THE VANDAL VOICE SINCE 1898

Committee: No action against Brice

Assistant football coach to keep his position after pleading guilty to disturbing the peace last fall

> BY NATE POPPINO ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR

n independent review committee has concluded no disciplinary action should be taken by the University of Idaho against assistant football coach Alundis Brice.

The three-member committee, formed by UI President Tim White, was charged with making a recommendation about Brice's employment at UI after his conviction last November of maliciously disturbing the peace.

White was out of town and unable to comment on the decision.

Brice pled guilty to the charge as part of a plea deal to drop a misdemeanor charge of exhibition of a deadly weapon. The charge stemmed from an Aug. 15,

BRICE

2004, incident in which he allegedly pointed a 9 mm pistol at UI senior Cameron Ryffel in the parking lot of CJ's bar. Brice said the incident resulted from an argument over his He served four days in jail, paid a $325 fine and forfeited the gun.

The committee was unanimous in its deci"the UI administration support efforts to re-establish Mr. Brice's good standing in the UI campus community."

The committee members were interim UI Provost Linda Morris, UI chair of biological sciences Larry Forney and Michael Tate, vice president for Equity and Diversity at Washington State University. Both Morris and Forney refused comment, while Tate was unavailable as of Thursday.

Ryffel, a justice major, said he was "disappointed" by the news and unaware the committee even existed the committee even existed.

"Why should the administration help

Brice get his good name back? That surprised me," Ryffel said.

After Ryffel asked if there was some way to appeal the decision, UI media relations officer Nancy Hilliard said that according to the university's legal counsel, only Brice can appeal.

"It was a committee recommendation on a personnel action, not a legal action. The only person who could appeal is Alundis Brice," Hilliard said. "Students can still write letters and things. We

See BRICE, Page 3

Silver and Gold Day, with a touch of red

Bruce Pitman honored with red-leafed Sun Valley maple

> BY KIMBERLY HIRAI ARGONAUT STAFF

or years, University of Idaho Dean of Students Bruce Pitman has interacted with UI students during an early period of their lives. The Student Alumni Relations Board returned the favor Thursday when it planted something that reminded him of his own life as a college stu-

In conjunction with Silver and Gold Day, which celebrates the founding of the UI Alumni Association, a selected alumnus, university staff member or friend of the

"Bruce has taught me that leadership is about relationships. People want to know Bruce.

because he wants to get to know them."

AUTUMN HANSEN

school is recog-nized each year for his significant time, financial contributions or service to the university with a tree dedication ceremony. Pitman received the honor this year for his work and dedication to students in a career that has spanned about three decades. "SArb chose Pitman because of his length of service to the UI and his gift for touching the lives of countless students," SArb adviser Kristy Mayer said.

Architecture graduate student Katie Wilson co-chaired the event with Erin Bulcher, a junior journalism and mass media major.

One of the students Mayer said Pitman helped was ASUI President Autumn Hansen.

Bruce has taught me that leadership is about relationships," Hansen said. "People want to get to know Bruce, because he wants to get to know them. Bruce knows people, and in this knowledge, he supports their successes and helps them to reach their full

Moved to tears, Pitman said he was grateful to SArb, the alumni association and his colleagues for honoring him.

"I am profoundly grateful for this honor, and for this moment," Pitman said. "I'm a very fortunate person to have a job that I love in a place such as this.'

Pitman also said he appreciated the tree, a Sun Valley maple, which was planted on the north administration lawn.

Wilson said the facilities department provided Pitman with a few choices of trees suitable to the landscaping plans for the area. He said Pitman chose the Sun Valley maple that was planted at the ceremony because it was one of two that would exhibit red foliage in the fall.

"In the fall and the upper Midwest and the eastern states, when the leaves change, it's very colorful for a few weeks, and I certainly like that time of year in Indiana when the leaves are changing colors," Pitman said. Pitman was born in Indiana and attended Purdue University. He did not leave the state until he was 21 years old.

UI Alumni Association director Harold-Gibson spoke of Pitman's service to the university, and how Pitman had become a legend at UI.

Colleagues Alton Campbell, associate dean of the College of Natural Resources, and Terry Armstrong, an honored professor emeritus of the College of Education, also spoke about their experiences with Pitman. Pitman asked both men to speak at the cer-

Campbell commented on Pitman's "spirit of collaboration" and said he admired Pitman's ability to bring UI students together from all over campus in the 2010 Campus Initiative in which students framed ideas for changes to the university over the next five years.

Armstrong also recalled memories from years past, adding that each time he speaks with Pitman, he cannot say any short-orbald-jokes.

Just before the tree dedication ceremony, Pitman noted his continued interest in aiding students.
"I still have great passion for this work, and for this place. The work that we do is important, and I feel very blessed," Pitman said. "My work and our work would not be possible without a strong institutional commitment to honoring the student voice, an unwavering commitment to treating each student with dignity and respect, and then showing great compassion when a crisis reminds us of the most important things in our lives.

At the close of the ceremony, Pitman took gold shovel and tossed dirt near the Sun Valley maple's base.

The bronze plaque placed near the tree was engraved with Pitman's name, along with the SArb and UI Alumni Association

Pitman received master's and doctorate degrees from UI. He has been dean of students since 1981 and worked in several positions in the student services department before becoming a dean.

KIANNA HAIL / ARGONAUT

Bruce Pitman (second from right) stands with his children and wife (left to right), Andrew, Bridget and Kathy. Pitman, dean of students, was honored Thursday on the Administration Lawn by SArb for for his contributions to the university. Each year SArb plants a tree to honor individuals who are voted by the student body to have made a significant contribution to the University of Idaho.

I budget submitted to senate

BY CAMERLY COX ARGONAUT STAFF

'andal Taxi issues are popping up again, and salary increases Those are some changes and increases ASUI's proposed budget that may cause some stir. ASUI President

Autumn Hansen said. The budget is based on the $22.75 proposed student increase submit-UI President Tim White in March. It was presented to the ASUI Finance Committee at the senate meeting Wednesday.

HANSEN

Hansen said while the budget has been increased to accommodate for inflation, some changes could be cause for disagreement and frustration among students and ASUI leadership. She said two of the most important issues in her proposed budget are Vandal Taxi and increases in ASUI leadership salaries.

The budget for Vandal Taxi will increase overall by $7,050, a $2 student fee increase, and will fully fund the program. Budgeted into the proposal are student expenses, telephone services, and rental and leasing expenses. Hansen said the cause for frustration, however, is not the increase in the Vandal Taxi budget itself, but a division in student opinion concerning changes to be made to the program. "The senate has required investment in the program," she said. "But there are mixed feelings as to whether it should continue the way it is."

Hansen said that in her opinion, it is not the responsibility of ASUI to run a drunk bûs.

"Everyone has the perception that many students use the program," she said. "But I have the numbers. Around 100 students ride it every weekend. That's 1 percent of UI students. One percent."

Hansen said many students use the program for uses other than a safe ride home.

"That's what it's for (a ride home)," she said. "Sure, I'd like to be able to offer everyone a ride to wherever they want to go, but this program can't afford to do that. We can't even afford to run it every weekend now.' Hansen said she is encouraging senators to consider running Vandal Taxi on high traffic weekends instead of every weekend, but she feels it was important to include Vandal Taxi in her proposed budget.

"There would be a lack of integrity if I turn around and put forward a budget that doesn't include Vandal Taxi," she said.

ASUI Sen. Alex Stegner said the Vandal Taxi Committee is organizing student forums to gather input on the Stegner said he supports Hansen's decision to include Vandal Taxi in the budget and does not think any

See BUDGET, Page 3

Spear defends lower athletic fee

BY NATE POPPINO ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR

The question mystified the University of Idaho faculty council: Why does the athletic department pay one-sixth of the administrative fee the rest of the cam-

UI Athletic Department director Rob Spear attempted to explain the reason to the council last week, saying the department currently cannot spend any more money without endangering its move to the Western Athletic Conference, but that raising the fee would be practical once the department is settled.

"I don't want to see any tax increase, but if we can become more successful, I think we should contribute back," Spear said.

Faculty vice chairman Robert Zemetra invited Spear to speak at the council's March 29 meeting after UI President Tim White could not answer questions about the fee at a January meeting. All other university units pay a 6 percent administrative fee while the athletic department pays only 1 percent. Spear said changing the fee from 1 percent to 6 percent would be a $200,000 increase and adding the amount would mean not meeting the requirements for NCAA Division I membership. According to a fiscal year 2005 budget summary, the department has $10,777 to spare.

SPEAR

"We have a long way to go," Spear said. "We need university support for this, no question. We need student support. We need booster support.

Previously, the department paid nothing in administrative fees. In 1996, former UI President Bob Hoover decided to remove the administrative fee from the department during its transition to Division I-A status. Spear said the rationale for that decision still applies.

Spear said the department already gives back to UI in other ways. He estimated athletics brings $26 million to the Moscow community, contributes $2.1 million in scholarships and will start making more

See SPEAR, Page 3

Lo: 35°

CAMPUSCALENDAR

Today

Workshop: "Fast, Delicious and Nutritious" SRC 103 noon-1 n.m.

"Idaho Gem and Other UI Stories" UITV-8 6:30 p.m

"Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events" SUB Borah Theater 7 p.m.

"Mostly Moscow" UITV-8 7:30 p.m.

ASUI Senate UITV-8 8 p.m.

Saturday

Paint the Palouse UI Library 7:30 a.m.

Cruise the World SUB 11 a.m.

"Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events' SUB Borah Theater 7 p.m.

Monday

Guest lecture on gray wolf recovery CNR Building second floor foyer

Martin Forum on "France vs. the U.S." 8 p.m.

SENATEREPORT

April 6, 2005

Open Forum

end of the month."

NATIONALBRIEFS

Intervention OK in some right-

WASHINGTON - Congress should step into right-to-die controversies such as the Terri Schiavo case only rarely, but sometimes intervention could be warranted, a leading advocate for people with mental

Federal intervention could be justified disabilities told senators Wednesday.

when the patient has left neither clear convincing expressions" of autonomy, founder and co-director of the Beach

Kansas.

Committee.

Center on Disability at the University of the disagreement between family members over a terminally ill relative is irrecwithheld, Turnbull told the Senate Health, surrounding the emotionally searing and politically charged debate over Schlavo's request and over her parents' objections, with the approval of Florida state courts.

Doctors had testified that she'd been in a "persistent vegetative state" since suffering irreversible brain damage 15 years she'd previously told him she wouldn't

Days after Schiavo's feeding tube was removed, Congress passed a law, which President Bush signed, strictly tailored to move her case from Florida courts to fed-

The University of Michigan chapter of the Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority will close at eral ones. Republicans led the effort.

Hazing to close sorority

at University of Michigan before. Her husband maintained that want to live by artificial means.

tube was removed at her husband's death March 31, 13 days after her feeding

Those circumstances mirror the ones oncilable or when the patient isn't near death but would die if treatment were

Education, Labor and Pensions

Congress also should intervene when according to H. Rutherford Turnbull, co-advance orders nor other "reliable ... and to-die cases, advocate says

Jacob Parker, ASUI director of Violence Prevention. reminded ASUI senators that the safety board will be having its first meeting at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Idaho Commons Crest Room. He also said he and two other committee members were working to write the board bylaws, which will be submitted next week.

Brett Phillips, representative of the Civic Engagement Board, spoke about several boards' programs. He said the Oxfam Click Drive finished March 31, and Ui had 1,544 clicks (about $376 worth).

"I'm proud to announce we finished in 16th place in the nation," he said.

He said the board is also wrapping up some of its tsunami aid efforts.

"Of the 1,000 wristbands we started with, there are 160 left," he said. "School supplies will be mailed at the

He also announced that "Catalyst," the Civic Engagement Board's monthly publication, has been very successful. He said it has been able to reach both onand off-campus students. He encouraged senators to participate and write articles, and the next ones are due Tuesday.

Phillips said the Civic Engagement Board is also working on a program called Books for Africa. He said it is working with Better World Books, an organization that organizes book drives on college campuses across the United States. He said it started three years ago with five schools, but has increased to more than 350 schools. "Ul is a sort of an anomaly," he said. "Universities in California and on the coast are participating, and then here we are up north. We should be very proud of our

Phillips said the board is also participating in Earth Day with Jonathan Teeters, ASUI director of sustainability, and the Ul Environmental Club, who will be putting on a week of events.

He said the board will be participating in Paint the Palouse on Saturday.

Presidential Communications

ASUI President Autumn Hansen encouraged senators not to get caught up in the petty politics of student government, campus climate and personal agendas.

'We get wrapped up in the insignificances, which can prohibit us from accomplishing the great and important things worthy of renown," she said.

Hansen told the senate it is the responsibility of ASUI to rise above this, but there are times when she wonders if it has the ability to do so.

Hansen spoke concerning several of the changes she and ASUI leaders are hoping to make. She also explained her reasons for wanting to bring a pub to campus. "I do not want a campus pub for the reasons of drinking a beer between classes. I want a campus pub to change attitudes and behaviors associated with drinking,"

Hansen called for the establishment of a campus pub advisory committee, which she will head, and took names of senators interested in participating.

Hansen spoke about her budget proposal and said she asked for a salary compensation for ASUI leaders to attract competent, high-quality leaders who are willing and able to take on the increase in workload ASUI will be seeing in the next year.

She also encouraged the ASUI team to be friends because their work must be done with open communication, trust, respect and mutual understanding. 'I want the legislative branch and the executive branch to work as a team," she said.

Hansen also said she is not critical of Vandal Taxi for the sole reason of financial burden, but because it is not working. She said ASUI should focus on other things. "I am critical because people are being sexually assaulted, harassed for their sexual orientation or ethnicity, or fearing for their lives when crossing roads, and we are committing nothing financially to these real and immediate safety concerns," she said. Hansen also spoke about her proposal for an ASUI Campus Recreation Board and a Commons and Union Board, which would increase the bureaucracy of ASUI. She also encouraged more women to participate in the ASUI legislative branch. She said more women participating is fundamental to ASUI values as an organization to have open and equal access and representation. Hansen said she is seeking a fee increase because it allows the ASUI to provide programs which will foster a college community for students to experience.

"I can't be more honest in my desires for our organization - I seek greatness," she said.

Senate Business of people.

The senate did not consider any legislation and ended its meeting early.

