

News

Women's Center Director Betsy Thomas focuses on using extensive education to dismiss acquaintance rape myths and heal victims. See page 4.

Sports

The Montana Grizzlies grabbed all championship hopes away from the Vandals Saturday. See page 17.

Lifestyles

Spacy, mind-wondering pleasurable torture at Collette Theater this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. See page 8.

Inside

- Opinion.....page 7
Lifestyles.....page 12
Sports.....page 17
Comics.....page 22
Classifieds.....page 23

Photo by Anne Drobish

HEEEEEEEEEERE'S JAY!

Tonight Show host Jay Leno performed for a full house at Beasley Coliseum last Saturday during Dad's Weekend at Washington State University. Leno made a point to include dads in his top rated stand-up comedy routine.

Homecoming celebrates fall colors

Tim Helmke Staff Writer

Traditions of Homecoming will abound on the University of Idaho campus this week as celebration events begin. Homecoming 1993 is themed 'Autumnfest' and is a celebration of the beautiful and wide variety of colors the UI campus has to offer during the fall. Living groups, staff and faculty are preparing for the alumni, family and friends who will be in town for Saturday's football game against the Lehigh Engineers. Homecoming living group competitions began last Wednesday when the 1993 Scavenger Hunt was distributed to the groups. This hunt involved answering 50 questions about the UI and the Moscow community. Molly Sweetland, Living Group Competition Chair, said she made the questions difficult to make the living groups work for their points. These lists are due tomorrow night at Songfest, the only new event for Homecoming 1993. Songfest is the time during the week for the living groups to show off their musical abilities in vocal performance. Each living group has seven minutes to perform a live song using no backup vocals on tape, though accompaniment is acceptable. Songfest will be held in the SUB Ballroom at 6:30 p.m. and is open to the public. Royalty for 'Autumnfest' was narrowed down yesterday afternoon at the traditional tea for all nominees. Living groups voted for their top three choices in both contests and the field was narrowed down from there.

SEE AUTUMN PAGE 5

Anti-gay initiative

Attorney General Echohawk declares ICA initiative unconstitutional

Natalie Shapiro Contributing Writer

It's unconstitutional. Again. That was the decision made by Idaho State Attorney General Larry EchoHawk after reviewing the second and latest version of the Idaho Citizens' Alliance's anti-gay initiative. In addition, Chief Deputy Idaho Attorney General Jack McMahon said the state will have to pay at least $20,000 to a private law firm to defend the initiative against a constitutional challenge if it passes next year. McMahon said if the court challenge goes as far as the Colorado initiative did, it may cost as much as $100,000. In Moscow, opponents of the initiative held a press conference in Friendship Square Thursday, the day after EchoHawk's decision was unveiled. Elizabeth Brandt, President of the Idaho Chapter of the ACLU and Chairperson of Voices for Human Rights, discussed EchoHawk's opinions. 'The Attorney General makes it clear that not much of the initiative has changed; it's still an attempt to repress and discriminate against the citizens of Idaho and that's unconstitutional,' declared Brandt. Although EchoHawk found it to be unconstitutional, the initiative can still be circulated and can still be placed on the November 1994 ballot. Brandt said although the new version seemed more benign, it would have an impact on higher education. 'It would preclude the expenditure of public funds in any way that accepts, expresses approval of, or endorses homosexuality. As all public universities are supported by public funds, that would mean university professors who want to do research on sexual orientation could only do it if the goal is to show that it's unhealthy or unacceptable,' Brandt said. Brandt added the initiative would essentially force the government to discriminate against homosexuals. 'It would prohibit any state entity from adding sexual orientation to its anti-discrimination provisions,' Brandt said. 'By doing that, legislation would

He (EchoHawk) doesn't see the distinction between bedroom behavior and benign traits people are born with.

- Kelly Walton Chair of the Idaho Citizens' Alliance

prohibit gay and lesbian people from petitioning the government for redress and that would make the government a partner to discrimination...' The ICA's initiative also prohibits elementary and secondary school employees from sanctioning or endorsing homosexuality as a healthy or acceptable behavior. Brandt said if school-age children whose parents, friends or themselves are gay went to the school counselor for support, the counselor could only say that they are unhealthy and unacceptable.

Brandt said although the initiative is unconstitutional and would never become law if it passed, the effect of the proposed law on Idaho citizens would be horrendous. 'There's been heightened incidents of gay bashing at the University of Idaho,' Brandt said. 'This initiative sends a message to those who want to foster hate and fear that it's okay, and it's important for the rest of us to get the word across that it's not okay.' Brandt added although there

SEE INITIATIVE PAGE 4

News Briefs

Speaker discusses effects of abortion

Nancy Thorpe, a former Northwest director of WEBA, a women's counseling group, will give a free message concerning the psychological effects of abortion on the women who have had them. Anyone interested is encouraged to attend. The event will take place Thursday at 6 p.m. in the SUB Silver Room. For information call 885-8104.

Co-op teaches how to find paid experience

A Cooperative Education Orientation will be held today from 12:30-1:15 p.m. in Education Building 106. Discover how you can find paid work opportunities which provide practical experience related to your major. For information call Cooperative Education at 885-5822.

Tyler's Homo erectus lecture cancelled

"New finds of Homo erectus and their implications concerning human evolution in southeast Asia," the Electrical Engineering Research Colloquium by Dr. Don Tyler, has been cancelled.

The lecture was to be held today at 3:30 p.m. in Janssen Engineering Building 26. Tyler is still in Indonesia and the colloquium will be rescheduled at a later date. Tyler is an assistant professor from the University of Idaho Sociology and Anthropology Department.

Enrichment program beads with style

The University of Idaho Enrichment Program is offering a course titled "Beading With Style." Learn to string your own sparkling and beautiful necklace out of Czechoslovakian and Japanese glass beads. The class will be held Nov. 20 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. and costs $21 plus an $8.50 supply fee. For more information, or to register, call the Enrichment Program at 885-6486.

Support group for gays, lesbians available

University of Idaho Gay/Lesbian/BiSexual Association meets every Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. In addition, the Student Counseling Center has a support/growth group designed to provide support and opportunities for personal growth and enrichment for gay, lesbian and bisexual students. For more information call 885-8959. Office hours are from 3:30 - 5 p.m. Monday - Friday. Confidentiality is assured.

Cost of endangered species topic of debate

The University of Idaho College of Law and the Student Chapter of The Federalist Society presents "The Real Costs of the Endangered Species Act and Who Should Pay," a debate between Richard Stroup of the P.E.R.C. Institute in Bozeman, Mont. and Professor McDonald of the UI College of Law. The debate will take place Wednesday from 4:30-6:30 p.m. in the Law School Courtroom.

Financial aid sponsors budgeting workshop

The Office of Student Financial Aid Services will offer a free student budgeting workshop today from 2-3 p.m. in the SUB EE-DA-HO Room. This workshop is designed to assist students in planning their finances while attending the University of Idaho. A free budget guide will be available to all attendees, and will provide worksheets for students to explain how to plan for those with limited income.

Professor to compare Indian culture, religion

"How the Goddess Lost Her Power ... Or Did She Really?" is the subject of the Women's Center program today at 12:30 p.m. in the Women's Center lounge. Nick Gier, University of Idaho Philosophy professor, recently returned from a sabbatical year in Asia where he witnessed firsthand the subordination of women in India, yet noted goddess worship is very much alive. He will examine goddess worship and why the goddess is still so powerful within this patriarchal culture.

Wednesday, Sunanda Rao, a graduate student at the UI from India, will continue Tuesday's discussion by considering how India is always stirring to new ideas and awakening to new issues and yet transformation for women's lives is only partial. "Women of India: Their Everyday Lives" will be presented at 12:30 p.m. in the Women's Center lounge.

Republicans will discuss Batt, Kempthorne's visit

The College Republicans will meet today at 8 p.m. in the SUB EE-DA-HO room. They will discuss Phil Batt's and Senator Kempthorne's visits to Moscow for Homecoming.

JEB hosts intellectual property law seminar

An Intellectual Property Law Seminar will be held Wednesday from 2:30-5 p.m. in Janssen Engineering Building 104. Edward L. Tezak, Marcia S. Kelbon and Jeffrey M. Sakoi in the firm of Christenson, O'Connor, Johnson and Kindness are the featured speakers. Their topics deal with basic information about intellectual property rights pertinent to students, research personnel, professors and administrators.

Public school focus of University Roundtable

"Public School Choice and School Reform" is the topic of the next University Roundtable Nov. 10 from 12:30-1:20 p.m. in the SUB Gold and Silver Room. Speaker will be Nick Hallett, associate professor and off-campus director and department chair for educational administration. Hallett will discuss vouchers, tuition tax credits, magnet and charter schools and their potential effects on public schools. Moderator will be Jeanne Christiansen, chairperson for counseling and special education and assistant professor for special education. University Roundtable events are free and open to the public.

Chem placement exam set for Nov. 15

The chemistry placement exam (CHEM 050) will be given at 4:30 p.m. Nov. 15 in Renfrew 11. Students should bring a No. 2 pencil, a calculator and a picture ID. CHEM 050 is a prerequisite for CHEM 111. Information/study sheets for the exam are available in the Chemistry Office, Renfrew 116, or by calling 885-6552.

Friday, November 12

JUDYBATS

with

INCLINED & BIG TIME ADAM

appearing

8pm Friday, November 12, in the Idaho Union (SUB) Ballroom

ASUI undergrads $5/general admission $9

Tickets available at TICKET EXPRESS

no one under 18 admitted without parent or guardian

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
Argonaut
The Students' Voice

Editor-in-chief, 885-7825
Shari Ireton

Associate Editor, 885-8924
Chris Miller

News Editor, 885-7715
Helen Harshbarger

Lifestyles Editor, 885-7715
Russ Woolsey

Sports Editor, 885-7845
Katé Lyons-Holestine

Assistant Editor
Jeff Kapostasy

Photo Editor
Anne Drobish

Copy Editor
Jenifer Kooiman

Advertising Manager, 885-7794
Travis Quast

Production Manager
Mary Savage

Page Design Manager
LaNae Quast

Design Assistant
Joe Resudek

Staff Writers:
Matthew Andrew, Nick Brown, Greg Burton, Halo DeWitt, Janna Dwelle, Tim Helmke, Tim Schreiner

Advertising Sales:
Kirk Dyorich, Kim Jensen, Kevin Knight, Dustin Lee, Dave Mink, Doug Newbury, Mark Wasson

Advertising Production:
Martie Shelman, Dianna Braginton-Smith, Regan Sherlock

Photographers: Jeff Curtis, Joe Pallen, Joe Strohmaier, Karin Yahr

Copy Camera: Wayne Emory

Contributing Writers:
Robb Brennan, Darin Crisp, Jason Draper, Britt Drewes, Dan Eckles, Chris Farnsworth, Charla Hoppins, Ross Hosking, Teah Jones, Karin Kaasik, Andrew Longteig, Elizabeth Powell, Natalie Shapiro, Valorie Stricklin, Valerie Williams

Student Media Manager
David Gebhardt

Media Coordinator
Cynthia Mital

Media Secretary 885-7825
Susan Treu

The Argonaut is published on Tuesday and Fridays August-May and is available free on campus and in Moscow. Mail subscriptions are $10/semester or $18/year. It is published by the Communications Board of the Associated Students-University of Idaho. Opinions expressed herein are the writer's, not those of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, the faculty, the university or its Board of Regents. The Argonaut is a member of the Associated Collegiate Press, the College Newspaper Business and Advertising Managers Association and subscribes to the Society of professional Journalists' Code of Ethics.

All advertising is subject to acceptance by The Argonaut, which reserves the right to reject any ad copy. The Argonaut does not assume financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertising unless an error materially affects the ad's meaning, as determined by the Ad Manager. Liability of The Argonaut shall not exceed the cost of the advertisement in which the error occurred, and the refund or credit will be given for the first incorrect insertion only. Makegoods must be called in to the advertising manager within 7 working days.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to: The Argonaut, Suite 301, SUB, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho, 83844-4271.

Concepts of acquaintance rape changed

Gregory H. Burton
Staff Writer

It's been almost 30 years since Betsy Thomas worked her way through Ohio State University as a waitress.

When she graduated in 1966, acquaintance rape was considered little more than bad sex, if it was considered at all.

But due to the efforts of Thomas, who is the director of the University of Idaho Women's Center, and others like her across the nation, Americans have grown more conscious of the high level of domestic violence, rape and abuse in their communities.

Thomas, who came to Moscow in 1973 and began working for the UI in 1984, said despite a growing acknowledgment of the problem, sexual assault is not on the decline.

"Studies now continue to reveal the same statistics about rape as studies in the early 1980s," said Thomas.

"Eight to 15 percent of men rape. One in four women will be raped or endure an attempted rape in their lifetime," she said.

What Thomas brings to the battle is an extensive program of education and counseling aimed at dismissing acquaintance rape myths and healing victims.

Women's Center director Betsy Thomas battles acquaintance rape through education. Photo by Jeff Curtis

• SEE THOMAS PAGE 4

Health insurance hotline offers toll free help info to consumers

Helen Harshbarger
News Editor

Because of the growing concern about health insurance issues, the Department of Insurance has established a statewide "Health Insurance Hotline" for consumers.

The consumer helpline is now available by calling 1-800-721-3272.

According to Department Director Harry Walrath, "This new service reflects an increased commitment to serve the public on health insurance issues, both from this department and the governor."

Using the toll-free number, Idaho callers will have direct access to Department of Insurance personnel for questions pertaining to health insurance, other types of insurance and complaints.

The department is also in the process of developing information booklets about general health insurance questions for the small employer group health reinsurance program.

Consumers can use the 800 number to order information or to ask direct questions.

The department has provided a menu of services from which consumers can choose various information services. The number will allow for toll-free calling from anywhere within Idaho.

"We plan to promote this service extensively," said Walrath. "We see it as a great opportunity to increase our service to the public, as well as to help end some of the confusion over the health insurance reform proposals offered in Idaho and across the country."

TURKEY TUESDAY

2 Foot Long Turkey Subs

ONLY $6.39

SUBWAY

We deliver 11 - close
883-3841 332-5906
307 W. 3rd 469 E. Main
Moscow Pullman

DELTA GAMMA

would like to Congratulate their

NU officers!

