cts like feel so it all in time.

to get ı know

ecause want to ds who ough a either.

classes

gh who er the

n't do

. Then

affects school

el it's at that hat.

kids

gh a liott es not allacy.

t has ind of wed to

What

do to ner or ching.

ng you iety to force nkind.

ing to ory of

ne. It

y cold much to be on is 7 ale on oom of

All U submit at the

e. Any ned or nclude

will be m the ale on mbach

ecture

ke no

ned by

""

fairs.

Why there is a Borah Symposium

By Mary L. Perrine Niece of Sen. William Borah

Salmon O. Levinson, who made a gift of $55,000 to the University of Idaho in 1929 "to be held and administered as an endowment fund in honor of my friend. Senator William Edgar Borah, and to be known as the William Edgar Borah Outlawry of War Foundation," was a man so modest he preferred that his name be little known.

But as a private American citizen, he was able to influence the leaders of almost every nation in the world to sign what was known as the Kellogg Briand Pact, declaring war to be

At the inauguration of the Foundation for the Outlawry of War, Sen. Borah said, "I regard the Peace Pact as the embodiment of the principle for which he (S.O. Levinson) has so earnestly contended. It may be that this principle is in advance of the times. Time alone can tell. But permanent peace must rest at last upon this great foundation principle."

During World War I, Levinson, a Chicago lawyer who had been opposed to U.S. entry into the war, decided that since under the provisions of international law war was legal. outlawry of war was a necessary step toward permanent

Friends helped

With the help of friends, both old and new, he started in 1914 to work on his plan.

Among his old friends who soon became dedicated helpers were the great philosopher, John Dewey, and the distinguished minister, John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the New York Community Church.

One he converted to his cause was Sen. Borah, who worked in Washington to promote outlawry and outside Washington made speeches and published articles in which he appealed to the American people.

Levinson's efforts

Levinson himself worked with almost superhuman energy. He travelled in America and Europe, talking to political leaders, members of the press, and other influential people.

John Dewey, in his introduction to the book "S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris by John E. Stoner, said of him, "There was stimulus-indeed, there was a kind of inspiration-in coming in contact with his abounding energy, which surpassed that of any single person I have ever known and which might easily have provided a group or organization with power to carry on extensive activities. It was great physically; but more

Opening of Conference: Stanley

W. Thomas, Borah Foundation Com-

Address: Senator Len B. Jordan

Power of Congress in Policy Determination with Respect to War and

POW Comments: John "Spike"

Nasmyth, recently returned U. of I.

graduate, B.A., Sociology, 1962; in-

The Role of Congress in Deter-

Panel: Senator Len B. Jordan, Roy

Eiguren, H. R. Mahood, Robert Smith,

Bill Hall, Majid Khadduri, Scott Higginbottom, Edward Whitehead, Moder-

TUESDAY

Topic: "Pressure Groups as Effective Expressions of Power in Policy

Decisions with Respect to War and Speakers: H. R. Mahood, Professor of Political Science, Memphis State

University; Introduced by Gary Mon-

crief Majid Khadduri, Director, Center for Middle East Studies, Johns

Hopkins University: Introduced by

duri, Steve Heimer, Jerome Scolnick,

Wilma Heide, William Moore, Boyd

Panel: H. R. Mahood, Majid Khad-

No-Host Luncheon for Speakers

Topic: "Society's Responsibilities

and Borah Committee Members

(open to the public) Silver Room.

with Respect to War and Peace."

mining Policy with Respect to War

"Senator William E. Borah and the Introduction by Roy Eiguren.

7:20 p.m.

8:10 p.m.

8:30 p.m.

and Peace

9:00 a.m.

Peace."

Carl Wurster.

A. Martin, Moderator

troduced by Tom Hill.

Speakers: Wilma Heide, President,

Jerome Scolnick, Center for the Forum: Robert Smith, Wilma Heide,

William Rusher, Jerome Scolnick,

Steve Heimer, Roderick Sprague,

Sandra Boll Rokeoch, Washington

Student Panel: "The Power of

Ken Eklund, Local President, Anan-

da Marga Yoga Society; Roger Kuhrt,

Campus Christian Center; Audrey

Barr, Art Teacher, Moscow, Idaho;

Linda Sepa, Representative from

CHORD; A. Mannan Sheikh; Rick

Buffet Dinner - Gold and Silver

Topic: "Economic Power and the Speakers: Steve Heimer, Economist. New School for Social Research,

New York City: Introduced by Mel

Fisher, William Rusher, Editor, National Review: Introduced by Roger

Koopman. Robert Smith, Special

Assistant to Representative Steve

Panel: Steve Heimer, William

Rusher, Max Fletcher, Robert Smith,

Robert Reynolds, Majid Khadduri,

Lane Rowlin, Washington State Uni-

WEDNESDAY

Topic: "Major World Powers and the Role of the United Nations in Providing Resolution of Conflicts to Achieve a Peaceful World."

(continued on page 3)

versity - Moderator.

9:00 a.m.

Symms; Introduced by Clay Randall.

Houlberg - Moderator.

Effect on War and Peace."

Personal and Inter-Personal Peace."

State University - Moderator.

Study of Law and Society, University of California, Berkeley; Intro-

National Organization for Women;

Introduced by Elaine Ambrose

duced by John Lukens.

2:30 p.m.

3:30 p.m.

6:00 p.m.

7:30 p.m.

than that it was moral power."

Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France, in an interview with the Associated Press in April, 1927, was the first national leader to propose outlawry. In a message delivered by American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick to Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg June 20, 1927, he made his proposal formal.

Multilateral treaty

Secretary Kellogg's only response was an off-the-record remark about volunteer diplomats and peace crusaders. He called them "a set of ... fools."

Sen. Borah, then chairman of the Foreign Relations Cómmittee, in a speech delivered in Cleveland, welcomed the Briand proposal but urged a multilateral treaty rather than the bilateral treaty proposed by Briand.

Finally, on Feb. 27, 1928, after much pressure from Levinson and Borah, aided by popular support they had helped to create. Kellogg sent Briand a proposal for a multilateral treaty to outlaw war.

15 signed

When he received an acceptance from France he invited other nations to join in the agreement.

On Aug. 27, 1928, representatives of 15 nations met in Paris and signed the pact. Most nations of the world signed it soon afterward.

After World War II the Paris Pact was used as the basis for prosecuting top echelon Axis personnel for the crime of war, as distinguished from war crimes. The Nuremberg trials were the best known of these trials.

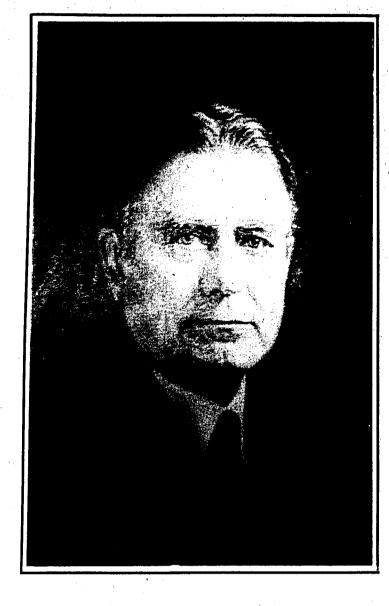

No Nobel award

On the first anniversary of the signing of the pact, Briand. hearing that Levinson was in Europe, invited him for a visit. "I am happy," he said. "to meet the real father of the Pact of

"But," Levinson replied, "the father would have died childless, M. Briand. had it not been for you.'

Some of Levinson's friends started a movement in 1929 for him to be awarded the Nobel Peace prize. He wrote to one of them, "I am appreciative of..your. efforts to secure for me the Nobel Peace prize. First of all, I would consider it a betrayal of my own convictions and independent peace of mind if I did anything to obtain it or even if I nurtured an ambition for it."

The prize was not given to anyone in 1929. In 1930 it was awarded jointly to Kellogg and Briand.

Fee increase rejected by 77%

Ed Knecht, U of I athletic director, stated that in "all five questions the answers

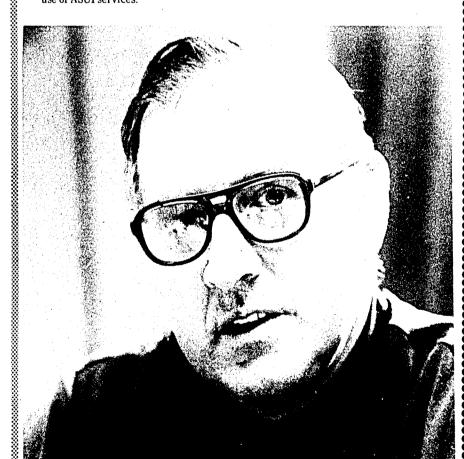

He did note after seeing these preliminary results that the results to question no. 2 were "amusing." "How can we expect more of a program, but have no more money put into it?" he asked. 'Nobody seems to want to pay the bill."

Turning to the last questions in the survey, Knecht commented, "I'm glad to see that we have the continued support of the student body in our efforts to change ffiliations." He said it was particularly student body does support the administrative leadership.

Asked about efforts to change conferences, Knecht said that they were continuing, and the matter would "undoubtedly" be brought up at the Regents' meeting April 5

Counting is continuing on the rest of the survey, including the question regarding use of ASUI services.

"I'm glad to see that we have the continued support of the student body in our efforts to change conference affiliations (it's) gratifying to know that the student body does support the administrative leadership."

With over 25 per cent of the referendum ballots counted, students appear to support the U of I's attempts to leave the Big Sky Conference.

The results so far

Athletic referendum

1. Do you favor making the University's athletic program essentially self-sufficient financially (i.e., no increase in student fees or appropriated monies)?

77 per cent Yes — No -108 15.7 per cent No opinion 53 7.3 per cent

2. Do you favor an increase in student fees for the varsity athletic program?

7.8 per cent Yes --674 77 per cent No -3.6 per cent No opinion 33

3. Do you favor the University continuing athletic competition with Boise State College and Idaho State University? 528 Yes —

74 per cent

No — 76 10.6 per cent No opinion 108 13 per cent

4. Do you support the effort to terminate Idaho's membership in the Big Sky Conference? 370 54 per cent Yes ---

28 per cent No — 194 18 per cent No opinion 169

5. Would you support the effort to terminate Idaho's membership in the Big Sky Conference if it will make the athletic program self-sufficient?

> Yes -77 per cent 13 per cent No --No opinion 109 15 per cent

These results are with 875 ballots counted - 3420 were cast in the recent ASUI elections.

Ťaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa

Brushes:

George Roberts, chairman of the art department, discusses the art (of the lack of it) appearing campus in an article on page 5. Reasons are given for the lack of aesthetic art and present art forms on campus are pointed out.

on

Wings:

Skyjacking at Moscow - Pullman airport? Not likely, according to the security. A feature appearing on page 3 discusses the security situation and the effects of the new FAA regulations to curb skyjacking.

