Voluntary boycott sanctioned

ASUI Senate endorsed a voluntary student boycott of classes today by a vote of 11 to 2. The endorsement also urged Faculty Council to dismiss classes for Senators Tom Slayton and John Burlison voted against the endorsement.

"I voted against the endorsement for three basic reasons," said Slayton. "I felt the ASUI was not in favor of a strike but in any event they should have had a referendum on it. I felt nothing could result from the strike and I refuse to be intimated by members of the audience at Senate meetings, unlike some Senators."

The endorsement statement issued by the Senate said the boycott would be for the purpose of discussing the latest developments in Southeast Asia and the disruptions on college

The statement said the boycott is in no way to be construed as a boycott against the University of Idaho or its administration. "This is a voluntary boycott," said

Dean Kendrick died Tuesday at a Spokane hospital following a two month illness. He served as dean at the University, his alma mater, since 1957.

The family has suggested that contributions be make to a student loan fund being established in Dean Kendrick's name at the University to aid business students. Burial will be at Ephrata, Wash.

Dr. David D. Kendrick, 58, dean of the College of Business and Economics at the University of Idaho since 1957, died Tuesday at Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane following complication from an attack of encephalitis.

Dr. Kendrick had been ill for the last two months.

Flags at the University of Idaho will be flown at half-mast in his honor. Born in Wichita, Kansas June 25, 1911, he spent most of his life in Idaho, and, as dean of business at the university, played a major role in economic development in the state. He spent his boyhood in Buhl, and was graduated from Buhl High School. He then attended the University of Idaho, receiving a B.S. degree with high honors in business in 1935. Master and doctorate degrees in economics were earned at the University of California. Active is student affairs as an

ASUI President Jim McFarland. "We are urging the faculty to dismiss classes so that students and faculty who wish to attend the symposium may do so without being penalized. We only hope that if classes are not dismissed, students and faculty who attend the symposium will not be penalized."

About 200 people attended the Senate meeting which was conducted in the Student Union Ballroom rather than the usual meeting place in the smaller Ee-daho room at the SUB.

A bill asking for a student referendum to establish an official ASUI position concerning devotion of today for discussions of the latest developments in Southeast Asia and the resultant disruptions on college campuses was presented by Senators Dennis Harwick and Mike Chemodurow.

The referendum was to be conducted

The referendum was voted down after ASUI Attorney General John Orwick told the Senate he would have to call for its invalidation because a copy of the ballot must be printed in the Argonaut before each election, according to the ASUI Constitution.

"I believe you were elected to represent the students," said Orwick, "You just approved a six figure budget and last year's Executive Board approved a student fee increase without a referendum. Why do you have to have a referendum now?"

The Senate also passed a bill deploring the burning of the Naval ROTC building Tuesday morning by a vote of 12 to 1. Burlison voted against the bill.

A clause which said the Senate deplored the use of violence as a means to obtain an end was stricken from the bill. "Violence is sometimes necessary as a means to an end," said ASUI Senator

Mike Hunter. "This bill is only to quench the fears in southern Idaho that there is a revolution going on at this campus," said Ellen

Heard, another ASUI senator. The actions takn by the Senate followed a meeting of about 1,100 students on the lawn in front of the Administration building Tuesday afternoon. A voice vote conducted by McFarland indicated that the majority of students at the meeting were in favor of a boycott of classes today. Several persons present carried signs and wore shirts with the national student strike emblem stenciled on them. Symbol for the student strike is a clenched fist.

Speakers at the meeting included Professor Robert Hosack, head of the Political Science department at the U of 1: Tony Skrbek, a visiting instructor of political science; McFarland, Slayton, Orwick, Miss Heard; Russell Short, of the Daily Idahonian; Chris Smith, a former U of I student and Argonaut Editor during the fall of 1968, and Kermit Staggers, Chairman of the U of I chapter of Young Americans for Freedom.

JOHN MARTIN, former chief Administrative assistant to U.S. Senators Henry Dworshak & Len B. Jordan will speak to the College Republicans at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the SUB. His topic will be "Unwritten code of political behavior."

Classes today

Council rules no dismissal

Classes will not be dismissed today for the teach-in, by order of Faculty Council yesterday. But the Council did express that it "understands the deep concern of many members of the University community over the recent events, and urges faculty members to apply their best judgment so as to enable every faculty member and every student to best follow his conscience.

A resolution "commending the students in general and the student government in particular for their prompt and effective leadership in handling the events of this past week," was also approved unanimously by Faculty Council.

The Council meeting was semi-closed after more students turned out for thre meeting than could be seated in the meeting room. Faculty Council chairman, Dr. Larry Iiams, negotiated an agreement that several spokesmen from both sides could enter the meeting, and the remainder of the students could wait for a decision from the Council in one of the near-by class rooms. The students present agreed to the suggestion.

Approximately 15 minutes was spent discussing the question which allowed each side a presentation of five minutes, plus an additional five minutes for the faculty to discuss and act on a recommendation.

Time and discussion was limited on the class dismissal question because of a backlog of agenda items which accumulated while the Faculty Council was considering the Student Bill of Rights, according to the Faculty Editor.

Panels planned today about U.S. in Cambodia

"Listen in. . . . Speak out" is the theme for the forum to be held today from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on the Administration lawn. If it rains, it will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium. The forum will be conducted as a series of panel discussions, according to Steve Russell.

ASUI Senate. The first topic, to be discussed at 10 a.m. will be the history of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia. Speakers will be Prof. Robert Hosack, head of the political science department at the U. of I,; Tony Phillips, theologian in residence at Washington State University; Prof. B.C. Borning, professor of political science, U. of I.; Prof. Clinton Grimes, professor of political science, U. of I.; Dr. Robert Coonrod, Academic Vice Pres., U. of I.; and Klaus Boettcher, student at the $U.\ of\ I.$

At 11 a.m. "Vietnam, Cambodia, what now?" will be discussed. Members of this panel are Prof. Mike Browne, head of the Idaho physics department; Prof. Rawlins, economics professor, Washington State University; Prof. Max Fletcher, chairman of the department of economics, U. of I.; Prof. Tsurutani, political science professor and specialist on Cambodia, Washington State University: Tony Skrbek, political science instructor, U. of I.; and Tom Loucks, an Idaho student.