EXECUTIVE BOARD

President: Kim Bauer

VP Chapter Programming: Anna Mosman

VP Pledge Education: Beth Baumgarte

VP Scholarship: Jennifer Schafer

VP Rush Membership: Debee Rice

Chapter Treasurer: Paula Perza

Recording Secretary: Jennifer Bruce

House Manager/Duties: Melissa Chaffin

Parliamentary Delegates: Laura Heron

CHAPTER PROGRAMMING

VP Social Standards: Dixie Yost

Rituals Chairman: Jamie Heberlein

House Manager/Maintenance: Susi Webb

Treasurer/Household: Kelly Heffron

Rush Parties: Jill Wolfe

Well Aware: Amanda Fine

Activities Historian: Kimmi Wolfe

Assistant Pledge Educator: Janice Hanson

Corresponding Secretary: Kara Kewamoto

Anchor/PR: Katie Peegan

Foundations Chairman: Jessica Crowe

Fraternity Awareness: Jill Wimer

SONS: Jill Wimer

Assn. Social Standards: Kimberly Ferris

HONOR BOARD

Junior Member: Anna Mosman

Sophomore Member: Jamie Heberlein

Member at Large: Kimmi Wolfe

President: Kim Bauer

VP Social Standards: Dixie Yost

Community joins alcohol battle

Gregory H. Burton
Staff Writer

Forget trickle-down — the Moscow community's response to widespread alcohol abuse has elicited the ripple effect.

Invigorated by a "round table" discussion Oct. 27, University of Idaho fraternity representative Trent Matson and UI Vice President of Student Affairs Hal Godwin are spearheading community/campus alcohol awareness programs.

Matson, in conjunction with the Sigma Nu fraternity and the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, has organized a new program with Friends Unlimited of Moscow.

Answering the call by Moscow Superintendent of Schools Jack Hill for "student role models from the university to lead the fight against alcohol abuse," Matson said his program will feature a monthly exchange between UI students and children from the city.

Friends Unlimited is the Moscow version of Big Brothers and Sisters which works with children from single-parent families, or with other special needs.

"We can show kids in the community we care, and that we can do things the right way," said Matson.

Sunday at 1 p.m. the Sigma Nu fraternity will host the first monthly get-together of the new program.

Godwin, answering his own commitment from the round table to get community organizations in touch with anybody on campus, is initiating efforts to include UI students and administrators on the community Impact Team.

Led by Cameron Lewis of the Lakeside Foundation, the Impact Team is an organization which sponsors prevention programs against alcohol and drug dependency.

• SEE FRIENDS PAGE 6

THOMAS

•FROM PAGE 3

Thomas, who is a licensed social worker, and her staff at the Women's Center, Leslie Gregory-Garnett, Susan Palmer, Kim Bouchard and Gwen Snow, sponsor a variety of programs for the community.

Every Tuesday and Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Center lounge, they present a lunch program featuring topics ranging from "Women of India" to "Thoughts on Giving," which is an hour-long open exchange of poetry, prose and song.

The Women's Center also provides a women's topical library, crisis intervention, affirmative action advocacy, and rape education — both at the center and in the classroom.

And it is the education of the college community which has become the greatest task for Thomas.

"Oh yeah, we do have a problem with acquaintance rape on this campus," said Thomas. "We raise young boys with very good survival skills, and we expect them to set the guidelines for relationships. We teach women to be cooperative and polite. This is a system ripe for abuse."

A study completed this year by the Crime Victims Research and Treatment Center found 13 percent of American women have been raped at least once, and 75 percent of those women were raped by someone they knew.

These statistics raise the ire of both conservative politicians and a new wave of anti-feminists.

Thomas said one of the goals of her rape awareness program is the re-education of college graduates who will be making important decisions in the future.

"The people who are learning it now will be the teachers and policeman, counselors, jurors and judges in the future," said Thomas. "Then we will see more convictions for rape, and conviction is a deterrent, especially for somebody who doesn't really think they are committing rape."

The Women's Center is funded both by the UI and by a grant from the Idaho Council on Domestic Violence. This support allows them to provide programs like Health and Safety 404, which trains students to teach other students about acquaintance rape and sexual assault.

The eight students enrolled this semester have presented their program to over 30 university groups on campus.

Thomas said the class content is being copied on other campuses, and she has sent copies of her syllabus to other educators at their request. Still recognition has come slowly.

"You're never seen as a model in your own place," said Thomas,

"but Dr. Zinser and Dr. Godwin, Bruce Pittman and Jim Bauer have been very supportive financially and with pats on the back."

Thomas has worked at a correctional institute for girls, for child protection and adoption services, the Palouse Aids Network and on a social review team for nursing homes located between McCall and Moscow.

At age 49 Thomas sees no end to the work she can do for the community.

Currently she is at the midpoint in the organization of a Women's Studies Program at the UI, similar to the well-regarded program implemented at Washington State University.

Recalling her days as a waitress at OSU, Thomas said, "Woody Hayes used to come in all the time and be so sweet and polite, but the players would tell me how violent and abusive he was to them."

"These behavior extremes can often be found on college campuses — at the beginning of semesters, during weekend sporting events, and especially when mixed with alcohol."

Thomas also said most acquaintance rapes are planned. "When someone says, 'I'm going to get some tonight no matter what,' they usually do."

"This is the behavior we can prevent by education."

INITIATIVE

•FROM PAGE 1

are assault laws on the books, these laws don't always protect victims of gay bashing.

Brandt said that recently, two lesbians were severely beaten in Southern Idaho.

"The assault itself probably wasn't a bashing, but when they reported it to the police, first they had to convince them that they were not fighting over a man; they did that by saying they were lesbians, and as soon as they said that, the police had no interest in enforcing the assault laws," Brandt explained.

Kelly Walton, Chair of the Idaho Citizens' Alliance, disagreed the initiative was unconstitutional and discriminatory.

"EchoHawk's saying that it's unconstitutional is based on a fallacy that homosexuals make up a legitimate minority. He doesn't see the distinction between bedroom behavior and benign traits people are born with," Walton said.

Walton was also concerned lesbians and gays would receive what he calls "special rights."

"I'm trying to prevent a situation where a grandmother getting mugged is less of a crime than a homosexual getting mugged," Walton said.

"Now, homosexuals can get redress if they're mugged; they shouldn't get special rights."

Walton also disagreed with EchoHawk's statement that the initiative would force the state to deny homosexuals rights to protection under the law.

"Homosexuals would still have rights for redress," he said.

Although Walton acknowledged the Idaho Supreme Court would probably fail to pass the initiative, he was confident the U.S. Supreme Court would.

The Brotherhood of Delta Sigma Phi would like to congratulate our new 1993-94 Dreamgirl Maria Bode Of Delta Delta Delta ... and also express our thanks to Kristen Germain of Kappa Kappa Gamma (92' - 93' Dreamgirl) for her dedication to our house.

1st Annual WSU Jazz Festival

Saturday, November 13 - 7:30 pm

Featuring: WSU Vocal Jazz Ensemble and the
WSU Jazz Big Band

Special Guest: DON SHELTON
Of the "High Lows"

Reserved Seats: Adults $7 Seniors $6 Students $4

Tickets At: Coliseum Box Office Ticket Express SUB and all G & B Select-A-Seat Outlets
Phone orders: 1-800-325-SEAT

CELEBRATING
BEAUFORT
PERFORMING ARTS
COLISEUM
YEARS IN PULLMAN

FREE

Get $5 Free on your Vandal Card Debit Account if your name appears on the following list:

"I won Free Money on my Vandal Card to use at Campus Dining locations, the Bookstore or Vending machines!"

To get your $5, you must:

1. Come in person to the Vandal Card Office on the second floor of Wallace Complex on or before November 16, 1993.
2. Bring your Vandal ID Card so that we may properly identify you.

Questions?

Call the Vandal Card Office at 885-7522

AGR celebrates first birthday

Helen Harshbarger
News Editor

With membership increasing and chapter status visible on the horizon, the University of Idaho colony of Alpha Gamma Rho is celebrating its first year on campus.

On Nov. 9, 1992, AGR initiated its first group of men, establishing the colony at a count of around 15 men, said AGR President Glenn Poxleitner.

"We've just been building since then," Poxleitner said of the group, which now numbers approximately 25.

AGR is a socio-professional fraternity which only initiates students interested in agriculture, mining and natural resources.

"There are about 50 or 60 majors which fit into the AGR requirements," Poxleitner said.

AGR was conceived on the UI campus after two national representatives visited the campus last year to recruit. The group is currently a colony, but Poxleitner hopes the fraternity receives chapter status by August 1994. To become a chapter, AGR must initiate 10 more members and have an average GPA of 3.0. The group currently has a 3.1 average GPA.

"We hope to have the required 35 members by December and then hold steady at 35 or 40," Poxleitner said.

AGR is unique from other fraternities on campus as it initiates members throughout the year and there are no pledges.

"We don't pledge," Poxleitner said. "Once you're initiated, you're a full-fledged brother."

The fraternity is focusing on recruiting freshmen, as the first group of initiates was composed of mainly sophomores and juniors.

"That's (freshmen) what's going to keep this group together," Poxleitner said. AGR is also building its alumni base. Two UI AGRs graduated last year to join the

“ “
Our biggest problem is trying to carry on a fraternity without a fraternity house. It's hard to keep this group thinking it's a fraternity rather than a group.

— Glenn Poxleitner
AGR President

65,000 AGR alumni nationwide. Poxleitner said he expects six or eight more members to graduate by next May.

Because of AGR's instant brotherhood program, the fraternity encourages membership all year.

"We're always looking for new members," Poxleitner said. "We want people who are interested in getting an education, are involved in agriculture and are willing to work within a group."

Membership selection is based on students' grades, activities and their attitude.

"We want anyone who wants to take on a challenge and experience something that's good for the campus and for the rest of their life."

Poxleitner said AGR creates a common ground for members, so there's not much dissension in the group.

"Ag means a lot to them," Poxleitner said. "Everyone is really enthused about joining the Greek system and proud of the professional standing."

With one year under their belts, AGR is now searching for housing. Currently the group is split up and living in residence halls and apartments.

"We're trying to get the group into apartments or a dorm block," Poxleitner said. "Our top priority is to build a house inside the next 10 years."

Without a house, Poxleitner said it is difficult to behave as a fraternity.

"Our biggest problem is trying to carry on a fraternity without a fraternity house," Poxleitner said. "It's hard to keep this group thinking it's a fraternity rather than a group." AGR currently holds meetings in the Agricultural Science Building.

Meanwhile, AGR keeps busy with fraternity business such as getting involved in Greek activities.

"We're pleased with the support we've gotten from the Greek system," Poxleitner said.

Tradition is the name of the game as AGR chooses its activities, which include baking cookies and holding a basket social. Last Christmas, AGR baked 750, cookies which they distributed to UI sororities. The basket social is a fund-raising event AGR is trying to get off the ground. For the social, girls fix up a basket of food and decorate it, and then the guys bid on the baskets.

AGR members have also built playground equipment for Kiwanis and fences for retired faculty, Poxleitner said.

Anyone interested in learning more about AGR can contact Brett or Glenn at 882-9473.

AUTUMN

•FROM PAGE 1

Finalists were announced during the tea by Caryl Kester, Homecoming royalty chair.

Finalists for Homecoming Queen 1993 are: Jennifer Cox, Alpha Phi; Tiffany Cripe, Steel House; Ginger Gissel, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Colleen Hall, Pi Beta Phi; Britt Heisel, Delta Delta Delta; Denise Hopkins, Gamma Phi Beta; Shelby Huber, Delta Gamma; Victoria Salinas, Alpha Gamma Delta; and, Jeni Tesch, Neely Hall.

Finalists for Homecoming King 1993 are: Scott Graff, Phi Gamma Delta; William Hart, Alpha Kappa Lambda; Ryan Klaveano, Sigma Chi; Richard Rock, Alpha Kappa Lambda; Jason Schuknecht, Lindley Hall; Jon Smith, Theta Chi; Mike Smith, Pi Kappa Alpha; and, R.D. Symms, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

These finalists will go through an interview process now and will also be judged on an extended resume which they submitted. The 1993 royalty will be announced at the traditional bonfire Thursday night. Guy Wicks Field will be the site of the event which Justin McProud, Bonfire Chair, has said will be short yet motivational for students and players as well as alumni. The bonfire will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Living groups are also designing banners to hang in the Kibbie Dome during the game. These posters will be judged as part of the living group competition, said Sweetland. Groups are urged to tie their banner to either the "Autumnfest" theme or to beating the Engineers.

The culmination of the living group events will be the parade, which is slated for 9 a.m. Saturday in downtown Moscow. Living groups are busy designing and building floats to display in the parade, which according to Parade Chair Jill Matsuoka and her assistant Jon Smith, promises to be one of the best in recent years. Communities from Idaho and Washington will also be represented in the event.

Winners of the living group competitions will be announced after the parade and these winners will receive a trophy as well as pom-poms and 50-yard line seats at the football game. These winners will also be announced at halftime of the game as well as displayed on the reader board in the Dome.

Pizza Pipeline
LUNCH SPECIALS
MON-FRI 11:00-2:00
1132 Paulman Road
Moscow, ID 83843
883-3333

Mini Pizzas 99¢
1 Trip Salad Bar with purchase of Pizza or SUB $1.59
Sub Of The Day $1.99

Tuesday Beat the CLOCK!
Pay the price the clock says!

When you call on Tuesday between 5 and 7 p.m., you get a LARGE ONE-ITEM pizza and two 22-oz. soft drinks at a PRICE THAT EQUALS THE TIME YOU CALL IN! If you call at 5:15, you get a pizza for $5.15.... Call at 5:45, you pay only $5.45, ect! (sales tax extra) Rushed for time? Beat the clock tonight!

Wednesday Special!
Save a bundle on a meal this wednesday with 50% off all pizza carryout orders!
50% off!
Carryout only!
Sales tax extra. Wednesday Nov 10 only. Carryout only. Moscow store only.

Large Two-Topper!
Get a large 16" 2-item pizza and two 22-oz. drinks for only $7.99
Sales tax extra. Expires 11/16/93. Moscow store only.

Mediummmm Delight!
Try a medium 14" 3-topping pizza and two 22-oz. drinks for only $7.99
Sales tax extra. Expires 11/16/93. Moscow Store only.

Just for one!
Try a small 12" 1-topping pizza, Tricky Six and one 22-oz. drink for only $7.99
Sales tax extra. Expires 11/16/93. Moscow Store only.