Needles:

--Ed Knecht

U of I students and inmates of Washington State prison work together on drug therapy programs in Walla Walla. The continuation of this front page story and pictures appear on page 6.

Rackets:

The U of I has boasted top rank tennis teams for the past seven years and hopes are high for another winning season. Read the related article appearing on page 4 for details concerning Big Sky tennis.

Loren Horsell

Since I've got a mandate of sorts from my public (eat your heart out Rosy Cheeks) to look into the problems of campus planning, this would be as good a

The first question addressed to me was

as to the relative importance of organized planning to an extra faculty member. At

Welllill, hopefully 'The Post-Vacation

(Notice how Alice Cooper and all those Frustration Blues" have lifted enough so one can write rationally about the other greats have never popularized a song about "Education Blues" or

For some time there has been a popular theory and excuse-that grades go down

second semester because of sunshine and well, you know. (Someone told me not to write that word in my column anymore.

so I won't.) The other day one of my professors admitted that this slump

A professor's slump?

philosophical question, is it the professor's slump which causes the student slump? Which in turn might cause a further slump since a professor can't teach an unresponsive audience and eventually the process turns into a vicious

But there is a slight flaw in this

 $S\bar{o}$ probably it's an independent phenomenon, but what brings about the slump in a professor's teaching ability?

Longer Christmas vacation

slump in grades? Make a longer

Christmas vacation, with presumably a slight shifting in class hours or other vacations to accomodate this? Then when one got back from Christmas one might even be as eager to get back to school as in the fall. (Assuming that's the time a

Athletic referendum

But what can we do to remedy this

Maybe they actually enjoy sunshine too.

reasoning; presumably if the professor is slumping, and then the students slump,

the grades would not show it.

Which brings up an interesting occurs among professors too.

"School's Back.")

downward spiral.

time as any to do so.

EDITOR ROD GRAMER

ASSOC, EDITOR BARB BALDUS

Comment and Opinion

The state investigator rides for the railroads

The state railroad inspector came to town this week. And he left satisfied. After his two day inspection, he complacently called Moscow 'one of the best signalized towns in the state."

There are people who are not as happy with Idaho Public Utilities Commissioner James B. Barham as he is with himself. He finished his brief Moscow visit content in the fact that all railroad signals were working; he did not have to involve himself in the Dec. 10 train accident which killed Moscow High School student Becky Sullivan; he heard not one student or townsperson complaint on speeding trains, malfunctioning lights, or the lack of warning whistles; he paid no attention to the fact that the busy Sixth and Third Streets leading to the University need special consideration; he did not react critically to the railroads' tardiness in replacing several crossbuck warning signs.

Instead Mr. James B. Barham sat pleased and hugely satisfied with himself and his investigation. He remained positive that trains go no faster than 12 miles per hour through the town, that the Sixth St. signal activates when a train is 900 feet (theoretically a time of 50 seconds) from the intersection, and that the car driver is always at fault. Incidentally when signals flash for hours at a time near switching areas with no trains moving. Barham reminds motorists it's a violation to fail to make a complete stop at the lights. Human nature—leading to inattention—might not work that way, but James B. Barham cheerily does.

Moscow officials, who must remain here longer than the commissioner, admit that signals are now working-but they treat the matter with more concern. Police Chief Clark Hudson has been suspicious of the railroad intersections before and can only produce conflicting witness reports on the Sullivan accident. City Engineer Bill Smith has heard complaints on more than the Sixth St. intersection and has gone to the work of studying Idaho Code Regulations and notifying the commission. Civil Engineering Professor Cecil Hathaway brought railroads to the attention of his city Traffic Safety Committee for further review.

Even the railroads themselves prove more cooperative. Local stationmasters have been willing to answer investigative questions and Spokane authorities took suggestions and offered changes when they were here two days ago.

The unlighted train intersections and those with warning signals may or may not be dangerous. Irate students and townspeople with complaints should produce detailed accounts if they want further investigation. Railroad men are directly involved in the situation and city officials seem interested and concerned with their citizens. As for state troubleshooter James B. Barham, he's left town—he's being taken for a ride.

Reader hits report on prisons

I was disappointed in Mr. Lunders' March 28 article on the social therapy program at Washington State Penitentiary in Walla Walla. As a participant in the social therapy program last semester. I feel there are several points which need to be clarified.

Contrary to the image which Mr. Lunders paints of prison life in the social therapy program, all is not "wine and Despite the few outward decoradions adorning the living areas of the men on the tier. there are still walls, bars, locks, and stony-faced guards. The warm happy atmosphere described by Mr. Lunders is a complete fallacy. Life in the Wishington prison is cold, ugly, and dehumanizing. Mr. Lunders' statement that the inmates are not confined in cells but in homes is completely erroneous. The reader with limited knowledge of prison life in Walla Walla would get a misleading impression. The inmates are in fact confined in cells; cells with steel bars and locks which lock them in every

The inmates call their cell their "house." This is part of the inmate subculture language used to avoid the painful reality of their present situation. The word "cell" connotes oppression and ugliness, hence an attempt is made to avoid words that cause discomfort.

It was interesting to note Mr. Lunders' observation that "many residents seem totally satisfied." After many hours in discussion with the men on the tier I can recall no one who was even a little satisfied with his life in prison and certainly there was no one totally satisfied!

Mr. Lunders also neglected to mention that the program originated to meet a persistant drug problem at the prison. The therapy sessions, based on William Glaser's reality-therapy model, typically consist of discussions of inmate drug use. Mr. Lunders lacks an insight into the real needs and feelings of the inmates in the drug therapy program. It is not all fun and games for the 22 out of 1000 prisoners. It is a cold, unfeeling, painful existence.

Carol Hamlin Graduate Student-Soc. Dept.

To the Editor: professor seeks above all to be an Although not presently a student at

Students for Rose angered at vote

the University, but rather an employee, I have been keeping in contact with the current news concerning the University. A major problem that seems to be kept at the boiling point is the "Rose Affair" in the foreign language department. I would like to refer the followers of this concern to the "University of Idaho, Handbook of Policy and Procedure, p. 118 C. the section concerning ETHICS.

The professor, guided by a deep conviction of the worth and dignity of the advancement of knowledge. recognized the special responsibilities placed upon him. His primary responsibility to his subject is to seek and to state the truth as he sees it. To this end he devotes his energies to developing and improving his scholarly competence... (Sub-section A).

As a member of his institution, the effective teacher and scholar. (Subsection C)

Through the whole mess concerning the release of Mr. Rose, an instructor, I have noted that the student committee has repeatedly ask that Mr. Rose be re-instated merely because of his teaching ability. No one, to my knowledge, has ever doubted Mr. Rose's teaching ability, what seems to me to be the primary question is that Mr. Rose has failed to show any kind of scholarly advancement in the length of time that he has been employed by the University.

I feel that both sides of the "Rose Affair" should be made clear to all concerned so that everyone knows enough facts to make a decision that can as nearly as possible be made without bias or prejudice.

University of Idaho Alumni & University of Idaho Employee the moment all positions that become vacant in the University go into the Position Vacancy Pool. Hearings are being held to determine which positions will come out, which new ones might receive funding, and which ones remain in

Future planning needed NOW

The Faculty Council earlier this year gave an amount of priority toward a limbo for a while longer.

campus planner position will come out of the pool. Certainly, at least in my opinion, organized growth is of far greater importance than another faculty position. However, I am not the one that decides this and the question of whether Idaho will have a planning office or another faculty member for the money is still up

Dave Warnick

Basking in the sunshine

student is most eager to get back to school-because if there is one thing students dislike more than classwork it is regular work.)

But ASUI Senator Sandy McLeod has come forward with a solution, although it can hardly be carried out legislatively. Basically, his hypothesis is that under the proper circumstances a student can actually have his grades go up from fall semester to spring semester

Grades and first semester First semester, he says, most students attend class "at least once every two weeks" and so when a test comes up they don't think they really need to study. And their grades reflect this. Now spring semester, a student may not even attend class for a month. And so when the test comes, he gets worried and reads the book, and actually glances at someone else's notes. And his grade on the test shows the study.

So you can have your sunshine and eat it

But Senator McLeod's theories are not all optimistic: he has one especial postvacation frustration concerning a long involved mathematical equation about "Golden Ass." But you better let him explain that.

And then just after I get back from vacation I'm walking down Sixth Street, feeling that post-vacation vacuum acutely, and suddenly this omen or symbol hits me on the forehead like a mental two-by-four.

There's a bumpersticker on a light pole left over from Congressman Symms campaign (his name has washed off it) which says "Give America a Chance. And immediately beneath this is a poster from the Capricorn Ballroom with a picture of Mao Tse-Tung which advertises a group called "Fat Chance."

Rod Gramer

Tailored to fit the jocks

it will make the athletic program self-The administration and athletic department are arming themselves with sufficient," the administration received the last caliber of ammunition it needed 25 per cent of the votes in last February's athletic referendum in order to take the to snowball the Regents and the students results to the Regents and show that the at the same time. The students answered 77 per cent yes, 15 per cent no, and 13 per University students are behind them. To the question "do you favor making cent no opinion.

the university's athletic program essentially self-supportive financially, students responded 77 per cent yes, 15.7 per cent no, 7.3 per cent on opinion. "Do you favor an increase in student fees for the varsity athletic program," yes 7.8 per cent no 77 per cent, no opinion 3.6 per

Question Four asks "Do you support the effort to terminate Idaho's membership in the Big Sky Conference?", yes 54 percent, no 28 per cent, no opinion 18 per

On the final question: "Would you support the effort to terminate Idaho's membership in the Big Sky Conference if merely reading the carefully contrived

Of course the students would favor selfsupportive athletics, and logically in a time of anti-athletic spending, students wouldn't support more of their money spent on athletics.

And probably even the fourth and fifth question went as the athletic department

But the administration didn't reveal to the students publicly until an Argonaut interview with President Hartung on

Viewpoints

The Rose deal — get it straight

To the Editor:
The decision of the language faculty on their reconsideration of Alan Rose has been handed down from on high - a highhanded decision. The outcome of the vote reflects the disdainful ignorance of student interests that has been so glaringly exhibited by the majority of the language faculty throughout this folly. The vote this time was eight to two for dismissal as opposed to six to two the first time. This is the reaction we get for collecting over 1000 signatures on a petition to rehire and for persistently demonstrating our appreciation for Alan and the poverty of the reasons for dismissing him; the reaction reactionaries.