At noon, there will be a "community forum" held in down-town Moscow, Russell said. The intersection of 4th and Main Streets will be closed off by Moscow police to be used as a "Freedom Square" where panelists will be heard by the townspeople.

Speakers for this panel will be Mayor Merk, John Mix, Dean Boyd Martin, and Dr. Robert Coonrod. The discussion will cover vital issues in the U.S., according to Russell.

Also at noon, on the Administration lawn, there will be a gathering of speakers and students to eat lunch and talk. The "Jug Band" will provide music during this session, which will last until 2. p.m., Russell said.

Idaho students send telegram

A telegram expressing concern over recent international, and national and campus events was sent Wednesday to the Idaho Congressional delegation in Washington D.C. by the associated students at the University of Idaho.

The telegram states, "We, the students of the University of Idaho, are deeply concerned about the recent U.S. intervention into Cambodia and the resulting disorders on the nation's campuses. We are shocked about the events at Kent State University and the killings there. We deplore the burning of the Naval ROTC Building on our own campus and have taken positive and responsive measures to provide a peaceful and constructive means for expression of that concern within the university community on Friday, May 8.

Dr. Milton E. Harr, professor of soil mechanics in the school of civil Engineering, Purdue University, will present two lectures here today

The first, at 11 a.m. in the Borah theatre of the Student Union Building, is entitled "Engineering, Education and Ecology."

The second talk, entitled "Groundwater and Seepage Revisted," This presentation will be in room 102 of the University Classroom Center at 4:10 p.m.

Anyone interested in ASUI Charter Flight to Europe on June 11 should contact Mrs. Rush at the activities office in the SUB.

Round trip ticket is $270.

The moral aspects of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia will be discussed by the next panel, beginning at 2 p.m.

Members of the panel will be Rev. Ed Weiskotten, Father Andrew Schumacher, Rev. Hank Bremmel, Prof. Francis Seaman (U of I) and Phil Schmidt.

The final panel discussion will begin at 3 p.m. and will cover student unrest, according to the Senate members.

Members of the panel will be Capt. Harold Bell, USA, assistant professor of military science, U. of I.; Prof. Chris Bone, Washington State University; Dean Harry Davey, Idaho's Dean of Men; Carlton Lewis, WSU Student Body President; Asst. Prof. William Bergquist, Psychology department, U. of I.; John Orwick, student, Harvey Dunham, Young Americans for Freedom, WSU; and Mack Faith, Idaho English instrucnight, Senator Mike Hunter told the meeting that two basic avenues of action were open to the students interested in the Cambodia-campus disruption question. They could either sit in the Administration Building like at Washington State, or use the proper channels like student government and the Faculty Council to develop a positive approach to the total question, he said.

Speaking to Faculty Council on the action taken by the Senate last Tuesday

ASUI President Jim McFarland told the Council members that the Senate was simply "urging" but not demanding or requesting that the Faculty Council dismiss classes on Friday. McFarland emphasized that students participating in the teach-in program, should not be penalized by their instructors for skipping class and taking part in the scheduled program of events.

Presenting the other side of the question was student Roger Enlow who told the Council that the students attending the Senate meeting last Tuesday night were not representative of the 6,000 students at the institution.

"Most of the students recognize the amount of material that has yet to be covered before the end of the semester." said Enlow. "They look on the dismissal of classes as an action seriously endangering their academic future.'

Faculty Council member Warren Owens, director of institutional services. said that there was a contradiction about going to either class or teach-in, but would have to act in an involuntary capacity with no choice, he said.

Another Faculty Council member inquired why the boycott couldn't he held on evenings or during the weekend.

Senator Mike Hunter answered the question by informing the Council that May 8 was the day a national strike had been called for and the Senators were hoping to create an educational type atmosphere around the teach-in.

Student Bill of Rights passes General Faculty of university

The Student Bill of Rights received the approval of the General Faculty of the University yesterday afternoon in their second meeting on the Bill. Although no actual vote tally was taken, meeting chairman, vice president Robert Coonrod declared that the bill "passed by an overwhelming majority. The Bill of Rights will now be transmitted to the Board of Regents for their consideration. The Regents must approve the bill of Rights and its enactment clause before the provisions will go into effect.

ASUI President Jim McFarland said after the faculty meeting that he was "extremely pleased that after three and one-half years of considering a student Bill of Rights, a very legally sound document was developed through a joint effort between the faculty and the students." He described the bill as a "moderate definition of legal student

Not Radical

In the first General Faculty session with the Sudent Bill of Rights, on April 30, Dr. C. L. Iiams, Chairman of Faculty Council told the faculty that the Bill of Rights is not a radical document, but a product of collaboration between the members of student government and elected faculty representatives.

"The Student Bill of Rights does not overturn the whole system," said Dr. Iiams, "But rather systematically states the procedures and principles we are now following which have generated and helped to maintain the traditional climate of cooperation and trust between the faculty and the students."

ASUI Attorney General who has worked on the Bill of Rights since its inception said he has compared Idaho's Bill of Rights with similar documents from other schools. "It's the finest in the country." said Orwick. "The faculty in its action yesterday may have done more to prevent campus disorders than all previous repressive legslative acts.

Five proposed

Five amendments were proposed to the Student Bill of Rights as it was being considered by General Faculty in the two meetings it held. Two amendments were proposed yesterday for the bill, but both were defeated by voice vote of the faculty. Three amendments were proposed at the first meeting of the faculty on April 30, of which only one was approved.

That amendment added to the existing section II, paragraph which reads: Students shall be free to support causes by any lawful means which do not disrupt and endanger the essential operations of the University and which do not infringe physically upon the rights of others.'

That paragraph now reads: ". . .upon the rights of others and which do not physically interfere in the orderly execution of duly authorized functions.

STUDENTS LISTEN ATTENTIVELY and voice their opinions during a meeting on the lawn in front of the Administration Building Tuesday afternoon. Strike for education Controversy has focused throughout the week on the many student strikes across the country, and more specifically on what action Idaho should take as a University and or as a student body.

Approximately 1200 students attended a hurriedly but well organized "rap session" on the Administration lawn Tuesday afternoon, with many of the same attending the weekly Senate meeting that evening.