Lunch Special!
Get a 14" one-item pizza and one 22-oz. drink for only
$4.49
11 a.m. - 3 p.m. Only. Sales tax extra. Expires 11/16/93. Moscow store only.

Tricky Six!
Try our new Tricky Six® bread sticks. Choose from either Chesy Garlic or Cinnamon Sweet!
$2.50 or $1.99 with any pizza!

The Pizza Pipeline
"What a fine time for the Pipeline!"
Hours: Open 10 a.m. daily for dine-in.
Monday-Thursday 11 a.m. to 3 a.m.
Friday & Saturday 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.
519 S. Main

882-8808

Sheikh for ASUI President

Amtul Sheikh
"With More Experience To Work For You!"

- ASUI Senator for 3 Years!
- Current Finance Committee Chair!
- Worked on 3 ASUI Budgets!
- Government, Operations & Appointments (GOA) Chair for 1 1/2 Years!
- Cultural Diversity Week Co-Chair for the Past Two Years!
- All This Plus Much More...

...and into the future?

- Working To Solve On-Campus Parking Congestion with UI/WSU Transit system and a Park-N-Ride option!
- Study Abroad Scholarships - Helping Students Broaden Their Horizons!

Dedicated to Representing You!

VOTE
November 17, 1993

Paid for by Committee To Elect Sheikh - ASUI President

Historians search for inmates

Helen Harshbarger
New Editor

The Idaho State Historical Society is trying to locate former women inmates of the Women's Ward at the Idaho State Penitentiary for the purpose of collecting their oral histories.

At least 215 women "did time" at the Women's Ward from 1886 until it closed in 1967. The stories behind these women are the basis of a new exhibit under development by the Idaho State Historical Society at the Old Idaho Penitentiary.

Two historians, Susan Stacy and Rosemary Wimberly, have studied the crimes, sentences and prison experiences of the women who served time.

Wimberly's study has found that just over 150 of these female inmates are now between the ages of 40 and 80. She believes many of these women may have remained in the state or the region. Wimberly would like to speak with as many former women inmates as possible for their stories, to understand their experiences in the Women's Ward on their first-hand information. The Idaho State Historical society assures confidentiality to those who require it.

There are ninety taped oral histories pertaining to Idaho prisons. However, none include women inmates' stories. These stories will provide a part of Idaho's history and, more specifically, women's history in Idaho and the West.

Stacy's study has focused on themes from the exhibit. The new exhibit will look at societal trends and their influence on crime and punishment over the past century, such as the increase in property crimes during the Depression. One exhibit theme examines the differences in treatment the women received — both in comparison to the male inmates at the state Pen and female prisoners at other large Eastern prisons.

Details of daily life within the 14-bed dormitory will be presented along with a study of one of Idaho's infamous criminals, Lyda Southard, nicknamed "Lady Bluebeard" for her habit of dispatching husbands with arsenic. A part of the prison's dayroom will be restored to show the crowded conditions in which the women lived in the 1960s. The project is supported in part by a grant from the Idaho Humanities Council, a state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Former women inmates, or anyone who has knowledge of a former female prisoner, are encouraged to contact Wimberly at (208) 888-7876 or Chris Brady at (208) 334-2844.

Police ask for help in search

On Oct. 28, a male suspect sexually assaulted an 80-year-old woman in her Moscow home on North Jefferson Street.

The suspect knocked on the victim's door and asked to use her phone to report an accident. When she said she would call 911 for him, he ripped out the phone. A similar incident occurred Sept. 29 to a woman on South Harrison Street. The suspect is described as follows: white, male American, 20-25 years old, 5' 6" to 5' 8" tall, medium build, light brown wavy or curly hair, wearing large round dark glasses, a red sweatshirt and blue jeans.

If anyone has information about either of these incidents, call Detective Sergeant Neil Odenborg at 882-5551.

Malheur Police Department
8310-70704
October 28, 1993

FRIENDS

•FROM PAGE 4

In a memo sent to the participants of the round table, Godwin said he was "struck by the commonality of our concerns and the enthusiasm with which everyone approached working together to address them."

On Nov. 17 Godwin's office, along with the UI Office of Academic Affairs, will sponsor a national teleconference focused on integrating university living and community service.

"Building Partnerships for Community Service and Learning" will be presented on two occasions. The first session will run from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Borah Theater, and the second will run from 7 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. in the Galena Silver Room. Call the SUB Information Desk, 885-6424 or the Office of Teaching and Undergraduate Studies, 885-7491 for information and preregistration.

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

MY DEGREE GOT ME THE INTERVIEW.
ARMY ROTC GOT ME THE JOB.

Things got pretty competitive for this job. I'm sure my college degree and good grades kept me in the running. But in the end it was the leadership and management experience I got through Army ROTC that won them over.

Army ROTC taught me responsibility, discipline and leadership. Those are things you just can't learn from a textbook.

I don't know where I'd be right now if I hadn't enrolled in Army ROTC, but I do know one thing for sure...I wouldn't be here.

Find out more. Call Captain Strope at 885-6528.

ARMY ROTC
THE SMARTEST COLLEGE COURSE YOU CAN TAKE.

James Toyota

1212 Pullman Road
Moscow, Id.

882-0580

Oil Change With Filter

- change oil (5qts.)
- change oil filter
- check all fluid levels and tire press.

$21.95

expires 12-3-93

"I love what you do for me."

TOYOTA

What happened to kindergarten nap time?

Among the usual political, moral and administrative issues that are routinely addressed by the Argonaut's main opinion, an equally important student issue has gone completely unnoticed.

Nap time. What in the heck happened to it? Way back in kindergarten, students were forced to take a short nap in the middle of classes to relieve stress — this was more for the teachers than for the kids, but children benefited anyway. At a pre-arranged signal, somewhere after the alphabet and before finger painting, every kid laid down on a little foam mat and promptly fell asleep.

Now, at the time of our lives when we need a nap the most, we are denied our mats. How many times have lethargic students drifted off in the middle of a normally stimulating lecture? A quick, feline nap would have prevented such a deplorable loss of learning.

The University of Idaho recently spent double-digit millions for a new library, and while it looks great and contains volumes of stimulating material, more and more students are found stumbling bleary-eyed into dark nooks to catch a few precious moments of REM between classes.

Suppose instead we spent a portion of our budget to build a nap house. This would be a place where groggy students could drift away, not necessarily on a mat like in kindergarten (college students seem less tolerant toward others who stretch and unwittingly stick a smelly sock in their face), but in something like cocoons. We could erect a building shaped much like a honeycomb, and in each pod, so to speak, we could have a cozy sleeping area.

The drowsy student simply pays a couple dollars or use his Vandal debit card (to pay for sterilization purposes), sets a timer placed thoughtfully near the head of the bed, and falls asleep. An hour or so later, the student stretches in his private cocoon then springs forth into dazzling sunlight like a butterfly ready to take on the world.

We could get an outside contractor, like Marriott, to rent pillows and blankets for a small sum. Teddy bears would be extra.

When students are tired, they're not particular about where they sleep — any custodian can testify to the copious quantities of drool these tucked-out students leave behind. So the nap house wouldn't have to have expensive curtains or goose-down mattresses or anything, though first class suites could be rented to buffer costs.

Instead of working a lunch time into the class schedule, students could plan a break for a nap. Students would be much less grouchy, stress levels would plummet, productivity would rocket and instructors would no longer be subjected to the insults of sleeping students.

The worlds refreshed UI students could conquer are limitless; no yawns would stifle thought and pin us to mediocrity. Maybe we could even break into the top dozen colleges listed in U.S. News and World Report magazine.

Perhaps if the sprockets and gears of government got rolling, we could be napping next semester.

But maybe that's just an idle dream.

—Chris Miller

Potpourri of fried brain wanderings

The Right Way Valorie Stricklin

It's a timing thing. That's what I tell people when they ask about my husband. I went from unattached to married in a little over two months. He called when the time was right. Maybe what I call timing is fate or karma or God, because a timing thing on Thursday bordered on divine intervention.

I was sitting at the stoplight at the end of the road that goes by the Ag barns, waiting patiently to go to Wal-Mart. I was first in the line of cars, but when the light turned green instead of zipping through the intersection like I usually do, I looked up the road toward Pullman before pulling out. Right then a loaded dump truck sailed past my front bumper, not even making an attempt to slow down for his red light.

Further contemplation of this seemingly divine event made me wonder about my initial theory of having a guardian angel protecting me. What if his guardian angel was protecting him from the trauma of disintegrating a 20-year-old with her whole life ahead of her?

That puts a whole new spin on things.

Who says Americans of European descent have no culture? What about baseball, rodeo, and Big Macs? Are they not part of American culture? Oh, but that's not real culture, they say. Real culture dates back hundreds of years and is much more mystic and holy than anything a white guy could delude himself into thinking was important. Are white people totally without humanity and doomed to hell?

My family has a whole different vocabulary than that of the real world. Over time pedestrians have evolved into "Presbyterians" and really stupid people are "maroons" (actually, I think we may have stolen that one from Bugs Bunny). When my Dad was reading to us from the book Tex by S.E. Hinton, he accidentally said, "pucking off the steps" instead of "puking off the steps," so now if anyone mispronounces anything they get the "and I suppose he/she/it was pucking off the steps, too!" treatment.

I suppose some people's greatest hope would be that of their husband or wife getting along better with their family. My family loves my husband. In fact, the last two weekends we've gone out to see them they've snatched him up and left me at home. Now, my father is busy ripping all the horse stalls out of the barn to make way for a painting booth. It seems the memories of my happy horseback childhood are going to be replaced with shiny new paint jobs on old '57 Chevys and homemade street rods. My parents might as well turn their basement into an apartment for us, so at least I'll get to see my husband at dinnertime.

This sickness extends not just from my mother and father but to my little brothers too. Things my Dad says that go in one ear and out the other stick like crazy glue in their brains when my honey says it. Not that I'm jealous, or anything. Just because I lived with them for 18 years and they like a veritable stranger more than me.

Do animals really have rights? I mean, in the same sense humans do? Some people think dogs should be able to vote. Others think all means of artificial imprisonment are inhumane. Rights are something I connect purely with human beings. Of course, we

SEE WANDER PAGE 11

Drinking and parking don't mix

Thank goodness American society has MADD, SADD and even DADD. Too bad they didn't know they would not only have to fight drunk driving, but Moscow parking regulations as well.

Students who are of legal drinking age, and even those who are not, know it is illegal to park in downtown Moscow from 2 a.m. to 7 a.m. They also know if they are going to any of Moscow's downtown bars, they have to park in these regulated spaces.

Let me describe a scenario that probably takes place every night.

It is 25 degrees outside and Bob and his friend Joe decide to go play a little pool and toss back a few brews. They could walk, but they aren't going to risk sterility just to have a beer, so they get in Bob's car and head downtown.

Bob and Joe have had the immorality of drunk driving pounded into their brains since they were 12 years-old (and besides, a DUI ticket can cost mucho bucks and a three-night stay in the Latah County Hotel), so they swear on their grandmother's graves they'll drive home sober.

Too bad Joe and Bob didn't know that Buffy, the cute redhead, would be there decked out in Lycra. Too bad after two beers and a drool session over Buffy, they would decide to skip their 8:30 classes the next morning.

The Way It Is Shari Ireton

Too bad Bob had to run to the Magic Money Machine at 11 p.m. to get more money and buy the next six rounds of drinks. Too bad that at 1:49 a.m., Buffy leaves after last call and Bob and Joe decide to crawl home on their lips. "But wait," slurs Bob, "I can't leave my car here or I'll get a (hic) ticket, man."

"Thassokay Bob, I'm hokay to drive," says Joe.

After 15 minutes of fumbling around with a flashlight to find the ignition, only to forget where they put the keys, the car rumbles to life and they drunkenly weave off into the night.

The moral of this little story, which almost every Joe, Bob and Buffy over 21 has had to deal with in one way or another, is that in a state of complete obliteration, a person will do anything to avoid a $10 parking ticket.

Even if it means killing someone.

Because a parking ticket from leaving your car parked downtown is inevitable. We all know this. However, under the influence, we tend to think we are the invincible, that we are the Stealth Drunk Driver and can avoid all cops. Or, we are not that drunk and it's only a couple of blocks, we can chance it. We know we simply can't get a DUI.

The reasoning behind this thinking makes no sense, I know. But after drinking that much alcohol, does anything?

The police used to argue anyone who is too intoxicated to drive themselves home can leave a note on their car or call the department before 2 a.m. But the graveyard shift at the station does not go under that policy anymore, they simply give you the ticket. To contest

• SEE PARK PAGE 11

Letters to the Editor

Blame society, not Greeks

I am writing in response to the tragic accident that occurred at the University of Idaho where, as you know, a college freshman was intoxicated and fell from her sorority house. I am very sorry for this young woman and her family, however, as a former sorority sister myself, and as a member of our society as a whole, I am greatly distressed that the blame is being put upon the other college students and the Greek system as a whole.

We, as a society, are responsible for this young woman's tragic accident. Alcohol is made to be a stepping stone into adulthood. Look at the beer commercials that were running during Halloween season. These were not directed toward mature adults; they were aimed towards the younger drinker. "No party is complete without such and such beer." There has been a big promotional push for everyone to have a Jack Daniel's birthday party. "No one should go through the year without celebrating this occasion." Every advertisement and commercial for alcohol depicts young adults in bars or at parties having the time of their lives drinking alcohol. We tell our children to be "adults" now that they are entering college but we tell them that does not include alcohol, even though most of their parents are having their drinks every evening or weekend in order to have a good time.

Then this young woman enters college, after hearing all the beer drinking, wild stories that all of us have told and heard as far back as our grandparents' college days, and she acts just like a lot or most every other college student has in the past, she drinks too much and has a tragic accident because of this.

Should we blame her sorority sisters for taking her to these parties, should we blame her parents for not teaching her better sense regarding alcohol, or maybe the university for not stopping drinking 50 years or so ago, perhaps all of the above, but I feel that we should blame society, not punish the fraternity men who are just young adults themselves trying to grow up and get an education. We are just making their lives more difficult than it already is. I feel we are punishing these two fraternities because of our own guilt and because of the mixed signals we give our young people. Don't do as I do, do as I say is the message we are giving our young people, and all of us knows that this type of message doesn't work. We need to teach alcohol awareness, not abstinence. It has never worked in the past, and I feel it will never work in the future, no matter how many accidents occur. Every one knows that when you are young, you feel nothing like that will ever happen to you. Unless we are willing to stop portraying alcohol as a part of growing up or having a good time, our young adults will continue to drink and accidents will continue to happen.