Loaded Questions on Ballot

were attached to the ASUI election ballot and at the time almost anyone could predict how the students would answer by

Last February these loaded questions

To understand our incredible disgust at their reaction, one should have attended the meeting we asked for with the faculty to discuss the affair, our effort to expose the reasons on both sides and deal with them reasonably. In the first place, only five out of the nine voting faculty members even attended. Drs. Reed, Rowe, Sita and Koubourlis (who sent an apology of sorts) failed to come and avail decision. In the second place, acting chairman Elizabeth Stevenson took the position that she would not discuss the issues with students; she was there only to listen, she would not respond. When told of the arrogant irresponse-ability of her stand, she responded with something to the effect that she didn't use new all tempera-Cheer either, belittling the use of words and avoiding the point.

themselves of student input in their

The point is that the language raculty, except for the refreshing responses made by Audrey Aaron and John Fiske, refused to come and reason together with the

The faculty's refusal to publicly justify its position leaves them open to the charge of arrogant ignorance and it leaves the decision unjustified. Apparently, reason cannot touch them through the insulation of their arrogance. It is becoming clear to me what does move such people. Students for Rose has re-organized. This situation is intolerable.

Mark Switzer

The other direct question is the worth in dollars to avoid planning blunders by doing the work now. Again this is only my opinion, but it seems to me it would be of great worth to this University to have professional planner/architect. Ken Hollett was able to examine plans and bids in order to find loose ends so that the University didn't get stuck with cheap shacks, it got buildings that would last a satisfactory length of time. This kind of work makes the Campus Planner's office pay for itself.

However, I think of even more importance is a statewide planning office in the Office of Higher Education. At this point a distinction needs to be made between physical planning and institutional planning.

Non-physical and Otherwise

The latter involves the coordinated growth of the non-physical items like programs and anticipation where the university is going to have to be heading in five or 10 or 20 years. The physical planning involves the building end of organized growth.

In the past, the state has lacked this organized growth within the entire system of higher education. Because of this, Boise State was made a four-year institution without thought to what kind of programs it would offer, from where the money for operation would come and what part in would play in the overall educational system in Idaho.

Two Schools Within 50 Miles Also because of this, a new vo-tec school has been started at Idaho Falls without regard to the fact that an existing vo-tec school is at Pocatello, only about 50 miles away.

And now, BSC is considering expansion to a second campus to be located in the Canyon County area. While this may be a very good move for the Treasure Valley, I doubt that anyone has given consideration to the impact on finances or programs in the overall state system.

With financial problems that aren't going to evaporate in the next few years and the ever increasing problem of how to provide high quality education in a small state like Idaho, it seems to me that the state board would do well to establish an overall state higher education planning

March 6 that the administration's view of self-supportive athletics is that when such a time comes, somehow the students would still be paying their fees towards sports.

Hartung continued in that interview that under self-supportive athletics "it may very well be that we would want to reassign, within the structure by internal bookkeeping, more money from student fees to the support of athletics than we are now using in appropriated funds.

Not Self Supportive In other words the administration expects that after getting out of the Big Sky, the athletic program cannot become self-supportive in the sense that student fees would not go into it. Actually on a selfsupportive basis in another league. expenses may run so high that more student fees would be taken away from one area and given to the athletic program.

This fact the athletic department so wisely concealed from the blind students who voted on last February's athletic referendum.

Only 54 per cent of the students want out of the Big Sky in Question Four. but that number jumps to 77 per cent when the athletic department adds the phrase "self-supportive" to entice the students into favoring a conference departure.

Comments Absurd Ed Knecht, athletic director, is already making absurd comments about the results on the referendum. "I'm glad to see that we have the continued support of the student body in our efforts to change conference affiliations. It may be assumed that the support of the students only come because of a list of loaded questions and because of the administrations tardiness in revealing that the term "self-supportive" may even mean more student money panhandled to the athletic program.

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT

THE IDAHO ARGONAUT is published by the Associated Students of the University of Idaho twice weekly

The offices are located in the basement of the Student Union Building, Deakin Avenue, Moscow 83843. THE IDAHO ARGONAUT is entered as second class postage at the post office Moscow, Idaho 83843.

Letters to the Editor may be accepted for publication provided they are properly submitted before 2 p.m. of the day preceding publication. All letters must be typewritten and are limited to a maximum length of 250 words. Letters to the Editor must be signed and the author's name and address must appear legibly. The uthor's name will be withheld from publication on request.

ROD GRAMER Associate Editor: BARB BALDUS Design Manager: WENDY YOUNGS News Editors: DORIS THOMAS LINDA HINRICHSEN Feature Writer

MARY SOCHINSKY

Staff Writers: JOHN LUNDERS KENTON BIRD MARY WELLAND HARRY SAWYER ELAINE AMBROSE JOAN ABRAMS

MARSHALL HALL Political Columnist: LOREN HORSELL

BETTY HANSEN DAVE WARNICK MARGI BIRDT RALPH KLIEM

Political Writers:

Entertainment: HM STACK ÍEFF STODDARD PAUL SPEER CHRIST VLACHOS Advertising Manager: STEVE BARGE Photographers: SCOTT HANFORD JIM HUGGINS CRAIG EVANS

Staff Artists: MIKE MUNDT LESLIE CRONKHITE

May plead guilty to drugcharges

There seems to be a lot of talk about drugs in the Moscow area including discussion about a recent preliminary hearing concerning $10,000 worth of

At the hearing that was held Tuesday,

Jay Barnett, a 32-year old Moscow resident, was held over on seven counts of possessing drugs and one count of possession of a drug with the intent to

The purpose of the preliminary hearing was to determine if the State of Idaho had sufficient evidence to hold Barnett over for trial for the possession of drugs with likely or probable intent to distribute or Enough evidence

Judge Ralph Haley declared that the state did produce enough evidence to hold

A variety of controlled substances was found in the Barnett automobile. These substances were identified by Robert

Dews, the chief of the forensic lab in

Boise, and the Washington State Police

Dews identified the drugs found in the Barnett vehicle as marijuana seeds and various barbituates. The barbituates were identified after Dews ran a dillekopymi test on the substances. This test is commonly used to detect the presence of barbituric acids. He also said that the seeds were marijuana after a

Amphetamines

drugs that they tested were several brands of commercially produced

Both barbituates and amphetamines

Besides Dews, the State of Idaho had several other witnesses. Neil Odenborg and Vern Boyd, both Moscow city police officers who assisted in the search of the

Barnett vehicle and discovery of the drugs, testified for the state. John Hall,

the forensic photographer for Latah

County who had taken a few pictures of the drugs as found by police officers

inside the defendent's car, also was a state's witness. A Moscow pharmacist,

Reuben Christensen, told the court the approximate strength of the drugs that Sits undisturbed

seemed undisturbed by the evidence the

Throughout the hearing, Barnett were used as evidence in the hearing.

are controlled substances by law.

The Washington State Police said the microscopic examination of the seeds.

Barnett on bond for trial.

lab in Spokane.

amphetamines.

drugs,

Guarding Moscow-Pullman from hijackers

By KENTON BIRD Argonaut Staff Writer

have

Ken

last a nd of office

t this made and nated

like

• the vsical

d this se of

-vear

ınd of e the Falls

n the i be a ley, I

ms in it the sh an

i such dents

wards

rview

ant to ternal

udent

ation

a self-ague.

more from hletic

nt so stuiary's want

r. but when hrase dents

ready

t the lad to ort of hange

ort of a list of the ealing v even dled to

•

. .

- ` **`

· ' " "

location.

There's never been a skyjacking at the Moscow-Pullman airport, and odds are there won't ever be one.

But Moscow-Pullman, just like every other airport in the country, has been required to institute new security procedures in an attempt to curb plane hijacking.

Federal Aviation Agency regulations that went into effect Feb. 6 require an armed law enforcement officer to be present during the boarding of all aircraft of major airlines.

And a small regional airport like Moscow-Pullman is no exception.

Security procedures Because the airport is served by a major airline, Hughes Airwest, the regulations apply here, just as they would in New York or Chicago. Security procedures at the local airport were described by Marvin R. Fuller, a Whitman County Deputy Sheriff and the airport's security officer. Fuller's headquarters is a Winnebago motor home parked just outside the airport terminal next to the boarding area. He retired from the US Army after 31 years on Feb. 1 and started work at the airport Feb. 6. He explained that when the FAA security regulation was adopted, the airport board had contacted the Whitman County sheriff's office and the Pullman Police Department about the possibility of their providing the security service. The county estimated it would cost approximately $40,000 annually to do the job, while the city figured from $23,000 to

Fuller, acting on his own, put in a bid of $14,000 a year which was accepted. He then had to meet the requirements of the Whitman County sheriff's office and become a deputy (to qualify as a bona-fide law enforcement officer.) Only then was

The officer emphasized that he is contracted to the airport and not to the airline. Other FAA regulations effective Jan. 6 require certain security procedures of the airlines themselves, Fuller said.

Search required All airlines are required to search all carry-on luggage and airlines who don't can be fined. Fuller cited the recent incident when a HS senator refused to be searched (claiming Congressional immunity) and the airline allowed him to board. The airline was later fined $1,000.

Anything not searched must be checked and carried in the luggage compartment of the airplane, Fuller added.

At Moscow-Pullman and most small airports, carry-on luggage (except for women's purses) are searched at the check-in counter and then brought out to the boarding area on a cart.

Magnetometer Passengers come out to board the plane and pass through an electronic device called a magnetometer. The magnetometer is a metal detector that signals any amount of metal of the magnitude of a weapon.

In the case of a person having a metal object such as a large key chain or a large belt buckle, the person is asked to remove the object and then pass through the magnetometer again to make sure that he has no weapon.

The passenger then picks up his carryon luggage and boards the plane. Sterile concourse

Larger airports, such as Spokane, have adopted a "sterile concourse" security plan, Fuller said. Under this system, all people are searched before entering the concourse, insuring the security of the total concourse and eliminating the necessity for searching at individual boarding areas.

Nationwide, the new regulations seem to be working. Since they went into effect, there have been no airplane hijackings, Fuller said. And most of the larger airports have found disposed of weapons near boarding areas, apparently when a would-be hijacker found out that he was going to be searched.

At the local airport, there have been no weapons discovered and no incidents since he has been there, Fuller said.

No arrests Fuller explained that he is mainly there on a stand-by basis. "I don't search and I don't run the magnetometer-I'm just here in case there should be any kind of trouble," he said.

And stand by he did. When boarding for a flight began, Fuller took a position between the magnetometer and the plane. maintaining it until the plane had safely taken off.

One thing the officer emphasized was that a person isn't arrested when he refuses to be searched-it isn't illegal. But the airline then has the right (and the responsibility) to refuse boarding to that

Cascade exempt Another aspect is the fact that the regulations apply only to major airlines. Fuller's duties are involved only with Hughes Airwest departures. Cascade Airlines, which also serves Moscow-Pullman, is exempted from the regulations because they're not a major carrier, Fuller said. Cascade is on its own and doesn't check luggage or search its passengers.

