The University of Idaho Campus Planning Committee recommended Friday that leasing or selling the UI land behind the Palouse Empire Mall for construction of a developmentally disabled adult housing complex would be an appropriate use of the land and that the university should proceed with the project.

The recommendation follows a request by David McKinney, financial vice president, to determine the best use of the UI-owned land.

The vote to give the university an affirmative nod on the project was a close four to three tally.

Stepping Stones, Inc., the group interested in either buying or leasing the land, is a Latah County based concern which aims to provide residential and vocational services for developmentally disabled adults in the county.

Stepping Stones proposed the lease or sale of the land at a Feb. 13, Campus Planning Committee meeting. The organization plans to build a facility composed of an Intermediate Care Facility for the Mentally Retarded (ICFMR), a shelter care unit, and low income apartment units.

A Campus Planning Committee

issue paper published Feb. 27 states that the committee's recommendations are based in part on the following assumptions: "1. The University should receive at least fair market value for the property in question. Special financial consideration should not be given because of the nature of the project and the price agreed upon should reflect development costs. 2. The proposed use for this land will not have any significant adverse effect on present or potential future uses of university land in this area. 3. If the land is leased, the Campus Planning Committee and appropriate university officials should have the power to review and approve or make changes in the site design of the project. Also, if the land reverts to the university, should a failure of the project occur, the CPC will review, approve and make changes in the site of the project."

Richard Naskali, assistant professor of botany, expressed disapproval of the plan because of the rapidity with which it was decided that Stepping Stones would use the land before other groups had the chance to compete for the property. He said competition for the land would have given a better idea about what the land's best use actually was.

Scholarship trust fund is established

A $115,117 bequest from the estate of Charles H. Foreman has been given to the University of Idaho to establish a trust fund in his name to fund scholarships.

The UI mining engineering alumnus asked that scholarships be given to students from Wallace or Mullan High Schools as a first priority, to those from other Shoshone County High Schools second, and third to students from the 10 north Idaho counties or to any other Idaho student. There are no other restrictions other than that the student retain good academic standing.

Foreman, an orphan, was born and raised in Harrison and moved to Wallace with his late wife Mary in 1947 from Burke. He received a scholarship while a UI student and in appreciation of this help, established the scholarship fund, according to family friends.

He worked for Hecla Mining Company as a mining engineer and helped build the Big Creek Golf Course.

His wife and her son also willed scholarship endowments to UI, establishing the Foreman-Fulton fund.

ASUI PRODUCTION BUREAU
SUB Basement

Serving the U of I since 1975

The Argonaut is published twice weekly during the academic year by the Communications Board of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho. Offices are located in the basement of the Student Union Building, 620 Deakin Avenue, Moscow, Idaho, 83843. Editorial opinions expressed are those of the Argonaut or the writer, and do not necessarily represent the ASUI, the U of I or the Board of Regents. The Argonaut is distributed free of charge to students on campus. Mail subscriptions are $6 per semester or $9 per academic year. Second class postage is paid at Moscow, Idaho. (USPS 255-680).

Ticket-seekers camp outside Memorial Gym

by Alicia Gallagher
of the Argonaut

Although some students camped in front of Memorial Gym overnight to get tickets for the Big Sky Tournament, Vandal Boosters got first dibs on them.

Inez Driscoll, ticket manager for intercollegiate athletics, said in order to minimize the rush for tournament tickets on Friday, all orders which had been received from the Vandal Booster organization were filled before Thursday night's game against Northern Arizona University. That game established the tournament would be played at Moscow.

Most of the remaining available seats were sold within two hours Friday. Each of the participating schools was given 1,500 tickets to sell and must return unsold tickets, however.

Letters were sent to Greek houses and living groups offering blocks of reserved seating for the game, but, Driscoll said, "Whether or not they got to the right people we can't be sure." Ticket sales have been suspended until all orders are filled.

Bill Belknap, director of intercollegiate athletics, justified giving the boosters first chance with their year-round support of the Vandals.

"They suffer through the lean years and should be able to enjoy the good years," he said.

Current figures show more than 3,000 tickets have been sold to students, he continued, much more than was anticipated.

KUID proposes to televise tourney games

KUID, the university television station, has made a bid for the rights to televise the upcoming Big Sky Tournament, and will be notified by this afternoon if the bid is accepted.

KUID's proposal would involve producing all three games and feeding them, live, to other Idaho public television stations in Boise and Pocatello. If the games are sold out, it would be broadcast live in Moscow, also; otherwise it would be taped and shown later.