—Kelly Aronson

Sheikh serves student interests

You deserve to have Amtul Sheikh as your next ASUI President. Amtul brings a level of experience and commitment to the job that makes her an ideal student body president.

Amtul is not the traditional politician. She is not to carve a deeper notch in her political belt, nor is she looking to pad her resume with a bunch of projects.

She realizes that most students don't have the time or inclination to jump through administrative hoops to make sure their interests are being served. Amtul has shown over the last three years that she is willing to work with the powers-that-be so that students' voices are heard. She is a coalition builder who knows how to get things done.

Amtul has served on the ASUI senate for the last three years. She was the Government, Operations and Appointments chair for a year and a half. She is currently chairing the Finance Committee and has worked on three ASUI budgets of nearly $1,000,000.

Amtul takes representation of her living groups seriously and is proud of her achievements on their behalf. She co-authored a bill which provided for a $10,000 scholarship to help students send their kids to the UI daycare. Realizing the importance of cultural diversity on campus, Amtul has been instrumental in organizing Cultural Diversity Week for the past two years. Amtul has voiced student concerns on a variety of committees including those for UI/WSU Commuter Bus Shuttle, Housing and Dining Services and Student Health Insurance. She has also served on hiring boards for two ASUI related positions.

Amtul is the ideal student body president because she genuinely wants to serve the students.

She has always been accessible as a senator, and that will not change when she becomes president. Since her natural leadership style is to encourage input from all sides, we are assured decisions that have been explored from every angle.

Amtul's experience, dedication and accessibility make her the best person to represent the students of UI. I am proud to call Amtul Sheikh my friend and we will all be fortunate to call her our ASUI president.

—Lisa Applegate

Education lack causes racism

As cultural diversity week comes to a close at the University of Idaho, it should not be surprising that the lack of diversity is a common realization to those of us who come from culturally diverse and ethnic backgrounds.

For those who diversity is not important, the lack of diversity is innocently unnoticed.

The ASUI's presentation of Floyd Cochran's "Inside the Aryan Nation," shocked many to know the existence of such racism, and to others it served to reinforce our knowledge of the existence of such extreme attitudes in this area.

"Extreme racism isn't really prominent here," most would say, yet the Moscow community is still taking racist literature off their windshields. We need not mention the KKK literature the WSU African American Association was digging out of their mailbox last Wednesday, Oct. 27.

It is clear that aversive racism in its subtle, underlying way, abides here on this campus.

During the question and answer session following Cochran's presentation, a question from myself spurred the surfacing of what I believe was the presentation's most important point. An idea the speaker and I agreed on was: Protection from and prevention of racism in its majority and minor forms come from being aware and informed, and most importantly, educated about others.

Racism, stereotyping and anxieties about other cultures are generally caused by the lack of education; hence education is an appropriate mean of changing such attitudes and behaviors.

This need for diversity education is the basis of my appeal to the university to be consistent with its commitments to all of its students.

The avenue to improvement is through educational programs and forums that encourage active learning and participation from diverse groups. Once we effect these improvements, the student population will need to follow the lead with its participation. The lead I speak of is that taken by RAACE (Recognizing African American Concerns in Education) and other groups involved in programs throughout Diversity Week.

RAACE will be implementing diversity education programs at high school groups in Spokane and around campus.

Look for my own organization, Phi Beta Sigma, to be involved in Diversity Week, to initiate programs in the spring during Martin Luther King, Jr. Week and Black History Month, and to be instrumental in directing focus to diversity issues on this campus.

—Devon Pearce

College Bowl: The Varsity Sport of the Mind

Congratulations to:

Intramural League Champions

1st Place: Huevos Rancheros

Christopher Bush • Jon Roffler • Chad Bieren • Mathew Zoll • Jim Harrington

2nd Place: Rocinante

Thomas Matelich • Aaron Waychoff • Jonathan Stiff • Geoff Beidler

3rd Place: Navy

Pual Pierzchanowski • Eric Miller • Jack Houdeshell • Tony Cayan • Mike Conner

Campus Tournament Winners

1st Place: Rocinante

2nd Place: Huevos Rancheros

3rd Place: McCoy Hall

Kama White • Kelly Wingert • Wendi Suesz • Marianne Manheim • Janelle Tate

Good Luck at Regionals!!!

Argonaut Letters Policy

The Argonaut welcomes reader letters. They must be one page typed, double spaced. Letters must be signed and include identification or a driver's license number and phone number for each writer. Proof of identity for each author must be shown when the letter is submitted to the SUB third floor student media office. The Argonaut reserves the right to refuse or edit letters. Multiple letters with the same position on a topic may be represented by one letter.

Shizumi
"Dancing the Spirit of Japan"

"Her dancing was so exquisitely nuanced, delicate, and pliant that one gasped at its expertise" --WASHINGTON POST

"This was the East/ West fusion at its best." --HOUSTON CHRONICLE

Sponsored by Festival Dance & Performing Arts. Assisted by Washington State Arts Commission.

Wednesday, Nov. 10, 7:30 p.m. Bryan Hall Tickets $8 adults; $6 students/children at The Pearl in Pullman and UI Ticket Express, and at the door.

ASUI Elections 1993 Special Section

The Argonaut will publish a Special Section featuring this year's candidates! Read what they have to say and what they're planning to do for you!

Watch For It!
November 16, 1993

Brought to you by:

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
Argonaut
The Students' Voice

Tuesday, November 9, 1993

Innocent children lead sex abuse witch hunt

Two-year-olds shouldn't know what a vagina is. They shouldn't talk about penises or anuses in the same manner they talk about their dolly's hair. Past generations called them private parts and said no one was to touch you there. It worked.

Sure, there was sexual abuse. Sure, some didn't come out until years later. Sexual abuse is a problem which does need to be addressed. While children should be able to openly talk about being hurt by someone, the new focus on sexual abuse is turning into a witch hunt, led by innocent children.

Today, parents, grandparents and friends are being thrown in jail on the word of a 2-year-old graphically detailing horrifying sexual abuse — abuse most adults can't even conceive. The baffling part is these children are not showing physical signs of abuse.

Most people heard about the Little Rascals case in North Carolina. A day care owner and her husband were accused of atrocious abuse of children in their care. As time went on, more and more children came out with stories of the husband putting knives and toy trucks into their anuses, having sex with another day care worker in front of them and making children perform oral sex on each other.

No signs of physical abuse were found in any of the children. No one saw anything, even though parents were in and out of the day care all day. No workers saw anything.

During a long, drawn-out trial, attorneys repeatedly probed children with leading questions, as had psychologists and parents, trying to determine exactly what happened.

The day care owner, her husband and a worker were convicted. The premise of the jury's decision was no child could lie about things like that.

It is frightening that we are putting more trust in a 2-year-old's word than medical reports, community reports and an adult's testimony.

Sure, the children's testimonies in this case and others are remarkable. It doesn't make sense that children would know these things. How can they lie about things they've never experienced? Studies show, they do.

In a report on the rising number of child sex abuse, ABC's 20-20 told about an elementary teacher convicted of molesting children in her class. The children talked about her putting her fist in their anuses, making them take their clothes off and smearing peanut butter on their private parts. Then she supposedly licked it off.

When the jury convicted her, it went against testimony of fellow teachers and administrators who never saw or heard anything as well as doctors' reports that none of the children showed any sign of such abuse. The question of why no one even smelled peanut butter came up, but was dismissed. Children just don't lie.

Well, I agree. Children at this age don't intentionally play with dolls and trucks and think up horrible sex acts to put their teacher away for 20 years. It is interesting to stop and consider the characteristics of this age, however.

Commentary LaNae Quast

As part of the 20-20 report, two psychologists ran a series of tests to see if children from 2 to approximately 9 do lie. The results were startling.

One experiment was to have a doctor examine a child, but only to run a stick along their foot, touch their belly and tie a ribbon loosely on their wrist.

Immediately after the exam, a child was given an anatomically correct doll. The child was asked if the doctor touched them on any of their private parts. The child responded no.

So far, so good, except when the child went home, the same doll was brought out. This time children, showing their parents what happened, stuck the stick in the doll's vagina or anus, sometimes hammering it in. They strangled the doll with the ribbon and said the doctor touched their privates.

In another experiment, a psychologist had cards with ridiculous questions on them. The child picked one and the psychologist read it, verbatim. One question was: "Have you ever caught your finger in a mousetrap and had to go to the hospital?" At first the children laughed and said no.

The results changed as each week, for 10 weeks, they heard the same questions. The psychologist never led them or rephrased the question. By the end of the study, stories had evolved.

One child told a detailed story of how his mom and brother were there when he caught his finger in a mousetrap by the wood pile. He talked about the weather, the family's reaction and, yes, his trip to the hospital.

After the experiment, his father told him the episode never happened. The child agreed, but when reporters asked him about it, he repeated it, with the same details, fervently promising it really happened. But it never did.

You can't say these children are malicious liars. For the first time they are learning how to make up stories and use a doll as a real person. They are enjoying using their minds to have fun, to create stories and events.

It's not much fun for those innocent of wrongdoing who are spending time in prison. It is also not right that parents who are guilty only of performing the role of a parent are being imprisoned or labeled child molesters.

Ellen Hopkins wrote about her undeserved label in Newsweek. Her daughter, Kelly, was three hours late getting home from school when Hopkins received the call from the sheriff.

"Your daughter is fine. I have her with me and she has reported your husband for child abuse. Extreme and ongoing."

No, there had never been abuse. Instead, there had been the typical fight that morning. After Kelly refused to clean up a mess she had made in the kitchen, her stepfather swatted her three times on the behind, open-handed, over blue jeans. This was the second time she had ever been spanked.

All it took to change a spanking to child abuse was the simple phrase, "My stepfather hit me," coupled with normal tears. An overly interested neighbor reported abuse. The chain linked all over town, becoming more horrible with each report.

By the time it got back to Hopkins, the chain was a 100-mile-long lie, made strong by fear and overreaction. Although the problem was quickly settled, she and her husband are still struggling to regain their reputation.

It is true there needs to be an awareness of child sex abuse. Children need to know their rights. Still, even though these children are U. S. citizens, we don't put them on juries to determine a man's guilt for a good reason. Kids will be kids and sometimes, you just can't believe it when they say the dog ate their homework.

NORTHWEST VALUE PHARMACY

Supplies for all Sports Injuries

- | | | |
|---------------|----------------|----------------|
| Tennis Elbow | Support Braces | Instant Ice |
| Knee | Underwraps | Hot/Cold Packs |
| Ankles | Tapes | Insoles |
| Carpal Tunnel | Splints | Heel Cups |

Featuring Eclipse Orthopaedics, Flex Support, and Spenco.

STUDENTS!

We can bill your parents or insurance.

619 S.O. Washington Suite #2 (208) 882-9746

PARIS VISION CENTER

Adjustable Tint, and now extra comfort. Introducing a plastic lens that's easy on your eyes, and light on your nose!

TRANSITIONS PLUS have an adjustable tint that stays neutral indoors, and darkens as soon as you step outside. They are made of comfortable light weight plastic. So in addition to a changeable lens, you get maximum comfort.

Transitions^{Plus}
A Change for the Better.

SAVE
$20.00

On Transitions Plus lenses
*Present this ad at time of purchase to receive discount.
(Some limitations may apply)
exp. 12-15-93

Experience the difference. Come try SOLA TRANSITIONS PLUS lenses, today.

Dr. George A. Paris, Optometrist
1205 E. 6th, Moscow
Corner of Blaine & 6th

Paris Vision Center

882-3434
Mon-Fri 9am-5:30pm, Sat 9am-3pm

Save 20% On All Books Relating To IDAHO!

Friday November 9 thru November 13, 1993!

Save on Great Books Like These:

- Celebrating Idaho
- Story of Idaho
- Idaho For The Curious
- Songs of Idaho
- The Crested Hill

...Plus Many More!

University of Idaho
BOOKSTORE

DOMINO'S PIZZA
SAVE

Time & Money

With Domino's Daily Specials!

In Moscow

883-1555

Customer pays sales tax. Not valid with any other offer. © Domino's Pizza.

Competition Crusher

Large 1 Topping
Pizza and 2
Cokes Only

$6.99

+ tax

Expires 11/26

Vandal Special

2 Medium 2 Topping
Pizza with 2 Cokes

Expires 11/26

$9.99 + tax

Add T-Wish Bread or a Salad for $1.00

Playing God with cloning technology

The world's going to hell in a handbag. But don't worry, if life sucks and the pain is too great, Dr. Kevorkian will strap you to the exhaust pipe of his '57 Buick. Instant God.

Lots of people are playing God these days. For instance, at George Washington University Medical Center, five scientists have successfully made 48 embryos from 17. That's called cloning. The Boys From Brazil meet Frankenstein, and you and I get to play Abbott and Costello.

I'm sure there's a worthy application for cloning technology. In this instance, it was worth first place at a fertility conference, accommodation for the scientists, a year's supply of Gerber Strained Peas, and as yet, unnamed millions for the researchers to continue their quest.

You want twins? Quintuplets? Your own symphony orchestra? Call Dr. Jerry Hall and his staff, and for what I'm sure will be a very reasonable fee, presto -- family in a petri dish.

Most of the ignorant cloning debate centers on the possibility of elitists freezing three or four of themselves for future emergencies. Break a nan during yesterday's polo match? No problem, send Igor to the cellar to fetch a new one. Frustrate trouble? You get the picture.

And then there's the argument Saddam Hussein will clone himself a few hundred times and invade Hawaii. Or, um, vet. Bob Dole will self-multiply -- just imagine the collective congressional constipation with a few more Peas around.

But don't worry -- Dr. Jerry "I'm not married to Mick Jagger" Hall has only lent credence to an ability to

Commentary
Gregory H. Burton

Gregory H. Burton
Commentary

clone embryos, not grown humans, or dead humans for that matter.

Still, you may ask what Dr. Kevorkian has to do with all this rigmarole? Actually, his adherence to a right to choose death follows closely with the right to choose life, and who decides who gets what when.