Camerly Cox

CROSSWORDPUZZLE

- ACROSS 1 Snap up 5 Chess field 10 Surrounded by
- 14 Latest fad 15 Yardstick 16 Thoroughly cooked
- 17 Equally divided 18 Perplexed 19 One of a pair 20 Belief
- 22 London lawyer 24 Semitic fertility goddess 26 Neither's partner
- 27 Wobble 30 Physicist Curie 34 Behave
- maternally 37 Post-shower drying 39 Blood
- classification 40 Scrutinize 42 __-Magnon 43 Spoilsport
- 46 Symbol of MacDonald's 49 Take care of
- 50 Rouse to action
- 52 Recede 54 By the lowest estimation 58 System of
- signs? 63 Terra 64 Aga __ III 65 Keep clear of 67 Drop on a cheek 68 Tiny quantity
- 69 Unexpected boon 70 Before 71 Yuletide carol
- 72 Mournful poem 73 Do a fall chore DOWN
- Ms. Garbo
- Talent broker 4 Lower in position
- 5 Half a bikin 6 Beginning

- 2 Great reviews

- 33 Teamwork

ELTIMIKINIO PA

TAHAN RESTAURANT

8 Highland dance

41 Bar check 44 Everlasting 45 Rails rider 47 Stir up 48 Maker

Home of the 9 Sink fixture

commander

11 Ring around a

12 Sondheim's "

13 Bambi and

Rudolph 21 Family chart

23 __ as you are 25 Concise

31 Rolling in dough

32 Memo phrase obstacles

28 Study by

29 Switch

34 Blob

Chopin

the Woods"

castle

10 Fleet

35 Reed instrument 36 Rushed 38 Marshal Earp

- 55 Sports center 56 Pancake order Mile Island 58 Related (to)

DASHING TASKS

BANTER

INTEND

51 Adage 53 Hold responsible

5pm to Close

New Hours

Monday-Thursday 11-9

Friday-Saturday 11-10

Solutions from April 5

ELK

EEE

TROOPED

MED

ESS

LUNATIC

59 Skedaddiel 60 London gallery

AIXILIEIS

ETAL

TEMP

UNMANLY

STERILLE

- configuration 62 Missing 66 Word after
- school or sick

the end of the month after pictures of members smoking marijuana and drinking at the chapter's house were sent to university officials. Although several fraternities have been FREE Delivery kicked off UM's campus in recent years for such behavior, considered hazing, the > in at least 26 years, according to UM spokeswoman Julie Peterson. Nationally, closing a sorority for hazing is also rare, said Richard McKaio, executive director of the Center for the Study of the College Fraternity, which studies Greek sorority, established at UM in 1921, is the first to be closed for that type of behavior organizations. 'Typically women are participating in the fraternities' illegal behavior," McKaig

April 30

May

2005 entry form

и Kibbie Dome

UI PEB main office

University Inn. Moscow

UI Student Rec Center

said, "But this chapter closing is a rare occurrence. It could be the beginning of a new day of holding women's groups accountable for their behavior.

The sorority was placed on social probation in the fall by its national organization for hazing involving underage and excessive drinking and marijuana use, according to AEP executive director Bonnie Wunsch. The probation prohibited the 120 members from hosting or attending parties as a group and required them to attend educational programs and perform community service, Wunsch said.

Five years later, still mourning the dot-com bubble backlash

SAN JOSE, Calif. - Lynn Gold isn't ashamed to admit it: She misses the dotcom bubble.

These days, she works part-time as a radio traffic reporter, a job that doesn't pay much. And she gets by only thanks to money she has left from cashing out $100,000 in stock options during the

Her job is less stressful than the 60hour weeks she worked at Netscape Communications, where she once collapsed at her desk. But she quickly becomes nostalgic for days when she could afford long vacations to Australia or $12,000 for her dog to have brain surgery. Somehow, the future just doesn't seem as exciting as it did back then. "I don't care if people called it an artificially inflated economy," Gold said. "it wasn't artificial to me. I was in it. I was Gold hasn't moved on. And neither has Silicon Valley. . Five years after the dot-com bust, the valley is still haunted by the reminders of its recent past. The vacant offices. The relentless job cuts. The exodus of the unemployed. The bitter investors who lost billions. The exorbitant housing prices. Silicon Valley has had boom-and-bust cycles before. But this one was bigger, far wider in its scope and far more traumatic in its collapse.

The numbers alone don't capture the lingering impact on Silicon Valley's psyche. The region's image, the way it sees itself and the way others see it, has been The credibility it once had with investors and customers has turned to distrust. And the culture of risk-taking is

GOP split regarding judiciary's role in Schiavo court case now tempered with caution.

WASHINGTON - Senate Majority

GAME?

Leader Bill Frist, R-Tenn., said Tuesday that federal judges gave the Terri Schiavo case "a fair and independent look," distancing himself from other Republicans who contend that the courts' refusal to keep the brain-damaged Florida woman alive is evidence of an out-of-control judi-

For example, Sen. Rick Santorum of Pennsylvania, the third-ranking Senate Republican, on Tuesday accused the federal judge in the Schiavo case of "violating the law" by not ordering that Schiavo's feeding tube be reinserted. Schiavo, whom several doctors had diagnosed as being in a persistent vegetative state, died last Thursday after 13 days without food The differing views from two top

Senate Republicans illustrate the tensions in their party as Congress approaches a potentially explosive debate over the Senate's role in confirming President Bush's federal judicial nominees and, more broadly, over the very independence of the judiciary. The debate reveals a split between religious conservatives, who sought congressional intervention in the Schiavo case, and small-government Republicans, who generally resist expanding the federal role. Last week, House Majority Leader Tom

"thumbed their nose at Congress and the president." He warned: "The time will come for the men responsible for this to answer for their behavior, but not today." Other Republicans said such rhetoric was counterproductive.

DeLay, R-Texas, said federal judges

"I think that's pretty dangerous ground to even think about," Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., said about comments such as Santorum's and DeLay's. "I'm not a party to that, and I think those comments are

Gonzales urges Patriot Act's renewal, considers changes

WASHINGTON – Pledging conciliation with Congress, Attorney General Alberto Gonzales told senators Tuesday that he would accept some modifications to the USA Patriot Act, but he urged that all its major provisions be renewed to effectively fight terrorism.

'Thanks in part to the act, we have dismantled terrorist cells, disrupted terrorist plots and captured terrorists before they could strike," Gonzales told the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Acknowledging criticism from the right and left, Gonzales and FBI Director Robert Mueller said they wanted to assure Congress that the act's new search and surveillance powers had been used narrowly and not to monitor the reading

Photograp Award Winning Outdoor Photos!

For the Times of Your Life!

AND RESUMES!

Congress on how the act had been used. He promised to "treat those who express concerns about the Patriot Act with habits or personal data of a broad range

Department "took too long" to report to

Gonzales also admitted that the Justice respect and listen to their concerns with an open mind." Several members of the committee said this conciliatory approach was in sharp contrast to John Ashcroft, Gonzales' predecessor, who refused to respond to requests for some records and once said that administration critics were indirectly helping terrorists.

Judiciary has 'run amok,' Majority Leader DeLay says

WASHINGTON - House Majority Leader Tom DeLay, R-Texas, stepped-up his attack on federal judges Thursday, telling a gathering of religious conservatives that the judiciary has "run amok" and demanding that Congress assert authority over the courts.

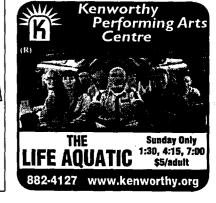

His remarks, delivered by videotape, broadened the criticism he voiced last week after the death of Terri Schiavo, a severely brain-damaged woman in Florida, after judges refused to order her feeding tube reinserted.

DeLay's address came as he strives to shore up his base amid a storm over his ethics. Liberal groups have launched ads attacking his connections to lobbvists and former associates now under investigation. Prominent news reports have raised questions about his use of campaign cash, and last year the House ethics committee rebuked him three times in one

Many lawmakers think DeLay can weather the storm as long as he's perceived as a leader of the conservative movement.

'The judiciary branch of our government has overstepped its authority on countless occasions, overturning and in some cases just ignoring the legitimate will of the people," DeLay said. "But I also believe the executive and legislative branches have neglected the proper checks and balances on this behavior ... Our next step, whatever it is, must be more than rhetoric."

Criticism of the courts by religious conservatives has mounted since the Schiavo case. At issue is extraordinary legislation that Congress passed, and President Bush signed, late last month that ordered federal courts to review the case, in which Schiavo's husband and parents disputed what her wishes would be. A federal judge in Florida refused to overturn a state court's decision and the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld his ruling. The U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear an appeal.

18 incher Sunday 3-9 882-4545 • 306 West 6th Street • Me Kenworthy Performing Arts Centre presents... ..an Evening of Bluegrass Music Steptoe Blackberry Jam

South Hill Ramblers Friday, April 15th • 7:00pm

Tickets on sale at Bookpeople in Moscow or by calling 208/882-4127

508 S. Main Street • Moscow, ID

(208) 885-7794

(208) 885-7825

(208) 885-7825

(208) 885-7715

(208) 885-2219

(208) 885-7784

CIRCULATION CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING NEWSROOM PHOTO BUREAU PRODUCTION ROOM

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

ADVERTISING

SECOND PLACE NON-DAILY ASSOCIATED COLLEGE PRESS, 2002

SECOND PLACE, BEST OF SHOW ACP/CMA NATIONAL CONVENTION, NOV. 2002

EDITOR IN CHIEF Abbey Lostrom Chairwoman, Argonaut Endowment Board of Directors

ARGONAUT ADVERTISING MANAGER Matthew Butcher Phone: (208) 885-5780

Phone: (208) 885-7845

E-mail: argonaut@uidaho.edu

Fax: (208) 885-2222

Fax: (208) 885-2222 E-mail: advertising@sub.uidaho.edu ARGONAUT ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES Lindsay Allen Chris Davidson

Tara Stevens ARGONAUT ADVERTISING PRODUCTION

(208) 885-8993 (208) 885-7835 (208) 885-6371 (208) 885-7784

adult tournament in Moscow sponsored by the Idaho Tennis Association. Enter one of 8 skill categories and fight your way through main and consolation draws for your chance at a trophy.

Play singles or doubles and even enter a senior

This is the first year of the event and the ONLY

Palouse Open Tennis Tournament

division (65+). Entry Deadline: April 11, 2005 www.PALOUSEOPEN.com

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING Classifieds Manager Cale Wingfield

Open rate - .20 per word (3 publications, 14 words, selling fewer than 200 items) Bold type — .25/per word

POLICIES
PTS-payment is required. NO REFUNDS WILL BE GIVEN
AFTER THE FIRST INSERTION. Cancellation for a full refund accepted prior to deadline. An advertising credit will be issued for cancelled adds. All abbreviations, phone numbers and dollar amounts count as one word. Notify the Argonaut inmediately of any typographical errors. The Argonaut is not responsible for more than the first incorrect insertion. The Argonaut reserves the right to reject ads considered distastabil or fibelous. Classified set of a business astive are your amounts in the Personal ads of a business nature may not appear in the Persona column. Use of first names and last initials only unless

ARGONAUT PRODUCTION

Copy aditor Cady McCowin Heather Coddington, assistant

Justin Broglio, edito Miranda Carman Elizabeth Dalessio

UI STUDENT MEDIA BOARD

The UI Student Media Board meets at 5:30 p.m. the first and third Monday of each month. Time and location will be published in the Augmant Classified section the Tuesday of the week before the meeting. All meetings are open to the public and as parties are invited to attend. Questions? Call Student Media at 885-7825 or visit the Student Media office on the SUB third floor

THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO ARGONAUT is printed on recycled newsprint containing 24-40 percent post-commer waste. Please recycle this newspaper after reading. For recycling information, call the Moscow Recycling infoline at (208) 862-0590.

ARGONAUT © 2005

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced in any torm, by any electronic or mechanical means (including photocopying, recording, or information storage or retrieval) without permission in writing from the Argonaut. Recipients of today's newspaper are granted the right to make two (2) photocopies of any article originated by the Argonaut for personal, non-commercial use. Copying for other than personal use or internal reference, or of articles or columns not owned by the Argonaut (including comic strips, Associated Press and other wire service reports) without written permission of the Argonaut or the copyright owner is expressly lorbidden. Address all inquiries concerning copyright and production for: Rights and Permissions, University of Idaho Argonaut, 301 Student Union, Moscow, 10 8384-4271.

The Argonaut is published by the students of the University of Idaho. The opinions expressed herein are the writers', and do not necessarily represent those of the students of the University of Idaho. The opinions expressed herein are the writers', and do not necessarily represent those of the students of the University of Idaho. The opinions expressed herein are the writers', and do not necessarily represent those of the students of the University of Idaho. The opinions expressed herein are the writers', and do not necessarily represent those of the students of the University of Idaho. The Opinions expressed herein are the writers', and do not necessarily represent those of the students of the University of Idaho. The Opinions expressional Journalists' Code of Ethics.

All advertising is subject to acceptance by the Argonaut, which reserves the right to reject ad copy. The Argonaut does not assume financial responsibility for typographicat errors in advertising unless an error materially affects the acts meaning as determined by the Student Media Board. The Argonaut sublity shall not exceed the cost of the advertisement in which the error occurred, and a refund or credit with be given for the f

Non-prellt Identification Statement: The Argonaut, ISSN 0896-1409, is published twice weekly during the academic school year and is located at 301 Student Union, Moscow, ID 83844-4271.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to the address listed above money once it is in the WAC.

"We've had firms contact us.

They wouldn't contact us if they couldn't make some money, Spear said.

Council member Jerry Exon said he thinks that whether or not the lower fee is justified, as long as the department has it there will be controversy.

"I think as long as you have the 1 percent fee and everyone else is paying 6 percent, you'll have a problem," Exon said.

Dale Graden, UI Idaho Federation of Teachers chapter president, said he has problems with Spear's reasoning. Citing guideline proposals made by the Drake Group, an organization dedicated to helping "faculty and staff defend academic integrity in the face of the burgeoning college sport industry," he said he doesn't agree with how Spear described the athletic department and its contributions.

"I question the way he frames his views of the athletic department," Graden said. "The faculty pay millions into the community. ... That idea that athletics is special or different I find very disturbing.

Graden questioned Spear's reference to Bob Hoover as a good example.

"I get very concerned that he would bring up Hoover, who led this university into financial dis-aster," Graden said. "He Graden said. absolutely believed football brings benefits to the university. There are a lot of people who believe a Division I football team brings disaster to the universi-

Graden also said he was concerned about the department's use of separate tutors and the practice of referring to athletes as student-athletes.

"Why aren't we calling historians student-historians?" Graden

Jacqueline Maximillian, a forest resources graduate student and a native of Tanzania, speaks about the customs of her culture at the spring 2004 Cruise the World.

Travel the world in one day

ARGONAUT STAFF

Visit more than 30 countries, buy exotic clothes, eat delicious food and meet fascinating people -- and do it between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday.

Students who think this an impossible task might want to cruise over to the Student Union Building Ballroom this weekend and check out University of Idaho's annual event, Cruise the

"This interactive celebration of cultures and customs is hosted by student ambassadors who lead visitors through country booths," said Glen Kauffman, International Friendship Association adviser. "This is a colorful, exciting festival appropriate for all age groups."

Cruise the World will feature booths from each country, offering T-shirts, food, crafts and fabrics for purchase. This year will feature new booths from Guatemala, Mexico, Norway, Panama, Peru and Russia.

Fortunately for participants, International Friendship Association helps presenters with "culture kits," which are packages of country-specific items for students to use in their presentations.

"A culture kit is composed of all kinds of items representing a country," Kauffman said. "It has things like music, recipes, clothing, videos, games, sports equipment, specialized cooking equipment, arts and crafts. ... It's an extensive collection. Most of the items have been donated by staff, faculty or students.'

The culture kits are dynamic in that each year, more items are donated to add color and diversity to an already expansive program.

"It's a legacy because our international stu-dents will find things abroad and add them to the kits," she said. "It's very nice for the students who come from a country in our collection. ... It also makes them want to donate to the kit when they leave because they understand the impact that it had on them and the impact it could have on students who come after them."

Entertainment will be provided every half hour in the ballroom. Entertainment was split last year between the ballroom and SUB Borah Theater, but Kauffman said it was moved entirely to the ballroom to keep people together all day so everything can be experienced. "It usually takes people all day to visit the country booths," she said. "There is always good food, and it is very difficult to eat your way around the world, so a lot of people bring Tupperware, and we offer to-go boxes for people who want to take food with them.

Last year's festival drew about 1,000 visitors, Kauffman said, and with the growing multicultural community in Moscow, this year should produce record attendance.

