Earn their two-year scholarship, and get a head start in today's most exciting energy field.

A scholarship for your junior and senior years, worth up to $10,000.

It could be yours, if you qualify for the Naval ROTC Nuclear Propulsion Candidate Program. Tuition, books and educational materials are all included, along with $100 a month for living expenses, and of course, the opportunity to build a rewarding career in the fast growing field of nuclear energy. To qualify for the scholarship, you must have completed either one semester each of calculus and physics, or two semesters of calculus. You must also have a B minus average or better. Then as a senior, depending on your continued performance, you will be interviewed for selection and advanced graduate-level training as an officer in the Navy's Nuclear Program. Training valued at over $20,000.

For applications contact the Officer Programs, Naval Recruiting District, 300 12th Ave. NE Suite 200, Bldg. 1, Bellevue, WA 98005 or call (206) 442-1470.

By George T. Fernandez:

The Chicano students group, MECHA, has been very busy these past and present weeks working out a schedule for this year's Chicano Task Force Workshop, funded by the National Education Task Force De La Raza. It looks like another exciting format with goals of sensitizing the rest of the University to bilingual, bicultural educational programs. There will be local and national guest speakers, a dinner (with a menu that'll make your mouth water), a dance performance, films on various topics and much more! Dates for these excitng events will be posted. Be sure to watch for posters and listen to the radio for further information.