"The reasoning behind this is that the smaller airline's planes don't have the range to make a hijacking feasible," Fuller said. "Of course, the Hughes planes that fly in here don't have the range either, but they're a major Skyjacking possible .

Theoretically, the only danger of a skyjacking here is the possibility of someone who would take one of these planes to some larger airport such as Spokane, and then attempt to make a 'connection' there.

"The odds are against it, but it's still possible." Fuller said. "That's why I'm

The officer said Moscow-Pullman's security system has been inspected by the Airport board and the FAA, both of whom found it a satisfactory arrangement.

"It does slow down the check-in and boarding," Fuller said. "But most people take it good-naturedly — they're most happy that someone has finally done something to stop airplane hijacking."

(Continued from Page 1)

Speaker: George L. Sherry, Principal Officer, Office of The Secretary General of the United Nations; Introduced by Clive Strong.

Panel: H. R. Mahood, Senator Len B. Jordan, Jerome Scolnick, George L. Sherry, William Rusher, Boyd A. Martin, Robert Hosack, Ray Stark. Harry Caldwell - Moderator.

12:00 noon

No-Host Luncheon for Speakers (public is invited) Silver Room.

1:15 p.m.

Topic: "The Conclusions on the 1973 Symposium on Power as a Cause of War and a Solution for Panel: Senator Len B. Jordan, H. R. Mahood, Majid Khadduri, William Rusher, Wilma Scott Heide, Jerome Scolnick, George L. Sherry, Robert Smith, Ray Stark, Robert Hosack -Moderator.

Mort's Club

state, represented by J.D. Williams from the Attorney General's office and Pete Leriget, Latah's prosecuting attorney, brought against him.

Photographs of the drugs in the defendent's car, notes that are assumed by the prosecution to belong to Barnett concerning the sale of drugs, as well as the drugs found in the car were among the state's evidence.

According to Leriget, Barnett may decide not to have a trial by jury but rather plead guilty. This may lead to a reduced or lessened sentence

. Judge Haley asked that separate accommodations be arranged for the defendent at the county jail.

Utilities commissioner finds railroad signals adequate

"Moscow, Idaho is one of the best signalized towns in the state," concluded James B. Barham, an Idaho Public Utilities Commissioner in town this week to check out complaints of dangerous railroad crossings.

"In what I've observed, it appears that the city and the railroads and the college have done everything there is to be done. Barham announced after two days of inspection. He spoke to media representatives Wednesday at a meeting organized by Moscow Traffic Safety Committee Chairman Cecil Hathaway.

The representative from the state's regulatory agency on railroads had been informally invited to Moscow to inspect safety equipment by City Engineer Bill Smith after two accidents, one fatality, and several verbal complaints about train intersections in the last four months.

From his investigation and past conferences throughout the state, Barham blamed car drivers, not the railroads, for any danger at crossings. To back up his argument, he handed out state information leaflets on safe driving.

Lights defended Barham said the signals activate when a train is 900 feet from the Sixth St. intersection, denied the possibility of a power failure since there are reserve generators, claimed trains travelling through towns go no faster than the regulation 12 miles per hour, and asserted 'nothing can go wrong unless a light bulb happens to burn out." He explained that a dead bulb would be replaced immediately by train crews and thus would not create a Police Chief Clark Hudson agreed that the signal lights have been working properly but said he had no actual evidence concerning signals, warning bells, or turn speeds at the Sixth Street crossing on the night of Dec. 10 when Moscow High School student Becky Sullivan was fatally injured.

Smith added that intersection changes had been discussed with railroad officials from Spokane. Proposals include removing sight obstructions, connecting the two sets of signals at Sixth St. so a train on either the Burlington Northern or Union Pacific tracks would activate all lights, replacing standard signal bulbs with new ones of higher intensity, and talking to train engineers about their conduct through town.

Motorist in attention

In response to motorist in attention when signals run needlessly for long periods of time in a switching area. Smith said the Moscow Police force will be firmer in impressing drivers that it's a violation not to stop at any flashing red Barham insisted that the Sixth and Third St. intersections needed no extra attention because of heavy use by students and University personnel while claiming that he was "unaware of traffic patterns.

"All intersections deserve special consideration, "he insisted.

Admitting he would return if there was more detailed railroad criticism or if a formal citizen's complaint signed by a county commissioner reached the utility commission's Boise headquarters. Barham said he was satisfied with his inspection here. "I don't believe we have anything to go to a public hearing on," he

New ASUI senate takes over

The assorted players of that grand old institution-ASUI-gathered together Tuesday to witness the final act of Administration Eiguren and the entrance of Wurster and Co.

The Academy Awards were nothing compared to the thank-yous and laudatory phrases of the outgoing officers.

Mike Krieg congratulated Roy Eiguren and Mel Fisher on "the best year ASUI has ever had."

Out with the old... In his final farewell, Eiguren remarked that it was a very good year.

"We have been fairly successful in getting our programs accomplished," he said and enumerated several major breakthroughs. Consumer complaint bureau, voter registration drive, the passage of that "important document" the Code of Conduct and the Outdoor Recreation Office were among the items

Then, it was time for the old senators to take their final bows. The new officers of 73-74 rushed onstage, and the fledglings were officially installed.

Fisher should have received Best Actor or at least one for Good Sportsmanship as he watched Carl Wurster accept the title of ASUI President.

Nitty gritty Greg Casey led the applause as Mike Mitchell was sworn in, but then betrayed his true feelings by shooting an imaginery machine gun. He shouldn't worry though; old senators don't die, they become Public Relations men.

The gavel weilded by Mitchell startled the audience and opened the play with a bang. The senate got down to the nitty

The first thing the senate did was to suspend the rules, as Dave Warnick of Faculty Council (ex-officio member) presented his resolution on tenure.

This three page resolution covered responses to current issues raised by the Board of Regents and State Board of Education.

Freedom vs. protection

A conflict of definitions was argued by Eiguren and John Orwick who differed over the meaning of tenure. According to Eiguren, it means academic freedom. Orwick disagreed and said tenure means protection of the old guard to remain in

Moscow

MORT'S

Wants You

114 E. 5th

power and stifle brighter younger. professors.

The resolution passed the Senate. It provides for a 50 to 55 per cent quota of tenured faculty, "very little" change in promotion policy. The "up or out"

Sauna planned for women's gym

An sauna bath will be added to the women's gymnasium this summer; according to Dr. Edith Betts, director of the women's physical education department.

It will accomodate 8-12 people. and will be available to all college women and female faculty members. "We'll hopefully have it finished by the time summer school starts, but if not, it will be done by next fall," she stated.

The men's sauna had a problem with condensation a few weeks ago. but the problem has been corrected and it is open for business according to Dr. Leon Green, head of the physical education department.

principle that figured in the recent Alan Rose controversy is continued

Warnick thinks there should be more rigorous standards and procedures for attaining tenure "in a sense"

We recommend that standards and procedures for granting tenure be modified to allow non-tenured faculty and students voting rights."

Mike Mitchell ended the opening night with a request to the secretary that no one screw around on her desk anymore.

Runner-up to this remark was Wurster's query to his vice president after boldly seconding a motion. ''Can I do that?" he asked.

> RESEARCH MATERIALS All Topics Send for your descriptive, up-to-date, 128-page, mail order catalog of 2,300 quality research papers. Enclose $1.00 to cover postage and handling.

RESEARCH UNLIMITED 519 GLENROCK AVE., SUITE 203 LOS ANGELES, CALIF. 90024 (213) 477-8474 • 477-5493 "We need a local salesman"

"EINSTEIN STOMP"

You are invited to the "EINSTEIN STOMP" sponsored by Forney and Upham Halls. Dress is grubby

music by SNICKERS.

Saturday March 31 in the Upham Cafeteria. 9-12 p.m.

//www.commencescommencescommencescom/

The Argonaut Inquisition

I have been ripped off. For five bucks. By the MPD and the U. For parking in the alleged alley thru the parking lot opposite the Perch. There were no "no parking" signs to warn me off; I had parked there with impunity, in that very same alleged alley, at least once a week all last semester. MPD informed me, on Jan. 30, the day after the crime, that it (and the city) have no responsibility to put up signs on campus, that's the U's job; they see their duty as simply ripping people off. However, declared officer gesture of good will, he would inform the sign-erecting campus authorities of the signing oversight for the benefit of the future would-be alleged alley parkers. Fine, said I, as I ante'd up the Guess what? As of Feb. 28, there were still no signs in the alleged alley. Inquisitor, tell me, is all of this JUST? Could officer goodwill have been genuine? Are the campus authorities out to lunch. Is our revered student government competent to intervene fruitfully in a case of this import or complexity?

Well. JMR. after talking with the "sign-erecting campus authorities" or in other words, the campus Traffic Committee, we would call to your attention Section B-8 from the Campus Traffic and Parking Regulations. It is copied directly from the city ordinance and the leaflet is available with parking stickers each year. Parking is prohibited at all times in all alleys, access ways, service roads, sidewalks, crosswalks, loading zones and yellow curbs: within 10 feet in either direction of all fire hydrants; on lawns or grass; in spaces marked for the handicapped, state vehicles or visitors. With such clear printing. Traffic Committee Chairman Roger Wallins told us that for ecological reasons signs are often being left out when considered unnecessary. If his group feels there is a problem with a particular area, it will have a sign put up, but it's then a time-consuming process through the physical plant. The Traffic Committee reviewed your complaint, JMR. and decided that since it was the only one that had come up. they couldn't justify letting you off — or adding a sign in that

Send your University hassles to the Editor's office at the Argonaut. The Inquisition will get it out of them. . .

EDUCATION FOR AN INTERNATIONAL WORLD Degree programs in International Business Administration Modern Languages, Pol/Soc Sciences, General Studies (BA). Math/Science (BS). Computer Science.

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SWITZERLAND LEYSIN 4. SWITZERLAND

> Europe-wide Field Research, Study Tours of at the doorstep. International Student Body ALPINE CAMPUS ABOVE LAKE GENEVA

Faculty considers tenure, instructor

Tenure and competency review was endorsed by the General Faculty at their meeting Wednesday.

The faculty with moderate debate passed the Faculty Council proposal which endorses the concept of faculty review and several other changes in the tenure system.

Also approved was the addition of a new professorial rank, "senior instructor." Define tenure

One of the parts of the proposal which was debated at the meeting concerned the Council's definition of tenure. "Tenure is not a guarantee of lifetime employment, but is defined as a contractual guarantee that a person will not be dismissed without adequate cause with the burden of proof on the educational institution."

Robert Furgason, professor of chemical engineering objected to the definition. He amended it so the phrase, "not a guarantee of lifetime employment" came at the end of the definition.