Unfortunately, increased visa regulations make it increasingly difficult for international students to come to the United States. But the community is still making progress and overcoming chal-lenges, Kauffman said. "Our last (university) president was very dedicated to the idea of raising the internationals to 10 percent of the total student body," she said. "The current administration is equally dedicated to that goal, and we are continually getting closer to changes should be made until the Vandal Taxi Committee can further investigate student opinion and information on the program.

BUDGET From Page 1

"As far as Vandal Taxi is concerned, my opinion is that the money President Hansen budgeted will be used for the program," he said. "I think we should keep the budget as proposed, because the committee has not had enough time to decide which changes should be made. Next year (fiscal year 2007) after the committee has time, we should decide what to do," he said.

A S U I Sens. Travis THE NUMBERS Shofner and Increase of Natalia Bespyatova, members of the ASUI Finance Committee, committee ship salaries has not yet made any decisions concerning Vandal Taxi.

said

the

$7,050 for

Vandal Taxi

· Increase of

$29,000 for

ASUI leader-

'Several suggestions have been made to improve Vandal We would like to see it made better. President Hansen put it in her budget and we respect her decision. Until we hear more information from the Vandal Taxi Committee we can not make any changes to the budget," Shofner said.

He added ASUI is committed to a long-term, permanent solu-

"There could still be a lot of controversy," he said. "But the budget reflects the needs of the student population as a whole.'

But changes to Vandal Taxi are not the only issues on the Finance Committee's minds. A $29,000 budget increase also goes toward ASUI leadership salaries.

She said last year ASUI salaries were decreased and the proposed budget restores salaries to the level they were at. She said, however, that the ASUI presidential policy advisor, senators, board chairs, directors and chief of staff would all be receiving salary increases.

Hansen said the pay raise is compensation increase. They (student leaders) are working more hours and they should be compensated for their work," she said Stegner said while he supports salaries returning to the level they were at before the cut last year, he does not believe now is the time to increase them beyond that level. He said he has not yet made any decisions concerning the issue.

"But from where I stand now, I know that nobody comes into a leadership position with the goal of making money," he said. "I'm not sure of the purpose of raising them.

Stegner said, however, ASUI is looking at a larger budget than their 2004-05 budget.

"A bigger budget is going to allow us to do a lot more," he said. "Most ASUI leaders now work 10 to 15 hours a week. But we're going to work longer hours and work hard as a group. There must be fair compensation."

Hansen said she knows this will raise concerns among many students.

"But I challenge people to look at other institutions," she said. "ASUI is the most powerful student government in the state of Idaho. We are representing the students and the institution. But we receive far less compensation than any other student government."

Hansen said she also wants to encourage more people to engage in student leadership.

It bothers me that people don't take leadership positions because they know they won't get paid," she said. "We want to bring more people to these posi-

Hansen said the Finance Committee and senate will be able to make any changes to the budget they see fit.

"This requires difficult decisions to be made," she said. "But I am confident they can do it." ASUI Sen. Tom Callery, chair the finance committee, said ASUI takes the process very seriously.

"Major changes will be made in committee," he said. "Once they're released the senate will discuss them. Changes can occur on the floor, but it is risky to do

Kevin Costner

•upside

Penelópe

Show times in () are at Bargain Pri-

of anger

DAILY (4:00) 6:45 9:25 R SAT-SUN (1:15)

Matthew

McConaughey

WWW.PullmanMovies.com

Movie Info 334-1002

BRICE From Page 1

don't want to stifle free speech." UI Athletic Department director Rob Spear said the university has followed through on its original promise to consider disciplinary action. 'We said from the beginning if Alundis was found guilty of what he was originally charged we would take corrective actions. Thankfully that changed, Spear said.

Brice, Spear said, has learned his lesson from his court punishments.

"I think he paid a dear price by staying in jail," Spear said. "That was a humbling experience for him.

Spear would not say whether a coach behaving like Brice did toward students is appropriate, saying that because the commit-tee cleared Brice the question was irrelevant.

Some UI students said Thursday that Brice should have faced some sort of disciplinary punishment for his actions.

Freshman Darren Posey, a professional golf management major, said Brice's actions were then maybe."

not appropriate.
"I'd say he'd be more limited. He shouldn't be fired, but should have less responsibility," Posey said.

"I think he should have faced something. It could have been a fine or something, maybe lose a couple days' pay," said chemical engineering sophomore Jesse Bazley.

Bazley said UI should not fire Brice, however.

"Just because somebody messes up doesn't mean he shouldn't work here," Bazley said. "If he'd done it in the past,

In January, ASUI passed a resolution asking for Brice's resignation as a result of the conviction. Sen. Elizabeth Bento said the resolution did not question Brice's character, but was based on his actions in the inci-

This is the first year Brice has been the cornerbacks coach at UI. Before getting the job, he spent five years playing for the Dallas Cowboys, during which the team won a Super Bowl. He also spent two years as a second-ary coach for the University of Mississippi, his alma mater.

NOW HIRING Spring Semester

Conduct Market Research Surveys via the Telephone

NO SALES INVOLVED!

Evening and Weekend shifts now available

Earn between $7.00 and $9.00

Located in the Eastside Market Place

Contact 883-0885 or applyinmoscow@bernett.com for more information

 $Transformation \dots$

Master of Arts in Teaching at George Fox University

Information meetings at 6:00 p.m. May 12 and June 16 George Fox Boise Center 1810 S. Eagle Road

Meridian, ID 83642

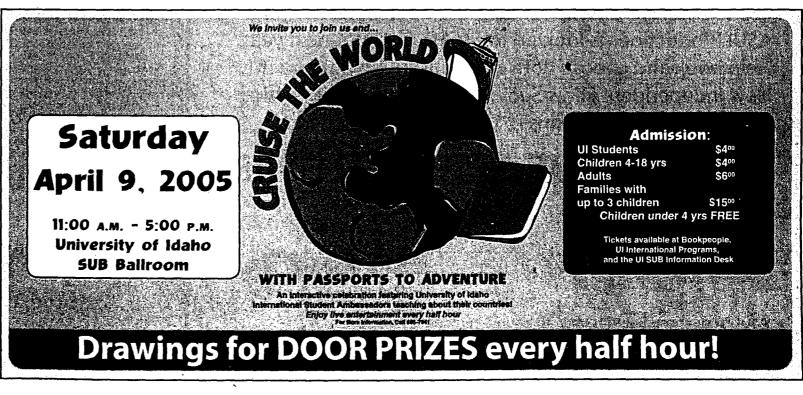

George Fox

boise.georgefox.edu

208-375-3900

LOCALBRIEFS

Earth Day to feature speakers, bands in Friendship Square

The Palouse Peace Coalition and the UI Campus Christian Center are inviting Moscow residents to join in a celebration of Earth Day from 5:30-6:30 p.m. April 15 at Friendship Square.

The celebration will feature local environmentalist Mark Solomon and Linda Arrasmith from the Palouse Peace Coalition, and a presentation from Friends of the Clearwater.

The Acoustic Wave Machine will provide music. Tables by local environmental groups, including the Palouse Clearwater Environmental Institute and Friends of the Clearwater, will offer information and opportunities for action.

UI students to Paint the Palouse Saturday

The 17th Annual "Paint the Palouse" Saturday will find 200-300 UI students painting four to six homes of community residents who are unable to do it them-

The annual community service project is sponsored by the Residence Hall Association, Residence Life and Greek houses, with contributed funding from ASUI and local businesses.

"Paint the Palouse" is an excellent example of UI students and other volunteers helping improve the Moscow community, said Karin Carollo, student coordinator of the project. Other students or community members may volunteer by e-mail to Carollo at caro3318@uidaho.edu.

Volunteers will meet at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in front of the UI Library to receive their assignments, instructions and directions to their designated houses. Free lunch, refreshments and a shirt will be provided.

In the event of bad weather, Paint the Palouse will move to April 23.

Professor will speak on 'New Global Security' Thursday

James Der Derian, professor of international studies at Brown University and professor of political science at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, will speak at a free public lecture at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the UI Administration Building Auditorium. He also is the invited speaker at the UI Honors Convocation at 3 p.m. April 15 in Memorial Gym. The lecture is titled "Beyond 9/11: A New Global Security Agenda.'

Der Derian, a former Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University, directs the Watson Institute of International Studies' Global Security Program and serves as the institute's principal investigator for the Information Technology, War and Peace Project. He has published widely on international relations theory, international security, information technology and media studies. More than 3,000 students will receive formal recognition of their outstanding academic achievements at the annual Honors Convocation. It recognizes UI students inducted into scholastic honor societies, those placed on a dean's list or those who received an Alumni Award for Excellence last December. Freshman and transfer students who became new members of the University Honors Program also are recog-

The event also is in conjunction with Mom's Weekend April 15-17, which includes a special breakfast, movies and entertainment, residence events, Kappa Kappa Gamma Fun Run, Phi Delta Theta Turtle Derby and the ASUI Student Achievement Awards.

Cesar Chavez Celebration keynote lecture is Monday

The Pacific Northwest regional director for the United Farm Workers of America will be presenting the Cesar Chavez Celebration keynote lecture at 6 p.m. Monday in the UI Commons Whitewater Room, Erik Nicholson will be speaking on issues for farmworkers.

Nicholson has served as one of two national farmworker representatives to the Environmental Protection Agency's national pesticide advisory committee since 2002.

Throughout his career, he has worked extensively on pesticide issues as they affect farmworkers and their families, child labor, consumer outreach and education and legislative issues.

Nicholson also worked more than a decade with PCUN, a farmworker union based in Oregon. In the late 1980s, he spent two years in Central America documenting human rights abuses.

Monday's celebration also will include a folklorico dance performance by Sabor de la Raza and a screening of the film, "Cesar Chavez." Refreshments will be provided.

The event is sponsored by the Office of Multicultural Affairs, College Assistant Migrant Program Organization of Students, Gamma Alpha Omega, Interested Ladies of Lambda Theta Alpha, Association of Latinos and Iberians, Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan, Organizacion de Estudiantes Latino Americanos, Sigma Lambda Beta, Sabor de la Raza and the Core Discovery course The Latino

Born near Yuma, Ariz., Cesar Chavez grew up in migrant labor camps. In 1965, he led a strike to demand higher wages for California grape pickers. Chavez and his supporters encouraged Americans to boycott table grapes as a show of support. The strike lasted five years, and garnered national attention. In 1977, the United Farm Workers were given sole rights to organize field workers.

Chavez passed away in 1993.

UI director of athletic training helps students emotionally and academically

BY LISA WAREHAM ARGONAUT STAFF

Simonne MacDonald says she owes her graduation this May to her professor Jacqueline Williams.

Williams, the director of athletic training education, has helped MacDonald, an exchange student from South Africa, with problems such as academics, family issues, homesickness and surgery.

Because of these contributions, Williams recently received the Outstanding Educator Award from the Northwest Athletic Trainers' Association. She was also nominated for The National Society of Collegiate Scholars Faculty of the Year Award.

"She's just an amazing role model. She really shows that she cares," says MacDonald, who nominated her for both awards. "And she's the reason I'm graduat-

when MacDonald had surgery during Spring Break, Williams picked her up from let MacDonald stay at her appointment, let MacDonald stay at her home and helped her recover, says MacDonald, a senior athletic training

'She's not just a professor," MacDonald says. "She's like a mother to me."

MacDonald says she is comforted knowing someone cares about her when her fam-

"My students are not just a number," says Williams, who has been at UI for more than 9 years. "They are human beings, and weeks

I am passionate about that."

Jesse Grochow, a sophomore athletic training major, says Williams' nickname is

"She's a teacher and she's also a friend. She's always there for you, whether it's school or something else," he says.

Barrie Steel, director of the athletic training room, says Williams interacts with the students on more than one level.

"She's not just a professor, she's like a mother to me."

SIMONNE MACDONALD

UI EXCHANGE STUDENT

She cares about the kids and deals with them in a professional level," Steel says. "But yet she's personal with them. They confide in her things you'd confide in with a mom."

Steel says he com-mends Williams' ability to open herself up to students.

"Her ability to put others above self is a trait that oozes from her," Steel says. Williams says she tries to help all of her students emotionally and academically. You get to know the student, you find what their specialty is and you help them,' she savs. Grochow says he likes that Williams makes the classroom "hands-on."

"She'll lecture something, then go through and apply it," he says.

Williams says for their profession. She prepare students for their profession. She says students need to have practiced procedures before applying them to patients so they do not put the client's health or their reputations in danger.

MacDonald says when the class is a lecture, Williams takes the time to make sure her students understand concepts. "She's willing to explain it to you 100 times," MacDonald says. "But she doesn't make you feel lower than her, even though she's a professor."

Grochow Williams has helped him and other students grow in many ways.

"She's very helpful as a teacher in the classroom, as a teacher in here (the athletic training room) and as an adviser," he says. Steel says Williams is a great professor because of her skills as a trainer, her recognition in management and her skills in rehabilitation.

Williams also led the athletic training education to accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs in 2000.

Steel said Williams is helping to boost the reputation of the athletic training program. He said every year the number and quality of students in the program has

"There's a lot there (in Williams) to brag about," Steel says.

Faculty council approves housekeeping changes

Cosmetic changes to come from several notices of intent approved within the past two

BY NATE POPPING

University of Idaho students will see a few cosmetic changes when they return to school next Several notices of intent have been approved by the UI faculty council in the past two weeks that will close a degree program at Idaho Falls, open a degree program here and, most noticeably, split the Department of Business in two.

"Students won't see any impact in what courses are offered. It's just a way for us to pursue themes," said Jack Morris, associate dean of the College of Business.

Morris said the decision to split the department, which will create the Department of Economics, Finance and Information Systems; and the Department of Management, Marketing and Operations Marketing and Operations Management, will help relieve pressure on the department head. The change will also remove a layer of administration, something Morris said is in "The main reason why we split it was the span of control in the business department was too large. We were not limber and flexible enough as a department to pursue the strategies President White laid out in his presentation," Morris said. Morris said no jobs will be lost by the change. Previously, the department head worked with two area coordinators who were also full-time faculty members. Now each department head will interact directly with the faculty.

Morris said two faculty members will still have part-time administrative positions.
The council also chose to remove a graduate program in adult and organizational learning from Ul's Idaho Falls location. Jeanne Christiansen, interim dean of the College of Education, said the change was made because of a lock of faculty. made because of a lack of faculty members to teach the subject, and other factors.

Council member Anderson, a graduate student, questioned the wisdom of remov-Welcome Back From Spring Break!

University of Idaho

GOLF COURSE

NOW OPEN!

ing the program.
"It seems this program is growing. Why are we cutting our losses now?" Anderson said.

Christiansen said no matter how the program is looked at, it lacks the resources to keep Interim Provost Linda Morris said the low price of credits at Idaho Falls contributed to the

"You can't run a Ph.D. program on $35 a credit," Morris

The program currently has around 70 students in it. Christiansen said those students would be allowed to finish their programs or look into other options such as Idaho State University.

The council also passed two other notices of intent. One reinstated the special education major in the College of Education, and the other retitled the College of Natural Resources' timber harvesting program to forest operations.

Council member McMurtry said the special education major will allow students to focus on a general special education degree without having to go through a dual major.

ASUI Productions is looking for a Film Chair for next year! Help book and choose both Blockbuster Movies and the New Independent Films Series!!! Stop by the ASUI Office, 3rd floor of the Commons to pick up an application.

DUE APRIL 12TH!!!!!

ASUI Productions Board is open to all undergraduate students. For more information, email productions@sub.uidaho.edu.

