poor black people and poor white people and middle class people who are not themselves directly involved in the college situation, need to be made to understand that something of their own precious liberty. . . is being decisively determined in the struggles on the campuses today."

CARMICHAEL: "one cannot have a black university in any other society than a black society because the job of the order to survive.'

CARMICHAEL: "Revolution is not about dying; it's about living. You kill to live; you die to live. It's not just about dying.' The Black Scholar is a non-profit organization. It will publish 10 issues vearly at a cost of $1.25 per issue. Subscriptions are $10.00 per year; $6.00 per year for students.

Canadian students protest U.S. blast

CANADA - (CPS-CUP) - Numbering into the thousands, students and supporters clustered at border crossings and airport terminals across the country Oct. 1 picketing, snarling traffic, and occasionally getting arrested or run over in a spectacular but unsuccessful protest against the U.S.'s underground Atomic blast in the Aleutians.

Mobilized in less than 24 hours notice, the snow-balling protest involved approximately 14,000 students from at least 14 post-secondary institutions. backed up by other supporters who learned of the protest through news reports.

Threats from the attorney general of British Columbia, harassment by police, and the reckless driving of blockaded motorists failed to prevent the demonstrators from voicing their fears about the blast which occured near a major fault in the earth's crust. Many persons, including U.S. and Canadian government officials, had urged President Nixon to postpone the test, but Nixon refused to postpone it.

The idea for the protest originated at the University of Victoria, and the response provided the largest demonstration in the history of that university, involving nearly 10,000 British Columbian students. Nearly 2,500 Victoria students blockaded the docks of Americanowned Blackball Ferry on Vancouver Island. On the mainland, about 5,000 students from the University of British Columbia and four other colleges gathered at the border crossing at Douglas, B.C. to hear speeches from ecologists, geologists, and students.

Elsewhere along the border, Canadian students held similar protests. In Ontario, for example, 2,000 students blocked U.S. border crossings or demonstrated near Sarnia Windsor and Niagra Falls. Dr. Benjamin Spock warned students at the University of Alberta, "It is not necessary for the U.S. to test and we know that some of these underground tests have leaked fallout. There is danger to everybody on whom the wind can bring the fallout."

ROTC enrollment

down on campus

(CPS) - Enrollment in R.O.T.C. is showing a nationwide drop of 14 per cent. Part of the reason is that many new schools have stopped forcing students to take the military training; part of the reason is the growing opposition to the Vietnam War, the draft, and the nation's militarism

To counteract the drop, there has been an increase in the number of schools offering R.O.T.C., and some revisions in the curriculum have been made. The Army has decreased its concentration on artillery studies, and the Navy has dropped its knot-tying course.

E-Board member Mike Mann after hearing about the faculty's decision on the evaluation proposal commented that approved report will provide a real "kickback" for the teaching members of the faculty. "This will help the faculty make their jobs easier by better understanding how students see and understand them in their presentations," said Mann.

Evaluation motion passed the faculty despite many technical objections to both format and sample questionnaire, but it was pointed out by several members of the faculty that many of these problems could be worked out during administration of the program.

Professor Cliff Dobler, Business Department, reported two observations to the faculty from his teaching experience and teacher evaluation.

"Faculty have a fear in themselves to hear what the students are going to say about them, and the students in their evaluation are usually over-generous,' commented Dobler.

Other professors were not as eager about the evaluation because they taught small upper-division courses and seminars which they felt didn't need to be evaluated. One professor commented "I'm sure that this scheme will work well for big classes, but in my division of upper division and graduate courses, my sampling would be rather small.'

Another complaint was that the president's office would decide when these evaluations would go out according to the passed proposal. But several faculty members felt that it should be up to the individual classes or departments when the questionnaire would be given.

Under the approved proposal, the evaluation is accomplished at student and departmental levels. The evaluation will be universal and conducted once each semester for each class.

The program will be administered by the president's office with advisory help from ASUI Educational Improvement committee, the report said.