The Senate, after arguing among itself and listening to comments from many of the crowd of observers in the ballroom, passed a resolution endorsing a voluntary student boycott of classes and urged Faculty Council to dismiss classes today.

Arguments have flown in all directions since the resolution passed, and indeed, an independent group of students prepared a second proposal and submitted it to the Faculty Council, asking that classes not be dismissed.

At its meeting yesterday, the Faculty Council voted 13-0 to accept a third proposal, submitted by Dr. liams in which the council decided to follow the regular class schedule. but recognized the feelings of students and faculty and asked all faculty to follow their own considerations.

But it has been the student proposals which have kept the campus stirred up. Wording, and policies have been argued until the ideas behind them have been buried.

As pointed out to me by a student yesterday, this week of bickering over semantics and the points of view of several different factions is beside the point.

The point should be a unified effort by students and faculty towards a joint education, an education of why. . .

Why events were such that four college students died at Kent State.

Why over 80 colleges and Universities were officially closed yesterday across the nation.

Why 258 schools are reported to be participating in the

Why the Cambodian thrust has led to the surge of anti-ROTC demonstrations.

Why the violence.

Why?....

Classes have not been officially dismissed here at Idaho, yet it appears that student-faculty concern is still paramount. A potentially good discussion program "Listen In. . . Speak Out" has been set up for today, so its up to the individual.

So attend classes. . . . if you can ignore the somber faces in the large crowd which morned Jeff Miller in New York yesterday, or the anguished plea from the parents of Allison Krause, one of the two girls who was killed. . . . or the smoke blackened Navy building here on our own campus, or the growing growls of dis-satisfaction from many highly respected senators and representatives within the U.S. Congress. . .

We can't ignore the world from our pseudo-environment of escape. After all, one day we have to go out there and live, if there's anything left. B.L.

Illegal use of U.S. Troops in Cambodia

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following editorial was written last weekend at a meeting of several Eastern colleges and universities. It has been said that it was this editorial which prompted the student strike against President Nixon's decision to move American troops into Cambodia.

President Nixon's unwarranted and illegal decision to send American combat forces into Cambodia and to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam demands militant, immediate and continued opposition from all Americans.

Through his uni-lateral executive move. the President has placed our country in a state of emergency.

He has ignored the constitutional prerogative of Congress and has revealed the sham of his policy of Vietnamization, a policy, which through a tortuous process of inter-logic, demands that we escalate the war in order to enable American troops to withdraw.

He has demonstrated that American foreign policy still dictates the necessity to sacrifice American lives, to ravish independent countries and to squander our resources and energies.

The President has tragically misgauged the mood of the country. The anti-war movement which has marched and protested years in a vain effort to reverse the United States role in Southeast Asia has finally resurfaced in new and larger numbers.

With Nixon's lies now finally exposed, the immorality and hypocrisy of our government's actions have been revealed

The need for action has never been so great and so urgent.

We therefore call on the entire academic community of this country to engage in a nationwide University strike. We must cease business as usual in order to allow the University to lead and join in a collective strike to protest America's escalation of the war.

We do not call for a strike by students against the University, but a strike by the entire University - faculty, students, staff and administrators alike.

The reasons for such a strike are manifold. First, it is a traumatic symbol of our opposition to a corrupt and immoral war. It demonstrated clearly our priorities, for the signigicance of classes and exams pales before the greater problems outside the classroom. Moreover, it recognizes the fact that within a society so permeated with inwquality, immorality and destruction, a classroom education becomes a hollow

The necessity for a strike extends far beyond these reasons. The strike is necessary to free the academic community from activities of secondary importance and open it up to the primary task of building renewed opposition to the war. It is necessary to permit the academic community to first solidify its own opposition and then to act immediately to extend this opposition beyond the campuses.

In explanation, segment by segment:

Meaning of boycott resolution

We ask the entire academic community to use this opportunity to go to the people and to bring home to the entire nation the meaning of the President's action. We urge that this strike be directed toward bringing about the following changes:

An immediate withdrawal of all American forces in Southeast Asia.

Passage of a senate amendment to the military appropriations act to deny all aid for military and political adventurers in Southeast Asia.

The end of political repression at home in particular the government's systematic attempts to eliminate the Black Panther party, and other political dissidents.

A reversal of American priorities for military envolvement abroad to domestic problems, in particular the problems of our beleagured cities.

The mobilization of public support of anti-war candidates in the upcoming primaries and general election.

And the building of support of massive demonstrations in Washington on May 9 to bring to the nation's capital in unprecidented numbers our opposition.

The stage has been set, the issues clearly drawn, the need apparent, it is time now to act.

Students show common concern

Driskell, Martin, Boettcher-

On May 5, something significant occurred at the University of Idaho; the students for about ten brief minutes experienced a sense of common concern for each other and for their school.

The high point of this feeling came after a muscular chap who identified himself as 'just a monger" expressed his earlier desire to shoot a few creeps and how he changed his mind enough that ". . .now those guys are all right.

This one man's honesty gave many of us a feeling of relief. No one likes the possibility of facing a confrontation with the ball players for expressing their views, and I believe this one man, for one honest moment, took the lid off, and we all had a fresh breath of air.

This feeling of community was shortlived, however. Before most students could recover from the shock of it, the forces of retrogression were at work. Within 4 minutes conservative elements converted the students present (about 1200) from a feeling of good will to the bullshit of suspicion and subtle hostility.

Now, you may ask why would anyone want to prevent the students from forgetting about the hostilities between factions? This is a question I personally find hard to answer here but nationally it the man to try to destroy the integrity of the Universities in this country, to ridicule us as citizens with speeches and backbiting, there is going to be violence.

Our friend, the political "liberal" is no friend at all, calling for moderation, nonviolent action, blah-blah, etc. This is the same guy who nods with approval while an incompetent governor tries to get rid of a fine University President.

I cannot trust a man who forces me to near desperation and then councils nonviolence. If there is going to be violence on this campus and only the most dedicated forms of unified co-operation can avoid it, let's take steps to see that we do not destroy each other in the process.

I, too, am sorry that a building had to burn before anyone started asking why. I believe that Cambodia is not the only real issue in this nation - rather it is whether the Universities are to be the seat of intellect or the whipping boy of fools.