The proposal also involves making the broadcast available to commercial television in Montana, as there are no public stations there.

Art Hood, KUID general manager, said that if the KUID bid is accepted, it will be the first time since he has been at Idaho that KUID has been involved in the broadcasting of a Big Sky tournament.

Senator blocks bill for student board member

by Suzanne Carr
of the Argonaut

An attempt to print a bill that would have placed a student on the State Board of Education/Board of Regents was blocked Monday morning by one vote.

Sen. Laird Noh (R-Kimberly) of the Senate Education Committee cast the single vote which stopped the bill from being sent to a privileged committee.

The bill needed unanimous consent to be assigned to another committee because it was about a week overdue.

ASUI Lobbyist Jack Gerard said the reason for the delay was to get unanimous approval from the Associated Students of Idaho.

Noh told the committee he supported the bill, but didn't feel it was an emergency and could be re-introduced next year.

Gerard explained to the committee that the bill would allow for a student to be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the senate for a term of one or two years.

He said having a student on the Board would allow students to gain a better understanding of the tough decisions the Board faces.

Eric Stoddard, ASUI president, told the committee that students contributing at the board level would help students understand and give input to education decisions.

"It would help us work out our problems together," he said.

Milt Small, Executive Director of the State Board of Education/Board of Regents, spoke against sending the bill to another committee.

According to Stoddard, Small told the committee that with the current appointment procedure the Governor is not supposed to take a person's occupation into account.

Small also said no one had considered the fiscal impact of adding another member to the Board. Gerard said the cost would be $4,600 annually.

State Board members are reimbursed for travel, lodging and food.

Small's third argument was that the Board is in charge of all public education, primary, secondary and post-secondary, and that a student would be biased in favor of higher education.

Phones are open today to senators

Long-distance telephone lines will be available in the ASUI office today from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. for anyone wishing to call his or her Idaho senator about SJR 103, the in-state tuition resolution.

SJR 103 will be considered at 2 p.m. Moscow time today by the State Affairs Committee of the Idaho Senate. If passed by both houses of the Idaho Legislature, it will appear on the 1982 election ballot as a proposed amendment to the Idaho Constitution.

A list of which senators represent which districts also will be available in the ASUI office in case you do not know who your senator is.

ASUI talks tuition with Evans

Idaho Gov. John Evans reaffirmed his stand against in-state tuition in a meeting Monday with ASUI officials.

Evans told ASUI President Eric Stoddard, Vice-President Clark Collins and Lobbyist Jack Gerard he was opposed to in-state tuition and that he did not anticipate that the definition of tuition offered by the State Board of Education/Board of Regents would be so broad.

That definition will receive a recommendation Wednesday by the Idaho Senate State Affairs Committee.

"The pendulum has swung from an extremely broad definition of tuition to one that is very narrow; conversely leaving a broad definition of fees," said Stoddard.

Stoddard said Evans was concerned that passage of the tuition bill would price many of Idaho's citizens out of an education.

According to Stoddard, Evans said if the tuition bill does pass and legal problems remain, a lawsuit aimed against the definition may be the only recourse.

Fee increase tops Regents agenda

The first formal discussion of a proposal to raise student fees by $200 per semester is scheduled for Friday in Boise at the regular meeting of the Idaho State Board of Education/Board of Regents.

If the Board decides in favor of the increase, public hearings will be scheduled on the proposal and a final decision will be made at a future meeting.

If approved then, the increase would take effect for the Fall semester 1981.

The Board will also decide whether to hold a public hearing to determine if a state of financial exigency should be declared for fiscal year 1982.

The Board will also hear responses from the four-year institutions concerning a report outlining the cost per student of comparable programs at each of the institutions.

Hairy Buffaloes

In spite of premature midterms, Maynard Ferguson ticket fights, and Mardi Gras mass chaos, still another activity bubbles to the surface of the UI calender.

Spring brings with it little sister rush. Dormies, Greeks and off-campus women alike are being flooded with invitations to visit their favorite frat.

They sip a brew, sign the guestbook and leave before the party lights fade into the dawning sun.

Posters across campus advertise nights of Hawaiian delights (two palm trees and a mai-tai), fun south of the border (more palm trees and tequila straight shots) and downhome western barnstorming (hay bales, cowboy hats and . . . ever hear of a drink called a hairy buffalo?).

Why have these women chosen to dash among 15 fraternities, wearing their high heels down to nubs, begging for Diet Pepsi in a sea of beer?

Looking back on the last week of frat hopping this reporter finds the answer: It may be hectic but it sure is fun.