William Greever, professor of history and a member of the Ad-Hoc committee which had drawn up the proposal submitted to Faculty Council, who amended it and sent it to the General Faculty defended the definition. "We need it to convince the politicians,' Greever said

The amendment was defeated on a voice vote.

Faculty review

The other item of the proposal which inspired debate was "The Committee for Faculty Review." Edson Peck, professorof physics asked. "Why do we need a Committee for Faculty Review? It seems to me that we are saying administrators are not doing their job.'

The Committee for Faculty Review as proposed by Faculty Council would consist of one administrator, four faculty members, three undergraduates, and one graduate student. It would review faculty members every seven years, and recommend to his department whether the department should conduct a review

Peck questioned the purpose of so many faculty committees which were keeping them from teaching and research.

Robert Kessel, professor of office administration and business education also opposed the proposal saying, "The problems have been brought about by weak-kneed administrators.

Opposed tenure Edith Betts, professor of physical education came out opposed to the entire concept of tenure. She said, "For every person who has been protected under tenure, many people have been kept who shouldn't have been.

Rising to defend the proposal, Robert Hosack,professor of political science, pointed out that her area was considerably less controversial than such disciplines as his own.

"Tenure is an attempt to guarantee your personal honesty and academic integrity," said Hosack. He pointed out that history was on tenure's side, and cited as one example the many dismissals following World War I by major institutions of faculty who later carved out world-wide reputations.

Ends debate

Dobler concluded the debate, answering questions concerning students on the committee which would review, or recommend reviews of faculty. "I always thought that the customer has a say in what he bought."

The proposal passed as put forward by Faculty Council and will now be sent to the Board of Regents next week for consideration as guidelines.

A public hearing on tenure at which this proposal, a student proposal and various other thoughts on tenure will be heard is scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday, April 3, in

Senior instructor

The senior instructor proposal will also be sent to the Regents. It passed on a voice vote at the meeting Wednesday, after opposition by Professor Greever.

"The faculty now, with an insistence on a PhD. is a better faculty for it," said Greever. He opposed it on several grounds and concluded, "A person has to be something more than just a good

The senior instructor position would be for faculty members who do not have the necessary requirements to advance from instructor to Assistant Professor, but do have outstanding teaching ability.

Two sides to proposal

0

The position, which under the proposal would be tenureable, would also be terminal: in other words, a faculty member could not advance beyond senior instructor. The system is presently in operation at the University of Oregon in a slightly different form.

Paul Dierker, associate professor of mathematics, one of the Faculty Council members who proposed it, stated, "This would fill a gap which now exists in the

He went on to say, "As things now stand you must be a research person to stay at the University." He contended this position would alleviate that problem. Seen as solution

Dean Elmer Raunio of the College of Letters and Science saw it as a solution to the problems encountered with the "up or out" rule which was adopted in the last

"The intent of "up or out" was to keep departments from keeping people as instructors forever," said Raunio. But, he said, "The up or out rule has not functioned the way it was supposed to." Other items passed by the General

Faculty besides the senior instructor proposal was a policy concerning admission of non-faculty to General Faculty meetings, and a policy establishing open committee meetings except in those cases involving personnel

Montana-Idaho soccer game

The University of Idaho soccer team has already started its spring season. Practices have been held three times a week since the beginning of February, and the team won two games against Washington State earlier this year.

This Saturday Idaho takes on the University of Montana. They are last year's Northwest Intercollegiate Soccer League Champions. The University of Montana has a very strong team, and they

UCLA title

"I'm a happy guy," UCLA's giant Bill Walton said to a fan. "My ankle hurts, but

I'll live. We won it again, that's what

Those were the words of Bill Walton as the UCLA Bruins left the basketball floor

at St. Louis Monday evening with another

National Collegiate Athletic Association

title. This makes UCLA's ninth National

"I've never seen Walton so emotionally ready," said John Wooden, head coach.

"With the defense they were using, we would have been foolish not to toss it to Walton, the 6-foot-11 redhead, hit an amazing 21 of 22 shots Monday for a record 44 points with 13 rebounds in the

This gives Woodens Bruins a winning streak of 75 consecutive wins, and 36

successive NCAA Tournament games against the finest competition in the

Coach Gene Bartow of the Memphis

State Tigers summed it all up by saying,

'They're truly national champions.

Walton is about as physical a big man as

I've ever seen. He's super. He did so many things so well that we just couldn't stop him. He's the best collegiate player

So ends another fabulous year of College Basketball. The question remains

'Will Walton be back next year?" He has two choices: Walton can return for his senior year at UCLA in an endeavor to lead the Bruins to another Championship

in 1974, or his second to concede to a reputed $2 million, tax paid, price for 1973-

Coach Wooden states he'll be back, but the answer lays inside a 6-foot-11 redhead

OPEN 6:45

Bruins 87-66 win over Memphis State.

title in 10 years.

Bill at every chance.'

I've ever seen.'

74 pro-availability.

named, "Bill.

Sun.-Sat. March 25-31 7-9 P.M. PG all seats $1.50

"STEELYARD BLUES"

KENWORTHY THEATRE - MOSCOW

Jane Fonda Donald Sutherland in have always been Idaho's toughest opponent in the league.

Before the game Saturday the Idaho team will hand over the league troph to the Montana team. Idaho won it in the fall of 1971, but lost it to Montana last fall.

Saturday's game may prove to be exciting if not competitive. It begins at 2 p.m. in the New Idaho Stadium, so don't

"Time of Wonder," "Living

Wilderness" and "The Olympic Elk" will be shown today at 7:30 p.m. in Moose

Saturday and Sunday, Horsemen's

Short Course will be held at the Animal

Industries Pavilion on campus.

Registration is at 8 a.m. Saturday. The fee is $6 per person. Saturday at 9 p.m.

a western dance will be held in Moose

The Upham-Forney Einstein Stomp

will be held Saturday, March 31 at 9 p.m. in the Upham Cafeteria. Music wil be provided by "Snickers". Dress is

The Palouse Audubon Society will sponsor an all day field trip to Genesee

Pond, Covote Grade, and Spalding Park

beginning at 8 a.m. Sunday in front of the Life Science Building. Bring a lunch.

All interested persons are invited to

The Soccer team has a game with U of Montana, today at 2 p.m. at the new stadium. All Idaho players must meet at

Coffee house will be open from 9

People to People is having a

The University Library will conduct a bargain book sale Monday from 8 a.m.

to 10 p.m. The sale will be held in the Reserve Reading area. Approximately

2,500 books will be sold at an average of 25 cents each on a first come - first

spaghetti feed for all foreign students

Sunday at 5 p.m. in the SUB Dipper.

1:15 p.m. in the gym.

p.m. to midnight tonight

Sunday --

Monday -

Music is by Rayn.

served, cash only basis.

grubby, and everyone is invited.

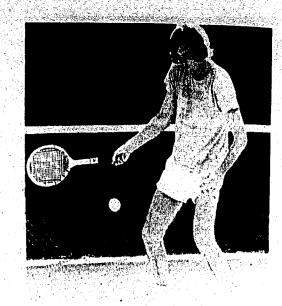

Friday --

Saturday --

Sunday --

Lodge, 210 N. Main.

Exceptional tennis players

Did you know Idaho has a Big Sky Conference team with a record of 56 wins and one loss over the past eight years? Now, is anyone for tennis?

"For the past seven years we've been the Big Sky Conference champions," said Jeff Williams, coach. Williams has been the tennis coach for the past three years.

Reigning as "Coach of the Year" for the past two years, Williams is a 1970 graduate of Idaho and played for the U of I tennis team during his four years here. He was the Big Sky Conference champion in singles for three years running and held the same record as champion in doubles

Five Wins

This year the tennis team holds a five win and one loss record with their only loss coming in a close game against the National Junior College Champions, Mesa Community College at Phoenix, Arizona.

Williams seems to have an experienced team of veterans to rely on this year. Jeff Oates, junior, plays the number one position on the squad, and holds a five win and one loss record in individual singles action. "Jeff Oates is the player to ever compete in the Big Sky Conference," said Williams. The agile junior hails from Sacramento, California and is captain of the team.

Number Two Man

At Idaho

Playing the number two man on the squad is senior, Steve Schulman of Sacramento, California. Schulman claims a record of four wins and two losses in singles play. Not lacking in experience or skill, Schulman is a Big Sky champion in doubles play for the Vandals.

A new program in a weekly series of open rap sessions will be held Monday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the Women's Center, Ad 109, and will continue on Monday afternoons through the

Dr. Porter and Dr. Bartesch will

Bible Studies will meet in the Campus Christian Center at noon and at

1 p.m. to discuss the "Old Testament."

Tuesday's topic is the "Gospel of

Andrew Graham and Perry

Blackshear will be on campus today to discuss Oxford and Rhodes scholarships. All interested students and faculty are invited to meet them in the F.O.B. lounge at 4 p.m. for informal

U of I Rally Squad will hold practices and tryouts for the 73-74 squad April 2,

3, 4, and 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Women's Gym in the gymnastics room.

For further information call Tony Smith,

885-6766, or Penne Bailey, 882-7548.

The Borah Symposium will be April 2 to 4. Any living group, organization or people on campus interested in inviting a Borah Symposium speaker for dinner, or for an informal chat session.

World's Citizens Circle will meet at noon Tuesday, April 3, in the Campus

Christian Center, All foreign students and anyone interested are invited.

Mid-term grades are now available from the Registrar's Office, in the Ad.

Please come and bring your lunch.

please call 885-6527.

Coming Up --

Office Building.

discussion.

explore the topic of chemistry and the environment at 1 p.m. in the Kiva:

Interested persons are invited.

The number three man for the U of I is Daryl Smith, senior. He is originally from Bakersfield, California, and has earned a five win and one loss record this season. Smith was also a conference champion in singles play last year.

Playing in the fourth position for the Vandals in junior, Richard Morales, of San Diego, California. Morales has taken a five and one record this year in the singles category.

Undeafeated Man

The only undefeated man on the squad is Tom Leonard, junior. The Boise man holds a six win record in singles at the number five spot.

Conference champion in singles action is sophomore, Bill Benson, This season he has a four win and two loss record, and he comes to the Vandals from Roseburg.

"We have an excellent chance of repeating as champions in the Big Sky." said Williams. "We'll receive our toughest competition from Boise this vear." he added. Boise is putting more funds into financing tennis than any other team in the conference. "It will be a matter of time before they become a dominant power in tennis." stated Williams.

Based on the past performance of the Idaho club, some good matches can be expected this season. "I believe the NCAA championships may have some Idaho players attending," said Williams.

Idaho will play Gonzaga University this Sunday at Spokane. Now that you know a little something about an excellent team with a fantastic record, why don't you come out and observe?