Otto Hill Apartments

One and Two Bedroom Apartments 7 Locations

All Close to Campus

On-Site Laundry

Off-Street Parking Covered Parking Available at Some Units

1218 South Main • 208-882-3224 • ottohills.com

MAILBOX

Pres. Bush's 'Culture of Life' position inconsistent with acts

Dear Editor,

I was excited to read what President Bush said about the Terri Schiavo case: "I urge all those who honor Terri Schiavo to continue to work to build a culture of life where all Americans are welcomed and valued and protected, especially those who live at the mercy of others. The strong have a duty to protect the weak." I applaud Bush for these remarks and look forward to these ideas leading the government to work to protect all humanity, especially the oppressed - the poor. women and racial and sexual minorities.

Newsweek recently stated that 20,000 people die each day from hunger. I look forward to Bush immediately bringing about a massive relief effort to stop this prolonged world travesty.

The medical journal The Lancet states that the war in Iraq has led to the death of 100.000 innocent civilians. I look forward to Bush immediately removing the military from Iraq and instead investing fully in lrag's reconstruction.

According to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, 340 death row inmates In Texas have been executed since 1984. Though many were guilty of grave and atrocious crimes, I look forward to Bush remaining tough on crime while still "build(ing) a culture of life where all Americans (including criminals) are ... protected," rather than murdered by the

I look forward to Bush becoming proactive to halt death due to violence. poverty and hunger throughout the world.

> Sean Prentiss Graduate student English

Do something to make pedestrian crossing safer

Dear Editor,

I am enrolled in a class called "Emerging issues in Landscape Architecture" taught by Barbara Anderson. During one class we were discussing the interaction between pedestrian and automobile paths. Through this discussion we thought about the Moscow-Pullman Highway and how many students cross the section of road between Line Street. and Farm Road. We were wondering if there were plans to create a pedestrian path, either overpass or crosswalk, for these students in the future.

We were concerned that the amount of students living in the apartment complexes along Baker Street and A Street that cross the road to get to class are endangering their lives by crossing the four-lane highway

Through the University's Parking and Transportation Department we were able to get the numbers of people crossing the road from a count they had done Feb 8 and 9 of this year. The numbers surprised the entire class. On Feb 8, 713 students crossed the highway and on Feb 9, 812 students had crossed.

I know that if I were one of those students crossing that section of road I would have to think twice about it just because of the speed and inattentiveness of drivers traveling that road.

Is there any plan in the near future for creating a safer crossing for these students? Please let us know.

> Melanie Petroskey Landscape architecture

Education helps but we should do more to stop smoking

Usually when the world is facing a major health issue, something is done to slow or stop it. Why then, isn't more being done to combat smoking and tobacco use? Thetruth.com states "tobacco kills more Americans than AIDS, drugs, homicides, fires and auto accidents combined." The death rate for tobacco-related illnesses is alarming but nothing is being done to stop it. Why is this? There have been several small movements to stop tobacco use but nothing drastic.

Measures must be taken to ensure that the number of deaths from tobacco each second is reduced from one person every eight seconds according to thetruth.com. How can this be done? One step is education. There are several programs around the country to help educate others about the harmful effects of tobacco use.

Another step is to write to one's legislators and inform them that we are not satisfied with the current tobacco situation. This will help get bills passed into

The third step that one can take is to boycott cigarettes and their advertisements. In other words, don't support things that advertise smoking. So, why aren't more drastic measures being taken? People need to step up and take action against the tobacco compa-

> Scott Smith Freshman Psychology

Studor's 'Garret' column shows religious ignorance

Dear Editor,

As a Josh Studor-proclaimed "fanatic." I am writing about his recent piece, "Who cares what Garrett thinks? (March 25)"

I can't believe he has no problem with Christians fellowshipping with one another. It obviously bothers him. Why? He says they opt for the "comfortable world of Christian clubs," as if Christians never get excited about anything else. That's not only unfair, it's beyond the scope of his knowledge.

He starts with an attack on the campus' political apathy, then draws supposed national parallels. Either he's upset about UI placing last in activism - which would make them the exception to the rule - or UI's part of a trend. His information says the latter isn't correct. Pick a posi-

Don't worry. There are still just as many peace demonstrations and students protesting Jada Pinkett-Smith as a "hetero-normative.

How can Studor accuse Christian groups of "stamping out religious diversity" because they follow their convictions? Perhaps his criticism would be better directed at the silent groups he wishes to Studor then begins a tirade on why Christians are so outdated and uniformly ignorant, which also has nothing to do with how often they meet. Christians have brains and opinions too. And sometimes those ideas are actually thought-out and steeped in compassion. Switchfoot is a hot Christian band that promotes AIDS relief in the same vein as Bono.

Studor's right about one thing: Christians will never abandon Biblical principles. Why should they? As long as they grow with the times and function in society, why attack them for sticking to their guns? If they stopped, wouldn't that make them compromising? Isn't it slightly bit applaudable when students choose not to abandon their religious roots during this tumultuous period? I know that option doesn't always seem 'safe" in a college environment.

So continue your plight to promote activism. It's all good. But don't try to empower certain ranks by squelching oth-

If Christians believe everyone's eternal destiny is determined in this life, isn't it only logical they pursue that faith as a top priority? It's not just logical; if that's what they believe, it's required.

> Joy Alger UI alumna

Sen. Travis Shofner good for ASUI. students and university

Members of ASUI face an important choice this month. Of all the numerous candidates, there is only one with the experience and knowledge necessary to make an outstanding ASUI senator. I have worked with Travis Shofner for the past semester and I have seen him working hard to better student life. He has been instrumental in our lobbying efforts and is currently working on Vandal Taxi to ensure that this program is as efficient and productive as possible. Over the past few months I have seen Shofner in action and I believe that if elected this month, he will continue working for students. That's why I intend to vote for him and urge you to also.

> Eric Everett Junior Political science ASUI senator

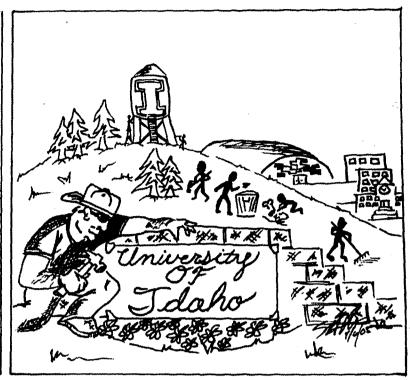

Letter policy

The Argonaut welcomes letters to the editor regarding current issues. However, the Argonaut adheres to a strict letter pol-

- · Letters should be 300 words or less
- typed · Letters should focus on issues only,
- not personalities
- · Personal attacks will not be printed The Argonaut reserves the right to edit letters for grammar, length, libel
- and clarity · Letters must include the writer's year in school and major(s)

OURVIEW

WHAT A LITTLE VANDAL PRIDE

SCOTT AGULAR / ARGONAUT

Vandals should help with spring cleaning

An Idaho version of Cougar Pride Day good for campus, community

ere at he University of Idaho, students partici-. pate in a good-natured rivalry against their neighbor across the border, Washington State University.

WSU is a bigger school, with larger enrollment, a better football team and often more exciting on-campus speakers and events. Yet students at Idaho scoff gently at WSU. UI's campus is prettier. UI is more laidback. UI is a better bargain. UI's smaller classes let students get more from their professors. Coug fans are partytime knuckleheads. WSU students have a misplaced and overzealous sense of school spirit. But when it comes to school spirit, maybe Vandals should take a cue from their neighbors. From March 28 to April 4, Cougs engaged in Cougar Pride Days, in which students and faculty participated in campus cleanup and beautification. UI had a similar event in the 1930s, but due to increased maintenance staffing, the event lost popularity and eventually died out.

UI is by no means an ugly campus full of garbage, but students no longer have a direct connection with the way the campus looks. If student groups took a couple days each year to plant trees or flowers, trim bushes, tidy up flowerbeds or pick up garbage around Paradise Creek, they could feel a direct sense of pride in the way those areas of campus

In addition, students who participate in campus beautification leave a legacy for future UI students to adopt and enjoy. For example, in the 1960s, first lady Lady Bird Johnson instigated a campaign to beautify the nation. Her legacy lives on in Washington, D.C., where a 15-acre garden full of tulips and daffodils, and wild stands of the latter along highways usher in spring with a sea of vibrant color.

Especially now, when UI is in a state of upheaval with a tight budget forcing administrators to make difficult decisions, the university needs a beautification program. Students, faculty and administrators are frustrated by reorganizations, tight funds and tenuous relations.

A university beautification day would give the entire community a chance to suspend their differences and gather to make the UI campus a more beautiful place.

People who participated in the beautification would be reminded each time they passed by the part of campus they helped improve that they made a difference to the university. Twenty or 30 years in the future, alumni could bring their children to UI and say, "This is the tree I planted. These are the flowers I planted. This is the campus I helped to make beautiful.

It's also possible that UI could save some money on maintenance by having students do some of the landscaping jobs around campus. Living or other student groups could, as a sort of philanthropy, maintain certain areas of campus throughout the year. Or if administrators didn't think a campus beautification program would save UI money, mainte-nance crews could stick around and get paid to make sure students did a good job.

Right now, the university community is frustrated and worried about the future of the institution. People are afraid of losing their jobs, and some students are worrying that their degrees won't be worth as much as they'd hoped in the job market. A UI beautification day would allow these people to make a unifying contribution of which they could be proud for years to come.

Avida: Darwin's evolving digital buddy

n the late 1990s Chris Adami, a physicist at Cal Tech, created life. Since then, his simple life forms have learned, procreated, adapted, survived countless generations, spawned billions of offspring and, most importantly, evolved.

Adami is the creator of Avida, a computerized platform for studying evolution in an environment that bypasses the millions of years necessary to witness the evolutionary process in its entirety.

FRANKMcGOVERN

Frank's column appears regularly on the pages of the

Argonaut. His e-mail

Adami's digital critters blur the definition of "life," raising and answering profound questions about some of our most deep-seated inquiries into science, nature and reli-

"Avida is not a simulation of evolution," said Robert Pennock, "it is an instance of it." Pennock is a member of the Avida team at Michigan State, home of the experiment. "All the core parts of the Darwinian process are there. These things replicate, they mutate, they arg_opinion@sub.uidaho.edu are competing with one another. The very process of natural selection is happening

Avida really took off when Adami introduced his fledgling program to microbiologist Richard Lenski. Lenski found that Avida mirrored his own experiments in micro-evolution. For 17 years Lenski has been experimenting with the evolution of E. Coli, beginning with a single bacterium. Lenski spurred evolution in the microbes by feeding them only glucose, forcing them to adapt to their meager diet. Since 1988, the bacteria have passed through 35,000 generations and proven to be one of the strongest proofs of natural selection. They have become bigger, and replicate nearly twice as fast as their ancestors to compensate. The bacteria also evolve in "sudden jerks" with hundreds of generations" of little change at all between evolutions. This behavior substantiates contemporary models of evolution based on fossil records and the current biochemical and genetic state of existing organisms. The Avida digital organisms have eerily echoed these sorts of findings, only exponentially faster.

One of the most popular claims of creationists pushing the "intelligent design" model of nature is that life is far too complex to have evolved to exist as we do. The argument is that life would have had to evolve piecemeal, so an organism's protoparts couldn't function unless created whole, as they are now. However, Chris Adami notes that if this were the case, "Avida wouldn't be able to produce complex digital organisms." In fact, the Avida critters depend on complexity to evolve.

The scientists working on the project set up simple and complex "reward" programs for the Avida organisms and let the first generations compete for the rewards. The simple reward system spurred no growth at all, as even digital life is lazy if it can be, while the complex one resulted in evolution. Like nature on methamphetamines, the Avida programs working on the complex reward program evolved 23 times out of 50, beating the odds of one in a thousand-trillion-trillion that they would evolve on their own. Even more telling was that they evolved along separate evolutionary paths, as Darwin suggested life had.

"What we show is that there are irreducibly complex things and they can evolve," said Adami.

Like nature, the tweaking of conditions, including the "food" the organisms compete for, has resulted in a staggering display of evolutionary adaptation. Simple life forms become complex ones to maximize their exploitation of their environment.

As for the intelligent design argument that things couldn't evolve little bits at a time, the Avida team points out that flies, octopi and humans all have eyes that function in very different ways, but all came from some ocular precursor. This precursor was presumably a collection of photosensitive cells that could just discern light and shadow (the kind we find today on flatworms and other organisms). These cells evolved over time to become eyes, but served a purpose every step of the way.

The digital creatures, which began as the binary equivalent of single-celled organisms, have gone on to procreate "sexually," and even solve problems. They recently surprised researchers by learning to "play dead," avoiding a code written to kill them. They mutated to beat the code as bacteria have learned to do with antibiotics. The Avida program is proof that evolution happens, works and does so in ways that Darwin and those who have followed him intellectually and scholastically proposed that it would. Whether it was God snapping his fingers, lightning fusing amino acids in some ancient Terran slurry or a physicist writing code, life fights to survive through

Who knows, if we were eternally privy to the evolution of Lenski's growing and adapting E. Coli, in 5 billion years, who's to say they wouldn't start going to church?

ARGONAUT

EDITORIAL POLICY

The opinion page is reserved as a forum of open thought, debate and expression of free speech regarding topics relevant to the UI community. Editorials are signed by the initials of the author. Editorials may not necessarily reflect the views of the University of Idaho or its identities, Members of the Argonaut Editorial Board are Abbey Lostrom. editor in chief; Cady McCowin, managing editor; and Josh Studor, opinion editor.

(208) 885-2222

Editor | Josh Studor

Phone | (208) 885-7705

E-mall | arg opinion@sub.uidaho.edu

Friday, April 8, 2005

Owners and customers sound off on Main Street coffeehouses and bakeries

BY TOM BANKS ARGONAUT STAFF

Moscow, chances are he will start to notice the abundance of is Bucer's Coffeehouse Pub, a cafe, pub and bookstore. coffee shops in the area pretty quickly.

World Cafe, with Wheatberries Bake Shop located next door. Across the street is The Nuart, a converted theater that also functions as a performing arts venue, and houses the offices of Community Christian Ministries. About a block up is Zume Bakery

f someone takes a walk up Main Street in downtown and Cafe, a European-style pastry shop. Still farther up the street

Five options, three blocks. With such a wide variety of places to On the corner of Main and Sixth is the newly opened One grab a latte or a freshly baked pastry, potential customers could understandably pose the question, "What's the difference between > Local business owners and customers weigh the good points and a few bad – of Main Street's coffee options.

Zume Bakery and Cafe, on Friendship Square

George Kong, owner of Zume Bakery and Cafe, said his business stands out because it is designed as less of a coffeehouse and more of a pastry shop.

"We serve traditional European pastries and desserts made entirely from scratch, using traditional recipes. No one else in the area does anything like that," he said.

Zume also takes a somewhat different approach to making

"We are attempting to make an authentic Italian espresso, by which I mean an espresso that is delicious on its own without needing a lot of milk and sugar." Kong said.

"Zume has a nice atmosphere, but sometimes it smells weird," freshman general studies major Caroline Jones said. 'The coffee is better than what they have at The Nuart,

Bucer's Coffeehouse Pub, 201 S. Main

Along with pouring coffee, Bucer's Coffeehouse Pub serves light meals like sandwiches and salads. It also has a wall of books, serving as a sort of miniature bookstore.

"I think that everything about Bucer's is unique, from the fresh-roasted coffee to the baked goods to the smoking room. It's all very distinctive," Bucer's co-owner Gary Greenfield

Bucer's also features live music in a variety of styles every

"Bucers has a great feeling of progress in that it's divided into several rooms," Moscow resident Davis Wilson said. "One World also has very good art on the walls, but their coffee isn't on par with Bucer's.