Questionnaires for the evaluation will be prepared according to a general form by the departmental heads in consultation

Pass-fail option clarified

To supplement the information in the 1969 catalog relative to the pass-fail option "(see regulation B-8 on page 38), the following "clarification," approved by the Faculty Council on September 19, 1968, is reprinted for the guidance of students and faculty members:

CLARIFICATION OF PASS-FAIL OPTION

1, Grades. Grades under the pass-fail option are reported by instructors in the same manner as grades in courses taken on a regular basis. The Registrar is charged with the responsibility to convert a grade of "D" or above in a course taken under the pass-fail option to a "P" on the student's grade report and on his transcript.

2. Courses Excluded From the Pass-Fail Option.

(a) Eng. 101-102, English Composition. (b) Courses in a student's major field. (History students are not permitted to take history courses under the pass-fail option, etc.) The College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences will designate which courses listed under "Forestry" are in the specific major fields offered by the college (these major fields correspond in general to the undergraduate options).

(c) Other courses specifically required in the student's curriculum. This group includes courses specified by title or number in the major program of studies as printed in the catalog. (For example: the economics curriculum in the College of Letters and Science section of the catalog specifies certain mathematics and business courses by number and title as part of the major. Such courses are interpreted as being in the "major field" and may not be taken under the pass-fail option.)

(d) Courses taken to fulfill the College of Education's requirements for teaching majors and teaching minors.

(e) Courses in Air Force, Army, and Naval Science (the ROTC program). 3. Professional Courses For Teacher Certification.

(a) Students who plan to work for elementary or secondary teacher

John J. Strelo, chairman of the Teamster Union's Western Sugar Division, addressed two classes of College of Business and Economics students Wednesday, at the University of Idaho.

In a open forum arrangement, Strelo answered questions and explained union management policy to interested students.

The morning discussion, originally scheduled to last one hour, continued for more than two and a half hours as Strelo detailed Teamster health and pension plans and described union management techniques.

Strelo explained the functioning of union operated mobile health units developed for use by migratory cannery workers. Trailers equiped with complete human ecology. diagnostic laboratories travel from area to area giving health check-ups to McConnell noted that the univer workers who are advised of any previously undiscovered illnesses and referred to private physicians for treatment. certification may not take the basic professional courses required for teacher certification under the pass-fail option. This group includes Psych. 205, 206, and 421; Education 275, 287, 314 through 322, 326, 429, 431, 432, and 444.

(b) When the courses listed under item "a" above are taken as electives and not to meet professional certification requirements, they may be included under the pass-fail option.

4. Restrictions By Individual Colleges, When a student's curriculum permits considerable latitude in selecting courses in areas outside his major field, e.g., "humanitites-social sciences," "natural sciences," "foreign languages," and similar areas, his adviser may approve his enrollment in such courses under the pass-fail option if such a procedure is acceptable to the faculty of the individual college in which the student is registered. s/Robert W. All the freshman women's living groups will participate in the parade with each living group wearing matching pajamas. The girls will divide into two chains, each led by the Spurs in their living groups, and will then parade through the men's living groups. The action will begin about 6:30 p.m. on the evening of Oct. 21 with the meeting place not yet disclosed. This parade will be very unique in its own way as the outfits of each group will be chosen to suit the girls from that living group. Some of the outfits may look somewhat like the following:

CARTER HALL: Red & blue flowered Baby Doll's with a white bib and red leotards to complete the scene.

HOUSTON HALL: Yellow Baby Doll's with a yoke of yellow and orange flowers. ALPHA GAMMA DELTA: Mint mini-Pajamas.

Tuesday evening, the E-Board listened to, and questioned Financial Vice President, Dr. Sherman F. Carter and two of his assistants, Don Amos and George Anderson, on the proposed fee increase at the University of Idaho. Dr. Carter feels that a fee increase is needed, and that the proposal for an increase should be presented to the Board of Regents for consideration - despite the contention that, as stated, the fee increase would be equivalent to tution, which is illegal at state supported institutions in Idaho. Also causing much debate is the manner in which the fee increase is being pushed for immediate acceptance and implementation despite the possibility of additional funds coming from the annual session of the legislature this January.