Sports Topics

By MARSHALL HALL

I believe there should be a big round of applause for a new record established by the Wounded Knee Clan. After holding out for nearly one month, they're maintaining a meat boycott.

Reasonable government sources have been trying to convince me that it isn't that they don't like meat, but that they don't have any, although I know this is a clever CIA plot against the American Indian Movement.

One government official thought he could get logical with me and asked if they were sustaining themselves on an all vegetable diet. I replied that it was actually a month long fast, because the AIM was also continuing the lettuce boycott, and what is a salad without lettuce.

The AIM has gone to great expense for reasons of maintaining privacy. For example, the hiring of 300 federal marshals to screen individuals entering Wounded Knee is expected to eliminate "undesirables." One fact you may find interesting is that the entire demonstration is funded by the Indians and that the government is taking no steps to subsidize the project.

There have been rumors that shots have been exchanged between the marshals and members of the AIM. This is pure horse hockey, because a friend of my cousin told me that rifle competition was underway at a nearby rifle range. Strange how these silly rumors get started, most likely due to unreliable news sources.

Negotiations between Wounded Knee occupants and government officials seem fruitless. The boycott is expected to continue until meat prices drop. Government spokesmen persist to negotiate on the wrong things, which just makes the situation

If you wish to remain informed of the Wounded Knee details, read your local newspapers, although factual information will not be as accurate.

Summer positions

The Career Planning & Placement Center has a number of summer jobs in locations throughout Idaho available for students. Interested students should come to the Placement Center. Faculty Office Building, to obtain further information.

The following is a list of jobs which are now open:

Twin Falls - One position opens in mid-June for summer reporter intern at $1.75 to $2 per hour. Requirements: Ability to write intelligently and ability to type. Contact: Dick Highs, Times-News, P. O. Box 548, Twin Falls, ID 83301.

St. Anthony - One position for Traffic Director, Salary open. Requirements: Interested in understudy for Traffic Director, also part-time news reporter, to gather and write news in mornings and spend afternoons with traffic work. Contact: T. W. Austim, KIGO Radio, St. Anthony, ID 83445.

Nampa --- Three to four hundred positions as plant and agriculture laborer at $2.37 per hour Requirements: Average skills. Hiring May 10 to June 1 and August 15 to September 15. Contact: Douglas A. Anderson, Birds Eye Division -General Foods, P. O. Box 337, Nampa, ID 83651

Caldwell -- Two positions for Announcer. Requirements: Third class FCC License. Announcer to Newscast, do weather, and Sports casting. Contact: Dale Peterson, KCID Radio, P O. Box 1175, Caldwell, ID 83605.

Moscow - One position for first of April as Management Trainee to dispatch trucks, people and equipment. Need accounting and supervisor ability. Salary open. Contact: Sherman Dionne

Central Pre-Mix Concrete Co., 237 W

Eighth Moscow, ID 83843. Moscow — One position for Electronics Technician to operate and maintain a Photon photo typesetter. Needs working knowledge of electronics. One position for Posting Clerk with basic knowledge of bookkeeping. One position for an Advertising Salesman. One position for a Keyboard Operator. Needs to type 60 wpm. All positions permanent. Contact:

A. J. Marineau, News Review Publishing Co., Moscow, ID. 83843. Rexburg - Two positions for Pressmen needed immediately Need mechanical and supervisory ability. To become production foreman. Contact: Arthur L. Porter, Art Porter Printing

Inc., Rexburg, ID. Boise - Two positions for Summe Intern to open June 1. Need familiarization with newspaper operation. Prefer journalism majors. Contact: Steve Ahrens, The Idaho Stateman, P. O. Box 40, Boise, ID

83707 Mountain Home - Several positions for general laborer for general activities around a fertilizer plant. Positions in Meridian, Melmont. Mountain Home, Grandview, and Glenns Ferry for summer. Contact Dwain Mooso, Simplot Soil Builders, P O. Box 610, Mt. Home, ID 83647.

Lewiston - One position for Accounting Clerk Need to be able to operate 10-key calculator and find errors. Summer job at $400 to $450 per month, open June 10. Contact Raymond G. Speer, Speer Incorporated, 1023 Snake River Avenue, P. O. Box 896, Lewiston, ID 83501.

Jobs list will be printed in each Friday issue of the Arg.

•A Naval Avuatir, a Nuclear Submariner, a Navy Line Officer, a Marine Officer

FOR A SHORT PERIOD OF TIME THE NAVY ROTC UNIT AT THE UNIVER-SITY OF IDAHO WILL BE ACCEPTING CANDIDATES TO JOIN THIS FALL'S JUNIOR CLASS. SELECTED APPLICANTS WILL ATTEND A SIX WEEK INSTI-TUTE AT NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND THIS SUMMER.

- •NO RESTRICTION ON MAJOR •SCHOLARSHIPS ABAILABLE
- •FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT THE ADMINISTRA-

Come, See Them at

TX750 750cc

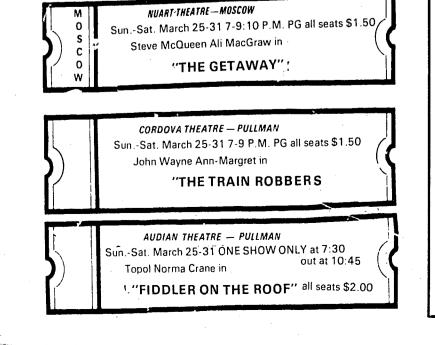

Widman's Sport Center

(by Rathskellers)

GO NAVY

Be Something Special

- DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION 20 APRIL.
- TION OFFICE AT THE NAVY BUILDING OR CALL 885-6333.

Lack of art displays on campus raises questions

Observing the appearance of buildings on campus; everything from the futuristic looking KIVA to the various ivy-covered gothic structures, the gray goden drama, journalism and satellite SUB buildings and the plain, functional appearance of the residence halls all interspersed with trees, grass and an occasional shrub, diversity in architecture on the U of I campus does not seem lacking. At the same time, people have understandably complained about the lack of art with true aesthetic value on this and other campuses.

George Roberts, chairman of the art department at the U of I, outlined several reasons why art is, has been and probably will continue to be absent in any appreciable quantity from the capus. He said sculptures, which are the primary outdoor art form, have to be commissioned by a body such as the Student Union, the University or a group of interested citizens. And this doesn't happen very often since art is so expensive and is generally given low priority. He added that people ask art students and faculty to donate paintings and sculpture and don't realize that they put money (often large amounts) into ted

U

The following poem was written while the author was stationed in Vietnam.

Coming on is a morning cloud son of the red sunrise mated with the jagged mountain tops and wed by the early morning bird to the melody of his favorite song.

The dark faced child is quickly maturing and walks hand in hand with the fresh faced midday breeze.

Theirs is a small, private wedlock performed to the deep bass of thunder and their offspring, soon to arrive shall be a combination of menacing power and caressing coolness.

As the forest curtain opens an extraordinary creature is born and before my eyes is a wet-lipped beauty.

The afternoon rain is swiftly upon me commanding with her force and stirring me with slippery kisses.

As I tire into the night and nod away the afternoon rain becomes a midnight storm awakening me from time to time and offering overpowering love until I again drift into sleep.

Then as the dawn slowly creeps into presence I am gently aroused and loved to the fragrance of morning dew.

And I shall witness every sunrise and search every stirring sky for a trace of the morning cloud that will release the passion of my rain streaked love.

William L. Davidson

Summer school offered in Scandinavian countries

Many students may not be aware of the possibilities that exist for the summer study in Scandinavian countries. Several Scandinavian universities offer summer courses taught in English. These are special programs for students from all countries offered promarily in the liberal

One example is the University of Oslo International Summer School in Norway which gives a general introduction to Norwegian life and culture. It is a sixweek course usually held from the end of June to the first week of August. In addition to liberal arts there is special language instruction in the Norwegian.

Courses in physical education, public health services, urban and regional planning, economic planning, public administration, peace research, industrial planning and labor management are also offered. U.S. applicants should have completed their sophomore year of college.

Housing is provided by the university, but students can arrange their own. Unless students can live with relatives or friends, private housing will be more expensive and very difficult to obtain.

The university is located in a nice part of Oslo. Students will have many opportunities for outdoor life and recreation in Oslo and its surroundings. Night life at "Chateau Neuf", the huge student tavern is available

Summer school programs similar to that at the University of Oslo are also offered at Danish and Swedish universities.

Any interested students can get information and application forms from the following places:

American Scandinavian Foundation 127 East 73 St

New York. N.Y. 10021

Especially for Oslo Summer School

Norwegian Information Service New York, N.Y. 10022

European charter

Eight more people are needed on the annual round trip charter flight to Europe, according to Mrs. Imogene Rush of Programs Office.

The flight will leave Seattle on June 7 and return by way of Amsterdam on Aug. 20. Rush quoted $240 as a "very good price" for the 13-hour plane trip over the pole. She noted that there has been a 6 per cent increase in the American Airlines package, and that a one-way adult ticket has been $400.

Martinair is the airline sponsor for this trip as it has been for the past five years. Not structured

This will not be a structured group tour. The group scatters across Europe and reconvenes in Amsterdam Aug. 20.

Rush has relevant literature in her office for anyone going abroad. There are pamphlets on Eurorail, SOFA car plan ("Everything you need to know to Purchase, Lease, or Rent a foreign car abroad") plus information on where to stay, where to eat, and where to to meet other students.

Low-cost emphasis

The International, Student Travel Conference has a booklet that lists suggested tours. The emphasis is naturally on low-cost, individual participation.

Anyone interested in spending the summer in Europe and taking advantage of the relatively inexpensive way of getting there is urged to contact Rush at the Programs Office, 885-6484, as soon as

COFFEE HOUSE

March 31 - Sat. Night 9 - 12 p.m.

Featuring: Chuck Jenkins from BSC

their works and somtimes need the artworks to get into graduate school or to get a job. This creates a situation where the students have to spend almost all of their time and money working for credit.

Another negative factor in displaying art around campus is vandalism. Roberts cited several cases where art displays have been ripped off by vandals in the past including one instance when up to one fourth of the exhibits of one display in the Vandal lounge were stolen. Roberts said that insurance costs for displaying art when theing like these occur is

Roberts explained that the SUB has a joint student-faculty committe appointed to buy artworks for the SUB. Artworks owned by the Student Union include a lead map of the campus above the SUB information desk which was made by Alfred Dunn of the Art Department, portraits of chief Joseph and chief Lawyer done by Howard Cook of New Mexico in the Chief's room of the SUB, a collection of prints by Charlie Russell, a portrait of former U of I president Theophilus by Mary Kirkwood , weaving which appears above the stairway between the first and second floors, and "Joe Vandal," a sculpture of a vandal warrior that Roberts did twelve years ago which appears in the Vandal lounge. Other works by Roberts include the sculpture of the dancer in the women's gym, works in the SAE and Gamma Phi houses, and the massive wood sculpture between the library and the UCC which had to be lowered into place by crane.

