

MULLAN, IDAHO, JAN. 11th, 1901.

Operator learns that quite a number of men are talking of quitting the Morning Mine on payday . Operative had an interview with "Red" Cameren (x) who says that the business men of Mullan are against the new system of hiring men . The majority of them are in favor of the union and would like to see things the same as they formerly were . They all expect that the Governor will abolish martial law and they will try their hand again . Business men agree that nothing can be done under martial law . It is reported by union men that Mr. Edminsten has over one thousand names listed and that the majority of them being union men had left the country and will not go to the office . In an interview with Balch , the Secretary of the Gem miners union he said that the employment office would not run much longer , that the office is sending out men who knew nothing about mining and that the mine bosses are getting very tired of that way of doing business.

(5)