Personally, I believe that all the buildings on this campus do not make a university any more than does tenure make a professor or the grading system make a student. I also believe what our generation decides is the outcome for the Universities will also be the fate of this

There is no point in saying that no one is because it simply is not true. However, there is no way of ever solving our problems with our own solutions if we don't stick together. There are 'Uncle Toms' in the student community just as there are in the Black Community. They are easily recognized by their logic, which advocates inaction and is designed to separate people as enemies. I say here and now, that these

'Toms are undermining the student effort to oppose the war, racism or the destruction of our university. They do so not out of patriotic concern but out of a lack of integrity and belief in our generation. We have the leadership and the guts to make this a first class institution. If we are unified as a student body and with Dr. Hartung, we can add meaning to the lyrics of Bob Dylan, "Get out of the way if you can't lend a hand, 'cause the times they are a' changin''.

CPS states position

Editor, the Argonaut:

Peace and Survival consider the recent statements and policies of President Nixon diametrically opposed to the stated american policy of withdrawl and deescalation of the War in Indo-china. Moreover, these policies are a direct threat to world peace.

Despite the previous two year's promises and hypocrisy of President Nixon for continued and increased withdrawal of United States troops, the present administration has decided to give the Pentagon another chance to use American lives in a futile attempt at total military victory. By the president's own admission this policy was devised and created solely by the Department of Defense.

Perhaps, Mr. Allen doesn't realize that his interview with Mr. Rubel was fallacious, in which case I suggest he make an attempt to discovering the truth.

I have studied the Middle East problem for over fifteen years, published two articles on the subject and read several hundred books and articles on this subject.

I could recommend works by Arnold Toynbee, the world's greatest historian; Anthony Nutting, British historian and member of Parliament; Dr. Alfred M. Lilienthal, an American Jew who has written several books and articles on the Arab-Israeli conflict and who incidentally is a very good friend of mine; Rabbi Elmer Berger and Moshe Meniun, two Jewish scholars, and Sir John Bagot Glubb, to name but a few.

A major fabrication occurs in Mr. Rubel's statement that "Israeli basic policy now is concerned with national security and survival not with territorial or imperialistic expansion."

Perhaps Mr. Rubel has never heard of "Eratz Israel," the boundaries of Israel shall extend from the Euphrates to the Nile or the 22 or more U.N. Security Council condemnations of Israel for aggression or the words of Menachim Begin, member of the Israeli terrorist group known as Irgun and now a member of the Israeli Knesset, who said October 12, 1955, "I deeply believe in launching a preventative war against the Arab states without further hesitation. By doing so we will achieve two targets. Firstly, the annihilation of the Arab power and secondly, the expansion of our territory.'

A second fallacy occurs when Mr. Rubel claims that "the people of Israel have wanted the land that has rightfully been theirs." This is a complete falsehood. Israel was created by the U.N. in 1947 from what was the country of Palestine Then in 1949, 56 and 67 the Israeli's increased their borders by attacking neighboring Arab countries.

Prior to 1947 there were no "Israeli people" since there was no state of Israel. Before, during and after the Jews left Palestine 2000 years ago, Palestine Arabs lived there. The land "rightfully" belongs to the Palestinian people, morally and historically. It "belongs" to the Israelis by conquest, aggression and complete flaunting of the United Nations's rulings. Mr. Allen, if you object to Communism or Nazissm, as you so often claim, then I hope in the future you will refrain from spreading the "Big lie"

ASUI senator explains boycott resolution

Editor, the Argonaut:

By now I am sure that the student body is aware of the resolution passed by the ASUI Senate last Tuesday night. Perhaps a few questions can be answered by looking carefully at what the Senate passed. "The Senate of the ASUI endorses the voluntary student boycott of classes... Further in the resolution the Senate urged, ". . . that Faculty Council dismiss classes . . .

In all probability Faculty Council will not dismiss classes-a fact well known by the Senate. Thus the real mean of the resolution is that the Senate endorses a voluntary boycott of classes. Endorse, as defined in my dictionary, means, "to acknowledge by placing one's signature on." Isn't this exactly what the Senate

It's obvious that the boycott of classes by some students is going to take place. regardless of anyone's approval - Senate, Faculty Council, other students. It is also perfectly obvious that some students will attend classes.

There are those who argue that the Senate should have passed a resolution calling for students to follow their own conscience. I find that the word "voluntary" to mean, "of one's own accord or by free choice." It sounds amazingly close to following one's own conscience.

One last comment, I regret that Senate Bill No. 47, which I co-authored, calling for a student referendum on the issue was judged to be unconstitutional because a copy of the ballot has to be published in the Argonaut prior to the election and time didn't allow this. It is precisely this kind of issue that should be taken to the students in a referendum.

RUPTIONS ON COLLEGE CAM-PUSES.' First of all I will quote from Webster.

"ENDORSE: TO SANCTION, TO GIVE APPROVAL TO."

Indeed the ASUI Senate SANCTIONS the voluntary student boycott of classes. It is the students right to stand up for his beliefs in a peaceful orderly manner which does not disrupt the essential operation of the University. We as the Senate are not going to try and take away his rights as a student.

No compulsion

Again, I quote from Webster, "VOL-UNTARY: (in law) ACTING OR DONE WITHOUT COMPULSION or PERSUA-SION. BROUGHT ABOUT BY ONES OWN FREE CHOICE, FREELY CHO-SEN OR UNDERTAKEN."

This is indeed a voluntary boycott. We are not compelling the students to boycott or not to boycott. We are compelling them to do nothing, we are leaving it up to their own conscience. "WE URGE THE FACULTY, AD-MINISTRATION, AND COMMUNITY TO PARTICIPATE TOGETHER IN THIS ENDEAVOR . . . ''

In this period of national struggle we would hope that the students, faculty and administration are united as a community for the general benefit of all concerned. We are not compelling the faculty of the University to recognize the boycott, we do not have the authority to compel them to do anything (legitimate authority)

. . AND URGE THAT FACULTY COUNCIL DISMISS CLASSES ON SAID DAY, FRIDAY MAY 8, 1970."