Several murals have been done aroung campus in recent years such as the one on the stairway walls of the Mines building depicting the elements and man taking his sustenance from the earth. That was done as a class project by Sidney Grubb, an art student, last year. The mural on the basement wall of the SUB between the senate and the argonaut office was done by another art student, Victory von Reynolds, also as a class project. The painting took him more than a semester to complete. Murals in the agriculture building and the library were done by Mary Kirkwood, and the aluminum piece on the side of the Newman Center was done by Dick Sullivan. Both are former Idaho art students.

Roberts described the SUB art collection as being "pretty slim" and pointed out that in the past, Idaho has been more active than many other schools including WSU in the art department. Now WSU has a huge gallery with a director which cost a tremendous amount of money. He said that future plans for the extension of art at Idaho include the conversion of the former site of the University museum into an art gallery (if the University decides to allot the money for it) and murals to be painted by art students in both the physics and music buildings. A plan to do a hanging mural around the curved stairway in the library was vetoed by the university because they felt that the cost was excessive.

Theatre needs black players

"A Statement of Values," a play written by Moscowite Tom Scherett, is on the dramatic agenda for this spring. According to Ed Britt, who will be directing the show, there are several parts for black actors and actresses. Britt also stressed that acting exper ience is not necessary.

Try-outs for "A Statement of Values" will be on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 3 & 4, at 4 p.m. in the U-Hut. The cast will consist of 16 members both black and white - anyone interested in being in the production is invited to the try-outs. According to Britt, the play is basically a comedy dealing with the U.S. Army and the women's liberation movement.

Chess fever strikes U of I

Has the chess epidemic hit Moscow? Has the fever that grew from the World Chess Championship games held last year in Reykjavik been contagious among students at the University of Idaho? Are there those on campus who have secret Walter Mitty dreams of being Bobby Fischer? Or has Moscow proved to be relatively immune to the chess bug?

Sale of chess books at the Student Union Building bookstore indicates that chess is very popular at the U of I. Jean Gregory, paper-back manager at the bookstore says that all the chess books the store carries sell "very quickly." She estimates that around twenty books on chess are sold monthly. The selection includes such titles as Modern Ideas in Chess, Common Sense in Chess, and Bobby Fischer Teaches Chess. Christmas rush Downtown stores report a Christmas rush on the sale of chess sets. Since then the demand has decreased.

The Chess Club on campus is not a fair representation of the game's popularity. Right now there are only ten members. The number is small probably because not enough people are aware that the club exists. It does exist, meeting every Tuesday night at 7:00 in the Blue Room of the SUB.

The club has affiliation with the United States Chess Federation. However, that does not make it a rigidly organized club. According to Dan Browne, a member, the club is just "a place where chess players can meet and play chess." He urges "any chess-nuts hiding around to come out and play." Girls especially are invited to join; all ten of the present members of the club are male. If you don't know how to play the game, but are interested in learning, someone will be there to teach you.

Tournaments

There are several opportunities for players to compete in tournaments. One such event, the "U of I Tornado Chess Tournament" was held last weekend. The contest, organized by Browne and Ron Dieke, attracted 16 players. Entry fees of one dollar were collected and used as prize money.

A similar event is scheduled for April 13-14. Called the "Idaho Open Tournament," it will be held at the SUB. Registration is the 13th, and the entry fee is two dollars. Again the fees will be used as prize money. Last semester a speed chess tournament was held in which thirty players participated. Hopefully that number can be reached again for contests this semester.

Area contests

Going up the scale there are the Idaho Chess Club Regionals and the Northwest Regional Tournament. Both have already been played this year. Thirteen colleges sent twenty two-man teams to the Northwest Tournament which was held at WSU. The U of I sent two teams, one of which, Dieke-Browne, placed third. WSU captured the championship.

Inter-departmental chess matches are another way in which players get together. A recent game between the physics department and the law school resulted in a 41/2 to 21/2 victory for the physics students. The winners extend a challenge to any department that is interested in taking them on.

Some people have speculated that chess has Freudian implications. But, as Dan Browne puts it, "There aren't that many die-hard chess freaks around." So, the popularity of chess on campus probably stems from simple enjoyment of the game rather than the desire to kill one's father or fantasize about one's sex life. Whatever the reason, chess has found followers at the University of Idaho.

#accommons

BORAH THEATER

FRIDAY & SATURDAY 50¢ Single/75¢ Couple

Joanne Woodward, James Olson directed by Paul Newman

PLUS 3 STOOGES SHORT

What's happening

By JIM STACK

Settling into the post-break blues, one could hardly expect to find an abundance of activity at his doorstep, particularly in these environs. But with 28 actual class days left and the sky clouded with kites, frisbees and softballs, I get the feeling that my sense of obligation to a hypothetical throng of wide-eyed pleasure seekers seems a bit unnecessary. Maybe it has been all along. However, I like to keep the illusion that at least some of what goes down in this column finds its way to a few wayward souls.

If so, No. 1 on the list of musts this weekend is coffeehouse. In case you haven't looked at any of the posters, coffeehouse will run from 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday in the SUB Dipper and feature the sounds of Chuck Jenkins, "Rayne" and Charlotte Noble. Those who find sitting in the Dipper too sedate for a Saturday night, the U of I Block & Bridle and Rodeo Club will sponsor a Western dance Saturday night at the Moscow Moose Hall with "John and Duane" providing the music.

Tonight at the Moose Lodge, the Free Friday Flicks will feature fifty minutes of color films starting at 7:30 p.m. The first concerns nature on a Maine island, the second flora, fauna, land and the life of the Indians on the Olympic peninsula in Washington, and the last is a 26-minute Disney film about an elk's journey through the Washington wilderness.

Also tonight and tomorrow night a SUB film "Rachel Rachel" will be presented in the Borah Theater at 7 p.m. The movie was produced by Paul Newman (his debut as a producer) and stars Joanne Woodward as a 35-year-old virgin striving for release from her empty lifestyle. It's a good flick — or so I've heard. Film Society

The film society presentation this Monday will be two shows instead of one as neither are the usual 90 minutes in length. The first is "Simon of the Desert," based on the true story of St. Simon Stylites (or is it skylights?). Anyhow, his claim to fame is that he sat, on top of a pillar in the middle of a desert for 37 years, and weathered birds, beasts. heat and whatever else the desert had to

The other half of the Monday night entertainment is "Land Without Bread" a documentary on poverty in Spain. Louis Bunuel, who directed both of the preceding pictures, recently won the flick of the year award from the New York film critics for his "The Discreet Charm of The Bourgeousie," so I guess this is your chance to see a master at work.

Coming up Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday of next week is the annual Borah Symposium, where this year a series of experienced-based simulations on the role of power in international relations will be given by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE). It sounds quite interesting. The simulations of games are designed to involve participants in the system of world power politics and conflict from which they will supposedly derive a new understanding of international relations. diplomacy etc.. and the problems therein. Consult vour local SUB information desk for the scheduling.

Preview of coming attractions: Parent's weekend, with related events. and Blue Mountain Rock Festival III fact or fancy?

The Arts & Entertainment

KUOI preview '73

March 30 Billion Dollar Babies Tret Fure Greatest Hits on Earth Surrealistic Pillow The Weapon Dark Side of the Moon

The Allman Brothers Alice Cooper__ Tret Fure The Fifth Dimension Jefferson Airplane David Newman Pink Floyd

The Experience Bottle

Experience is as a full bottle:

April

April

April

April

April

closed and unavailable to self as a vouth.

Gospel Press

Press will be in Moscow, Friday, April 6 at 8 p.m. to present a vocal concert for the University. The concert, sponsored by the University Sunday Evening Fellowship and the First Presbyterian Church, will be held at St. Augustine's Catholic Center to sing songs, mostly about Jesus.

Sonny Saisburg, Youth Director at the First Presbyterian Church in Yakima, leads the group. Salsburg is a composer of Christian music for youth.

Gospel Press is touring during their Spring break. They plan to sing for seven churches, one high school and three college campuses. While in Spokane, they plan to cut a record.

Slowly is the cap removed to its use with awareness. First dabblings stir and remove but little for use. While with such stirring and gentle pushing the contests flow easier:

Until the time when the bottle becomes less full and thus easier for its contents to flow.

So also is it easier to participate in life as one allows himself to use more and more experience.

That time comes when the bottle can be opened and its contents measured and poured at will. Even as one reaches the end of life,

The bottle of experience never empties completely.

Always a bit remains with which to flavor life anew.

Until the waves of death wash clean the bottle of experience Leaving it empty and void.

J Raymond Monroe

Students, inmates

Talk, not drugs runs over.

like discussing

Usually during the same two-hour activity period, counselors from the institution and university therapy advisors discuss the program. In these sessions, program directors examine the direction of the program and begin to identify problems and solutions to the Inmate therapy is also timed for two hours. Sometimes it starts early and still

In this phase of the program, students and inmates discuss whatever they feel

Exchange ideas

I found that it serves a dual purpose and allows both students and residents to exchange ideas from their own

"It is a two-way street," said Lehman.

"Residents know they can talk to students about drug problems or anything else and not have to worry about being squealed

"No topic is tabu," said Dan Eisman,

an advisor for Idaho students visiting the prison. "Students bring their own problems before their therapy group

sometimes; that's why we are easier for inmates to communicate with than many

'examining' therapists who remain

Helped more inmates," said Eisman. "It takes the shyness out of them (students), and

One student therapist said there is a direct relationship of how well residents know those they talk with and how "open"

Sally Soltman, a U of I student, said

when she first went to the institution, residents felt they had to be tuff and strong. "They were afraid to show emotions because they would look weak.'

Let feelings out quality to be able to show emotion and let feelings out. "They can tell us and get it off their minds: that helps a lot," she

Now Sally says inmates see it is a good that resident becomes.

she said.

everyone can talk over their problems."

"Students are helped more than the

Sitting in on one of the therapy sessions,

By JOHN LUNDERS Argonaut Staff Writer

Twenty-five U of I students are spending Sundays at Washington State Prison. Why? Who knows for sure, maybe it is because they are volunteering to learn and help others at the same time. It is a drug therapy program.

'Over one third of the inmates were on controlled substances. It was a kind of hold over, keeping the men passive by keeping them high," said Dennis Lehman (Banker), inmate coordinator.

Drugs legal

"They were legally getting drugs. That was the only way the institution could handle some of the prisoners until they could be sent to federal institutions." he

Banker and another inmate serving on the hospital committee while the drugs were being administered saw no need in keeping the men high, nor in sending them directly to federal institutions. Pacify inmates

With the help of Dr. Lee Bowker, professor of sociology, Whitman College. the two inmates and other prison officials began work on a drug therapy program with activities to pacify residents in more socially accepted ways.