It used to be God decided whether you lived or died. The right-to-lifers must be going bonkers over cloning. Say you're fooling around with a simple two-for-one cloning and your mother-in-law calls from New Jersey. Badda Bing Badda Boom, you've got 450 clones swimming around. What do you do now?

Do you flush the other 448 down the toilet? Should we call Kevorkian for a more humane prescription for death?

All good questions, and I don't have the answers. And neither does Hall, or your government for that matter.

What I might suggest though, is persuading your government to organize an ethical committee bent on establishing some sort of policy before things get out of hand.

What we don't need are fanatical loose-cannons blowing up cloning laboratories and chaining themselves to a beaker full of embryos. What we do need is open ethical discussion on the future implications of this kind of research.

And when that fails, start praying God doesn't hook us all up to the exhaust pipe from that big Cadillac in the sky, fill the tank full of leaded, and cruise to some other planet for a new cloning project.

Letters to the Editor

Marble has qualifications

We need a qualified person to be our next student body president.

That is why I am supporting John Marble. John has the qualifications and dedication to make a great ASUI President. During the last year alone, John has served the students in the following ways: Finance Committee,

Rules and Regulations Committee, Bookstore Advisory Committee, Activities Board, Legislative Action Committee, Vice Chair, Idaho Student Boosters, Chair, International Friendship Association Advisory Board

John has used these opportunities to represent students well. I fully support John for ASUI President and urge other students to support him because of his excellent credentials.

—Chris Tarabochia

Did you know the Argonaut publishes 95% of the letters to the editor we receive? Voice your opinion — write today!

NEEDED!

Sport and Outdoor Writers!

If interested Please Contact The Argonaut

at 885-7825

or come to the 3rd floor of the Student Union Building!

Large 3 Topping Pizza Only

$8.99

See Page 9

For Our Other Specials!

883-1555

Moscow

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Student Faculty Council

This position sits and votes on the Faculty Council. They will deal with issues concerning Student Code of Conduct, Curriculum changes, and other student issues. This position is required to attend Council meetings every other Tuesday at 3:30 PM. The position does pay. All applications due November 17, 1993

ASUI Student Lobbyist

The Student Lobbyist takes one semester off from school and lives in Boise to represent the ASUI and the Student Body to the State Legislature and the Governor. This position receives $3,000 per semester. Applicant is responsible for own room and board. Political Science credits can be arranged. Applications due Nov. 17 1993.

Other Positions Available

Student Issues Board, Activities Board and Academics Board!

If interested you may pick up an application at the ASUI Office or if you have any questions please call 885-6331!

Become Involved In YOUR Student Government!

Tuesday, November 9, 1993

Letters to the Editor

Brennan will help GPSA grow

My name is Michael Brennan. Since 1990 I have been a graduate student in the Mathematics Department at the University of Idaho.

It was through this department that I became involved in the Graduate Professional Students Association (GPSA) when I was elected department representative last semester.

During this time the GPSA has experienced tremendous growth — a computer lab was established, total control of our own finances was achieved, increased representation at the monthly meetings, greater recognition as an organization.

These changes have been very positive and exciting and are instrumental in my decision to run for president. Other reasons include a desire to:

(1) Tackle issues that directly affect graduate students, i.e. TA's salaries, housing, working conditions.

(2) Encourage more graduate students to get involved in their organization, GPSA, and use it as a vehicle to voice their concerns.

(3) Make GPSA a more visible organization.

(4) Develop policies regarding entertainment and departments in default.

(5) Strive to achieve more recognition for graduate students, i.e. teaching excellence awards.

GPSA is your organization. It's members form one of the most diverse groups on campus. It's diversity is one of it's strengths. It is the only organization that can and will speak up for you.

I feel that the time is right for our concerns and needs to get the attention they deserve.

To conclude, I'm honored to run for GPSA president and I urge all graduate students to come out and vote on Nov. 17 and let's take a step forward.

—Michael Brennan

WANDER

•FROM PAGE 7

have an obligation not to mistreat or be barbaric to fuzzy little creatures, but how far does it go? Should we set all animals free? What about zoo and research animals that have never lived outside of captivity? While I think no human has a right to set animals on fire just because they had a bad day, I don't think animals have rights in the same sense as radical animal rights people want. Fido can not vote, and should get swatted when he piddles on the floor.

Speaking of swatting, people are getting turned into the state right and left for child abuse violations when seen thumping on their kids in public. There seems to be a wave of anti-corporal punishment people running around just waiting for someone to swat at their kid. While bruising and breaking bones are definitely abusive, it should be up to parents to decide how they are going to discipline their children. Some people swear by "time-out" corners, while others use the rod. Children don't come with operator's manuals, and parent don't have to be licensed, so for now, we're all on our own and flying by the seat of our pants. The state ought to butt out in cases like this, and save their time and energy for cases where the lives and well-beings of the children are truly threatened.

PARK

•FROM PAGE 7

the ticket you must go to the police station, get a contest form, fill it out, take it to the prosecuting attorney and wait two to three weeks for the results.

Also, this little bit of information about ticketing and how to contest it is not posted anywhere in the downtown area. If the public is not informed, how are they supposed to follow the rules (especially when intoxicated)?

The problem is not with the fact the city has to clean its streets, which is only done once every three weeks, so they need the cars to be out of the way.

The problem lies with the fact our wonderful tax dollars cannot go to informing the public of their rights, and the consequences if they waive those rights. While spending time and money planting trees and adding to City Council salaries, the city can't bother to take a few hours and a little money to post this information along with the existing parking signs.

There is no excuse for driving drunk. I think the incident at the first of the semester all taught us a little lesson about taking responsibility for one's own actions.

But there's also no excuse for not telling the public how to help take that responsibility.

New Weekday Specials
at Treaty Grounds
In the Palouse Empire Mall

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday
Wings -ii- Pitchers 6 - 10 pm Wings: Basket of 10 & choice of sauce: $2.50 Pitchers: House: $5.00 Domestic: $3.00 Monday Night Football	Pettucini Alfredo All you can Eat $6.95  Live Music 9 - 11 pm Mark Morrisson Happy Hour all Night Starting at 4:00 pm	BBQ Ribs $6.95 with $3.00 off coupon coupon available at The Palouse Empire Mall All Entrances

All letters to the editor are due by noon the day before the next issue is to be printed. Letters can be submitted to the Argonaut office on the third floor of the SUB.

Hey, man, the Blue Key Campus Phone Directories are Here! You can find 'em at the Idaho Union Info Desk & the Bookstore. And when you're at the Bookstore, check out these Stylin' shirts. (Oh yeah, man, the Blue keys are $2⁰⁰ and the cool shirts $12.95)

Departments: to order Blue Keys send a signed IDG with: department name, contact person, delivery address, phone number & budget code to — Blue Key, Idaho Union 4251

 • Music •

"Tour for Life" to play SUB Ballroom

This Friday ASUI Productions will present the "Tour for Life" concert in the SUB Ballroom at 8 p.m.

"Tour for Life" will feature the bands Judybats, Inclined and Big Time Adam.

Judybats is a band from the University of Tennessee play a broad range of styles, from gentle ballads to rollicking rave-ups.

Inclined, from Los Angeles, brandishes a diverse, energized sound that should lend a compliment to Moscow's own Big Time Adam, who play also on Friday. Tickets are now available at Ticket Express or through G & B Select-A-Seat outlets. Tickets are $5 for UI students and $9 general.

Moscow student wins Wash/Id contest

The Washington Idaho Symphony chose two musicians to perform with the symphony in its 18th annual Young Artists' Competition, held at the Lionel Hampton School of Music Sunday.

Dianna Cline, a University of Idaho music major, and Anna Povich, a Shadle Park High School student, were chosen from a field of 21 musicians. Cline, a pianist, is a sophomore at UI and Povich plays the flute.

Rolling Stone top ten college albums

Top Ten College Albums as Reported by Rolling Stone magazine:

1. The Breeders
Last Splash
2. Smashing Pumpkins
Siamese Dream
3. Catherine Wheel
Chrome
4. The Juliana Hatfield Three Become What You Are
5. Bjork
Debut
6. Cracker
Kerosene
7. Sweet Relief
Various Artists
8. Buffalo Tom
Big Red Letter Day
9. Unrest
Perfect Teeth
10. The Cranberries
Everyone Else Is Doing It, So Why Can't We

Dispelling the theatrical myth

Photos by Anne Drobish

The cast of Mad Jazz Theatre watch a co-cast member during a rehearsal last week in the Collette Theatre.

Mad Jazz Theatre offers alternative to traditional theatre performance

Russ Woolsey
Lifestyles Editor

Spacy, mind-wandering, pleasurable torture will be offered to students with a sense of adventure in the UI Theatre production Mad Jazz Theatre: A Chautauquan Review this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Jean Collette Theatre.

Mad Jazz Theatre is an evening of live jazz music, smoky torch songs, poetry readings, short skits and Shakespearean monologues.

It leads the audience through a maze of confused order with music and drama. Each wall of this thought provoking maze is put into place by director Chas Allan, a UI theatre arts senior.

"My whole intention in doing this piece is to inspire non-traditional theatre goes to look at theater in a different way," Allan said. "I want to de-myth the fact that theatre is always Shakespeare with loud eloquence."

Allan said the Collette Theatre is designed for students to

“They will be moved and it could make them weep . . . and they won't know why.”

—Chas Allan,
Director of Mad Jazz Theatre

experiment, and experimenting is exactly what Allan is doing. He said the play is a roller coaster ride for the audience — "They may have a flat entertaining ride or they can search their soul."

The play begins with cast member Ed Hughes reading Jack Kerouac's "On the road," with theatrics only Hughes, a member of UI faculty, can portray.

Allan said Hughes is Jack Kerouac in "carney," and that the pieces performed were picked themselves by the actors, which include UI graduate students Gabrielle Korten and Demaree Harvey, seniors John Sprenke and Lori Gilliam, junior Jesse Petrick and sophmores Carey Gibbar and Rusty Greene.

• SEE MAD JAZZ PAGE 15

Top: Rusty Greene rehearses as Amy Nelson and Klaus Ferguson keep the 'mad jazz' sound in the background.

Right: Lori Gilliam and Jesse Petrick rehearse "The red Coat," a short skit about love and how "mad" it really can be.

Calendar Nov. 9-15

Tuesday, November 9

Music: Jay Mauchley will give a faculty piano recital in the Lionel Hampton School of Music Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Wednesday, November 10

Movie: ASUI International Film Series presents Tillai, in the SUB Borah Theater at 7 p.m.

Dance: Shizumi, Modern Japanese dancing, will perform

Thursday, November 11

Lecture: Judy Gose-Noritake will discuss "New Federal Directions for River Conservation and Water Shed Policy" in Forestry Building Room 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Music: Adam Holzman guitar recital at the Lionel Hampton School of Music Recital Hall, 8 p.m.

Friday, November 12

Music: ASUI Productions presents "Tour for Life," which will feature music from Inclined, Judybats and Big Time Adam, in the SUB Ballroom at 8 p.m.

Music: Homecoming Concert with the Vandaleers and UI Symphony Orchestra in the University Auditorium, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, November 13

Music: Auditorium Chamber Music presents Hexagon in the University Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Sunday, November 14

Feast: Latah County Historical Society sponsoring ham and turkey dinner at the Moscow Moose Lodge from 11:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

If you would like to announce your group's activity in the lifestyles calendar, call the lifestyles editor a week before publication.

Cyclist to lecture about 10,000 mile African trip

A multi media presentation documenting a group's 10,000-mile bike trek across Africa will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington State University CUB Auditorium.

Dan Buettner will present the expedition that he and his brother Steve, both of Minneapolis, African American physician Dr. Chip Thomas of Tucson, and Mobalaji Oduyoye of Nigeria took last November.

Beginning in Bizerte, Tunisia, the African trek expedition experienced two months in the Sahara Desert, several months in Central Africa's rainforest, and cycled to the top of Mount Kilimanjaro, which stands at 19,340 feet.

In the course of the journey, the team distributed 1,000 bikes to people in Kenya and Tanzania. The expedition concluded in the summer of 1993 when they reached Cape Agulhas, South Africa.

This will be Buettner's second appearance in Pullman. His lecture uses the framework of historic expedition to offer a "behind the headlines" look into the continent of Africa, its resources and its people.

Among the themes highlighted in his lecture will be environmental issues, cultural and ethnic diversity and overcoming obstacles and adversity.

Buettner is the author of two books, Inside Grand Bahama, and Cycling through Russia, a children's book about the 190 "Sovietrek." Buettner also is a free-lance writer who has been featured in the Chicago Tribune, the Star Tribune, Boy's Life, Outside Magazine and Sports Illustrated.

His other achievements include a 12,888 circumnavigation of the globe when he traveled across most of the former Soviet Union in 1990, and a 1987 trip which took him 15,536 miles from Alaska to Argentina.

For more information about about tomorrow's presentation, contact the ASWSU Activities and Recreation office at 335-9666.

First annual jazz festival to play at WSU

Tim Schreiner
Staff Writer

Woodwind artist Don Shelton will be in concert Nov. 13 at 8 p.m., as part of the First Annual Washington State University Jazz Festival, in the Beasley Performing Arts Coliseum.

Shelton will perform with the award-winning WSU Vocal Jazz Ensemble and Jazz Big Band under the direction of faculty members Paul Klemme and Gregory Yasinitsky. He will perform a variety of jazz classics, including Yasinitsky's arrangement of "I'm Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter."

Shelton's musical career over the last 25 years has ranged from classical to jazz, from concert halls to recording studios. He spent five years touring and recording with the Hi-Lo's, a male vocal quartet. Shelton is currently continuing his work in the Los Angeles area.

The vocal jazz ensemble will open the program with a set featuring arrangements by University of Idaho Jazz Choir director Dan Bukvich. A Neil Hefti tune, "Spanky," will begin the set, followed by a Sharon Broadly arrangement of "It Never Entered My Mind." The choir will end the set with Bukvich's arrangement of "Mr. Five-By-Five."

The jazz big band will perform Roger Holme's composition, "Cubicle Blues," and Yasinitsky's "Zoot Suit." Featured soloists will include trumpeter Jim Phillips, trombonist Rob Tapper, Heather Chriscaden on the bass and drummer Tom Marko.

The vocal ensemble and big band will join to present "Unforgettable," as arranged by WSU faculty member Charles Argersinger, and "Come Fly With Me," arranged especially for the groups by Yasinitsky.