Gwen Powell

Hey, get in line

It should not be too much to expect that tickets to special events be sold on a first come-first serve basis. Certainly that was the assumption of those who waited overnight to buy choice seats for the Big Sky basketball tournament.

No wonder then that we're shocked to learn Vandal Boosters were deemed more entitled to tickets than other folks. How did they get to be at the head of the line without waiting?

If Bill Belknap thinks that Boosters have suffered more in the lean sports years than run of the mill students and taxpayers, he's forgotten whose money supports the intercollegiate sports facilities on this campus. He's also forgotten who pays his salary.

Donna Holt

Town and Gown united

Today really is Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras, the last chance to pork out before the abstinent Lenten season begins. But Moscow celebrated in style last Saturday in an exciting example of what small towns can do when they put their minds to it.

For once the "Town vs. Gown" division was bridged and downtown merchants and campus people joined together to provide a wonderful time for everybody. From the first parade marchers to the last to go home from the Beaux Arts Ball, participants went all out to join in the spirit of the occasion.

The Moscow merchants responsible for organizing the events are to be congratulated for their work. The UI design students whose paper floats marked one parade highlight after another all deserve "A's" for their efforts.

Short memories condemn us

Kerrin McMahan

I had a rare opportunity to see history reenacted recently, in the form of a real, live demonstration.

The event had the flavor of a somewhat drawn-out Bicentennial Minute. All the actors were there and knew their parts: the draft resisters; the vocal ethnic minorities; several aging hippies; two or three Yippies; a woman with a guitar; a few people dressed as dead Cambodians; a Communist-backed radical fringe; some real Communists; and three middle-aged ladies from Dayton.

All had gathered together in front of the Sheraton Hotel in Columbus, Ohio to greet none other than Richard Nixon. The occasion was a fundraiser for Ohio Republicans, and several hundred people paid from $150 to $300 each for the privilege of eating in the same room with Nixon and hearing what was billed as "A Major Foreign Policy Address."

It was the former President's first political appearance since The Fall.

I have occasionally regretted being too young to have been an activist in the '60's. I have more often regretted the years which I now fondly refer to as my "stupid period" when my soul belonged to the College Republicans. Deeply conscious of the irony of it all, I dusted off my camera, grabbed my steno pad and pen, and set out to see if there were any radicals left in Ohio.

"Honk if you think Nixon's a crook," read the signs lining the street. Most people honked. A bearded man with the air of a '60s veteran worked the crowd with a megaphone. "What's the verdict on Vietnam?" "Guilty!" "What's the verdict on Cambodia?" "Guilty!" "What's the verdict on Watergate?" "Guilty!" "What's the verdict on Kent State?" "GUILTY!!! GUILTY!!! GUILTY!!!" the crowd thundered back.

The guitar woman sang "Four Dead in Ohio" and "Nixon, go find another country to be father of," side by side with the three women in their 40's, whose signs read Criminal Nixon. I kidded one of them about it. "Never have I done this before," she said. The war was not an issue to her, she explained. It was his personal dishonesty that rankled. "Nixon did the country a great injustice. I just think he's a crook." Her companions nodded vigorous agreement. When the crowd began chanting "Hitler Rose, Hitler Fell, Facist Nixon, Go To Hell," the ladies did not join in. But they waved their signs.

I parked myself on an outdoor planter next to the front door and struck up a friendly acquaintance with WTVN radio and Associated Press while we waited for the guests to arrive. The scent of marijuana wafted through the air. An exuberant young man tore down a "no parking" sign directly in front of us. The police did nothing.

When they started coming, the guests in three-piece suits and cocktail dresses and 1981 Cadillacs, the crowd grew more restless. "Get a haircut!" they taunted the impeccably groomed businessmen. "$300 would feed me for three months!" One such well-heeled couple had their teen-age son in tow. Junior wore a Brooks Brothers suit and a smug expression. He was clearly enjoying the spectacle. I thought of myself at his age and smiled.

One of my professors who teaches a lot of undergraduates tells me that as far as the typical 18-year-old is concerned, Cambodia might as well be Never-Never Land and Nixon, King Richard III. That's how they look at it — Watergate and Vietnam are fairy tales, ancient history.

Americans do have short memories. How else can one explain a national disgrace being feted by officials of the party he nearly destroyed? Or maybe that's not so surprising in a state where the man who sent the National Guard to Kent State has been twice re-elected Governor.