Students are now working at Washington State Penitentiary in a social, drug therapy program for inmates with long histories of indiscriminate drug

Warden B. J. Rhay (B.J.) told reporters in the past the men in the program are classified as "pill line" offenders -"those who seek medication for any number of real or feigned illnesses to get

Citizens help

The program began in October, 1971, when Rhay called on interested Walla Walla citizens to help find some method of coping with the drug abuse at the prison Bowker, and other Whitman faculty members responded with the social, drug therapy program.

In January, 1972, 18 inmates were selected and moved to a self-imposed isolated tier with four other inmates selected as counselors. Lehman is one of those counselors.

Three parts

The program has three parts activities, counselor-therapist sessions, and inmate-therapy sessions.

Activities involve both students and residents of the institution. In the words of one inmate. "it is whatever turns you

As well as television, ping pong, checkers, pinochle, and numerous other games are among activities. Many just sit and talk about all kinds of subjects: "free world", women, school, hobbies, etc.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Will the person who took my wallet in the men's gym last Friday please drop the documents in the campus post office mailbox.

Toyota Corolla station wagon. Nice and clean. $1495. 882-2975.

Graduating this semester, wife needed, call DEAN, 885-6970.

AN USUAL PART-TIME JOB The College Marketing Group. Inc. works with over 130 publishers, marketing books to college faculties throughout the nation. We need responsible, resourceful persons to conduct marketing research surveys on local campuses, and help with our traveling book displays when they are in your community. Position may lead to management responsibilities and summer jobs, and maybe even a career.

Apply for this position, send resume (including three faculty references) to: John Graham, College Marketing Group, 198 Ash St., Reading, Mass. 01867. An Equal Opportunity Employer.

Student involvement seen in committees

Rolland, "there's obviously no particular

Students are appointed to Student-

Faculty committees by the ASUI

President or his Personnel Commission,

according to Mike Mitchell, ASUI Vice-President. Mitchell who is serving on the committee Rolland is chairman of, the Faculty Council Committee on Committees said there has been talk of combining student selection and faculty

Presently the Committee on

This would give both segments some

Committees recommends to the Faculty

Council the various committee

kind of voice in both selections," said

But presently the old system is still in effect and interviews for appointment to faculty-student committees will be held almost immediately by the new ASUI administration who assumed office

The interviews will be held Monday through Wednesday, April 9-11. April 9 and 11 the interviews will be held at the

SUB and on April 10 at Wallace Complex in Room 2 adjoining the main lounge. The interviews will be taking place from 6:30

Among the student-faculty committees

Academic Hearing Board: One student member on a five member committee.

The board concerns itself with academic matters such as appeals for advanced placement, a change in grade, and admissions to programs which require a

Administrative Hearing Board: Five members, with one student member. This board hears appeals from decision of such groups as Housing and Food Services. Athletic Board of Control: 13 voting members with 4 student members. This board formulates policy in regards to

Borah Foundation Committee: Nine

members, including three student members. Sets up and carries out the Borah Symposium and any other activities connected with the Borah

Campus Planning Committee: Nine

voting members, including two student members. Advises the various offices concerned with physical aspect of the Commencement Committee: Sixteen

voting members, including two juniors and two seniors (holdovers from the previous year). This committee plans and

Committee on Cultural Exchange:

Seven voting members at least three of whom must be students. Makes recommendation relative to such matters

Faculty Awards Committee: Seven

voting members, including one graduate as study abroad and exchange programs.

directs commencement.

intercollegiate athletics at the U of I.

whose members will be appointed after selection for committee appointments.

student interest."

appointments.

Mitchell.

yesterday.

to 9:00 in the evening.

the interviews are:

waiver of requirements.

Foundation.

campus.

By DAVE WARNICK Argonaut Political Writer

"On the committees where students work they do exceptionally well," said Sig Rolland, chairman of the Faculty Council Committee on Committees.

Rolland, who is chairman of the Committee on Committees by virtue of his position as Vice-Chairman of Faculty Council commented, "I'm quite satisfied with my relationship with students working on the Committee of Committees. The only problem was the political campaign." (Rolland was referring to student member Mel Fisher, former ASUI Vice-President:)

'Some people say they don't show up. The only place other than the Committee on Committees where I've observed student-faculty committees is the Juntura Committee," said Rolland. The Faculty Council Vice-Chairman concluded, "The students seem to play a very active role on the Juntura Committee.

Student members

The Juntura Committee and the Committee on Committees are just two of the Faculty Council committees which are under Faculty Council's jurisdiction, Rolland estimated that only seven or eight did not have students as voting members. Some of these include such committees as the Small Animal Laboratory committee, the Summer Sessions and Continuing Education Committee, the Teacher Education Coordinator Committee and the University Relations Committee.

"In some of these committees." said

Topics is a poor word to pin on things discussed during therapy. Men are divided into four groups for therapy sessions, and no two groups seem to

One student said the major portion of her group's therapy sessions had been on the discussion of sex. Another said they never talked about sex at all in their group.

cut back in the drug usage and the 'checking' (keeping each other honest) among inmates.

"Drug usage has really gone down," said Eisman. "In therapy sessions some say so themselves.

convict, but in therapy sessions if someone says 'I haven't used drugs for two months,' someone else in the group who knows he has will say 'Yes, you have; I saw you using....' So they kind of keep each other on the level and that helps our group," said Eisman.

oneness. The program is double sided, just as the results community activity. "Guys really worry about getting kicked out of the program, said Lehman. "They don't want that to together,'' said Lehman.

the program with a hostile attitude toward everyone. "Another was very uncaring and didn't want to even listen to anyone elses ideas.

Now," he said, "both of them are totally involved in the program and are so not for show but to help themselves and

"The program has given me an alternative way of thinking and acting," said one inmate. "Before, I didn't realize there was another way.'

According to resident David Sutherland, the "community involvement" of volunteer workers

Washington inmates are the greatest changes noticed by Idaho students. "They are also learning to talk to street people, communicate with outsiders.

Inmates talk to students and try to relate problems and concepts of their own to those of students.

One student said he could hardly believe the similarities. "You can really learn a lot about yourself. They are just about as normal as anyone else only they got

No funds have been allocated for the discuss the same problems or ideas.

Two advantages

Two advantages of the program are the

'In prison, you don't snitch on a fellow

One-to-oneness

The basis of the program is the one-to-

Inmates view the program as a happen."
"In helping others, I've got my own shit

Hostile, uncaring

Eisman told of one resident who started

"makes you responsible."

Attitude and behavioral changes of said Monty Fahrenwald, a U of I student.

"Some of them just couldn't

Relate problems

Volunteer work program; it is totally volunteer.

Some support has come from cash donations to pay for arts and crafts. Citizens of Walla Walla and friends of inmates have also made donations of clothes, furniture, posters, books and other useable items.

The A&W Tear-Out Coupon Bring this coupon to the Moscow A&W any Monday in April, 1973, and you can have: A Papa Basket and a Rootbeer REG. $1.50 with tax With Coupon It's Only $1.00 (97c + 3c)(No Substitutions) (In Lots Only) 882-4809

student and one undergraduate student. This committee seeks information on awards given to faculty members by outside agencies and looks for ways of finding qualified U of I faculty members to apply for these. It also may initiate strictly University of Idaho awards.

Fine Arts Committee: Eight voting members, including two students. This committee recommends means of encouraging the growth of fine arts on campus and acquiring art objects for the International Student Affairs Committee: Seven voting members, including one graduate student and one undergraduate student. The committee recommends policies concerning the international student program.

The Juntura: Nine voting members, at least three of whom shall be students. "Function: To review periodically special goals and objectives and to recommend policies relative to students whose educational backgrounds have been hampered by the students' cultural or economic environments.'

Library Affairs Committee: Twelve voting members, including one undergraduate student. The committee recommends policies and procedures for the libraries of the University

Committee on Museum Affairs: Seven voting members, including one student. Recommends policy for the University Public Events Committee: Eight voting members, including one graduate student and one undergraduate student. Plans announces and directs public events and assemblies.

Recreation Committee: Eight voting members including the ASUI Program Director (also appointed by the ASUI President with confirmation by the Senate) and two students. To coordinate and recommend on matters of recreation on campus

Religious Studies Committee. Six voting members, including one undergraduate student. Serves as a liason group with the various religious institutes. ROTC Affairs Committee: Eight voting members, including one ROTC student and one non-ROTC student. Advises the University concerning the ROTC program including instructor assignments and course offerings.

Traffic Committee: Eight voting members including three students This committee hears appeals of traffic tickets, acts on requests for special permits and recommends and changes in traffic regulations and physical improvements relating to traffic

University Bookstore Advisory Committee: Eight voting members including three undergraduate and one graduate. Advises on the operations of the University Bookstore.

Also being held on those nights will be interviews for Communications Board, a seven-member body designed to oversee the student news media. The Communications Board has been the subject of much debate in the past year as it essentially disappeared last spring and was not reinstated last fall by former ASUI President Roy Eiguren.

According to Vice-President Mitchell "We'll definitely have one this year."

And then there are University-widecommittees which report directly to the President such as the Joint Budget Hearing Board. And there are graduate committees, and college committees and departmental committees.....

STUDENTS & FRIENDS:

We have all heard about inflation and rising prices, and how the end does not appear in sight. BUT WHO is doing something about it????????

Well the SUB Game Room is trying. To help you save money, an INFLATION STOPPER SPECIAL has been started. Pool is 1/2 price and bowling only 3¢ per frame. It's happening Mon.-Fri. from 3-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. every week.

SO, with the money to save for another day, ENJOY YOURSELF!!!!! Practice for the bars in a mellow, relaxing atmosphere.

The SUB Game Room - One Step Closer: We Care.

IF YOU HAVE AN UNUSUAL TALENT, YOU HAVE WHAT IT TAKES TO BE A BUDWEISER WORLD CHAMPION!

a postcard and get your marker pen ready "contest." But it is a lot of fun, for inscribing your particular specialty beeven if you can't break the neath where it says "World Champion," records. You can, though, can't you?) World Championships

Box 8861

ST. LOUIS MISSOURI
63702 TO GET YOUR BUDWEISER WORLD CHAMPION PATCH (EVEN IF YOU DON'T SET A RECORD), JUST WRITE YOUR NAME, ADDRESS AND WHAT YOU DID ON A POSTCARD. SEND

this is not an official, rigid-rules

NO PROOF OF PURCHASE REQUIRED. OFFER VOID WHERE PROHIBITED BY LAW ALLOW FOUR WEEKS FOR DELIVERY. OFFER EXPIRES DECEMBER 31, 1973

IT TO

Do one, beat the record, tell us about it on