One World Cafe, corner of Main and Sixth

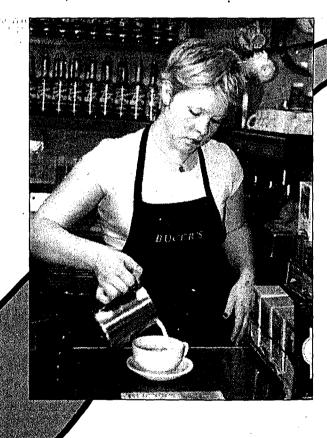

The newest of the downtown coffee shops is One World Cafe, which opened for business in March.

One World is owned by a group of professors from UI and Washington State University.

"When we started this, we did so with the intention of having a place that would be a cool hangout spot for all hinds of peace of the peace kinds of people from all ways of life," said Steffen Werner, co-owner of One World and UI psychology professor. "We designed this to be a place with a strong visual and architectural presence, and also to have space for performing arts." One World features live music on weekends, and also hosts poetry and literary readings.

"I think it's pretty cool here. Very unique," graduate student Eugene Perevodchikov said.

The design and layout are very good."

The Nuart, 516 S. Main

Like the other shops, The Nuart caters to more than just coffee lovers. "People seem to like the fact that it's not bustling with other customers. It makes it nice for people to find a quiet place to study," Nuart manager Eric Engerbretson said. "It also appeals to people who are interested in talking about philosophy and "I think it offers something different to the area," philosophy major Daniel Frederick said. "It's a pretty fun alternative to the rest of the coffee shops, and also a great place to study."

Wheatberries Bake Shop, 531B S. Main

Wheatberries Bake Shop is designed as more of a bakery and sandwich shop than as a coffee house, though they do serve coffee and espresso drinks.

"We're not a coffee shop. We're a bakery, and that makes us stand out," owner Todd Unger said. "I love Wheatberries." freshman nursing major Sarah Mackessy said. "I think it has more of a family business feel to it and doesn't seem so commercial." Wheatberries also supplies pastries to One World Cafe

> PHOTOS BY KENTARO MURAI AND SARAH QUINT ARGONAUT STAFF

UI student brings music to Idaho and Zimbabwe

"Every time they play those marimbas they are just as good as Zimbabweans. It gives the notion about how small the world can be, especially from a musical angle."

TENDEKAI KUTURE

UI GRADUATE STUDENT

BY ABBY ANDERSON ARGONAUT STAFF

Like many University of Idaho graduates, Tendekai Kuture plans on leaving Moscow as soon as possible. But what separates Kuture from many of his colleagues is how far he is planning to go.

For Kuture, receiving his master's in music education means finally going back to Zimbabwe.

There he will return to his job as a music teacher and see his wife and two children, whom he has not seen since late 2002.

Kuture originally decided to come to the United States to complete his education, since Zimbabwe schools do not offer master's degrees in music, even though school meant leaving his family behind.

"It's not easy, to be honest," Kuture says. "I really love my children and my wife, and this has not been easy. But I phone them. This is the closest we can get.

The Africa University and Mutare Teachers' College music lecturer has remained positive despite the distance, says Elinor Michel, two-year member of Kuture's Sesitshaya Marimba ensemble.

"This is just my own feeling, but I think he's enjoyed sharing his music with all these different groups," Michel says. "It's allowed him to keep his culture here with him and he."

"Every time to marimhas the marimhas the content of the content have him feel so homesick."

An active member on campus since his arrival, Kuture has formed two marimba bands, worked with the UI chorus and jazz choirs, and acted as a teaching assistant in the Lionel Hampton School of Music.

Working with the com-munity and student marimba bands has shown Kuture the universality of music, he

"Well-done and welltaken music is indeed a universal language - this is what I have learned about my students," he says. "Every time they play those marimbas they are just as good as Zimbabweans. It gives the notion about how small the world can be, especially from a musical angle.

Members of the marimba bands have learned more than Zimbabwean music from Kuture.

"We've learned a lot about the political situawe've learned a lot about the political situation there and the customs," Michel says. "We sing some songs in the language of Zimbabwe, and he explains what the words mean."

It is not only language that differentiates Zimbabwe from the United States, but also teaching methods.

teaching methods.

During her two years on the Sesitshaya marimba band, Diane Walker, a former UI dance professor, has learned to play music by rote memory, an African way of memorizing music.

"He (Kuture) just plays a pattern for us and we just play it and memorize it," she says. "He

Farewell Concert

An appreciation concert for Kuture will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church on Third and Adams. A $5 minimum donation at the door will pay for part of Kuture's flight back to Zimbabwe.

does that for each instrument and then it comes together in this wonderful piece of music.

Michel agrees.

It's quite a different experience because most of us learn from reading music, but in Zimbabwe culture you learn it from listening and demonstration," Michel says. "But all of us keep notes and Tendekai very nicely jokes with us about

While his band members were learning a new way to play music, Kuture had to learn a new way study music.

When they have the opportunity to obtain a master's degree, Zimbabweans traditionally study ethnic musicology, he says.

"I took music education, which is quite different for my background," he says. "I had to do a lot of making up to measure up to other students." For Kuture, this sometimes meant auditing courses before taking them at the master's level and doing makeup readings late into the night.

Kuture says he has noticed that in Zimbabwe, schools train students to be music teachers, while at UI they train students to get their degrees in music.

"Here someone is getting a degree in piano, in percussion," he says. "We don't have the facilities to do that, so we'd rather teach music teachers ... a little of everything so they can go and teach.

Before his departure, the Moscow community marimba band, Sesitshaya Marimba, will have an appreciation concert in Kuture's honor. Donations made will help fund Kuture's plane ticket home.

Campus

"It's an appreciation concert for Tendekai to thank him for what he's brought to the Moscow and UI community in sharing his music and cul-Michel says.

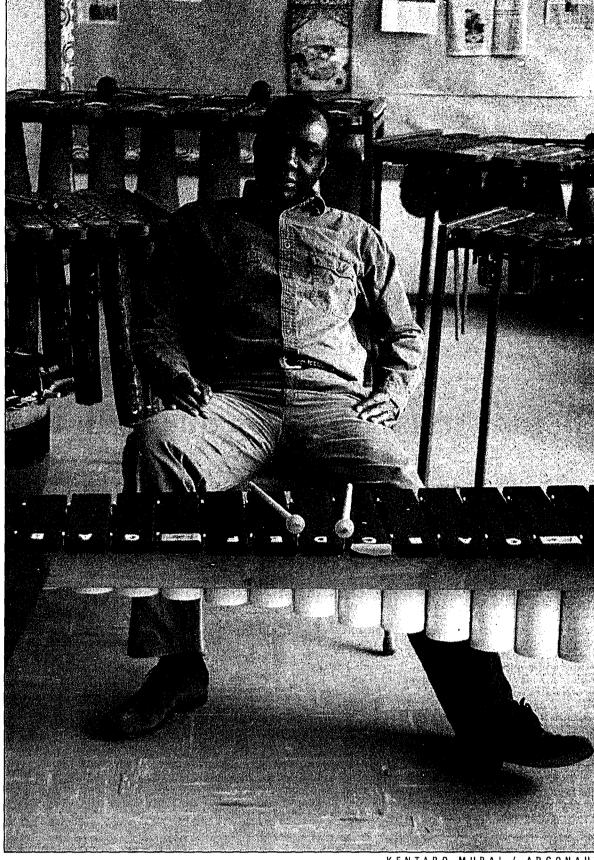

Although he is excited to return home, Kuture says he will miss being at UI.

"I will really miss Moscow as a town, UI as a campus and the people," Kuture says. "I really think this from the deepest part of my heart, that Moscow is so safe and so friendly. I will always miss my friends, especially my marimba bands."

With the impending departure of its instruc-tor, Michel says the band is already thinking of ways to get him to come back.

"We're going to miss him terribly," Walker says. "He's generous, funny and humble. He's a good music teacher."

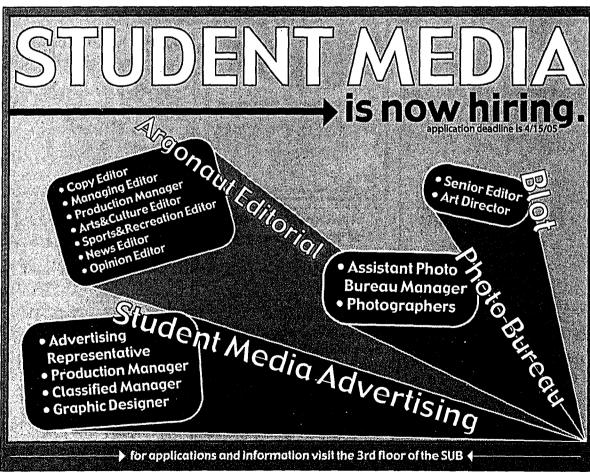

KENTARO MURAI / ARGONAUT

Tendekai Kuture sits with one of the many marimbas and other African instruments at the First United Methodist Church on Tuesday. Kuture teaches a marimba ensemble class for the Lionel Hampton School of Music and leads the Sesitshaya Marimba community band.

Don't like the Argonaut? DO SOMETNING ADOUT IT.

Pick up an application for the fall 2005 semester in the SUB, Room 301 or online at www.argonaut.uidaho.edu.

Call 882-7188 or visit www.palouseicerink.com for more information.

Best Bar/Pub:

Best Professor:	Best Happy Hour:
Best Class to Take:	Best Buffet:
Best Excuse for Missing Class:
Best Place to Study:	Entertainment
Best Hangout Spot: Best Vandal Athletics Team:
	Best TV Show:
Food & Beverages	Best New Movie:
Best Pizza Shop:
Best Sandwich Shop:
Best Place for Breakfast: Best Italian Food:
Best Asian Food:
Best Mexican Food:
Best Romantic Restaurant:	Around Town
Best Place for Dessert:	Best Place to Meet People:
Best Burger Joint:	Best Place to Shoot Pool:
Best Natural Foods:	Best Place to see live music:
Best Coffee/Espresso:	Best New Business in Moscow:
Best Late Night Snack:
Best Place for Ice Cream:
Best Place for Margarita:	Best Bookstore: Best Drink Selection:
Best Beer Selection:
Best Sports Bar:	Best Flower Shop:
Best Night Club:
	그는 그 그 그 그 그 그 그는 그 그는 그 그 그 그 그 그 그 그 / ahomaorag ph:

		-	; sponsored by:
Name:
I-mail:
Phone number			JCIFO
			Student Alumni Relations Board

Drop off entries at the SUB & Commons Info Desks, SArb Office, and at the REC Center

Vote online @ www.argonaut.uidaho.edu/bestofui Entry forms must be complete to be eligible. Entry Deadline is 4/8/2005

COURTESY PHOTO Whoopi Goldberg brings her stand-up routine to WSU at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Beasley Coliseum.

Goldberg's name added to WSU's comedic history

BY JON Ross ASSISTANT ARTS&CULTURE EDITOR

It may seem like comedians always appear at Washington University this time of year.

Whoopi Goldberg, last heard in this year's "Racing Stripes," will help celebrate Mom's Weekend at WSU by bringing her stand-up routine to cam-pus. The comic will be performing at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are on sale for $32 and $37 at the Beasley Ticket Office.

There is a reason behind this springtime import of comedy, said Leo Udy, director of the Beasley Coliseum.
"We do it because it's pretty hard to schedule a band on a specific day,"

He said it is hard to get music acts because groups usually aren't in the area unless there is an open spot on the band's tour itinerary.

Udy said.

Goldberg is not on tour, and was able to come to campus because Udy arranged for her travel. When an artist is not on tour, organizers usually fly him to Pullman, but Goldberg's situation was different.

"She doesn't fly. She takes a bus," Udy said.

Before starting her movie career, Goldberg was primarily a stand-up comic performing in clubs and the occasional theater role. In 1983, she premiered her own solo Broadway show, which was later recorded for an HBO special. She went on to win a Grammy for Best Comedy Recording of the Year for her performance in the Goldberg was chosen to perform at WSU because students showed interest in bringing the comic to campus.

"Every year we do a survey with a poll on campus, and she was on the list," Udy said.

Comedians who also have visited WSU include Wayne Brady, Larry the Cable Guy, Bill Cosby and Drew

"They've kind of all been on that same list," Udy said. Even though Goldberg's performance is the main attraction during Mom's Weekend, the show is anything but family-oriented. "Whoopi is an adult-only act. It's a campus event. Whoopi wouldn't be considered a family event." Udy said the evening has been labeled with an adult advisory from the time the performance was announced. Organizers are expecting that an audience of 6,000 will come to see Goldberg.

"It's probably three-fourths of the setup we have," Udy said.

Goldberg's stand-up performance will serve as an end to the WSU Mom's Weekend festivities.

'Before Sunset' a rare sequel gem in a pile of rocks

BY TYLER WILSON ARGONAUT STAFF

Sequels like "Before Sunset" are a rarity. It's not only a superior film to its predecessor, but also a stand alone romance about two people re-discovering their past. The sequel to 1995's "Before Sunrise" finds Jesse and Celine (Ethan Hawke and Julie Delpy) re-uniting in Paris nine years after their first encounter in Vienna. They had promised to meet sooner, but life circumstances prevented them from reliving the magic they shared over one spontaneous evening. Like the original film, "Before Sunset" essentially follows one long conversation between two people. However, due to Jesse's impending plane departure, "Sunset" takes place largely in real time.

"Before Sunrise" was a wonderful depiction of the energy and excitement of when two people meet and develop chemistry.

"Sunset" is still an exercise in depicting that chemistry, but now the characters

REVIEW

"BEFORE SUNSET"

Ethan Hawke

Now Available

are nine years older. Their lives have taken unexpected turns, they've both experienced pain and loss, and neither can help but linger on their one evening together nine years before.

Director Richard Linklater has crafted a simplistic yet exciting film that simply features two characters chatting around Paris. He doesn't overuse the scenery or showboat his visual expertise. Instead he lingers on the witty, insightful script he crafted alongside Hawke and Delpy. Their conversations are genuine, and their performances are understated and powerfully real. The excitement in their eyes is obvious when they see each other again, and the pain they've endured just to finally say how much they meant to each other is tangible.

"Before Sunset" breezes along, largely because of its real-time immediacy. Jesse and Celine are often overwhelmed by how little time they have together, and the audience can feel that effect, hoping for their conversation to keep going. A viewer should see "Before Sunrise" in order to fully appreciate this film, but the emotional depth "Before Sunset" reaches goes far beyond anything produced in the last year. It may very well be the best movie from 2004. And to think it's just a

NEW DVDs THIS WEEK

"Elektra": Jennifer Garner, Terrence Stamp Ben Affleck filmed a cameo that didn't make the final cut. Now he's even banned in crappy movies!

"Sideways": Paul Giamatti, Thomas Hayden Church Please watch and marvel at the greatness that is Giamatti.

"The West Wing: Complete Fourth Season":

A fanciful distraction from the nightmare that is real American gov-

"Spanglish": Adam Sandler, Tea

Let me try some: El cine es lameo. That's what four years of Spanish will get you.

TIME I A M

KENTARO MURAI / ARGONAUT Bassist Ryan Gibler plays with the rest of Oracle Shack for the release party for its new studio album "...into skies diving..." at the One World Cafe Friday night.