From 1 to 1:45 p.m., Shelton will join Jazz Northwest, which includes WSU faculty members

• SEE MUSIC PAGE 16

The Bazaar and Café whole food sandwiches, salads, soups, snacks, sweets, and beverages

OPEN DAILY
11AM - 6PM

Espresso Bar • Local Crafts
Imported Clothing • Housewares
Idaho Foods • and Fresh Gift Ideas

substairs at the
MOSCOW FOOD CO-OP
310 W. 3rd Street • 882-8537

Friday, November 12

JUDYBATS

with

INCLINED & BIG TIME ADAM

appearing

8pm Friday, November 12, in the Idaho Union (SUB) Ballroom

ASUI undergrads $5/general admission $9

Tickets available at TICKET EXPRESS

no one under 18 admitted without parent or guardian

Photo by Jeff Curtis

Nicole DiLoglio views the Ansel Adams exhibit, Monday.

Ansel Adams at Prichard

Charla Hoppins
Contributing Writer

The University of Idaho Prichard Gallery is exhibiting Ansel Adams: The American Wilderness, until Nov. 21, 1993.

The exhibition of the American wilderness consists of 47 prints by the American photographer. The show was curated by The Center For Creative Photography in Tucson, Ariz.

The show ranges from depictions of Yosemite in California to images of Acadia in Maine; the environmental immediacy of Adams' photographic legacy is celebrated in this exhibition. Adams portrays the mountains, the valleys, the meadows and rivers of our National Parks as virtual cathedrals of life instead of just vacation spots. Adams was concerned with the rape of our land and bears this through his art. "It is in nature," he once said, "that we seek our origins, and our spiritual and emotional existence." Selected from the Ansel Adams archives at the Center for Creative Photography and supported by loans from the collection of Virginia Adams, this exhibition contains some of Adams' best known pictures and many rarely seen images and vintage prints.

"I think that the whole pattern of life should be subject to the photographer's interpretation — with honesty, clarity and tolerance."

This philosophy of Adams is plainly displayed throughout the gallery and allows the viewer to take a second look at nature and see its awesome form and detailed structure.

Along with Ansel Adams' exhibition, Jan Boles from Caldwell is also displaying some of his photographs and montages. Boles is also a black-and-white photographer and is dedicated to the panorama of the western landscape. His work is a quest to perceive the forces shaping changes in the land and its inhabitants. Boles has been said to look for both the enduring quality of the natural scene and our ironic ability to affect the land's capacity to endure. According to Boles, "Finding aesthetic themes of social significance within the vast scale of the American west is an endless pursuit ..."

The University of Idaho Prichard Art Gallery is located at 414/416 South Main Street in Moscow. The Gallery is open Monday - Friday 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Mastering the art of stump sitting

Just about everyone plops down on a log now and then with hopes of having an unsuspecting deer wander by. Few stump sitters, however, master the art of sitting still.

Sitting cigar-store-Indian-still has nothing to do with occasionally glancing into a clearcut while you eat a sandwich and pick your nose. No, sitting with the hope of observing wildlife at close range is as integral to good woodsmanship as building a fire or navigating by map and compass.

In wildlife observation, photography, or hunting there is a time to still hunt (stalk slowly), a time to cover ground, and a time to sit dead still.

Many species of wildlife, particularly big game, are more active in cold, miserable weather conditions because they have to feed for longer periods to keep their body temperatures up.

These periods of intense feeding should usually be classified under the "time to sit" category.

Another prime time to plant your

Outdoors with . . . Nick Brown duff is during peak breeding periods, when animals are more active than usual. For example, in this area the whitetail rut climaxes around Thanksgiving. The ball is in your court if you can hunt then, particularly if the weather is lousy. On these magic days, every deer on the hill will be on the move — feeding, breeding, and generally going crazy. Field notes from years past show the local whitetail rut to be well underway by Nov. 15. Unfortunately, the best times to take a stand are also the most difficult times to sit still. Knowing a few tricks can make your "sits" more productive.

Since your objective is to sit completely still without fidgeting, shifting, or even scratching an itchy nose, being comfortable is important. Dress warmly, but don't wear so much that you'll work up a sweat walking to your stand. The old adage about starting a brisk

• SEE STUMP PAGE 16

EVERY BOOK SHOULD HAVE A HAPPY ENDING.

Last year thousands of phone books ended up in the trash. That's why GTE wants to help do its part to help the environment. We hope you'll do yours, too, by dropping off your old telephone directories at the following locations after you receive your 1993-94 GTE directory.

NOVEMBER 1 THRU 15

GTE

Northwest

- MOSCOW RECYCLING CENTER
245 JACKSON ST.
- U OF I RECYCLING STATIONS
- WSU RECYCLING STATIONS

Limited Time Offer

HOMECOMING SPECIAL PRICING!
ORDER THIS WEEKEND & RECEIVE YOUR RING BY CHRISTMAS

Lowest Prices of the Season
on college rings

selected
Women's Rings
$239 regularly priced up to $350

selected
Men's Rings
$299 regularly priced up to $435

JOSTENS

Will be in the Union on Friday, November 12TH & Saturday, November 13TH from 9:00AM-4:00PM.

Payment plans available; VISA, AMERICAN EXPRESS, DISCOVER, & MASTERCARD ACCEPTED.

Prices are for 10k gold rings; add $100 for 14k gold rings

Tuesday, November 9, 1993

Photo by Irene Young
Shizumi Mazale will perform her modern Japanese dance at WSU's Bryan Hall, on Wednesday.

Modern Japanese dance at WSU's Bryan Hall

Traditional Japanese theatre will be presented in a unique way this Wednesday by Shizumi Manale at Washington State University's Bryan Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

Shizumi will incorporate Japanese dance, theatre and visual arts with western modern dance in a unique synthesis designed to express cultural awareness and promote cultural harmony.

"I believe that the development of my art mirrors a transformation of the world as cultures share with one another and, in so doing, create something new and wonderful," explains Shizumi. "Sharing leads to understanding, understanding leads to harmony."

Shizumi learned traditional Japanese theatre, which is considered a men-only art form, from an old master in Japan. The master agreed to teach her only because she was going to take her talents to America.

Shizumi will be on the Palouse for three performances in Moscow, Pullman and Potlatch.

She will be performing Dancing the Spirit of Japan at Bryan Hall, which will include the dance "Kakurenbo," dedicated to all victims of the atomic bombing in Japan. In the dance, Shizumi portrays a child who comes back from the grave to try and understand the circumstances of how she died.

Shizumi's unique background enables her to bring together the art of dance, theatre, poetry, music and visual arts. Trained in both Japanese and western dance, Shizumi spent her childhood in Osaka, Japan and began formal study of classical ballet and Japanese dance at age five.

She now appears frequently on stage and on television throughout the United States and abroad, including several performances at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C., and was recently commissioned to create a new work, which was performed at the prestigious National Theatre in Osaka.

Tickets for Shizumi's performance are $8 general and $6 for students. They are on sale at The Pearl in Pullman, UI Ticket Express at the SUB and at the door.

MAD JAZZ

FROM PAGE 12

The performances of the actors are amplified by the power of the music, which rises and climaxes with the actors in loud jams, emphasising every word uttered, every gesture made.

Several electrifying climaxes ring loud throughout the performance as music and acting become one.

Leading the jazz ensemble, which includes Jim Dalton on guitars, Klaus Ferguson on percussion and Amy Nelson on bass, is UI music student Rob Lewis who Allan referred to as "God."

Allan said Lewis proposed most of the musical pieces to him, they collaborated on it and then Lewis transposed the music to fit with the performance.

The opening piece of music was written by Nelson. The piece is titled Greenes for Hubbard.

Allan said he hopes the performance will inspire students to read some of the poems and works in the play.

Mad Jazz Theatre opens on Thursday night and will continue through Sunday. Tickets are $4 at the door. For further information contact the UI Theatre Arts Department at 885-6465.

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
Argonaut
The Students' Voice

POSITION AVAILABLE:

The ASUI Office is now accepting applications for spring Argonaut Editor-in-Chief! If interested please stop by the ASUI offices on the first floor of the Idaho Union!

Application Deadline:
Wednesday, November 10, 1993

HOMECOMING SPECIAL!

Receive One Troy Once of Silver With Every $50.00 Purchase of Emblematic Merchandise Purchased at the Bookstore November 12th & 13th!

University of Idaho
BOOKSTORE

Palouse Snowboard Specialists Bikes and Skis Inc.

1994 Snowboard Blowout!

Board & Binding starting at:

Yellow Bus	$349
Apocalypse	$419
Sims	$439
Nitro	$449
Free Surf	$459
Grunge Boots	$119
Airwalk Boots	$159

Many Accesories 25-40% off.
All Bamboo Curtain Wear Priced to Sell Fast.
Check out "Anthem", Airwalk's newest Snowboard video at 3:30 and 4:30

Bikes and Skis Inc.

E 219 Main

International guitarist plays Thursday

The University of Idaho Lionel Hampton School of Music Guitar Series will present Adam Holzman this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the School of Music recital hall.

Holzman has won awards in international guitar series competitions and has toured regularly throughout North and Central America and Europe.

Holzman has received rave reviews everywhere he appears and he is quickly establishing himself as one of America's premier guitarists.

The New York Times describes his playing as "energetic and virtuosic" and the Houston Chronicle stated, "Holzman wooed the audience with his blend of excellent technique, a superb understanding of style, and haunting tonal beauty."

Holzman will be performing J.S. Bach's Sonata #1, transcribed for guitar. He will also play William Walton's Five Bagatelles and several pieces by French composer Roland Dyens.

This is the second performance in the UI Lionel Hampton School of Music Guitar series. Tickets for the concert are $5 general and $3 for students and will be available at the door.

STUMP

•FROM PAGE 14

hike a little bit cold should be followed. You won't last 10 minutes once you cool down and the bitter winter air permeates your drenched clothing. To avoid this, carry extra clothes in a pack and then dress in layers once you've arrived. Polypropylene underwear, wool pants, shirt, and socks topped with a down coat and a waterproof windbreaker will let you ride out the worst weather.

Bring along something to sit on to keep your butt from going to sleep. Clear away any stones, sticks, or brush that threaten to make you sore, thus tempting you to move during your vigil. A good back and arm rest help make the wait more bearable.

Learning to sit still requires patience — something that many outdoorsmen lack today. Blame it on MTV, junk food diets, or a fast-paced lifestyle, but the fact remains that many people have a hard time sitting still and doing nothing.

But you won't need a radio or TV if can learn to meld into the woods. You'll know when you've become part of the furniture when wildlife begins to carry on their normal routine around you.

The rewards are worth the initial torment of de-programming yourself from an MTV culture and patiently adjusting to a natural world that doesn't have to meet deadlines. I've seen pine martin and fisher close enough to touch, watched a sow bear and two cubs feed within a fly rod length, and nearly broke up laughing when a blue grouse walked between my legs picking gravel.

Of course, every now and then, a deer or elk wanders by and my heart jumps into my throat. There's something that makes the blood race and the adrenaline flow when an undisturbed buck ghosts toward your well-concealed position, totally unaware of your presence. When this happens, you're getting the hang of becoming a bump on a log.

MUSIC

•FROM PAGE 13

Yasinitsky on saxophone, Argersinger on piano and Dave Jarvis on percussion, to present jazz standards and originals such as "Blues For a King," and "Flim Flam," composed by Yasinitsky.

During the day, high school vocal jazz ensembles and big bands from throughout the region will present performances in the coliseum, as well as attend workshops and clinics in Kimbrough Hall, home of the WSU School of Music and Theatre Arts.

The Jazz Studies Program has received national recognition, and jazz ensembles, combos and soloists have received numerous awards from Down Beat magazine, the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival and others.

All daytime events in the coliseum are open to the public free of charge. Tickets for Shelton's concert cost $7 for adults, $6 for seniors and $4 for students.

Tickets are available at the coliseum box office, Ticket Express and at all G & B Select-A-Seat outlets, or by calling 1-800-325-SEAT.

CADILLAC

Jack's

2 for 1 Rodeo Thursday

Includes

2 for 1 Pitchers & 2 for 1 Cover till 11 PM

Country Dance Competition

Billy Bair Band Live

Next to Mingles in Moscow

We Accept All Competitors Coupons! See Page 9 For Details!

883-1555

Moscow

What to use when your term paper's still not finished but your printer is.

With Visa® you'll be accepted at more than 10 million places, nearly three times more than American Express. And that's not a misprint.

Visa. It's Everywhere You Want To Be.®

• Volleyball •

Volleyball champs try to defend title

With four games remaining in the regular season, the University of Idaho volleyball team wrapped up the Big Sky Conference regular season title this weekend.

They continue defending their 1992 Big Sky Conference Championship on the road this weekend. The Lady Vandals take on Weber State Thursday and Northern Arizona Saturday.

"These two teams are both coming off wins over Montana," head coach Tom Hilbert said. "Now they're fighting to get into the conference championships and they'll be coming at us with everything they've got."

The Lady Vandals return home next week for the final two regular season games.

• Football •

Football takes on Lehigh Engineers

This week the Vandal football team takes on the Lehigh Engineers of Bethlehem, Penn. for homecoming in the Kibbie Dome.

After losing to the Montana Grizzlies, the Vandals finish the season with two more home games. The Vandals have two more regular season games, homecoming and the season final, Boise State.

• Outdoors •

Slide presentation of Mt. McKinley

"Denali ... The High One," is the story of four University of Idaho students' ascent and descent of Denali, more commonly known as Mount McKinley, the highest point in North America.

Rob Haggart, Amy McGeachin and Tom and John Rust, the first UI team to ascend Denali, will be on hand to tell the story of their climb, from the beginning at Denali National Park, when they are loaded down with hundreds of pounds of food and equipment, to the exciting view from the summit.

The University of Idaho Outdoor Program is sponsoring the event. It will be held in the Student Union Building Borah Theater Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Championship hopes eaten by Griz

Photo by Jeff Curtis

Idaho's Miregi Huma is the Vandals' final hope of stopping Scott Gurnsey from entering the end zone. Huma managed to pull Gurnsey down before he scored.

Katé Lyons-Holestine
Sports Editor

The Kibbie Dome was packed — almost every bleacher seat was taken.

Fans donning Vandal jerseys and pom-poms lined the bottom rows.

Fans waving "GRIZ" banners cheered Montana on.