 $\bar{\mathbf{D}}\mathbf{r}.$  Carter said that when the fees are raised, the overall cost of attending the University of Idaho will still be less than at the other state supported institutions. When questioned about what the effect a student referendum resulting in a negative opinion would have on the final decision, Dr. Carter said that he did not think that the results would be binding on the Board of Regents.

In other business, the E-Board allocated three-hundred dollars from the general reserves to the Department of Letters and Science to present the Christmas Candelight Concert this year, without admission charge.

The E-Board, after considerable discussion, agreed to extend a three dollar fee for two more semesters to allow for immediate improvement of the university golf course.

Representing the ASUI at the meeting were Bob Serrano and Ann Rytling. Mrs. Hartung was also present. P.E. department faculty were in attendance to answer questions.

Las Vegas Days events scheduled for tonight in SUB Ballroom

"Gambling, fun, and girls, will be the prime attractions in the SUB Ballroom tonight as Gault Hall and Delta Gamma jointly sponsor the University of Idaho's first Las Vegas Days'," according to Doug Jones, Chairman of the event.

The evening of entertainment, which features a floor show, can-can girls, and mock gambling will begin at 7:00 and continue to midnight. The SUB Ballroom has been renamed the "Golden I Casino" for the evening.

Gault and Delta Gamma has secured the "Cold Power" to play for the casino. The contemporary group has appeared before on campus. Twice during the night a floor show is planned. The show will feature a Gay 90's Can-Can line, modern artistic dance, and comedian Larry Doss from Gault Hall.

Billed as the highlight of the floor shows is Tom Eastman, a local night club singer from the Royal in Pullman.

"Admission for the evenings 's fun will be 50 cents," Jones said. "For the admission price participants will receive $50 in script money to be played at the gambling devices.'

Pakistan students elect new president

A Mannan Sheich, a Ph. D. student in geology, was elected president of the Pakistan Students Association during its first meeting of the semester recently.

Sheich will serve through the 1969-70 academic year, with Nasir A. Bhatti as the new vice-president, and Nasin A Khan as secretary-treasurer.

The Association approved the annual secretary-treasurer's report, which listed the activities and highlights of the previous academic year.

Several of the activities included Cosmos Night, when the Pakistan students presented a program and dinner Pakistan style to over 200 students and guests including President Hartung; and the annual picnic held in Laird Park.

During the meeting, the Association welcomed a new member and student. Usman A. K. Babar.

The group consists of 12 students at Idaho from Pakistan, and one faculty member. Nine students are graduate, while the other three are under-graduate students

The Pakistan Students Association is open for any students of the Univdrsity of Idaho who are interested in Pakistan, its people, and its ideology.

FFA plans barbeque, discuss fall projects

University of Idaho FFA members conducted their first meeting of the year in the SUB on Oct. 14.

"Due to Idaho law," Jones stated, "the script will not be redeemable. For those who want more than $50, additional cash may be exchanged for script at the ration of 1 to 100."

"When you can get a dollar in script for a penny," Jones said, "anyone can be a big-time gambler, with a real Las Vegas Atmosphere.

Gambling devices will include craps, roulette, blackjack, stud poker, draw pocker, bingo, gin, and pinochle. During the floor shows drawing for floor prizes will be conducted.

According to Jones, "Moscow merchants have donated over $100 worth of door prizes for the drawing. Winners must be present in the room at the time of the drawings.'

The Las Vegas Days events have been advertised for the past three days by the members of Gault and Delta Gamma in personal appearances before campus living groups. Gerald Orthel, President of Gault Hall, stated he hoped "the event would be a tremendous success, and become a tradition at the University of Idaho."

"I hope that everyone on campus can join us in the good natured fun and enjoyment of Las Vegas night," Orthel said.

St. Augustine Center schedules final program in Sunday series

What kind of education do the students get who never go to college? Is it an education that will be adequate for their needs? Will it prepare them for existing jobs? Will it really develop their capacities or merely "Baby-sit" them until their time is up and they can legally stay away from school?

These are the kinds of questions which will get an airing at the final program on Human Values and Educational opportunity which have been running this fall at the St. Augustine Center.