Immanuel Lhurch

1300 SE Sunnymead Way, Pullman Voice: 332-5015 TDD; 332-8154 (Klemgard & Sunnymead, above the Holiday Inn Express)

SUNDAY WORSHIP SCHEDULE Early Worship Service......8:30 am Bible Study......10:00 am Late Worship Service......11:15 am

. Plug into worship with our Live Band Nursery available

Interpreter for the deaf available Small groups during the week www.ebcpullman.org Refuge Presents...
Crossroads

Monday Nights at 8:00 p.m. Silver Room, SUB (Location Subject to Change)

For More Information info@refuge.bz www.Keiuge.bz

FOR ADVERTISING INFO, CALL CALE AT 885-6371 Fueling a Passion for Christ to

St. Mark's Episcopal Church

111 S. Jefferson, Moscow 882-2022, smark@moscow.com The Rev. Canon John Day, Rector

> Sunday Services 8 and 10:30 a.m. Canterbury Fellowship 5:30 p.m. Sunday

Campus Christian Center 882 Elm St.

A place to reconnect the spirit

Christ-centered,

Thursdays at 7:00 p.m.

Sundays at 10:30 a.m.

219 W. Third St.

Moscow, Idaho

http://www.rockchurchmoscow.org

Bible-based,

Spirt-filled

Services:

the Rock

CHURCH

U of I Pagan/Wiccan Club welcomes all who wish to explore the Old Religion.

> Meetings Monday 7-9 p.m. Well Springs Rm, Idaho Commons

Christina Bunker - 892-1345 bunk5229@uidaho.edu

PRIME

TIME

Every

Thursday

8 pm

at the NUART

516 S. Main, Moscow

LIVE BAND.

GREAT FOOD

PRIME TIME PARTY

FOR THOUGHT

The Church That Meets at the Nuart Theater 516 S. Main Street

Sunday Mornings 10:30 Service: Evangelical Singing (Contemporary and traditional) Bible Teaching (Expository and practical) Intercession (Prayer for people)

Your Ad

Here, Call

Cale at 885-6371

Non denominational & informal

9:00 AM classes (ESL)

CHRIST CHURCH

Two Congregations Christ Church Logos School Fieldhouse 10 Baker St.,"A" St. Entrance

10:00 am Trinity Reform Church University Inn

10:30 am Sunday School for both services 9 am www.christkirk.com Collegiate Reformed Fellowship

(the campus ministry of Christ Church) Wednesdays: Gold/Silver Room SUB 7:30 p.m. Matt Gray, Director 883-7903 http://stuorgs.uidaho.edu/~crf/

First Presbyterian Church of Moscow

405 South Van Buren Moscow, Idaho 882-4122

Contemporary Service...8:30 a.m. Traditional Service...11:00 a.m.

Nursery Care Provided Sanctuary open for prayer weekdays, Sunday. Rev. Jean Jenkins Interm pastor

www.FPC-moscow.org Come & Worship

Unitarian-Universalist Church of the Palouse adults 18-35.

www.geocities.com/ uumoscow_youngadults

Mondays 8-11 a.m. Cafe De Vida, 822 Elm

University Bible Study TBA - Ul Campus Sb:-Twenty" Bible Study Sunday - 6:00 pm 214 N Main Or email schreck2020@msn.com Moscow, ID 208,882,2627

Moscow Church of the Nazarene

Sunday's eMERGE: 6:00 p.m.

University Worship & Bible Study)

Contact: Pastor Tim Eby

882-4332

Located 6th and Mountainview

Morning Worship: 10:15 a.m.

Transform our World

therossing

Or see our webpages at ... http://personal.palouse.net/jewish Living Faith Fellowship

Jewish Community

of the Palouse

FRIDAY NIGHT SERVICES

HOLDAY CELEBRATIONS

·SVNDAY SCHOOL

· For more information ·

Call 208-882-0971

1035 South Grand, Pullman, 334-1035 Phil & Kari Vance, Senior Pastors Joe Fitzgerald, Campus Pastor

Ministry Training Center

FRIDAY: Campus Christian Fellowship 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY: Bible & Life Training Classes 9:00 a.m.

> Worship: 10:30 a.m. WEDNESDAY:

Worship: 7:00 p.m. Nursery Care Provided

Call For a Ride www.LFFMTC.org

Full GONDEL Lighthouse

The Lord Liveth; and blessed be my rock; and let the God of ny salivation be exalted." YOU ARE WELCOME TO OUR SERVICES! SERVICE TIMES

Sunday School.. Morning Service.....11:00 a.m. Wed Night Bible Study....7:00 p.m.

PHONE-882-0949 6 1/2 mi East of Moscow on Troy Highway

Community Congregational United Church

PRIMETIME

of Christ An Open and Affirming & Just Peace Church

Pastor: Reverend Kristine Zakarison

525 NE Campus, Pullman 332-6411

www.pullmanucc.org

Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. Learning Community 10:30 a.m.

Assistive Listening, Large Print, ADA Accessible, Child Care Provided Thrift Shop 334-6632 Tu 4:30-6:30, Thur & Fri 11:00-3:00

St. Augustine's Catholic Church &

Student Center

Sunday Mass 10:00 a.m. 7:00 p.m.

Pastor William Taylor 12:30 p.m. MWF in Chapel Reconciliation Sunday 6:30 p.m.

> 628 Deakin (across from SUB)

"The Uncommon Denomination"

Sunday Morning Services 9:30 & 11:00 10:30 coffee fellowship church school, nursery at both services

UUCP Young Adult Group providing quality social, spiritual, service and organizational fellowship for young Contact Marisa at 310-6018

> UUCP Campus Ministry coffee & conversation > > church office 882-4328

The United Church of Moscow

American Baptist/Disciples of Christ 123 West First St. 882-2924 Roger C. Lynn, Pastor www.unitedchurch.cc

Sunday Morning Worship 9:30 a.m.

Students please call for directions or a ride

Bridge Bible Fellowship

Kim Kirkland, Pastor 960 W. Palouse River Dr.

Moscow 883-3494 Sunday Worship 10 a.m. Men's & Women's Ministrie Youth Group Nursery Sunday School

All Welcome

mountainviewbible.org

24-hour arts festival begins with one poem

BY HILLARY FLOWERS ARGONAUT STAFF

Actors normally have months to rehearse a play before open-ing night, but "One Night Stand" is changing everything. The festival's actors and writers have only 12 hours each to write and rehearse a 10-minute play.

The Other Place Theatre Cooperative will debut its new series of plays, "One Night Stand: A 24-Hour Arts Festival," with performances starting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Moscow High School auditorium. Admission is $5 at the door. The Latah County Arts and Culture Committee provided partial funding for the event.

The festival will begin with a poem written by Robert Wrigley, who oversees the University of Idaho's Master of Fine Arts creative writing program and is a nationally recognized poet. The name of the poem could not be revealed at press time, because organizers could not risk the playwrights and actors finding

The poem will be given to five playwrights who have 12 hours, tarting at 6 p.m. tonight, to nterpret the poem however they want and write a 10-minute play. They will be working on the plays at the Retrofit Gallery the plays at the Retro in downtown Moscow.

"As a writer, it's really nice to be involved in something so col-

BY BRIAN RICH

ARGONAUT STAFF

tion occurring in Idaho's hard-

the local music community.

The result is Monday night's mind-blowing show, which fea-tured Silent Drive, With Honor, Comeback Kid and Bane. While Bane was the closing act, all of the bands were well

"I think that not too many enjoyed it," said Dylan Sinclair.

chair of the ASUI Coffeehouse people knew who Silent Drive received by the audience.

was, and I think people

Concert Series.

Combine the musical starvacore scene options in severe lack of

with the

laborative," playwright Lance Tappana said. "It is kind of an instant gratification.

Tappana has written seven full-length plays and an assortment of one-act short plays. He said he looks forward to writing the play. He said the festival adds another theater venue to the Moscow community.

"Adding pressure to any creative situation can cause people to be more resourceful than they would be if they were left to their own devices," Tappana said. "More collaboration than you typically get writing."

The directors and actors in the plays will receive the scripts at 6 a.m. Saturday and will have 12 hours to rehearse. Each play includes two cast members. T.O.P. member and festival organizer Britt Heisel said time management is very important to the festival since there isn't much time to write, rehearse and direct.

"It's kind of an artistic experiment," Heisel said. "It's going to be a really exciting challenge."

Lionel Hampton School of professor Thompson will be one of the actors in the festival. He said it's not hard to memorize a 10minute play in 12 hours, and it's an added bonus to be working with friends in T.O.P.

"I have never heard of anything like this before," Thompson said. "It's too inter-

Bane blows doors off SUB ballroom excited for With Honor and Bane. It wasn't a headliner everyone was really excited

"A lot of kids were almost as Comeback Kid as they were for show, it was three bands that about, which made for a long,

Fans traveled from Boise,

Spokane, Pullman and even as far as Twin Falls to see Bane, suggesting that more performances from the hard-core genre!

would be appreciated locally. Audience members also included students from the local community, who, when Bane singer

Aaron Bedard asked, said they

Bedard asked if they were having a good time, the ballroom was flooded with screaming were attending a hard-core show for their first time. When esting a project to pass up."

Thompson said no one has ever done a project similar to this before as far as he knows. He is looking forward to the challenge the festival will bring "For me it's a chance to act," Thompson said. "I think that the concept is really cool."

A silent auction and reception begins at 6:30 p.m. The auction features visual art pieces inspired by the poem.

The contributing artists and pieces are Jennifer Rod's steel sculpture, Emily Meyer's painting, Paul Wisdom's steel bamboo, Daniela Rumpf's ceramic sculpture and Rebekah Wilkins-Pepiton's mixed media. The reception will include appetizers before the plays begin.

"One of our mission statements is we want to involve the arts and as many different people's lives as possible, and we want to work with people locally," Heisel said.

T.O.P. founders are Heisel, Wilkins-Pepiton, Charlie Pepiton, Alicia Bickley, and Erik Perryman. Heisel and Pepiton are directing the festival, Bickley is writing one of the plays, Perryman is managing the festival and Wilkins-Pepiton is creating a visual art piece and managing.

"We've been planning this now since fall," Heisel said. "I'm excited for everyone to be here and to start working on it.'

and yelling.
Bane, an old-school, harding fans together since the Massachusetts, has been bring-mid-1990s under the umbrella of unity, open-mindedness and free thinking. Bedard is proud-ence members to make up their own minds instead of conforming to what their music, friends or religion tell them to ly drug-free, but urged audi-

do.

"(Bedard) has been in the scene for so long that he really has merit," Sinclair said. "He's been around way longer than a lot of musicians, and I think sometimes he feels he needs to his personal experiences since give people a heads-up from he's been around for so long.'

core punk band from

SHOEFLY

Shoes hang from a tree outside the Delta Chi fraternity on the corner of Elm Street and University Avenue on Monday.

ARTSBRIEFS

Bucer's overflows with music tonight and Saturday

The Nick Myers Jazz Band performs tonight at Bucer's. The music starts at 8 p.m. and is free to all coffee-loving jazz

The trio is composed of Pullman transplants Myers on saxophone and Ted Powers on drums. Guitarist Andy Short lives in Moscow.

Bucer's will also showcase a "Classic Acoustic" program Saturday featuring Brian Gill, Gill, originally from Chicago, is a songwriter who specializes in post war music. Gill takes the stage at

Folkin' it up Sunday at the Unitarian church

Ginny Reilly and David Maloney, a folk duo, return to the Inland Northwest in their first appearance here since the late 1980s. The musicians will play a concert at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Unitarian a vocal jazz ensemble directed by

Universalist Church of the Palouse. The Palouse Folklore Society sponsors the

The musicians recently released "Together Again," their first studio recording in 15 years. Wes Weddell will be accompanying the duo on mandolin. Tickets are $15 and can be purchased at the door.

WSU Jazz Ensemble concert to feature pianist Delony

Pianist Willis Delony will perform a free concert with the WSU Jazz Big Band and VOJAZZ at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Kimbrough Concert Hall on the WSU campus.

Delony is an associate professor of piano and jazz studies at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

Delony has appeared as piano soloist or conductor with orchestras in Wichita, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Toronto, Omaha, Nashville and Shanghai.

The program will open with VOJAZZ.

Jennifer Scovell. The ensemble will perform Van Morrison's "Moondance" and an arrangement of "Tears in Heaven."

Delony's appearance is made possible with the assistance of the ASWSU Student Entertainment Board.

Kathakali concert to benefit tsunami relief efforts

The Kathakali Dance Drama performance will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Kathakali is one of the oldest extant forms of stylized theater. It dates back to about the year 800 and blends several forms of media. The dance uses aspects of literature, music, painting, acting, dancing and percussion.

The performance is part of a 25-city North American tour by a group of experts from the four Kathakali schools in Kerala, India.

Tickets are available at BookPeople. Tickets are $7 for general admission and $3 for students with current ID. Proceeds go to the tsunami relief efforts in India.

ROCK 94%

University of Idaho LF LOURSE Student Semester Passes Prices Good M-Th for Tee Time Reservations

Do you need PHOTOS? TEAM Only

$20/hr CD $5 extra Call or e-mail

885-7825

ARGONAUT

Junior Amanda Bowman sets the ball for her teammates during practice Tuesday in Memorial Gym.

DANIEL BICKLEY / ARGONAU

Senior Kati Tikker (right) hits the ball at practice Tuesday afternoon in Memorial Gym while freshman Sarah Loney looks on. Tikker is one of four returning seniors for the Vandals.

STRONG

Spring season shows promise for Vandals?

BY MACKENZIE STONE ASSISTANT SPORTS&REC EDITOR

ver the past two seasons, the Idaho women's volleyball team has gone a combined 36-24 and earned consecutive at-large berths to the NCAA Tournament. And despite losing three starters from last season's squad, there are plenty of reasons to believe the Vandals will be heading back again this fall.

In its first spring matches of the year, Idaho shut out Washington State University 4-0 and beat Eastern Washington 3-1 in a tournament April 2 at WSU.

'It's probably the furthest along we've ever been in the spring, and it's probably the best outing we've had for a first tournament since I've been here," said Debbie Buchanan, who's going into her sixth season as Idaho's

The team will head into its season with four seniors, including returning All-Big West Conference first-team member Kati

"I am playing outside again, so this year I am trying to work on being more consistent, getting more kills per attempts, and learning how to make smart shots and move the ball around better," Tikker said.

Tikker and the other seniors will lead the team with experience and dedication in the fall as they play at least 26 games prior to the Western Athletic Conference

"The kids are doing some great things.

We've taught a lot of good things this spring and we're putting those things into play, Buchanan said. "The kids are playing at a high level, and we're just playing a bunch of kids in different areas.

The Vandals gradu ated three seniors -Sarah Meek, Mandy Becker and Brooke Haeberle - from last year's team, which earned an at-large berth into the 2004
NCAA Tournament after finishing the regular season with a record of 17-12, Idaho lost 3-0 in the first round of the tournament against University of Washington.

"We lost good kids, but we are going to be more athletic this year," Buchanan said. "It's a matter of if we can maintain a high level of volleyball, making it consistent.

The Vandals have primarily done strength training in the spring semester to gear up for the coming season.

When the kids come back to school in January, we can only do eight hours a week, and in those eight hours we can do only two hours of volleyball. So that's kind of our individual time," Buchanan said. "We can only work with four players at a time, so we break down a lot of stuff." The team is now in a six-weeks phase,

See VOLLEYBALL, Page 11

Soccer team up and running under first-year coach

BY SHAWN CAFFERTY ARGONAUT STAFF

Tith recruiting almost over and spring games on the doorstep. Idaho women's soccer is in full swing and excited about the coming

The Vandals are under the direction of first-year coach Pete Showler, who was hired in January to take over the

Since Showler arrived he has been busy trying to get quality soccer players to commit to Idaho.