The Idaho Vandals, eager to give Montana its first loss of the season, came up against a hungry bunch of Grizzlies. Montana stole the momentum in the fourth quarter and rolled to a 54-34 victory, destroying Idaho's hopes of winning this year's Big Sky Conference regular season championship.

The Vandals walked slowly off the field toward the locker room with their heads hanging low.

"It hurts," Vandal quarterback Doug Nussmeier said. "We work all summer and winter to get a championship and now it's gone."

The Grizzlies raced to the Montana crowd to celebrate.

"It clinches it for us — almost," Grizzlie running back Scott Spraggins said. "We're all high right now. We were looking to win down here, it's tough to win at Idaho."

The kicker came in the fourth quarter as the Grizzlies mounted an almost-perfect offensive attack.

Vandal kicker Mike Hollis came on the field with less than 30 seconds remaining in the third quarter and tied the game 27-27 with a 48-yard field goal. But the Montana offense exploded in the fourth quarter, as Grizzly quarterback Dave Dickenson threw three touchdown passes and Carl Franks returned a fumble for another Montana touchdown as the clock ran out.

"We just can't give them the big play," Vandal linebacker Duke Garrett said. "They have a good quarterback. You can't give him a big play or he'll beat you every time. If a defense gives Nuss a chance he'll beat them all day."

Idaho opened the game looking strong. On their first possession, the Vandals marched down the

• SEE LOSS PAGE 21

Big Sky volleyball championship wrapped up

Dan Eckles
Staff Writer

The University of Idaho Vandals took one step closer toward finishing their season with an unblemished Big Sky Conference mark after pummeling the Eastern Washington Eagles 15-7, 15-6, and 15-9 Friday night in NCAA volleyball action.

The Vandals have now clinched the Big Sky Conference regular season crown thanks to some unexpected upsets over the weekend.

"We expected to win it (Big Sky Championship) anyway at this point after beating Montana for a second time," Vandal volleyball coach Tom Hilbert said.

Preseason Big Sky co-favorite Montana dropped a pair of matches over the weekend to Weber State and Northern Arizona, giving the Grizzlies four losses in league play. Boise State fell to Idaho State in five games in Pocatello, giving the Broncos five league losses.

Even if the Vandals lost their final four Big Sky matches, the best Eastern Washington or Montana could do would be to tie with 10-4 league records, but the Vandals swept the season series from both clubs and would be awarded the conference title.

"I don't think that it's going to affect our players' motivation at this point," Hilbert added. "I think they want to make a statement ... to make their mark in the conference as an undefeated team. They also want to make sure their regional mark stays intact."

Only one other team in the Big Sky Conference has recorded an undefeated season.

The regular season title allows the Vandals to host the Big Sky tournament Nov. 26 and 27.

"We'd really like to see the students, faculty and community

I don't think that it's going to affect our players' motivation at this point. I think they want to make a statement.

— Tom Hilbert
Head Volleyball Coach

rally behind us," Hilbert said.

"This is probably they best volleyball team Idaho is going to see for a while because we've got so many older, more mature players."

Four Vandals topped the .400 hitting mark in leading Idaho to a .355 team hitting performance against the Eagles.

Setter Dee Porter killed five balls in nine attempts for a .556 mark and added 43 assists while back court specialist Leah Smith collected seven kills and a .455 performance. Nancy Wicks was .435 for the night with 11 kills and Brittany Van Haverbeke was an even .400 with a game-high 13 kills.

Idaho held the advantage in nearly every statistical category, tallying 57 digs to Eastern's 42 and posting 17 blocks compared to eight for the Eagles.

Basketball team gives up turkey for hope of championship

Katé Lyons-Holestine
Sports Editor

With Thanksgiving break just around the corner, most of us are looking forward to taking a couple days off. But all the Idaho men's basketball team has to look forward to is practice, practice, practice.

The Vandals started practicing 10 days ago. They have taken two full days off and crammed in 14 practice sessions. The team begins practice at 6:45 a.m. and has another afternoon session at 3:45 p.m.

"Practice has gone extremely well and that's due to the fact that players have worked very hard," Vandal men's basketball head coach Joe Cravens said. "I'm exceedingly pleased with the focus and effort."

Most teams with only two returning starters and a first-year head coach would be considered to be in a building year. Not the Vandals. They are considered by many to be the toughest team to beat in the Big Sky Conference.

"That's due largely to Orlando Lightfoot and Deon Watson," Cravens said. "Orlando is the marquis players in the league and has been around for four years."

Orlando was the Big Sky Player of the year last season and is on his way to becoming Idaho's all-time leading scorer.

Cravens is in his first year as head coach of the Vandals, but brings almost 20 years of experience.

Montana has five returning starters and Montana State has four. In contrast, Idaho lost two all-conference guards from last season's squad. Cravens isn't bothered by the rankings or considerations by polls.

"I don't give it a whole lot of thought one way or the other," Cravens said.

Idaho started practice 10 days ago and kicks off the season with an exhibition game Nov. 17 against a German club team.

"As we started practice I was concerned with the short period to practice," Cravens said.

But he is confident the team is gelling well this soon. The Vandals return five seniors, but of the remaining eight, four are freshmen and four are junior college transfers.

"We have a tremendous way to go before we're a good team," Cravens said. "That refers to a mindset to do all the big and little things it takes to become a good team."

Lightfoot has emerged on the court as a team leader.

"Not only is he a vocal type leader, but he's leading by example," Cravens said.

Cravens believes Lightfoot is in the best shape he's ever been in at this point in the season and ever at Idaho.

Other seniors on the Idaho roster are Watson, Frank Waters, Jeremy Brandt and Dan Serkin.

Junior college transfers include Todd Spike, Benji Johnson, Kelly Walker and Mark Leslie.

Spike transferred to the UI from Walla Walla Community College.

"He plays with a tremendous amount of intensity and reckless abandon. He's a huge contributor," Cravens said.

Johnson came to the UI from Three Rivers Community College

Photo by Anne Drobish

Vandal basketball players congratulate each other after scrimmaging at the Jam With the Vandals.

in Illinois.

Kelly Walker comes to the Vandals from Barton County Community College.

Cravens is impressed with Leslie, a 6-foot-1 guard.

"At 6-6 and a half he (Walker) brings a tremendous amount of versatility to the team," Cravens said.

Idaho adds four freshmen to its roster with Jered Mercer, Ryan Haliday, Chad Cotes and Nate Gardner.

"They are a great ground floor group to build my program on," Cravens said.

Until their first game, Nov. 17, the Vandals will practice twice a day every day — except for Thanksgiving day.

When was the last time you checked your radiator? Honestly?

John's Radiator offers a full line of radiator services to ensure that your vehicle operates at peak efficiency. Call or come by today.

JOHN'S RADIATOR
1008.5 S. Jefferson
Moscow, Idaho
882-6557

Gamma Phi Beta
Would like to welcome
our new members!

Danielle Asin
Paige Bennion
Sarah Berch
Krista Brady
Anette Braunn
Julie Brown
Maggie Carey
Sara Daly
Becky Dodds
Karen Eckert
Krista Edmonds
Katie Eglund
Danika Galbraith
Gretchen Goss
Gretchen Greer
Sam Kaufman

Allison Keeney
Kelly Kierland
Barb Martin
Stacy Mc Fall
Amanda Mc Kenzie
Margie Ney
Cozette Petite
Mary Reid
Jennifer Reif
Megan Ridgeway
Bonnie Spears
Kelli Tunncliff
Christen Wilmer
Tina Wood
Jill Kellogg

New ARBY-Q
A Delicious BBQ Roast Beef Sandwich

Arby's

Now Only $1.49

Limited Time Offer

CELEBRATE STYLE$AVER MONTH.

Free Gifts with every Stylecut.

Get your best look this month with our $13.50 Stylecut-- shampoo, cut and style-- satisfaction guaranteed. During Style$aver month receive these free gifts:

- Free Paul Mitchell 2oz. Fast Dry Spray
- $5 in Style$aver Bucks to be applied to your next perm or color

PAUL MITCHELL
SIGNATURE SALON

We use & recommend Paul Mitchell Products.

THIRD DIMENSION CUTS
HAIR STYLING SALONS

882-6633

Offer ends 11/30/93

Tuesday, November 9, 1993

(Above and left) Vandal players take part in practice Friday afternoon. They have only nine days to prepare for their first game. The Vandals return only two starters to this season's roster. Photos by Karin Yahr

Photo by Anne Drobish
Vandal cheerleaders prepare for the upcoming basketball season.

"OUEDRAOGO IS BOTH DISTINCTLY AFRICAN AND BRILLIANTLY UNIVERSAL."

- Caryn James, THE NEW YORK TIMES

A Film by IDRISSA OUEDRAOGO

Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 7pm in the SUB Borah Theater
$1 UI undergrads, $2 general admission

COLD SUBS
FAT SAM COMBO
AMERICAN MIX
ITALIAN MIX
ROAST BEEF-HAM
PASTRAMI-TURKEY
TUNA-SALAMI &
PEPPERONI
CREAM CHEESE
& VEGI
SAM'S FAVORITE
CRAB & SEAFOOD

Two 8" cold subs & two 32.oz soft drink & two bags of chips
$7.49 + tax
(fat sam excluded)

We deliver exp. 11/15/93

882 - SUBS
Palouse Empire Mall

SUN.-THURS. 11am - Midnight
FRI. - SAT. 11am - 1am

SAM'S SUBS
"It's great to be SUB-conscious."

Annual ANNIVERSARY Sale!
This Thursday & Friday, Nov. 11th & 12th
Special Hours until 8 pm

20% off Everything in the Shop!
Mon-Sat 10-6 • Sun 12-4
N 119 Grand • Downtown Pullman

The Old Mole
Unique Clothing and Jewelry
22 years of Northwest style

FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP
Symbol of Superior Service

REWARD

If you don't smoke, I can offer important savings on auto insurance.

Claim your reward from:
David A. Uberuaga
104 E. Sixth Street
Moscow 883-0738

The #1 selection is Pizza Perfection
OPEN 11 AM DAILY

• EVERY TEUSDAY • 882-1111
The only one!

LARGE PAY FOR A SMALL!

ORDER A LARGE pizza

FEED 4
Order a Large 16" 3 Topping Pizza & 4 Pops! and pay only $10.50

LATE NIGHT MUNCHIES
Large 16" Pizza
1 item • $7.00
2 item • $8.00
3 item • $9.00
plus two FREE drinks!

Just for you!
12" 1-item pizza only $5.50 additional toppings .50 ea.

Any day with this coupon Not valid with any other offer exp. 12/17/93

Photo by Karin Yahr
The University of Idaho soccer club practices on Guy Wicks field last week. The soccer club is undefeated in co-rec play and enters a post season tournament this weekend.

Co-rec soccer team remains undefeated

Three players was all it took for the University of Idaho co-rec soccer team to overcome the Lapwai team. The UI team decimated Lapwai 5-2 Sunday to improve its season record to 7-0.

Suleiman Al-Rahayani tallied four of Idaho's five goals. Mohamed Jabbes and Paul DaVila each added two assists for Idaho. But teamwork was the name of the game as Jabbes assisted DaVila on the final goal.

The UI co-rec team brings their first season in the Lewiston-Clarkston co-rec league to an end next weekend. The undefeated team will compete in a tournament in Clarkston.

Black Widows held scoreless in Portland

PULLMAN — The Black Widows recorded a no-score game against the Gonzaga women's rugby team this weekend.

Both teams failed to score throughout the entire game. The Black Widows dominated the game by winning ball in the set scrums, rucks and mauls. However, the backline was unable to capitalize with a score. Flyhalf Kim Gortez-Reaves was absent from the game.

Gonzaga University missed on their one sure chance to score on a goal kick that went wide.

The Black Widows' fall season ends this weekend. Gonzaga University, Oregon State University and Central Washington University will be in Moscow for a round-robin type four-team scrimmage Saturday. Action begins at 10 a.m.

Anyone interested in playing women's rugby is welcome. For more information contact Joan Lish at 885-7730.

Ski team offers door prizes at Miller movie

The University of Idaho ski team fund-raiser has winning opportunities for students. The team is showing Warren Miller's movie Black Diamond Rush Wednesday to raise funds to assist with team expenses this season.

A new pair of Olin skis are the grand door prize. Other door prizes include lift tickets to Brundage Mountain and Silver Mountain and ski equipment donated by Northwest Mountain Sports.

The movie will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 106 of the Agricultural Science Building. Tickets are $6 at the door or may be purchased at the Student Union Building at noon that day.

Lacrosse team scrimmages today

The University of Idaho lacrosse club team will scrimmage today at 4 p.m.

They will take on the Logos High School team on the west end of Guy Wicks Field.

The team is also looking for interested players.

"We have about 40 players on the roster, but short numbers at practice," John Cox said.

The team has been practicing with 10-15 players. That is enough to field a team, but not enough to play considering the need for substitutes and possible injuries.

The team practices every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. and again Sunday at 2:30 p.m. on the west end of Guy Wicks Field, across from the University Inn.

For more information about joining the lacrosse team contact Cox at 885-8600.

THIS WEEK AT THE IDAHO UNION

Nov. 9 Budget Workshop

Sponsored by Financial Aid Services
2:00 PM, EE-DA-HO Room

Nov. 10 Songfest

6:30 PM, Ballroom
International Film Series
"Tilai"
7:00 PM, Borah Theater

ASUI Senate Meeting

7:00 PM, Silver & Gold Galena

Nov. 12 BLUE KEY T-SHIRT SIGNING PARTY

3:00 - 5:00 PM, Bookstore

ASUI Concert

"The Judybats and Inclined"
8:00 PM, Ballroom

Nov. 13 Homecoming Warm-up Breakfast

7:00 - 9:00 AM, Ballroom

Nov. 14 ASUI Senate Candidate Forum

7:00 PM, Silver & Gold Galena

Vandal Cafe
Special:
2 Soft Tacos
& Mexican Rice
$2.69

More Than Just A Building

For More Events Information,
Info Hotline 885-6484
Ticket Express 885-7212
Grapevine 885-6160

THE ONE TIME IN YOUR LIFE YOU DECIDE TO MAKE A RIGHT TURN.

FREE ESTIMATES AND THE HIGHEST QUALITY REPAIR WORK AROUND.