One definition from Webster of URGE is to make an earnest presentation of the arguments. We intend to make a presentation of the arguments both Pro and Con for dismissing classes and leave the decision entirely with Faculty Council as to which course of action we take. We only hope that the students who by their own conscience boycott their classes will not be penalized in some way by their instructor giving tests and pop quizzes.

Again it must be shown that we urged not demanded that classes be dismissed hoping also that the faculty that wished to participate in this program of community wide involvement could do so without jeopardizing their teaching positions by not holding classes.

Not against U. of I. "THIS IS IN NO WAY TO BE CON-SIDERED AS A BOYCOTT AGAINST THE UNIVERSITY AND ITS ADMIN-ISTRATION.

This final statement is a resolute confirmation that this boycott is in no way to be construed as a boycott against the university and its administration.

We feel also it should be pointed out that the students operated purely within the legitimate structure of the University in its requests of the faculty and administration. We did not resort to the tactics that were used only eight

Terrorism in the Middle East

Today we hear much about the Arab terrorists and inhumane Arabs in particular, therefore I thought my readers might be interested in hearing some little known facts concerning terrorists' activities in Palestine. In his book, Haganah, Munya M. Mardor tells his readers that at the end of World War II, the Jewish arms-acquisition organization scoured Europe for arms. On September 30, 1947, a year oefore Israel was born, David Ben-Gurion instructed the author to return to Europe for the resumption of activities. His particular task was to procure all kinds of armaments, including the heaviest, to be smuggled to Palestine for eventual war against the Arabs. All this was done before any official war had been declared.

Even the Israeli's do not deny the existence of the famous terrorist organization, the Irgun Zvai Leumi, or National Military Organization. Menachem Begin, a member of Israel's parliament and former member of the Irgun describes it in this manner.

"The aim of the Irgun Zvai Leumi may be found in the Jewish Legion formed by Jabotinsky and Joseph Trumpeldor during First World War.'

The aim of the Irgun was to dominate Eretz Israel, which he claims should include Palestine and Transjordan, by warfare, terror and violence.

In 1940 a faction, the Lechi or Freedom Fighters for Israel, split from the Irgun and became known as the Stern Gang. No better description of the Stern Gang could exist than that embodied in the titles of three books, two written by members of the Stern Gang and one by an American correspondent. Those by Stern Gang authors were Uri Avnery's Memoirs of an Assassin; Confessions of a Stern Gang Killer and Geula Cohen's Woman of Violence: Memoirs of a Young Terrorist.

It was the Stern Gang who assassinated a high ranking British official. slaughtered the inhabitants at Lydda, Ramelah and Acre and finally annihilated the entire Arab village of Deir Yasin. Here they murdered the inhabitants in their sleep, slit open bellies of pregnant women, and threw the dead bodies down a

Also they were responsible for the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, the first U.N. mediator in the Middle East. It was the Irgun that deserves the credit for blowing up the King David Hotel in Jerusalem.

After all these deeds, Dr. Ralph Bunche, who inherited Bernadotte's job, told the U.N. Security Council: "These assassinations constitute a critical challenge from an unbridled band of Jewish terrorists.'

Judgments have not been lacking on these terrorists-even Moshe Dayan made a similar comment following the killing of an Israeli a few months before the Israeli aggression on Egypt in 1956. Dayan said:

"Who are we that we should argue against their hatred. For eight years now, they sit in their refugee camps in Gaza and before their very eyes. we turn in to homestead the land and the villages in which they and

In comparison with these terrorist groups of Israel, the aims of the Palestinian Commandos contrast sharply. Their leader, Yasir Arafat has said repeatedly that the aims of his group are for the dezionization of Israel, the creation of a new Palestine where Moslem, Christian and Jew can live in peace and equality as they did for nineteen hundred years.

Even Charles DeGaulle of France was prompted to reply: "I would as soon condemn the Palestinian Commandos as I would the French Underground in World War II." And while we are making comparisons, no less a person than Arnold Toynbee, the world's greatest historian, compared Israeli aggression and terrorist activity to the wholesale slaughter by Nazi Germany.

The Palestinian Commandos do not fight in order to destroy; they fight to liberate and build. Thus, while Israeli peace is colonialist and exclusivist, ours is liberationist and integrative. While Israeli peace aims at ending the Jewish diaspora through creating a Palestinian Arab diaspora, ours aims at ending our own without inflicting a new one on the Jewish Community in Palestine. Israel's peace involves expulsion and subjugation for the Palestinian Arabs; ours involves liberating the Jews from Zionism and from the soul-distorting practice of Colonialism. Hence the morality of our making true and lasting peace. I leave it to my readers. Who is inhumane? Who are the "Terrorists?"

Here's more about. . . .

Dean Kendrick

Following graduation at the university, Kendrick served for a number of years as manager of a retail food store in Gooding. During World War II, he was a lieutenant

Before returning to his alma mater as dean, he was a professor of marketing and economics at the University of California. While there, he served as a consultant for various business firms. With a keen interest in the development of Idaho, Kendrick was active in the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce and the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, serving as president of both organizations.

A member of numerous scholarly and professional organizations, he was listed in "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who in American Education.'

Survivors include his wife, Ruth, and son, James, a pilot in the U.S. Air Force. Private funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. David's Episcopal Church in Spokane followed by a memorial service at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Moscow. No date for the memorial service has been set The family suggests contributions to a loan fund in the name of Dean Kendrick to be established for students in the College of Business and Economics at the University of Idaho. Burial will be at Ephrata, Washington.

Justice Court arraigns Schock

A 22-year-old Vietnam veteran majoring in political science at the University of Idaho, Moscow, was arraigned in Nez Perce County Justice Court Tuesday afternoon on a charge of third-degree arson in connection with the early morning fire at Lewiston National Guard Headquarters, 16th Avenue and 28th Street.

Joseph E. Schock, a Lewiston native who has been residing at Pullman while attending the Idaho university, was charged with having set the fire which destroyed 25 trucks of the 116th Combat Engineers Battalion. He was lodged in the Nez Perce County jail in lieu of $50,000

Schock was also charged by the FBI Wednesday with destruction of government property.

He was arrested by Lewiston police shortly after the fire broke out about 12:45 a.m. yesterday. Police said he was wearing clothing which reeked of gasoline

Officers said Schock was in a car with an unidentified man when he was taken into custody. Schock told police he got the dirt and gasoline on his clothing in a motorcycle accident earlier in the night.