"When I came in we were about five to six months behind in the recruiting schedule," Showler said. "Right now I have six girls committed. A Swiss girl,

Next game • 10 a.m., Saturday vs. WSU Pullman

a girl from Canada and four from others Oregon Washington.

"Considering how late it was, I am very happy with the players. To get players of great quality this late has been hard work, but it is certainly being fruitful. I think they will fit very well into the team, anď the team chemistry here is tremendous."

With spring practices already going

"Practice is going fabulous. The girls work so hard. The commitment level is 100 percent every single time."

> PETE SHOWLER IDAHO SOCCER COACH

on, Showler is almost finished with the recruiting process for the year. Between the recruits who have committed and the returning players, he has a roster of 22 players, and would like to add one or two more

With spring arriving early this year, the returning Vandals have had plenty of time to get ready for the spring season, and Showler is impressed with what he sees in his new team. 'I think that when I came in initially, that I thought the girls were very athletic," Showler said. "That has not changed. I think they are a very athletic group. Technically, they are ahead of where I thought they were.

"Practice is going fabulous. The girls work so hard. The commitment level is 100 percent every single time. I am very impressed with the attitude and the integrity of the girls and the enthusiasm that is shown.

Idaho opens its spring season with a match at 10 a.m. Saturday in Pullman against Washington State.

"Our first match coming up against Washington State is going to be a measuring stick for us," Showler said. "I am not concerned with the result. Of course I want to win - so do the girls but the spring season I want to try some new things with them and get ready for the fall."

The team looks to build off of a dispersion season look follows:

appointing season last fall when it went 3-14-0. And so far the new players and the returning players are getting along well.

"The chemistry is fantastic," Showler said. "As a group I have not seen a more cohesive group that I have worked with, and I have worked with some very good groups. So they have a huge plus there.

Idaho lacrosse club sticks to it, heads to Oregon to finish season

BY JULIE ENGEL ARGONAUT STAFF

ike Band's thumb juts to the right from a crosse slash in high school; the hockey type gloves couldn't compete against the hard hack of a Band, the University of Idaho lacrosse club president, said he played lacrosse his senior year of to compete at the college level. But UI didn't have a team when he arrived, so he took the initiative to raise money and round up enough players to start his own

Most of the students on the 21player team have had as much, or more, experience as Band, but there were a few novices who couldn't catch or throw when they began in February. Now they can catch and throw, and on a good Band said.

The club moved into the Pacific Northwest Collegiate Lacrosse League this season and is 1-3 after a Washington State University forfeit on March 26 gave the team its first win of the year. Band said he hopes a rivalry will brew if WSU brings its team back in the fall season.

Money is tight this year - it took $2,500 to join the league and day do both at the same time, about $2,500 for home-and-away jerseys – but the club continues to be modest about its dues.

"We charge $100 per player to join, whereas schools like Boise State and Utah State charge $700 to over $1,000 per player," Band said.

A contact sport, lacrosse players sprint down the field wearing shoulder, chest and arm pads, gloves and helmets, tossing the ball to teammates while avoiding stick slashes from opponents. Band described it as hockey in the air, while the offense and defense can be compared to bas-

Players can't hit their opponents from behind or in the helmet, but they can bump their opponents from the front and hit their crosses.

"You can't just wind up and tag someone in the leg," Band said.
Inexperience and weather conditions are two factors that can lead to mistake-filled games, but the cause of poor play often can be found in the players who like to party.

"The guys who like to play lacrosse are the type to get drunk the night before a game," Band

The club has two games left in its season - one April 16 at Oregon State and another April 17 at the University of Oregon.

·VandalWrap-Up

Christian Akau leads Vandals to 16th at Bite Pacific Coast Intercollegiate

The Idaho men's golf team fin-ished 16th against strong compe-tition at the Bite Pacific Coast Intercollegiate with a three-round score of 914 in Lompoc, Calif. The Vandals posted 299 in the third round Tuesday at the LaPurisma Golf Course.

Christian Akau shot 69 in the third round and tied for sixth with 219 overall.

"Everybody tried hard and worked hard at it," Idaho coach Brad Rickel said. "It was a good effort, just tough conditions. All those other teams have experience at this tournament. This is our first time here."

The Vandals, who fought through strong winds through the first two rounds Monday, finished two strokes ahead of Utah and only seven strokes behind Oregon State.

UC Davis won the tournament with 879 and was led by individual champ Louie Bishop, who

Team standings: 1, UC Davis 879; 2, Washington State 887; 3, San Diego State 890; 4, Cal Poly 893; 5, tie, Pacific and Denver 896; 7, St. Mary's 899; 8, tie, UC Riverside, Hawaii and UC Irvine 900; 11, San Diego 902; 12, New Mexico State 904; 13, tie, Oregon State and Wyoming 907; 15, Santa Clara 913; 16, Idaho 914; 17, Utah 916; 18, Sacramento State 923; 19, Weber State 929; 20, tie, Cal State Northridge and UC Santa

Vandal scorers: T6, Christian Akau 75-74-70-219; T32, Jason Huff 77-78-72-227; T82, Pete Williams 79-74-81-234; T98, Dylan Hill 79-81-78-238; T101, Bill Witte 77-83-79-

Vandal women golfers take sixth in last tournament of regular season

The Idaho women's golf team fought through tough weather conditions at the Entrada at Snow Canyon Golf Course in St. George, Utah, and finished sixth at the BYU-Dixie Classic with a two-round score of 649. The Vandals shot 310 Tuesday after posting a 339 in 40-mph winds Monday.

Sophomore Cassie Castleman garnered her second consecutive top-10 finish. She shot 79 in the first round and 76 in the second (155 overall) and tied for eighth.

"She had a great round," Vandal coach Brad Rickel said. "The whole team battled and came back hard on Tuesday. It's tough for any team to play in those conditions."

UNLV won the tournament with 617. Arkansas had the next lowest score at 631. Rachel Newren of BYU won the individual title with 149. The Vandals' next tournament is the Big West

Team standings: 1, UNLV 617; 2, Arkansas 631; 3, tie, BYU and Portland State 636; 5, Colorado 645; 6, Idaho 649; 7, Colorado State 652; 8, Boise State 655; 9, tie, North Texas and San Diego State 660; 11, Oral Roberts 662; 12, Arkansas State 682; 13, Weber State 688, 14. Wyoming 697.

Championship, April 18-19 at Los Angeles.

Vandal scorers: T8, Cassie Castleman 79-76-155; T37, Renee Skidmore 86-79-165; T37, Jen Tucker 89-76-165; T47, Jill Phillips 85-83-168; T59, Kelly Nakashima 95-79-174.

SPORTSBRIEFS

USF showcases student artwork

The Vandal Scholarship Fund invited University of Idaho students to participate in the 2005 Silver and Gold Game Weekend events April 29-30 by submitting their original artwork on the 'canvas' of a football.

The footballs, along with a brief artist biography, are currently highlighted on the VSF Web site and displayed at the Retro-Fit Gallery on Main Street in Moscow. The balls will be moved to the Moscow Elk's Club April 30 for the evening events scheduled at the Second Annual Nick Holt Golf

After a dinner hosted by Latah County Vandal Boosters, Inc. and the Idaho football coaching staff, each artist will be announced as his creation is presented and sold during an auction to benefit the scholarship fund-raising efforts at the UI. The minimum bid will be $75 with proceeds divided 60 percent to the artists and 40 percent to the VSF.

Youth wins as freshmen earn Big West golf awards

Cal Poly freshman J.J. Scurich was honored with his first Big West Male Golfer of the Month award after the Mustangs' lone lefty capped off a solid March with the top finish at a rain-shortened Western Intercollegiate and with the only score under par. He claimed 10th place at the Cal Poly Invitational and 21st in the Riverside Braveheart Invitational — both with scores of 219. 4

Long Beach State freshman Kay Hoey won her second Big West Female Golfer of the Month award of her first collegiate season after a solid spring showing. At the Oregon Duck Invitational, Hoey became Long Beach State's first individual winner since 2001 with a 2-over performance at the competitive tourney. Also in March, Hoey tied for fourth at the Anteater Classic. She closed down March ahead of all Big West players on the national scene, ranked No. 16 by GolfStat with a scoring average of

Big West bestows Track and Field Honors

UC Irvine junior Ricky Barnes garnered Big West Men's Track Athlete of the Week honors after winning the 1,500- and 3,000-meter races at the Big West Challenge Cup on Saturday. He established a meet record in the 3,000 with a time of 8:19.26. Barnes ran the 1.500 meters in 3:51.43 to help the Anteaters to their secondstraight Challenge Cup title. UCI has won all three scoring meets it has competed in this season.

Long Beach State senior Charlene Deardorff earned Big West Women's Track Athlete of the Week as she notched one first- and one secondplace finish individually, and was part of a meet record-setting relay team. Deardorff won the 100m in 11.73 and finished second in the 200m in 24.45. Her time in the 100m ranks third in the Big West and qualified her for the NCAA Regionals. She also competed with the 400m relay team, which set a meet record in 3:46.38. Cal State Northridge sophomore Dashalle Andrews and UC Irvine junior Mike Beerer were selected Big West Men's Field Athletes of the Week after both enjoyed meet-winning perform-

Andrews won the long jump at the Cal State Northridge Eight-Way Meet with a mark of 24-11 1/4, which obliterated his previous career best of 24-5. It was the best long jump performance in the Big West this season and qualified Andrews for the NCAA Regional meet.

Beerer came in first at the Big West Challenge Cup with a hammer throw of 197-6, the second-best mark in UCI history. He also qualified for the NCAA West Regional meet with that

UC Santa Barbara junior Amy Haapenen dominated the competition at Saturday's Big West Challenge Cup to win the Big West Women's Field Athlete of the Week award. She won the hammer throw, shot put and discus, scoring 30 points and posting regional qualifying marks in all three events. Haapenen won the hammer in 184-06, the shot put in 49-05 and discus in 158-06. Her performances helped the Gauchos clinch their second straight Big West Challenge Cup

Anselme, Bengson serve up weekly tennis honors

UC Santa Barbara senior Alex Anselme earned Big West Men's Tennis Athlete of the Week honors as he notched a victory over a ranked opponent in singles and helped the Gauchos to two team wins over ranked opponents, including one top 25 program.

Long Beach State freshman Stephanie Bengson collected her second-straight Big West Women's Tennis Athlete of the Week honor, increasing her winning streak to eight singles matches in a row at the No. 2 spot. The successful week included a win over a ranked opponent. Bengson is now 9-6 in singles this spring, including a 6-4 mark at the No. 2 spot.

VOLLEYBALL

From Page 10

January, we can only do eight hours a week, and in those eight hours we can do only two hours of volleyball. So that's kind of our individual time," Buchanan said.
"We can only work with four players at a time, so we break down a lot of stuff.

The team is now in a six-weeks phase, playing 20 hours a week divided into four days. Neither Buchanan nor the assistant coaches can coach the players after the six-week period until Aug. 9, but they can train in Moscow independently and with teammates at the Student Recreation Center and Memorial Gym.

After returning to practice on Aug. 9, the Vandals are scheduled to play their first matches Sept. 2-3 in Los Angeles, but may end up getting to play earlier than that. 'There is word they may approve us to play the weekend before that," Buchanan said. "We could be competing as early as Aug. 26 and 27, depending on what legislation passes."

The volleyball team will play

San Jose State Sept. 15 in its first Western Athletic Conference.

Buchanan is focusing on playing the women in various positions until they return in the fall, when she will declare the lineup for the team.

"I think the nice thing about our team right now is that we have a really good core of kids between the seniors and juniors coming in that are going to be a lot of fun to watch," Buchanan said.
"We have a lot of versatile kids, which is making it fun."

Senior Meghan Brown was the team's libero last year, but may move back into a hitting position this year, Buchanan said.

"I've been moved around a lot," Brown said. "I played libero last season, and right now they are kind of juggling ideas to figure out where I should play, maybe playing outside or libero, depending on what the team needs."

Meghan's sister, Saxony, has also changed positions for the Vandals this year as a junior.

"I think Saxony Brown is going to be a standout," Buchanan said. "She has moved to a setting position, and I think that's going to be a great role for her. She is playing really great right now."

The Vandals will compete against five teams in the Portland Nike Championships April 14-16, including 2004Tournament champion Stanford University. The women will also go up against the University of Portland, Santa Clara, Pacific and Oregon State.

SPORTSCALENDAR

Today

UI track and field at Brutus Hamilton Berkeley, Calif.

UI track and field at Pulluer Invitational Cheney, Wash.

Ul men's tennis vs. Montana State University

Saturday

UI track and field at Brutus Hamilton Relays Berkeley, Calif.

UI women's tennis vs. Utah State University

UI men's tennis vs. University of Portland

Sunday

UI women's tennis at Boise State University

UI men's tennis vs. University of Montana

Monday

UI men's golf at Cowboy Classic Scottsdale, Ariz.

Tuesday

Intramurals

UI men's golf at Cowboy Classic

4-on-4 flag football play begins

Note: Intramurals – Entries for team sports will be open one week before entry deadline.

For more information call the Campus Recreation Office at 885-6381 Outdoor Program – For more information call the office at 885-6810.

Sports calendar items must be submitted in writing or e-mailed to arg_sports@uidaho.edu by Sunday or Wednesday before publication. Items must include a date, deadline or other

Random Acts of Love by Bruce Gooch

ww.siriusIdahoTheatre.com

Casita Burrito®

Mon Crisp Meat

Extra Value Days

2 Beef Soft Tacos

Veggie

Burrito $1.99

Reg. 2.39

Thur

3 Crisp Tacos

$2.19

Chalupa $1.99

Fri

Nachos

APRIL 6-9 7:30 PM APRIL 9 2:00 PM AT THE KENWORTHY TICKETS: $15; $9 STUDENTS

$2.99 Reg. 3.99

Sun

Burrito $1.69 Reg. 2.39

$3.19

Reg. 4.58

Reg. 3.27

Reg. 2.49

$2.49 Reg. 3.19

Now Every Wednesday! Our Award Winning Happy Hour Runs 4 pm to Midnight.

> "Martini Thursdays" Over 30 varieties just $3,00

Happy Hours 4-7pm Daily Well drinks $1.50 Domestic Pints $2.00 Micro Pints $3.00

Thanks for Voting us "Best Happy Hour"

The Hotel Moscow 313 S. Main • 882-8513

Mon-Fri 3 pm to 2 am

• Sat & Sun 5 pm to 2 am

... a guide to the nightlife on the Palouse

Featuring Starbucks Coffee Liqueur Follow the MARINERS all season on Mingles BIG SCREEN!

Brunch! • Sat. & Sun. • 9:00 - 4:00

Finesse players losing out bigtime to power hitters on tour

BY STEVE ELLING THE ORLANDO SENTINEL

(KRT) - Tiger Woods stepped to the tee on the designated longdrive hole of last week's Tavistock Cup competition and quickly eyed the posted distance totals of the players who preced-

Their numbers seemed reachable, a fact he mentioned aloud. Then it was rightly pointed out that, in order for a drive to be counted, the ball had to remain in the fairway.
"Overrated," he said with a

The thing is, he's only half-joking.

"If you ask all the top players, they would all say the same thing," said Woods, who is bombing it farther than ever. "It's not as relevant as it has been.'

In the age-old tussle between power and accuracy, the finesse players again are being outmanned and outmuscled by gonzo golfers, players who aren't overly concerned about where their drives land or who gets conked.