Perhaps an 18-year-old can be excused as being too young to remember those years (although I am only 21, and I remember them very well), but the rest of the country has no such excuse, and seems all too complacent about it. It is a truism that those who forget the past are condemned to repeat it. It would be a pity if a few hundred radicals in Columbus, Ohio are the only ones who remember.

Kerrin McMahan is a graduate student in journalism at Ohio State University and a former Argonaut reporter.

Racing to the top

Editor,
 Summer appears already to be here in Moscow. But just a week ago, the UI ski team raced in the Northwest National Collegiate Ski Association Regionals at White Pass, Wash. There we topped off an excellent season by taking first in the Inland Empire, and fourth in the Northwest. Our x-country skiers placed third, well enough to go to nationals in Marquette, Mich. on the 5th through the 10th of this month.

Because of funding cuts in the early 70's, the ski team has struggled along, with racers organizing and funding races.

When our chance to go to national competition to represent the UI came along we weren't sure how we'd float this several thousand dollar trip. Until the University, Alumni, and Foundation came through. We'd like to thank these organizations for their generous support. Without them it would be impossible for us to go.

The UI Ski Team

Manipulations

Editor,
 This year has seen two extremes in our university's financial position. During the first semester President Gibb decided to build the East End Addition. This project initially had a price tag of 4.5 million, but the cost is actually far higher due to financing charges and maintenance cost. This decision told the students that the university enjoyed a healthy financial position.

The second semester began along with some very concerning rumors. Massive cuts in departments, programs, and services were anticipated in the fall semester of 1981. There would just not be, so said President Gibb, enough money for next year. President Gibb replaced the illusion of financial stability with the cold reality of a financial crisis.

President Gibb, you insult us. We remember that it was you who initially pushed the East End Addition through student opposition. We remember that it was you who told us our fears were unfounded. We now see how you have manipulated the student body, with full knowledge of the financial crisis that would later hit the university. This act is full of deceit.

President Gibb: since you were able to push this outlandish project through so rapidly you are deemed capable of reversing it just as fast. You are morally obligated to serve the best interests of this university. Live up to your obligation. If you fail to do so you have the full condemnation of the students.

Paul Dakopolos

Cup ecology

Editor,
 Ecology and the environment are serious concerns of the SUB Food Service Department. We feel our use of disposables is warranted on the basis of sound environmental consideration. We invite an open forum to enlighten us, if we are in error. Our administrative coordinator questions the validity of our rationale and we have encouraged her to pursue her personal beliefs in hope of gaining enlightenment concerning the balance that exists in the ecological scheme. We remain open to sincere and well-informed comment.

A recent letter to the editor supported reusable coffee cups as preferable to use of disposables. The cups cost $2.29 each. Stringent health laws and common sense require washing and sanitation before cups may be reused. Commercial dishwashers are expensive to purchase, to maintain and to operate. We have a Hobart model AM-8TZ; its washing cycle is at 150 degrees and its rinse cycle is at 180 degrees. Each cycle dumps 4.5 gallons of polluted water into our city's sewage system. The city engineering department has determined that restaurant sewage disposal is the most costly to filter and clarify and accordingly the city charges its highest sewage rates to food service outlets. This rate is over three cents per gallon.

We buy an approved biodegradable commercial detergent called "Tricon," which is a heavy duty chlorinated compound containing 8.2 percent phosphates. Each wash cycle requires 2.5 ounces of detergent at a cost of ten cents per load.

The average snack bar lifetime for a ceramic cup is 71 uses. This incurs a 3.2 cent capital expense; washing and handling expenses are 1.8 cents for supplies, energy and water and 3.6 cents for labor. The total expense to offer a washed cup is 8.6 cents.

By comparison a Lily Trophy Cup costs 2.37 cents. After use it is dispatched to the sanitary landfill.

We accept price as proportionate to the depletion of natural resources and energy consumption. It is noted the original cost of a ceramic cup is almost one hundred times the cost of the foam disposable.

Our sanitation procedures incur hidden environmental factors. During our daily operation we use considerable energy to maintain a reserve of 180 degree water. Average maintenance costs for our washer is about $300 per year; fifty percent of this cost will be for replacement parts, a draw on our resource base.

In the past two years this department had sought data from large disposable manufacturing companies such as Sweetheart, Lily and Dixie, concerning the impact of their products upon the overall environment. While promises to provide studies are quick, the actual delivery has not occurred.

We feel our judgment and policy are sound and we appreciate the opportunity to explain our views.

 Attention Off-Campus Students.
 Thursday is your chance! A seminar will be presented for off-campus students on Thursday March 5 in the Blue Room of the SUB. The blue room is located on the first floor at the Northwest corner of the cafeteria.