Police said entrance into the enclosure where the vehicles were parked was gained by cutting through a chain link fence which surrounds the entire National Guard facility. Gasoline then was drained from every every vehicle in three rows and the fire was believed started by a thrown combustible bomb of the Molotov cocktail variety.

The First Presbyterian Church Youth Group has been asked by the Washington state common ministries to present special memorial services for the students killed at Kent State Monday. The service, featuring nine contemporary folk songs and two modern dances will be given at 7:30 p.m. at the Pullman Methodist Church.

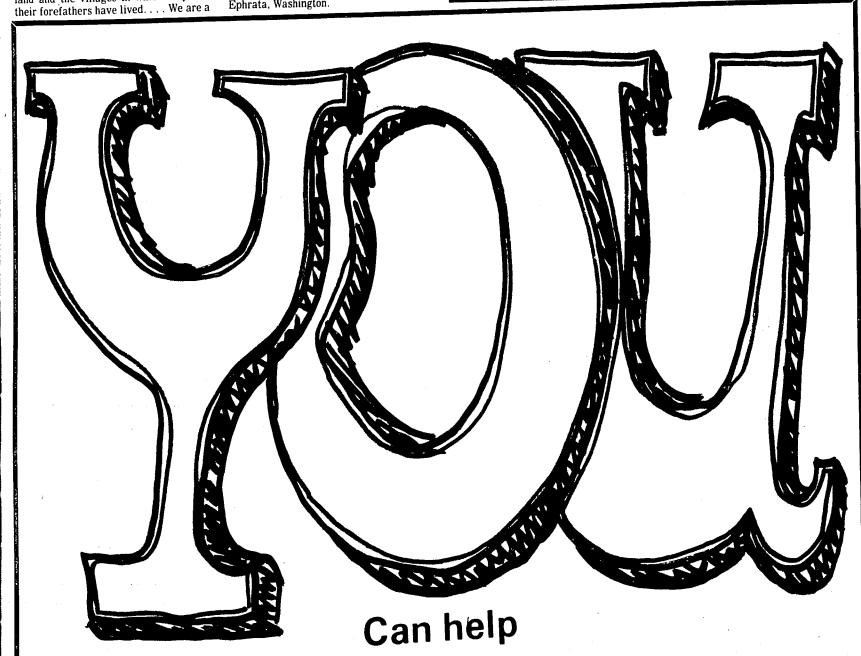

All University of Idaho students are invited to attend.

building damaged by early morning fire

A fire allegedly started with two firebombs did extensive damage to two classrooms and the attic area of the Naval ROTC building on the University of Idaho campus early Tuesday morning.

The fire was discovered in the wooden. one-story structure at 4:20 a.m. by Lloyd K. Cossairt, a University of Idaho night watchman. He then turned in the alarm to the Moscow Volunteer Fire Department.

Ralph McAllister, Moscow Fire Chief, said that the damage to the building and contents is estimated at $30-40,000.

According to Captain Jack Vorhees, professor of Naval Science at the school, the records and equipment in one classroom were destroyed. He added that duplicate records are stored elsewhere in the building. Officials declined comment pending an FBI and Naval investigation, but ROTC personnel claimed two fire bombs had been thrown into the building. A team of Naval Investigator from Spokane were in Moscow following the fire.

Captain Vorhees said that no regular classes were scheduled for the building

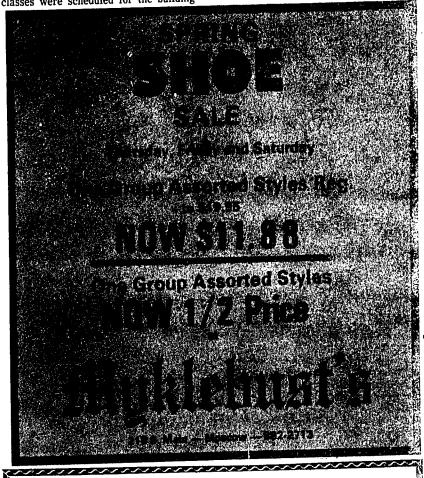

Tuesday, but classes have resumed on a regular basis.

The Navy building, located next to the construction site of the new forestry building on the Idaho campus, was erected in 1943. At that time there were 800 Naval trainees on the campus.

Regarding the fire, Dr. Robert Coonrod, University of Idaho academic vice president, said: "We support peaceful dissent, but we deplore wanton destruction of property or violence in any form. We have been informed that there is clear evidence of arson in the case, but we have no way of knowing whether our students or somebody beyond the campus was involved. The matter will be thoroughly investigated.

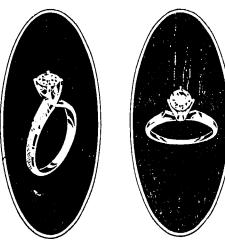

A "Rawhide Carnival" has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday by the perch. The event will include a mechnical cowboy, a fish pond and a sponge toss. It is sponsored by the Latter-Day Saint Student Ass'n.

Grad students conduct first official meeting

The Associated Graduate Students of the University of Idaho (AGSUI) conducted their first meeting Tuesday night. Representatives from 25 of the University's 40 departments met to discuss problems of graduate students and to take the first steps towards trying to solve them, according to Larry Meierlotto, chairman of the AGSUI executive coordinating committee.

Each department is allowed one representative. Departments with more than 15 graduate students enrolled are allowed two representatives. Elections of candidates are initiated and conducted within each department.

Meierotto said departments which did not send representatives to the first meeting can still send representatives. He said they will be contacted and urged to send a delegate.

The group hopes to improve placement services and to eventually acquire a social center for graduate students. The University, Meierotto said, has offered the AGSUI 80 offices in old Willis Sweet (now the Faculty Office Building). The AGSUI has refused to use it. he said. unless it is remodeled.

The committee was formed to look into starting a file of typists available to type thesis papers. The file, Meierotto said. would probably contain qualifications and recommendations. Students have had problems'getting good typists, he said.

WSU officials dismiss classes during teach-in PULLMAN, AP - Classes were officially canceled Thursday at Washington State University as a teach-in began at 9 a.m. dealing with President Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia.

Early reports indicated, however, not all students and professors remained away from the classroom.