It's a development that continues to simultaneously raise purists' eyebrows and lower the number of fairways found. The objective for power hitters has become to hammer a tee shot 300 yards in the general direction of the fairway, find the ball, toss a wedge shot onto the green - be it spun from the fairway or dug from the rough - and roll in a birdie putt.

Augusta National, which traditionally features the lightest rough of the four major championships, could provide the perfect stage for the slash-and-burn mind-set in this week's Masters. "(Accuracy's) not overrated, but I think distance is underrated right now," said Phil Mickelson, the defending Mickelson, the defending Masters champion. "I think that you have got to move the ball out

Go long, or else

Move it out there or move over. Trivia time: Of the top four players on the 2004 money list – Vijay Singh, Ernie Els, Mickelson and Woods – which guy finished in the top 100 in driving accuracy? Answer: None of them.

Mickelson, who tweaked his size accuracy, led the foursome by slash-and-panache approach, noting that he had fallen well back in the driving distance category.

"When I had sacrificed 15 yards last year, I knew that I needed to make a change," Mickelson said of his fast psycho-

"It's an overrated stat, on the way to becoming almost irrelesaid Orlando swing coach David Leadbetter, who teaches Els and a slew of top pros on various world tours. "If you are hit-game last year in order to emphakeeping 62.9 percent of his drives in the short grass, which ranked an uninspiring 120th on tour. Mickelson has since ditched his short-lived conservative ways and reverted to his traditional logical about-face.

In 2004, only one player in the top 10 on the money list finished in the top 100 in driving accuracy, the aptly surnamed Stephen Ames. In 1980, only one player in the top 10 in earnings finished outside the top 100 in fairways found. Indeed, there is less urgency than ever for the bombers to split hairs about splitting fairways.

ting it 340 yards and are lobbing

Tiger Woods watches his shot on the 5th tee in the second round of the Wachovia Championship on Friday, May 7, 2004, in Charlotte, North Carolina. a 9-iron in there versus somebody who is hitting it 270 down the who is hitting it 270 down the middle, the guy with the 9-iron is still going to hit it closer, unless the rough is absolutely horrific."

In their brilliant duel at Doral, Mickelson missed 31 of 56 fairways and Woods missed 30. Still, both set carear highs with 97 both set career highs with 27 birdies over four rounds. Legendary bomber Jack Nicklaus was watching on TV in rapt attention. "It's absurd," Nicklaus with dean" to be a said "It dean" said. "It doesn't make any difference where you hit it anymore. You just hit it as far as you can. They're hitting it so close to the green, they can't put enough rough out there to make any dif-

Against the essence of the game

Aficionados are predictably concerned. Los Angeles-based golf architect and author Geoff Shackelford, whose 2004 book "The Future of Golf" was highly critical of the effects technology had wrought, said the dump-andchase philosophy violates the very essence of the game.

"The theory is that they have created areas on the golf course where you are supposed to be rewarded," he said, referring to fairways. "That area is now meaningless. It's become a longdrive contest.

Finesse players have been grousing about tour setups for years. Grow the rough and play courses with doglegs and trees, they cry. Dial in the fairways to narrower width. But if a player is strong enough to drive the ball an average of 300 yards – as a record 15 did in 2004 – then they surely can carve a wedge out of the rough and attack the flags at tour stops with moderate rough.

In fact, Woods says that as the tour has narrowed the fairways and players have grown longer, it's hard to hit the short grass with any club. So why not let the big dog eat?

Woods, whose tee shots in 2004 could best be described as nomadic, this year has ratcheted up the specifications on his driver to warp speed after years of using an admittedly antiquated set-up. Bob Wood, the director of Nike Golf, described Woods as "an equipment geek," but his top pitchman was in no hurry to ditch his old steel-shafted driver. Woods switched to the largest clubhead on the market this offseason after using the same-size driver for 15 years. This came despite the fact that he had his worst driving year ever in 2004 using a more controllable stick. "It's an adaptation you have to make with the newer equipment," he said. "It's just the way it is. For Woods, it's at long last hammer time.

"He understands that to be able to take full advantage of what's available to him, he needed to go in that direction," said Tom Stites, Nike's chief club designer, who has delivered hundreds of drivers to Woods for testing. "The advantage that he used to have, just based on his ability, a lot of people would say he has that back now."

After making the move, Woods won three times in his next four starts, even though he didn't always know where the ball was going. In fact, when he won the Buick Invitational in January to snap an 11-month victory drought on the PGA Tour, Woods hit a meager 44.6 percent of the fairways, the fifth-worst driving week of his career. When he won at Doral four weeks ago, he hit at Doral four weeks ago, he hit 46.4 percent of the fairways.

To Place your classified ad call

POLICIES

Pre-payment is required. NO REFUNDS WILL BE GIVEN AFTER THE FIRST INSERTION. Cancellation for a full refund accepted prior to the deadline. An advertising credit will be issued for cancelled ads. All abbreviations, phone numbers, email addresses and dollar amounts count as one word. Notify the Argonaut immediately of any typographical errors. The Argonaut is not responsible for more than the first incorrect insertion. The Argonaut reserves the right to reject ads considered distasteful or libelous. Classified ads of a business nature may not appear in the Personal column. Use of first names and last initials only unless otherwise

RENTALS 100

Apartment Rentals Since 1976! ullman (main) (509) 332 862 Moscow (208) 882 4721 Reasonable Rates Several Locations

Pet Friendly Open-book information at ApartmentRentalsInc com

FOR SALE 300

LISED FURNITURE Great selection, good, used furniture and decorator items at great prices. Now and Then 321 E. Palouse Dr., Moscow ID 882-7886

EMPLOYMENT400

For more information those with an announcement #) visit www.hr.uidaho.edu or Human Resources at 415 W. 6th St.

Student Jobs Field Research Assistant for Weed Science and Kentucky Bluegrass Management-Moscow-Plant, Soil and Entomological Sciences-Open until further notice-23019052237

Field/Laboratory Research Assistant-Moscow-Plant. Soil and Entomological Sciences-Open until further notice-23018065646 Summer Custodian-Moscow-University Residences-Open until further notice-

25012048325 General Landscaping Laborer-Moscow-Facilities Services-Open until further notice-25009038242

General Landscaping Laborer-Moscow-Facilities Services-Open until further notice-25009038242

EMPLOYMENT400

Temporary Jobs Clerical Assistant II-Moscow-Grants & Contracts-Open until further notice-21002011363 Fire Ecology Training Developer and Researcher Moscow-Department of Forest Resources-3/25/2005-23021070657 Forest Researcher-

Moscow-Department of Forest Products-3/23/2005-23020001744 Laboratory Assistant-

Moscow-Analytical Sciences Laboratory/Food Science and Toxicology-3/24/2005-23004032829

Summer Field Research Assistant for Winter Wheat Breeding Program; Plant, Soil, and Entomological Sciences, 23013028584 STUDENTS: Many new summer opportunities being posted daily around the US. Please check our website at www.uidaho.edu/sfas/jld or come by our office located in the SUB Rm 137.

Job #218 Food Court Supervisor Supervise and train hourly staff and student managers, prepare schedules, have skills in conflict resolution, customer service. ensure cash handling procedures are being followed and any other related tasks. Required: Two years related experience, previous supervisory experience. Must be computer literate and have excellent communication skills. Sun 3-9pm and M-Th 6am-2:30pm. Pay-$8-10,40/hr, Job located in Moscow

EMPLOYMENT400

Job #15 CNA & Aids Needed. Work with children with developmental disabilities or provide care for people in their own homes. Need BOTH men and women to fill positions. Req: Interest in helping youth and people with disabilities, must be able to pass criminal history screening. Competitive wages, flexible hours, some weekends. Located in Moscow.

Job #216 Test Prep Instructor. Seeking intelligent individuals who desire a fun opportunity to work with a professional company that has high ideals. standards and goals in preparing students for college and graduate schools. Teach test prep courses of GRE, LSAT, GMAT, and SAT over six-week periods, responsible for all student needs, and public speaking and company promotional opportunities available. Paid training is provided for all instructors. Current Ph.D. (or equivalent), J.D. M.D., or Master's student. Have taught at least one university semester/quarter class, and have assistant teaching exp. PT. Pav-$40/hr for GRE, LSAT, &

GMAT. $30/hr for SAT. Job located in Moscow Job #214 Seafood Processor Looking for individuals with "Spirit for Adventure* to clean, pack, weigh or box frozen and canned salmon for seafood processing company. General good health, availability to complete the season. Ability to travel to Alaska. Travel costs from Seattle split with company and employee. 40+/wk. Pav-$7.15/hr plus room and board/must complete season. Job located in Seattle.

Per Word (per publication)..... .20 Advanced payment is required for all classified ads, unless credit has been established with the Argonaut

EMPLOYMENT400

Job #213 Child Care Provider. Experienced care provider for infant. Prefer someone in Early Childhood Development or Family & Consumer Sciences, Experience with infants. References preferred. Approx. 6 hrs/ week. Pay-$6/hr. Job located in Moscow

Job #217 Salad Prep Responsibilities include peeling, cleaning, and cutting fruits and vegetables for green salads and fruit salads. Stocking the salad bar and maintaining dressings. Relies on instructions and established guidelines to perform the functions of the job. Understand portion control, quality appearance. Must be able to stand for extended periods of time. M-F 9am-5pm. Pay-$6-7:20/hr. Job located in Moscow.

Job #204 Academic Collaboration/AmeriCorps Member

Work closely with staff to provide assistance to students and faculty in identifying appropriate servicelearning projects; assisting faculty with the implementation of service projects; and providing awareness education to students through the presentation of workshops, educational sessions, and individual meetings. Exp. in developing educational brochures, excellent oral and written communication skills, ability to multi-task, strong computer skills, and able to advise and work with students. 1700hrs for the year. Pay-Living Allowance $10,600/Edu. award $4725. Job located in Moscow.

EMPLOYMENT400 Job #208 Caregiver /Companion needed for 67 year old man with moderate dementia due to advanced Parkinson's Disease, Responsibilities include in-home assistance in maintaining medication ed in Moscow. schedule, assistance with some activities of daily living, providing meals, redirecting when risky behavior is attempted. Patient is charming at some times, willful and negative at other times. When lucid, he enjoys the companionship of a bright, optomistic, talkative person. Prefer Psychology major or person interested in dementia. Rural setting-must have own transportation, must also posses ability to deal with situations listed in job description. Start Approx. May 15. 20-30 hrs/wk, could be more/flexible.

Job #210 Probation Officer Assistants Assist probation officers by transporting, supervising community service, urinalysis testing, and mentoring juveniles placed on intensive supervision. Provide socially acceptable guidance, direction and stability Valid driver's license, clear background check. Fingerprint will be required. Sophmore status or higher in college, prefer students with criminal justice, education or psychology major. 5-$9/hr located in Moscow.

Job located in Moscow. Job #215 Satellite Dish Sales. Sales and installation of satellite systems. Qualifications: Own Transportation, 40hrs/wk Pay-Commission based. Job located in the local 20hrs/month. Pay-$7.30/hr.

EMPLOYMENT400

Job #205 Landscape Maintenance General lawn maintenance: mowing lawns, pruning trees, fertilizing, weedeating, raking leaves, etc. The A to Z of landscape maintenance. Required: 18 yrs. or older, valid driver's license. heavy work & machinery involved, ability to lift 50 lbs. Will train. FT summer flexible during school. Pay-$6.50 during training, then increased. Job locat-

The Spokesman-Review Newspaper has an early morning car delivery route opening soon in Moscow. Great opportunity for one individual, husband/wife team, or roommates to share. $450+ gross per month. 509-334-1223,

A Caring & Faithling Career • Excellent Pay • Flexible Hours (Set Your Bwn) Apply Now For

Ann. 30th Class Call today to schedale a personal visit. 2008-8882-7867

Mescew School of Massage 5. 668 Main, Moscow, IS $2542 38696301-06

EMPLOYMENT400

YOUTH GROUP COORDI-NATOR Moscow First United Methodist Church looking for person to coordinate youth activities. Must be at least 22 years old, profess faith in Jesus Christ, work well with youth, and willing to help youth to connect with ecumenical and denominational youth activities. Position averages 10 hours per week for nine months. Start date is August 15, 2005. Job description and salary information available on request by calling 882-3715. Send resume and cover letter to PO Box 8375, Moscow, ID 83843

DELIVERY. Will you be here this summer and fall? Newspaper a.m. route before school or work. Good for husband/wife, roommate teams. In town delivery, Moscow. Two available vehicles. Could share route with another family for get-away. Leave message 882-8742 $515/month SUMMER JOBS! Female and male counselors needed for top summer camp in Maine, Competitive Salary. room/board/clothing/travel provided. Must love working w/young people. Visit www.campvega.com for a complete list of available jobs-Field Hockey, lacrosse, basketball, arts, water-skiing, swim, sailing, dance, gymnastics, crew, equestrian, ice hockey, photo/video/web, challenge course/climbing, tennis, theatre, and piano to name a few! Also opportunities for nurses/secretaries. Camp Vega for Girls. APPLY ON OUR WEBSITE! Call for more information 800-838-VEGA or email camp_vega@yahoo.com. Will be at the University of Idaho-Idaho Commons. Wellspring room on April 15th from 10-3pm for information and interviews. No appointment necessary. Come see why Vega has set the bar since 1936.

EMPLOYMENT400

CAMP TAKAJO for Boys. Naples, Maine. Picturesque lakefront location, exceptional facilities. Mid-June thru mid-August. Over 100 counselor positions in tennis, baseball, basketball, lacrosse, golf, flag football, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, waterskiing, archery, ceramics, fine arts, theater arts, camp newspaper, music, photography, videography, radio/electronics, nature study, weight training, woodworking, rock climbing, ropes course, secretariai, nanny. Salary, room/board, travel included. Call 800-250-8252 or apply on-line at www.takajo.com Want to spend the summer at Camp? The Girl Scouts of Silver Sage Council are looking for dedicated, energetic, and enthusiastic counselors, lifequards, and kitchen staff for camps located in McCall, Salmon, and Swan Valley. Please call 800-846-0079 or email ashaw@girlscouts-ssc.org for more information or application packet. Friends-Music-Forums-Clubs! Starting at less than a gourmet latte.

Beverage Servers Hostesses, Bartenders Dancers. Now Hiring -Apply After 3pm Daily No Experience Necessary, We Train. Must be 18 or Older, Call for Details (208) 777-0977 Stateline Showgirls Looking for a fantastic summer job? We are College Pro Painters and we are currently hiring for the summer, 888-277-9787.

WWW.GORILLAPOP.COM

www.collegepro.com WEBSITE PROGRAM-MER on contract basis. Proficient Dreamweaver. Photoshop, Java Script, Flash. Email: info@twilightgraphics.com

SERVICES

Weekendl Receive a studen massage at reduced rates in our Communit Massage Clini Saturday April 9th

Call NOW for an Appointment 882-7867

S. 600 Main St. Moscow ID

ANNOUNCEMENTS 800

REGISTRATION for Fall 2005. April 5-6, 10am-1pm, 1036 West A Street. Three and four year olds moming classes. Two, three, and five day options Quality program, reasonable rates. 208-882-1463

Miscellaneous 900

Need ride by April 27th to Phoenix Arizona. Will share Gas. 208-835-5509;

Personals 1000

CELEBRATE RECOV-ERY. Faith based 12-step program. Friday 7-10PM. Bridge Bible Fellowship, 960 W. Palouse River Drive, Moscow. 883-3949