Members of the ASUI Senate will be there from 1:00 - 4:00 p.m. to answer questions you may have about instate tuition, fees, concerts and anything else you may want to comment on or learn about. It is our hope that you will take advantage of this opportunity. We want to hear from you!

ATV advocates

Editor,
 The Moscow-Pullman Alternatives to Violence (ATV) group will be holding a training session for advocates on Saturday March 7, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the University of Idaho Women's Center, Idaho and Line Streets.

ATV is an organization whose purpose is to provide help for victims of domestic violence and rape. This help includes short-term safe shelter, counseling and counseling referral, support, help in dealing with the system, and help in problem solving.

Being an advocate involves being on call two nights a month. If you are interested in the advocate training session, please call 885-6616, the UI Women's Center, or (509) 335-6830, Washington State University Women's Center, so we can plan accordingly. Bring a sack lunch and we will get acquainted while we eat. Coffee and tea will be provided.

Eye opener

Editor,
 I am weary of seeing the Moral Majority attacked by less than knowledgeable persons. They are being accused of surpassing their Constitutional rights. Let's check it out.

The Constitution reads: "Amendment I—Religion, Speech, Assembly, Petition. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

Using common sense one can easily see that the Constitution prohibits Congress from establishing a "state religion" or interfering with the people's right to freely exercise their religious beliefs.

How can one say the Constitution denies those who believe in Christ or any others free worship, free speech, free press, free assembly or the petitioning of the Government? Perhaps some have been misinformed!

I challenge those of you who have only constructed and destroyed your own "straw men" to investigate the facts.

I suggest you read (cover to cover) The Battle For The Mind by Tim LaHaye, published by Fleming H. Revell Co. (which should be available through Crossroads Bookstore or any place which sells inspirational books). Included in the book is evidence that our country may be moving toward a "state religion" (not Christianity). It also contains chapters explaining the Moral Majority, and separation of church and state. I do not expect all persons to entirely understand the content, especially should they decide to pick and choose, but believe many will find the book revealing as it concerns the other side of the issue. It is definitely an "eye opener."

'Drunk bus' starts rolling in a trial run

by Bobbi Humphries
of the Argonaut

The Washington State University student assembly has approved what they term the "drunk bus," a Moscow-Pullman transit system that will begin operation on Saturday nights.

A two-week trial period will begin on this Saturday, and if revenue projections continue, so will the service. Six Moscow merchants have donated money to pay for the initial trial runs of the bus and future funding will be based strictly on ticket sales.

Mic Gehrig, student government adviser at WSU, said that the only major problem he could foresee would be not effectively reaching the students to convey to them that this is a socially acceptable way of drinking in Idaho and avoiding accidents on the road between Pullman and Moscow. "Other than that, I remain optimistic and don't predict any serious problems," he said.

Ticket sales will be on a first come-first served basis to avoid any problems with overcrowded buses, Gehrig said.

The bus will leave Pullman at 6 p.m. and run every twenty minutes, making six trips total with the last bus of the evening leaving Moscow at 1:20 a.m. The pick-up and drop-off points in Pullman are: the central part of downtown and the Compton Union Building main entrance.

In Moscow there are four stops and they are: University Inn-Best Western, the central business district, Rathskeller Inn and some conveniently located spot on UI campus.

"I have a high sense of honor in the responsibility of the students that will use the bus, and if anyone misuses the service it will be cancelled," said Gehrig.

Tickets for the bus system will cost $2.50 for a round trip and will be on sale at the SUB and the CUB.

If there is a big demand for the service it might even be expanded to run on Friday nights as well, said Gehrig.

"I would like to thank the Moscow businessmen on behalf of all the WSU students for expressing so much interest in this system," he said.

UI's 1981 Jazz Festival promises more music than ever heard before

The university of Idaho 1981 Jazz Festival promises more jazz music in its three days than heard at any previous festival, with 20 college and university groups, 33 high school and junior high jazz choirs, 14 soloists and 73 high school and junior high instrumental groups to perform.

The Simon and Bard Quartet from Chicago, Ill., and Barney McClure, jazz pianist and mayor of Port Townsend, Wash., will be featured in concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, in the Ballroom. Tickets are $3.

On Friday, there will two concerts, one at 6:30 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom with the first place high school and junior high school choirs and the UI Four Freshmen as featured jazz group, with a special appearance by Simon and Bard, and one at 9 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium featuring Maynard Ferguson.

Tickets to the concert at the SUB are $3 or $2 with a festival pass and for the Maynard Ferguson concert are $3.75 for general admission and $5 for reserved seats.

