

Seven Payette Forest Conservation Camps in Operation

The seven conservation camps in the Payette National Forest are now located and today the last of the several hundred C. C. C. men who have been held here for the past week are being moved to location.

Cascade is much pleased over moral and general good conduct of the C. C. C. boys during their stay here, and the army officers in charge merit much credit for the successful handling of a trying situation, as, because of the late season, practically nothing had been done to receive this army of men when they came.

Gallagher camp has been completed. Third Fork, Silver Creek and Twin Bridges camps are all settled and work begun. Bear Valley and Profile camps are temporary because of road conditions which have held up movement of supplies but will be located shortly.

All camps are being built permanent. The Gallagher camp is of lumber, others are tent with lumber messhalls.

All forest rangers, Elmer, Ross, Lorin Wellman, A. C. Smith, Andy Bunch and John Parker with their families have moved to their stations.

The local Forest Office officially opened for the season Monday, the officials from the Boise office arriving Saturday. They were:

Supervisor Ben Rice; Chief Clerk Errol Crary, George Kreizenbeck, Glenn Smith, and three clerks, Dan Grey, Henry Boudke and Eleanor Anderson.

LONG VALLEY BOYS TO GRANGEVILLE FOR FOREST WORK

Tuesday ten local boys were enlisted in the C. C. C. and sent to the Grangeville section for forest work.

Census figures reveal that there are, in the United States, nearly 2.
