Dear Sir,

I have your wire of 17th in regard to fire insurance. We do not expect to make any claim for the loss at the mill because that loss was not due to fire at all, but to dynamite. The boarding house was burned, and the office was both burned and dynamited. Whether we will make any claim on these two buildings we have not yet determined.

I cannot recall with certainty whether we had covered the new bunk house, although I am under the impression that we had. We are now occupying this building as an office, & for sleeping - and in addition to the building we ought to cover $1500- on office furniture, beds & bedding, drawings, stationery &c. Will you please attend to this at once.

Yours truly
F. W. Burbidge