The closing festival concert Saturday begins at 7:30 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom and features winning jazz bands, the UI Jazz I Ensemble and guest drummer Steve Houghton. Tickets are $3 or $2 with a festival pass.

... UI Student Richard Dallam, 227½ Lieuallen, reported that someone broke the passenger door window on his vehicle while it was parked unattended at the golf course lot between ten minutes after midnight and 12:50 a.m. Saturday. No damage estimate was given.

... Janet Gabica, Alumni Residence Center, reported that her Peugeot 10-speed bicycle worth about $250 was stolen from the Alumni Residence Center bicycle room between Feb. 21 and Feb. 22.

... Mohaned Aboukhesem, Shoup Hall, reported that vandals did $150 damage to his left front fender by hitting it with a blunt object or kicking it sometime between 3 p.m. Feb. 23 and noon Feb. 25.

... UI student Steve Jelonek reported to police that his blue Northwest pack was taken from the Spruce Tavern Thursday at about 9 p.m. The pack contained books, a Nikon camera with three lenses, 105mm, 35mm, and 28mm. Total value was $600.

... Kevin Prather of Phi Kappa Tau reported someone threw a rock through the outer pane of a double pane window at about 2 a.m. on Friday. There was about $300 worth of damage to the window. There are no suspects in the incident.

... Tim Roscoe of the Best Western security reported to police that three women walked out of TJ's without paying for their meals. Two UI students were arrested on a charge of fraudulent procurement of food. Tammy S. Skrederstu of 1413 Hawthorne was arrested along with Melissa G. Miller of Gray Loess Hall. Linda Berney of Twin Falls but not a student at the university was also arrested. The incident happened Friday at about 2:30 a.m.

... Joseph J. Schumacher, Gault Hall, was cited for failure to yield after the vehicle he was driving struck another vehicle driven by Kathryn Langfield. Schumacher, driving a 1979 Chevrolet one-ton van owned by Furniture Center, was turning left into the SUB parking lot when he struck Langfield's 1971 Mercury Capri. The Furniture Center van received $800 worth of damage. Langfield's Capri received $500 worth of damage.

Coed hit by car OK; driver cited

Susan Stash, McCoy Hall, was treated and released from Gritman Hospital Friday afternoon after she was hit by a car while crossing Rayburn Street at Sixth.

A 1974 Mustang, driven by UI student Deborah Lea Cannon, 110 N. Lilly, No. 203, was turning from Sixth Street onto Rayburn, when it struck Stash on the left hip.

The force of the impact spun Stash around and knocked her to her knees and then onto the pavement. She suffered a contusion of her left hip.

Cannon was cited for failure to yield to a pedestrian and failure to carry insurance.

Insulin pump for diabetics discussed

Keith Campbell, professor of Pharmacy at WSU, will talk Tuesday about the insulin autopump, a new device for diabetics. The talk will be at 7 p.m. in room 212 of College Hall which is kitty-corner from the CUB in Pullman.

Campbell, a diabetic, has one of the autopumps for himself, and will be talking about how the device works and the consequences for diabetics. There will be a question and answer period after the speech.

Campbell's talk is open to anyone interested. For further information, contact Dianne Milhollin at Student Advisory Services, UCC 241.

Idaho gymnasts set school scoring record

Despite a record-breaking performance by Idaho's gymnastics team, the Montana Grizzlies won first place in a quadangular meet hosted by the Vandals Saturday afternoon.

Montana edged the Vandal women in team scoring 129.7 to 128.60, while Seattle Pacific claimed third place with 126.45 ahead of Eastern Washington at 123.45.

Along with establishing the best mark ever by an Idaho squad, many of Coach Wanda Rasmussen's gymnasts recorded personal bests in last Saturday's events.

Shannon Daily established a new school record in all-around performance with a personal best of 33.00 points. Her mark took second in the meet behind Carol Quenemoen of Montana who scored 33.40.

Daily's strongest effort was in vaulting, where she finished first with a mark of 8.85. Other Idaho competitors Brette Cannon and Jane Vogel, took fourth and fifth in the vault with totals of 8.70 and 8.60, respectively.

Glenda Allen also took a first-place finish for the Vandals with an 8.9 score on bars. Her score was the highest single event mark of the meet.

"On bars the team hit their highest score of the season," said Rasmussen.

"The high scoring surprised me. Everybody was excited and hit their routines," Rasmussen said. "It really helped us to have six people in every event to take some of the pressure off."