It will be held this Sunday, at 7:00 p.m. A film depicting some of the frustrations and difficulties of high school students who drop-out or who are shunted away from college preparation will be shown. It is called "Hey, What About

Tourney of Vandals slated next week, many events planned

The University of Idaho's Tournament of the Vandals, October 20-25, will offer a new opportunity for cooperation between the university's students and the Moscow community.

The event, involving both the university's students and the Moscow merchants, will feature a parade, a concert by the Righteous Brothers singing group, a business machines show, the homecoming football game, coffee house entertainment and the homecoming dance.

More than 16 members of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce have offered to cosponsor floats with university living centers for Saturday morning's Homecoming Parade. This parade will feature 18 bands from area schools.

Climaxing tournament activities will be the Montana State University-University of Idaho football contest to be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on Rogers Field,

Also contributing to the program will be two members of the faculty at the University of Idaho. They are Dr. William Biggam, Chairman of the Industrial Education Department, and Dr. Victor Montgomery, Chairman of the Psychology Department.

Both men have intimate acquaintance with the problems to be discussed from their research and teaching experience. They will respond to the film and lead a general discussion on the part of the audience. The program is intended for all who have a concern about the problems young people encounter as they seek an education.

Study abroad? All right!

(ACP) — When home base has become a drag, its time to strike out for greener pastures.

Opportunities are almost infinite for study programs abroad during the school year

The National Student Travel Association (NSTA) breaks them down into "four major kinds of programs for American students abroad" in their book The Student Traveler Abroad. These are:

"1. The 'branch campus' established by an Amerian university to serve as an extension.

"2. A 'half-way house' in which the student is affiliated with a foreign university but takes his American college's courses.

"3. Complete integration in which the American student becomes a member of the foreign university's general student body.

"4. Independent study in which the student undertakes an individual research program after consultation with his U.S campus adviser."

Mets blast McNally, 2 homers make 5-3 win

The unbelievable happened in New York Thursday afternoon as the New York Mets won the 1969 World Series with a 5 to 3 win over the Baltimore Orioles. After dropping the first series game last Saturday to the heavily favored Baltimore Orioles, the Mets won the next four under against almost impossible odds.

Students interested in mountain climbing and back-packing are invited to attend the organizational meeting of Alpine Club Tuesday October 21 from 7 to 8:30 in the SUB.

Slides will be shown of mountain climbing and back-packing at the meeting. If enough interested people attend, the club will be formed. Students with more questions should contact Bob Roberts evenings at 882-7705.

When the Mets "won all the marbles" yeşterday, they did it in typical Met fashion. Trailing 3-0 after a third inning spree by the Orioles, the Mets came alive in the sixth, then held on behind the tough pitching of ace Jerry Koosman. In what looked to be a Baltimore comeback, Baltimore pitcher Dave McNally hit a 2-run homer in the third inning and garnered his first RBI of the season. The next Oriole to the plate belted a 460-foot homer to put the Birds ahead by 3.

Koosman, who went the distance for New York, had given up his last runs of the day. The defensive effort he put forth for the next 6 1/3 innings was practically unbelievable. Koosman-and-company retired 19 of the next 21 Baltimore batters

Meanwhile, the Mets drove McNally off the mound with 3 runs on 2 homers, a 2run homer sixth and one in the seventh by Al Weis which tied the game.

Two more runs off the Baltimore relief pitcher in the bottom of the 8th gave the Mets the winning margin.

Soccer Club - There will be a soccer club meeting in the SUB at 7 p.m. on Monday, October 20. All interested persons are urged to attend. Agenda for the meeting will include discussion of the possibility of joining a soccer league which includes WSU, Gonzaga, Montana, Montana State, Whitworth, Washington, and Central Washington.

Vandals meet Pacific tomorrow

The Idaho Vandals will jump from the frying pan into the fire as they travel to Stockton to meet the Pacific Tigers in a 2 p.m. game on Saturday. The Vandals were beaten 34-9 by Montana last Saturday in a game that was not decided until the final quarter of play. Despite having the leading passer and receiver in the nation, the Vandals failed to connect for a touchdown and it took the educated foot of Ricardo, "Pancho" Castillo to get the Vandals nine points with three field goals. The Vandals were playing catch-up football with 9:18 left in the fourth period before the Grizzlies broke open a 13-9 game and went on to victory

The Pacific team, fresh from a victory over California of Santa Barbara at home last week, will host the Vandals in their Homecoming game.