Scattered classes were being held in the departments of veterinary medicine, physics, mathematics, police science, engineering, music and communications, a University spokesman said.

While some professors were holding classes for those who wished to attend, but it was not possible to determine immediately what percentage of the university's some 14,000 students stayed out of class.

A controversy continued over President Glenn Terrell's decision to cancel classes for the day and to send a telegram to President Nixon.

In the telegram, Terrell said: "Many of our campus deplore the decision to send troops into Cambodia and the tragic deaths of the four students at Kent State.

Shoplifting hurts consumer, too

By Janet Rugg Argonaut News Editor

Shoplifting is a problem which hurts not only the businessman but also the consumer, say three local merchants.

Every item in this store which sells for $1 could be marked down to 95 cents if the shoplifting factor was eliminated," the manager of a variety-hardware store

"It is a great expense, both monetarially and psychologically," he said. "We figure shoplifting costs us $40,000 a year.

To deter shiplifters, stores employ a variety of methods but emphasize alert employees and surveillance

'We have one-way mirrors above the sales floor which we use to periodically check people. Primarily, however, we use deterance." said the manager of a local foodstore. "We follow people about the store if they act somewhat suspicious. This lets them know we are not unaware of their presence.

Each of the stores has its own policy about filing complaints against the shiplifters. A department store downtown depends on the conditions of each case and the variety store files a complaint in each instance.

"It's all age groups - from grade school through high school and college students to adults," the foodstore manager said. "No particular segment hits hardest.

'And they take just everything. From a spool of wire to a pair of new shoes," said the variety store manager.

"Desiderata", a one act studio play written by Chuck Hanner, will be presented at 8 p.m. tonight through Sunday at the Burning Stake. The play, directed by Jim Cash, will have no admission charge

"I've seen women who have put swimsuits on under clothing and tried to walk out. And people put clothing under babies in their baby buggies.

Of the people who do shop lift, most do not realize the consequences of their actions, the merchants contacted agreed. They also said that most have enough money with them at the time of the crime to pay for the merchandise

"I think most of the shoplifters get caught," said the manager of the downtown department store. "And the courts are dealing more harshly wit them these days. The judges realize that shoplifting is a serious national problem.

Persons caught in attempted thiever can be charged with either petty larceny a misdemeanor, or grand larceny which is a felony, according to law. The theft of merchandise which is worth more that $50 constitutes grand larceny

The hopes of repeating as the Big Sky Conference champs is gone for the Idaho Vandal baseball team as they lost a total f four conference games last week in the road trip to Weber State and Idaho State. When the Vandals host Montana. tomorrow and Montana State, on Monday In doubleheaders, Idaho will be trying to play the roll of the "spoilers."

Montana and Montana State split in their four game series to make their conference records at 2-2. Both teams still have an outside chance of winning the conference championship, and their hopes could be higher with sweeps over Idaho.

The Vandals have been in somewhat of a slump lately as they have lost five games in a row, but the hitting of Paul Page, who is batting at a lusty .441, Barry Wills, who is hitting at .346 and John Hathaway, who is hitting at .310 has been a strong point of Idaho this season.

Coach John Smith plans on starting Joe Kampa in the first game against Montana tomorrow. Kampa has a 5-4 record on the season and he has a respectable 2.88 ERA. From there, Smith has not decided who will start, but it is likely that Pat Daniels (3-4), Steve Martin (2-2), and Jim Green (2-2), will see action as starters.

In the pre-season outlook, the Grizzlies were tabbed as a strong hitting team, but they seemed to lack pitching. However, it has been the mound performances of John Kidd (3-1), Kendall Kelvig (2-2), Darrell Shoquist (2-0) and Les Parks (2-2) that has been the success of the Grizzlies so far this season.

rl Hul

The Bobcats could give trouble in the pitching department with Mike Harris, Al LuPone, Jerry Coulter and Hans Pidino, but their hitting is a weak point.

The Bobcats only have one hitter who is hitting over the .300 mark, and that is Terry Quinn, who is hitting at .368. So far in the season, Quinn has three homeruns, four doubles and he leads the club in runs batted in.

The doubleheaders with Montana and Montana State will start at 1 p.m. and it will be at Guy Wicks Field.

After the games with Montana and Montana State, the Vandals will travel to Pullman to meet Washington State on Wednesday and they will wind up the conference action when they play Gonzaga on Saturday.

Annual "spring football game" promises excitement for fans

The Idaho Vandal football fans will be able to have their first look at Coach YC McNease and the team in the annual intrasquad spring game at the Moscow Bear football field at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

For the "Gold Diggers," the quarterbacking will be shared by veteran Mitch Lansdell, who was impressive last year when Idaho lost their first and second string quarterbacks and Bruce Cole, who was on the frosh squad last

The "Gold Diggers" will feature a strong running game as they will have last year's starting running backs with Mike Wiscombe and Ron Davis. Vandal fans will get their first look at Fred Riley in this game. Riley broke O.J. Simpson's junior college rushing record while playing at Yuba College last fall. Idaho fans will also get their first look at freshman stars Larry Bosma and Rand Marquess. Bosma will probably be positioned at center, and Marquess, who is the brother of Wayne Marquess of last year's team, will be tried at linebacker. The "Gold Diggers" will also have a host of players who started on last year's team. Terry Moreland, Pat Sprute, Bill Cady, Richard Beaver, Faustin Riley. Rich Kushlan, Andy Kupp, Bob Miller, Tim Reese and kicker, Ricardo "Pancho" Castilo, should provide the fans with exciting action.

The "White Chargers" will be fielding a much younger team as they will go with three inexperienced quarterbacks in Tom Ponciano. Pete Glindeman and Rick Simmons. Ponciano came from Yuba College with Fred Riley; Glindeman was a red-shirt last year, but he was called to starting duty when Idaho ran out of

Through the spring drills, the Vandals have been working with Jesse Craig at a running back spot and he will get his first taste of action for the "White Chargers". Craig was a linebacker last sea-

The "Gold Diggers" will probably have an edge on the defensive line, but the "White Chargers" will have the bulk of strength on the offensive line with most of last year's starters. John Durham will be at center, and he will be flanked by Jim Wimer and Daryl Hanuer. The tackles will be Brock Jackley and Steve Barker.