Besides Daily, Rasmussen pointed to the efforts of Elaine Hendrickson and Cannon as being big aids for the Vandals.

"I'm excited for Elaine. She really did a nice job on beam. Previously, she had been recording scores in the high 6.0s and low 7.0s so her 8.55 Saturday was outstanding," said Rasmussen.

The Vandals have one meet remaining before regionals March 20-21 at Seattle. It will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Physical Education Building against the Oregon College of Education. The Vandals had little trouble disposing of OCE in their last encounter and will use the meet to prepare for regionals said Rasmussen.

Vandal tracksters finish third

Paced by four first place performances, the Idaho men's track team finished third in the third annual Big Sky Conference Track and Field Championship in Pocatello over the weekend.

Nevada-Reno won the title with 95 points with host Idaho State second at 80. The Vandals were third with 76 points, while defending champion Northern Arizona was next with 73. Montana was fifth at 64 1/2, followed by Weber State 59 1/2, Montana State 46, and Boise State 32.

Jim Sokolowski and Mitch Crouser both set conference records for Idaho as Sokolowski won the high jump with a 7-3/4 leap which broke the old mark of 7-0 set by Rick Berret of Idaho State in 1980. Sokolowski also placed fourth in the long jump.

Crouser won the shot put with a toss of 61-8 1/4 which smashed the old conference mark of 57-8 set by Montana State's Lance Deal in 1980. Deal finished second in the event this year with a 58-2 throw.

Also coming through for the Vandals were triple jumpers Neil Crichlow, Francis DoDoo and Marvin Wadlow as they finished 1-2-3 respectively in the event.

Crichlow won the contest with a 49-7 1/2 jump with DoDoo next at 49-7 1/4. Wadlow was only three inches back behind Crichlow with a 49-4 1/2 leap.

John Trott was the last Vandal winner as he tied Idaho State's Felix Diaz in the 800-meter run. Both runners were timed at 1:53:95 which marked the first dead heat in the three-year-old meet's history.

David Harewood turned in a strong performance for Idaho as he placed third in both the 400-meters and the 55-meters. Harewood was clocked in 48.43 in the 400-meters as he was edged at the tape by Nevada-Reno's Las Welander time of 48.41. Harewood also ran a 6.5 in the 55-meters.

In the 55-meter high hurdles, Mike Martin finished fifth for Idaho in 7.71 while long distance runner Ray Prentice also finished fifth in the 1,500-meters. Prentice was timed at 3:56.66.

The Idaho relay teams didn't fare as well as the rest of the squad as the distance medley team finished fifth while the 1,600-meter relay team finished sixth.

Women swimmers nab fourth

Idaho's women's swimming team accomplished its two goals last weekend in the NCWSA Regional meet held at Washington State University.

The Vandals improved to finish fourth as a team in the Northwest, compared to last year's fifth-place finish, and also qualified two more swimmers for the national meet.

Team scoring from the three-day event was much closer this year than last, according to Idaho assistant coach Peter Lungren, who said the Washington Huskies did not run away with the meet as they have in previous years.

"Schools like Oregon and Oregon State were much better this year," Lungren said. "UW only won one relay, and we won one ourselves, so they're (UW) not the power they used to be."

Team scoring was as follows: Washington 1024 1/2, Oregon 761 1/2, OSU 685 1/2, Idaho 526, WSU 389, Puget Sound 368 and Montana 148 1/2.

Idaho and Puget Sound are the only Division II schools in the region and will compete at nationals against other Division II schools only. Nationals are scheduled for March 12-14 at Marquette, Mich.

Making the trip for Idaho will be Jodi Widrig and Beth Marcum who waited until last weekend's meet to record qualifying times. Widrig qualified in the 200 IM, and Marcum qualified in the 50 Breast.

Widrig and Marcum are the eighth and ninth team members to make the trip. Already qualified were Nancy Bechtoldt (six events), Anne Kincheloe (three events), Bonnie Flickenger (three events), Lisa DeMeyer (three events), Sarah Osborne (three events), Monica Gill (one event) and Kathryn Kemp (two events).

These nine swimmers also will make up the five relay teams the Vandals have qualified. Lungren said Idaho will be the favorite in the 800 Free relay and hope to win some other relays as well.

"We're really happy for our team," Lungren said. "We only had five girls qualify last year, and we finished ninth. This year we're trying to be in the top five, because we host the national meet next year."

Preparing for the national meet will entail a lot of tapering, according to Lungren. Tapering is when a swimmer will not work herself hard in practice so she'll be rested for an important meet, and it will begin later this week for most of the Idaho women.

