The Robb Ambulance was called Sunday to take John Heard, powder man on the Brundage WPA reservoir project to a Boise hospital, Heard having been hit in the back of the neck by a falling rock following the discharge of a dynamite charge. A neck vertebrae was broken or dislocated and Heard was paralyzed from his neck down. Seems that he set off the blast and stepped behind a tree which leaned the wrong way and was hit by the only rock that fell within fifty yards of him.