Steve Olson, who led the nation in passing before his back injury, will not see action in the spring games, but he is expected to be at full strength next fall.

By looking at the rosters, it appears that the teams are evenly matched, and the fans should have something to look forward to. The players will be working extra hard as the performances could determine the plans of Coach McNease for next fall.

The admission will be one-dollar, and students will be admitted free with student body cards.

Idaho's tennis squad defeats WSUCougars

The Idaho Vandal Tennis Team made their record 20-1 with a 7-2 victory over Washington State at the University of Idaho courts yesterday afternoon. The victory was the third posted over Washington State this year.

The Vandals came out fast against the tough Cougar team as they defeated Washington State 4-2 in the single's matches.

In the number-one spot, Sterling Bishop took his second loss of the season as Steve Dochery defeated the Vandal ace in two sets by winning 6-4, 6-3. The only other loss for the Vandals was Don Hamlin, who appeared to be having an easy time with his opponent as he won the first set 6-3, but Jamie Holden of Washington Stated started playing well as he won the final two sets.

Vandal track team to travel to Walla Walla

Coach Doug McFarlane and the Idaho Vandal track team will travel to Walla Walla. Washington this weekend for a track meet which will field teams from Whitman College, Eastern Washington State, Whitworth, Boise State College and Eastern Oregon.

The Vandal track squad, who defeated Simon Fraser earlier this year with a 71-70 upset victory, will be going with Bob Bohman and Dave Reves in the pole vault. Bohman has proven to be strong in this event as he has placed in several meets this year. Jay Wheeler, who set a meet and an Idaho Vandal record in the meet with the Montana Grizzlies, will be running in the hurdles. Wheeler was timed in the high hurdles at 14.6.

In the distance races, the Vandals will be going with Bob Hamilton in the threemile and Gary Johnson in the half mile. Hamilton won in the two-mile against Simon Fraser.

In other field events, Bob Smith will go in the broad and long jumps and Al Carlson will be in the weight events.

Ray Coy, who was playing the numbertwo spot and Bob Brunn, in the fifth position had relative ease in winning their matches, as they won in two sets.

Probably the most exciting match was between Idaho's Steve Hembera and Washington State's Steve Peck. In the first set Hembera had a hard time of winning, but he did finally manage to pull out an 8-6 win. The second set, Hembera put everything together and defeated Peck by an impressive 6-0 score.

Jeff Williams had the same type of match as Hembera. The first set between Williams and Joe Karas lingered on to a 7-5 score, but Williams won the second set with ease as he pulled out a 6-1 win.

In the double's matches, the Vandals poured on the steam as the teams of Williams-Hembera, Coy-Brunn and Hamlin-Vann Chandler swept the three matches to make the total record 54-4.

The Vandal tennis squad is looking forward to the all-important Big Sky Conference tournament which will be on May 16 at the Idaho tennis courts. But before the Big Sky tourney, the Vandals will first have to play three matches. The first match will be this afternoon when the Vandal netters travel to Bozeman to meet the Montana State Bobcats. Idaho will then travel to meet the Montana Grizzlies, and the Vandals will end the road trip on Tuesday when they meet Whitworth.

Student opinions on the proposed "socalled" student strike Friday ranged from the strongly against to those who are in favor of a little more than a passive BRIAN MICKE - OFF CAMPUS: "No . I'm going to go to class. I don't see how the strike will serve any definite purpose on this campus. A teach-in should be held on the weekend, not in lieu of classes.

Brian Micke

JERRY LEONARD — OFF CAMPUS: "Yes. I'm planning on attending the discussions. I'm kind of undecided which side I'm on ... I'll just have to wait and see how I feel after they're over."

BEVERLY BREWER - GAMMA PHI BETA: "If they have a teach-in I'll go. Yes. I would miss classes even if they are held . . . I don't think they should be called ... this teach-in should be voluntary

... I think those who want to attend should be able to and those who don't want to should be allowed to go to class.' GARY HAMMOND - OFF CAMPUS:

"I will definitely attend. I know that alot of people will get upset, they'll have to think; which alot of kids on this campus will find a new experience. I'm going to get a feeling of community and I'm going to get an education out of it. I think that it will be a well planned program with a definite goal in mind ... I personally would like to see this campus survive and if we don't let the pressure off by discussing our problems it won't."

for, makes me mad. This strike isn't going to make any impression on the President . . . they should send a telegram or something. I don't think that it gains anything and I do not agree with it . . . all it is going to amount to is a lot of B.S. from both sides . . . it may help them feel better; it won't really accomplish anything . . . it all ends up in Washington anyway.

GARY ROBINSON - OFF CAMPUS:

"I was in the service, served in the Birmingham riots ... and I'm thinking about re-enlisting if this keeps up ... Would I shoot to stop them ... YES I STEPHANIE WEST - OFF CAMPUS: "I'm going to go to the strike . . . because I think that it's a way of showing that the students care and are interested. I will be going to some classes. I don't think it should interfere with our education but it is a way that we can show how we feel . . . and that's important.

Julius Carstensen

JULIUS CARSTENSEN - ALPHA KAPPA LAMBDA: "No ... I won't attend. As a student at the University I've come up here to learn. This thing is going to do nothing but hurt me in school ... I think the strike is a bunch of garbage.

"The President has made a decision and the only thing that we should do is stand behind that decision ... I don't think the U.S. has done anything wrong by going into Cambodia. If they called me in tomorrow, I'd go . . . I'm 1-A and number

Watts opens bids for new housing

Bids to construct a new married student housing development at the University of Idaho were opened Tuesday by Business Manager Joseph W. Watts.

Low bidder on the 50-unit project was S. G. Morin and Son, Spokane, at $624,890. Other bidders included Boise Cascade Corp., Boise, $685,983; Nelson Lydig, Spokane, $776,236; and Sceva Construction Co., Spokane, $959.972.

The housing development, which will be built just east of existing campus family units, will include five sets of four-plexes and five sets of six-plexes. The units will be constructed in the style of two-story townhouse apartments.

The bids must now go to the Board of Regents for review and approval.

The story deals with a performer who takes in and devotes her time to a slow-witted waif. He repays her with indifference and insults. The movie is dubbed in English.