The men's team will be swimming at the AAU Regionals the same weekend the women's team is in Michigan. Nine

H&R BLOCK TAX TEST

Question No. 1

It is too late to claim a deduction or credit overlooked on a 1977 tax return.

True False

If you know about amending a tax return, you probably know the answer. If you don't, maybe you need H&R Block. Because H&R Block knows tax laws that you might not know. You can amend a tax return for overlooked deductions and credits up to three years after the filing deadline. So the answer to the question is FALSE.

Idaho hosts hoop playoffs

The Idaho men's basketball team will now prepare to host the Big Sky Conference basketball tournament at the ASUI-Kibbie Dome Friday and Saturday night.

Idaho, 12-2 in conference action, will open the tourney against Idaho State, 6-8 in conference and 12-14 overall. Tipoff is set for 7 p.m. Friday.

Second-place Montana State, 11-3, 16-10 will meet Montana, 11-3, 18-8 in the second game of the evening at 9. The two Friday winners will square off Saturday night at 7:30.

The Dome will be closed from Thursday until Sunday for any recreational purposes, and fans are reminded that conference tournament rules forbid signs, posters and banners inside the Dome.

For a tournament rundown on each team, check Friday's Argonaut.

Idaho chases league title

The Idaho women's basketball team upped its record to 18-7, including 11-1 in league action, by coming up with two big road wins.

First, the Vandals bombed Oregon College of Education, 66-49, in Idaho's last non-league game of the regular season. The win ended a 24-game win streak by the Division III Oregon school. Idaho is a Division II team.

The Vandals played tough defense using a full-court press most of the first half before switching to a half-court trap that proved to be more effective. Idaho took a 36-23 halftime lead.

The Vandals then blew their opponents away in the second quarter. Idaho center Denise Brose led all scorers with 22 points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Saturday night against Portland in a Northwest Inland Empire League contest, five Vandal players broke into double figures, and Idaho claimed a 93-70 win.

"The bench deserves a big hand for its work," said Idaho assistant coach Sherri Smith.

Brose and White led the Idaho scorers with 21 and 16 points respectively. Cathy Feely and Dana Fitch each added 15 while Rene E. White pumped in 10 points. All three are non-starters.

Idaho never was seriously threatened in the contest. White also picked up seven steals and seven assists.

Idaho will close out the regular season this week on the road. Thursday night, the Vandals will go after the league title against Lewis-Clark State. Idaho ends the season Friday night at Gonzaga University in Spokane,

Skiers qualify for finals

The Idaho men's cross country team will head to Marquette, Mich. Sunday to compete in the NCAA national ski championships.

The men's team qualified last Saturday in White Pass, Wash. in the 1981 Northwest Collegiate Ski Championships in the 15 kilometer race.

Idaho's Tuck Miller took second in the event with a 55:06 time behind College of Idaho's Robert Riley. Riley's winning time was 53:23.

Other Idaho finishers included Blaine Smith in 11th at 59:33 and Jim Slyfield in 14th in 1:01:28. Don Pence finished 27th in 1:05:33.

University of Oregon won the event with 12 points with College of Idaho next with 24. Idaho was third with 27. All three teams qualified for nationals.

The men's downhill team wasn't as fortunate as they finished fourth with 82 points. Washington State won the downhill with 105 points, Southern Oregon State College was next at 88, while Pacific Lutheran was third in 87 points.

Pat Allen was the top Idaho finisher in 16th place with a two-run time of 2:07:42 while Mike Dodds was next at 2:09:19 in 21st place.

Masher gold wins net meet

Both the Idaho men's and women's USVBA volleyball teams were crowned champions of the Cougar Classic tournament this weekend in Pullman.

The Moscow Masher Gold women's team went undefeated in the tournament pool play with wins over the Stingers, consisting of area high school athletes, 15-4, 15-2 and the Sizzlers of Spokane, 15-1, 15-2. The gold team then downed Jr. Dinnies of Calgary 15-3, 15-12 to advance to the semi-finals.

In the semis, the Mashers defeated Kitsap 15-9, 15-12 and then went on to trounce the Travellers of Cheney 15-8, 15-5 for the title.

The men's team came out on top in their pool and finished unbeaten by downing Sheshelah of Seattle in the championship match.

The women entered a second team in the competition, the Masher Black squad. The black team defeated Orange Crush 15-4, 15-12 and Team Yakima 15-11, 15-5 before losing to eventual runner-up Travellers, 15-8, 15-8. The black team then lost in the first round of the playoffs to Kitsap VBC.