The Vandals embarrassed the University of Pacific 31-14 in their game played in Boise last year, and Coach Doug Scovil will remind the Tigers of this fact. Pacific's team this year is almost entirely the same team the Vandals faced last year as they have forty lettermen

There will be a bowling team practice tomorrow, at 1 p.m. in the SUB. The team will play a game with WSU Sunday, October 19th at 2:30 p.m. in the SUB.

Vandals underdogs against Pacific Montana-ISU is top Big Sky contest

Pacific 35, Idaho 24

Idaho embarrassed Pacific last year . and I'm sure the Tigers will be out for blood when they host the Vandals this year. Pacific has been rated the most improved team on the coast and has a 4-1 record to date.

Idaho simply can't get going this year and I look for Coach McNease to come up with a few surprises for this encounter. Since Idaho's defense is too weak and the offensive line can't give Olson any time. I look for Pacific in an easy game.

Weber St. 21, Montana St. 10 Both these Big Sky Conference teams have had tough going this year. Weber is 2-3, and Montana St. is 1-4. The one big difference is that Weber has lost to much tougher teams and is a very good football squad. Montana St. played it's best game in a losiing effort against Idaho St. last week. If they get another good game from their defense they could make this a good ballgame.

returning this year. Pacific has been rated as the most improved team on the coast and their 4-1 record to date shows this may be true.

The Tigers are led by Al Namanny who has gained 381 yards in 78 carries. He is followed by Cal Rogers who has 167 yards in 34 carries. The top receiver for the Tigers is Jack Morrison who has 17 receptions for 254 yards. The second leading catcher is Honor Jackson with 11 receptions for 167 yards.

Quarterback John Read has completed 37 passes out of 73 for 537 yards, while Mickey Ackley, who alternates with Read has 38 passes in 78 attempts for 586 yards. This gives Pacific over 1,100 yards passing, not far behind the Vandals.

Pacific's defensive unit as a whole has intercepted 16 in five games, and is led by All-American candidate Jim Erbenznic. This potent defense may give Idaho's Quarterback Steve Olson a rough afternoon.

The Vandals outweigh the Tigers by 15 pounds per man up front and 10 pounds per man in the backfield. Taking this into account, the offense should be able to give Olson some time to throw and also to move on the ground.

This could be the game the Vandals

Air Force 22, Oregon 20 Air Force has been rated as the best service team this year, and Navy and Army have done nothing to disprove this. Coach Ben Martin has a very clever team, and after Oregon's loss to San Jose last week, they should be able to dispose of the Ducks.

Oregon, who was picked to be one of the strongest teams in the West this year. just can't get their minds made up that they are a good ball club. The Ducks may have made more mistakes in their game last week than a poor high school team.

West Texas St. 24, Colorado St. 21 This game is virtually a toss-up and I'm going to go with the Texan's because Colorado St. has trouble winning a close ball game. They have shown they can play good football, but when they get a game won, they turn around and give it away.

Army 21, Utah State 13 Utah St. goes into this game with a much better record than the Cadets of Army, but when you play a schedule like Army does, a team like Utah St. is a breather. The well drilled Army squad should win in a tough defensive battle over the game but outclassed Utags.

Stanford 42, Washington State 13 Stanford's Jim Plunkett is simply too much quarterback for the Cougars to handle in this Pacific-8 battle. He has an array of talented receivers and a good backfield behind him: and this, along with Stanford's overwhelming defense, will make Washington State wish they were in a different conference.

Montana 27, Idaho State 21

This is a game for the conference title and the best Montana team ever should nip the best ever Idaho St. squad. These are the two best teams in the history of the Big Sky and no. 1 will be decided Saturday in Missoula.

The Grizzlies' have an unstopable running attack and their defense will be able to stop the speedy Idaho State offense led by Jerry Dunne.