435 East Palouse River Drive • (208) 882-8535

Tuesday, November 9, 1993

LOSS

•FROM PAGE 17

field and Sherriden May scored a touchdown.

The scoreboard looked to be favoring Idaho, but within the next minute of play the Grizzlies scored a touchdown. Standing on the one yard line, Damon Boddie picked up the Vandal kickoff. He managed to zigzag his way through the Vandal special teams and scored a 99-yard touchdown.

"It took the wind out of our sails," Vandal head coach John L. Smith said. "That hurt us just as much as anything."

The Vandals' second touchdown came on a 52-yard pass from Nussmeier to Alan Allen. Allen outran Montana's Franks and Todd Erickson.

"We have to give Idaho credit, they're a good offensive team," Erickson said. "We needed to keep the points off the board and give our offense the ball, but it is tough to keep them (Idaho) below their average."

"Our offense should have scored everytime we touched the ball," Vandal receiver Kyle Gary said. "Their defense was just like anybody else's — no better, no worse."

Idaho regained the lead early in the third quarter when May rushed for an eight-yard touchdown. The Vandals went up 24-20.

The Vandals' final touchdown came on another Nussmeier pass to Allen. A 44-yard touchdown pass with three minutes remaining in regulation time wasn't enough for the Vandals after the Grizzlies' fourth quarter onslaught.

"We had to earn everything we got," Montana quarterback Dickenson said. "Idaho has some great defense."

The Vandal defense recorded two quarterback sacks. Ryan Phillips stopped Dickenson deep in the pocket for a loss of 11 yards. Dan Zeamer dropped Dickenson for a five-yard loss.

Back from a minor knee injury, May led the Vandals' running game with 124 yards on 23 carries for two touchdowns. Joel Thomas, who stepped in for May last week, added 65 yards on seven carries.

Nussmeier passed for 259 yards and two touchdowns. Allen was on the receiving end of both touchdowns and totaled 96 yards on two receptions. Gary added four catches for 50 yards.

Montana set two school records against the Vandals. Dickenson passed for a total of 512 yards and the offense gained a total of 539 yards.

With this loss the Vandals lost all hopes of earning the Big Sky Conference championship this season.

Montana improves to 9-1 in season standings and 6-0 in Big Sky Conference play. Idaho drops to 7-2 on the season and 4-2 in the Big Sky ranks. Montana remains at No. 5 in the NCAA I-AA polls while the Vandals fall out of the top 10 to No. 11.

"We can't worry about the playoffs now," Smith said. "We have to think about Lehigh now and then Boise State. We need to take it one step at a time."

The Argonaut Sports and Outdoors sections are looking for contributing writers. For more information contact the Argonaut office on the third floor of the SUB.

Joel Thomas carries Grizzly defender Kurt Shepherd on a 9-yard rush which sets up a Sherriden May touchdown in the third quarter. With the touchdown Idaho went up 24-20. Thomas rushed for 65 yards on seven carries. He was the second leading Vandal rusher. Thomas, a freshman, is quickly becoming the heir apparent to May. May's final season is next fall.

Photo by Jeff Curtis

Prepare yourself for a role in corporate America.

See how business professionals turn theory into practice.

What students say:

"A wonderful, educational, hands-on class that I would recommend to anyone, whatever their major."

"A Chance to hear about the diversity of challenges and opportunities that face the leaders of today's business world."

Meet corporate executives head-to-head in an informal atmosphere.

Spring 1993 • Business 314
Mondays / Wednesdays 3:30 - 4:15 PM
Home Economics 6 • 3 credits
For more info call 885-6611 or come to 305 CEB.

CLOSE TO HOME JOHN McPHERSON

"We must have looked at 50 recliners, but Al wanted this one because of its automatic comfort settings."

CLOSE TO HOME JOHN McPHERSON

Though Louise tried to be discreet, people quickly homed in on the source of the microwave popcorn aroma.

CLOSE TO HOME JOHN McPHERSON

"So far, five diaper services have canceled us."

William ...
 Mary ...
 Laura ...
 Charles ...
 Lisa ...
 Rosie Schmid
 With ... the ...
 year ...
 system ...
 in ...
 and ...
 and ...
 and ...
 and ...

So you don't have a

Pin-Striped Suit.

Don't worry, you'll still look cool in your Senior Portrait.

The yearbook photographer will be at the Idaho Union "I" Carpet (by the main entrance) on these dates:

Monday, Nov. 15, 2pm-7pm
 Tuesday, Nov. 16, 11am-6pm
 Wednesday, Nov. 17, 11am-6pm
 Thursday, Nov. 18, 9am-2pm

Remember, yearbook portraits are FREE!

Seniors only at this time, please.

TRAVEL

PALOUSE TRAVEL
Best available fares in town!
Specializing in Student Travel
* Morris Air (no extra charges)
* Great International fares
* Group travel for winter & spring break.
Call 882-5658 or 800-831-3327

MOBILE HOMES

Mobile Home For Sale. 52 X 10 with 6 X 10 extension. $6,000/OBO. For more information call 883-3829.

AUTOS

1982 Toyota SR5. Body Damage, Good Project. Best Offer. Contact Kirsten at 882-9122 or leave message.

SERVICES

WriteNow Wordworks - Fast, accurate word processing/ editing/proofreading. $1.20/page (double-spaced). Call Deborah, 882-3587.

Experienced English Teacher will tutor or edit essays. $5/hr. Please call 882-5298 (evenings).

Seams Endless — Sewing and Alterations. Affordable sewing, alterations & repair. Call anytime, 555-5sew. Ask for Lisa.

FOR SALE

"ANTHEM"
Airwalks hottest new snowboard video. Tues, thru Sat. 3:30 and 4:30 pm
Bikes and Skis Inc.
E. 219 Main - Pullman

Palouse Snowboard Specialist Present:
Blowout '94
Boots starting at $119
Board & Binding $349
Apocalypse
Yellow Bus
Sims & Nitro
Bamboo Curtain, Aunt Mables, Airwalk, etc.
Bikes and Skis Inc.
E. 219 Main - Pullman

JOBS

CRUISE SHIPS HIRING - Earn up to $2,000+/mo. Summer and Career employment available. No experience necessary. For more information 1-206-634-0468 ext.C5905

Wanted: People interested in losing weight and/or making money. Lose up to 30lbs. in 30 days. Make $500 to $2000 P/T or $2000 to $5000 F/T. Come find out how in the Chiefs Room in the SUB, Nov. 14th, 6-8pm. Register at SUB Info Desk for seating availability.

JOBS

WINTER SKI RESORT JOBS. Up to $2,000+ in salary & benefits. Ski/Snowboard instructors, lift operators, wait staff, chalet staff, + other positions. Over 15,000 openings. For more information call: (206) 634-0469 ext. V5905

$$ EARN EXTRA MONEY $$
Deliver the new GTE directory in Moscow, Pullman and surrounding communities. Must have insured vehicle and 5 or more daylight hrs available. Call between 8:30am - 4pm. 883-2636.

STUDENT HEALTH

Nutrition counseling available —Student Health—
* Eating disorders
* Weight issues
* Heart disease
* Cancer prevention
* Sports diets
Make appointments, 885-6693

ANNOUNCEMENTS

GREEKS & CLUBS-RAISE UP TO $1,000 IN JUST ONE WEEK! For your fraternity, sorority & club. Plus $1,000 for yourself! And a FREE T-SHIRT just for calling. 1-800-932-0528, ext. 75.

Huge problem to small annoyance, it's good to talk it over. Dr. Bruce Wollenberg is a trained pastoral counselor at the Campus Christian Center. Call 882-2536 for an appointment. Confidential. No Fee.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Need 55 people seriously interested in losing 10-100 lbs. Earn $420+ while losing. Call 336-2871 and leave message.

LOST & FOUND

MISSING CAT Gray w/white on face and paws (fixed male). His name is DULAC and was last seen wearing yellow collar. PLEASE NOTIFY US IF YOU HAVE ANY INFO at 882-9311. REWARD!

LOST! Prescription reading glasses. Giorgio Armani, copper color in hard round case. Call 882-9505 or 883-8582. REWARD!

LOST: Black Lab w/white chest. Wearing red collar and choke chain. Answers to "JAKE". Last seen Thursday, 10/28. If found please call Mark Weller, 882-3173.

FOUND: On Highway 95, triple key ring, assorted keys, silver conch. Call 883-3414 and leave message.

FOUND: Between UCC and library approximately Oct. 26th—Wedding band set w/diamond. Call Stacy L. at 885-6292 and leave message.

PERSONALS

Jen and Terra: Snaps isn't the name of the game. Got it? Watch my fingers! Have you got it? Now snap snap snap snapsnap snap. Have you got it? Have you really got it? Watch my fingers, it's very important...
Baffled

FREE CLASSIFIEDS EVERY FRIDAY IN THE ARGONAUT!

The Argonaut has extended its free Friday classifieds until the end of the semester. Take advantage of this offer by coming to the Argonaut offices on the SUB third floor.

BUY IT! SELL IT! FIND IT IN THE ARGONAUT CLASSIFIEDS

CADILLAC
Jack's
Country Wheel Night
Every Wednesday
Includes
$2 Pitchers of Beer - Shots
Billy Barr Band Live
Next to Mingles in Moscow

WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY COMEDY NIGHT
Comedy starts at 9:00 p.m. with two comedians!!
$3.50 pitchers of beer all night and all drinks off our customized drink list just $2.00 after comedy!
1516 Pullman Rd. Moscow Id. 882-0550

SIMPLY Nails
Specializing in:
• Artificial Nails
• Pedicures
• Manicures
115 North Jackson, Moscow 882-7706

GREENS CLEANERS
"Your Dry Cleaning & Laundry Service on the Palouse" MOSCOW 882-4231 - 616 South Main
PULLMAN 332-4922 - N. 740 Grand
PALOUSE EMPIRE MALL 882-1653 - In Moscow

University 6
Palouse Empire Mall 882-8636

Age of Innocence (R)
6:45 & 9:15
Sat. & Sun. 2:00 & 4:30

Look Who's Talking Now (PG)
7:15 & 9:15
Sat. & Sun. 2:15 & 4:15

Fatal Instinct (PG13)
7:15
Sat. & Sun. 2:15

Nightmare Before Christmas (PG)
7:00 & 9:15
Sat. & Sun. 2:00 & 4:15

Malice (R)
9:15
Sat. & Sun. 4:15

Kenworthy
508 S. Main, Moscow 882-4924

Rudy (PG)
7:00 & 9:30
Sat. & Sun. 2:00 & 4:30

Nuart
516 S. Main, Moscow 882-9340

RoboCop 3 (PG13)
7:15 & 9:15
Sat. & Sun. 2:15 & 4:15

Cordova
N. 135 Grand, Pullman 334-1405

Demolition Man (R)
7:00 & 9:20
Sat. & Sun. 2:00 & 4:30

Audian
E. 315 Main, Pullman 334-3111

Flesh and Bone (R)
6:45 & 9:20
Sat. & Sun. 1:45 & 4:15

Old Post Office
SE 245 Paradise, Pullman 334-3456

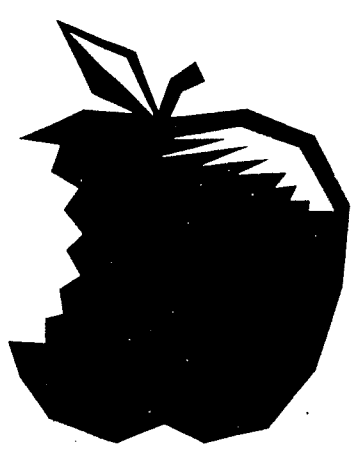

Free Willy (PG13)
2:15 & 4:45

The Firm (R)
6:45 & 9:35

ALL MOVIES SHOWING THROUGH THURSDAY
All Shows before 6 pm are $3.25
The Old Post Office
All Seats. All Times $1.50

Argonaut

The Classroom Is Only One Place To Learn!

Job Experience
It will put you one step ahead!

In today's competitive market, experience can mean the difference between getting a job and losing one! Receive the experience you need to put you one step ahead!

Spring Semester Applications Are Now Available at The Argonaut Office on the 3rd Floor of the Idaho Union!

Apply Today!

WEEK OF NOVEMBER 8-13, 1993ANSEL ADAMS & JEAN BOLES

Prichard Gallery

MFA - Rick JohnsonBFA - Val Carter & Eric Rau

Ridenbaugh Gallery

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1993GUEST LECTURE

TERRY RYAN

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

7:30 pm, UCC 109

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1993SONGFEST

6:30 pm, Idaho Union Ballroom

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1993OPEN HOUSE*LIVING GROUPS

4-5:30pm

BONFIRE

ROYALTY ANNOUNCED

6:30pm, Guy Wicks Field Baseball Diamond

GUEST LECTURE

JUDY GUSE-NORITAKE

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT

7:30pm, FWR 10

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1993ALUMNI OFFICE*OPEN HOUSE

All Day, Alumni Center Lounge

VANDALEER ALUMNI REUNION

11:30am-12:30pm, Music 216

PEP RALLY

12 Noon, Idaho Union and Bookstore

CLASS OF '53, '68, AND 1993Sarb REUNION REGISTRATION

1:00-4:00pm, University Inn

Friday cont...

CAMPUS BUS TOUR

3:00, starts at University Inn

REUNION SOCIAL HOUR

5:30pm, University Inn Convention Center

REUNION CLASS PHOTO

5:30pm, University Inn Convention Center

REUNION DINNER

7:00pm, University Inn

TOUR FOR LIFE CONCERT

Judybats • Inclined • Big Time Adam

8:00pm, Idaho Union Ballroom

"WHAT LAWYERS DO"

3:15pm, Law School

SCHOOL OF MUSICHOMECOMING CONCERT

7:30 P.M. UNIVERSITY AUDITORIUM

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1993WARM-UP BREAKFAST

7-9:00am, Idaho Union Ballroom

HOMECOMING PARADE

9:00am, Downtown Moscow

VANDAL PRE-GAME

"VANDAL HUDDLE '93"

11:00am, Area West of Kibbie Dome

KICK-OFF: UI VANDALSVS. LEHIGH UNIVERSITY*ENGINEERS

1:05pm, Kibbie Dome

POST GAME OPEN HOUSE

LIVING GROUPS

POST GAME CELEBRATION

University Inn

HEXAGON-AUDITORIUMCHAMBER MUSIC SERIES

8:00pm, Auditorium Chamber