

SLANGUAGE OF THE C. C. C.'S

For the benefit of those who have just come among us, we offer this list of CCC words and expressions that they may sooner become one of us:

First Call—Don't think the sound is your neighbor in his sleep; it's only the company bugler warming up.

Reveille—Just as you are getting set for another snooze this racket will rouse you again.

Assembly—When you hear this you better throw on your shoes and socks and get out into the morning formation.

G. I.—Meaning Government Issue. Pertains to anything from a sock to a garbage can.

John L's—Popular name for G. I. underwear (the long-legged variety).

CC Fit—A rather humorous way of describing a size 40 pants on a 28 waist, etc.

O. D.—The color of an army shirt before it's washed, if ever.

Bunk—Lowbrow for bed.

KP—A guy who washes the tables and dishes; also eats all the extra ice cream.

Goldbricker—An artist at the art of working when he is still doing nothing.

A 45—Short for leader; they're round somewhere.

A 36—shorter than a leader; also round here somewhere.

Supply—Where you get a shoestring or hammer.

Forestry—Name applied to the whole Forest Service.