Vandal freshmen bigger, stronger than Bengal Kittens

The Idaho freshman football team will open its season this Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Twin Falls against the Idaho State Freshmen. Coach Y C McNease said that he would send a 34-man squad to Twin Falls for the game.

The offense will feature a host of fine running backs. Included in this group are:

players include: Ralph Sletagar, 5'1" 200-pound linebacker from Sandpoint and a relatively "small" defensive back, Don Minter, 5'9" and 165 pounds, from Boise

Coach McNease outlined his staff's working sessions with the freshmen. He said that the complete staff works with the frosh each Monday and follows up with daily sessions after the varsity workouts during the week. This session also becomes longer when the varsity team is playing at home. The opening game for the frosh is slated as the annual Southeast Idaho Shrine game and proceeds from the game will go to the Shriner's hospital. In conjunction with the game, the Twin Falls school district is holding an all-day coaching clinic on basketball at the Rogerson Hotel with time out to be taken for the afternoon football game. Dale James, freshmen coach at Idaho will be one of the featured lecturers at the cage clinic.

Two of the outstanding defensive charges, However he says, "Several of our players will have to play both ways to offset our lack of depth. We will run a lot of our varsity's offense, with lots of rollout running and passing. We hope to split our plays about 50-50 between air and ground. We have three fine quarterbacks and all will get an equal chance to play in this first game." The signal-callers are Paul Sestero (of Bishop Kelly in Boise), Harry Conlan, and Dave Kegris. Running backs will be Clyde Wright of Filer who has run the ball very well in practices, and Mike Davis, an excellent blocker converted from QB.

RON RAVNEBERG, portraying "The Soldier," kneels over a young boy just killed in the Viet Nam War by a grenade thrown by "The Young Man." Portraying the boy is Todd Chavez.

JEANIE SMITH, playing "The Mother" in "Summertree" looks over a sketch she has been working on of her son, "The Young Man." She sits under the great tree which dominates each scene in the production.

Summertree' opens tonight, students admitted free

"Summertree", a recent Broadway hit for 24 year old author Ron Cowen, will make its premiere showing in the Northwest tonight as ASUI Drama raises the curtain in the Ad Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Directed by Drama professor Forrest Sears, the production will play tonight and tomorrow, and then again next Friday and Saturday during the Tournament of Vandals weekend.

After being scheduled to play last spring and then cancelled, both cast and director feel ready for tonights performance.

Cast in the lead as "The Young Man" is Jim Cash, a junior drama major at the University.

It is around this "Young Man" that the play centers, as he is faced with problems with his family, his girlfriend, college, and the Viet Nam War.

But Cowen has written more into the play than just an individuals problems.

Revealing the poignancy and complexity of his generation as it faces a society in transition. Cowen avoided drawing a conventional "generation-conflict" play.

His hero is no rebel, no "protest"-chanter, but a sensitive young man torn between the demands of a well-meaning, Establishmentoriented father who wants him to embrace middle-class values of prudence and success, and his own desire for the hazards of a career as a concert-pianist — a young man destined to a bitter fate as a result of the conflict.

The play is a series of reveries swinging between past and present, as the young man tries to piece his life together at the moment of meeting his fate under a tree in Vietnam, a tree that blends in his murmuring memories with the great spreading tree in his parents' backyard that was the focal point of his childhood and young manhood.

Backing up Jim Cash in his role of the young man struggling for the kind of career he wants, will be John Naples in the role of the father who is filled with paternal love but stiffly insists that his Jeannie Smith will portray the boy's overprotective mother, Dee Anne Thomas his sweetheart who loves him but will give him no promise of endless loyalty, Todd Chavez, an embodiment of the young man as a child, Ron Ravneberg as a war-time buddy.

Forrest Sears is directing this exploration into the truth about youth - straight, unexaggerated, poignant - in middle-class America in our time.

Gary Schattschneider designed the scenery which represents numerous locales, all revolving around the summertree of the young man's adolescence.

"Summertree." which aroused such praise as "Beautiful, sensitive, immeasurably moving" from critic Clive Barnes of the New York Times when it achieved a notable New York success in the spring of 1968, is free of charge to students with their student body cards.
