

reforesting and controlling erosion on the grazing areas have been awarded to Washington, D. C.

maximum acreages to be purchased and total allocations for the conservation areas follow:

Central Oregon grazing: maximum acreage 140,000; total allocation $482,904; families 130.

Western Oregon forest: maximum acreage 65,000; total allocation $175; families 130.

Northeastern Washington forest: maximum acreage 283,000; total allocation $703,963; families 230.

Southeastern Idaho grazing: maximum acreage 140,000; total allocation $496,894; families 85.

IDAHO FARM PRICE INDEX CONTINUES TO ADVANCE

Boise, Idaho, December 10, 1935. Prices received by Idaho Farmers for their agricultural commodities continued to increase during the month October 15th to November 15th although the advance was not as sharp as for the month previous, according to the monthly price review issued today by Richard C. Jones, of the Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates.

The index for Fruits and Vegetables advances 33 points, or almost double what it was on October 15th. The tremendous gain was due to the advance in the price of potatoes, while offset to a considerable extent by grains and feed crops, resulting in the raising of the index for crops from 81 to 86 per cent of the prewar level (1910-1914 average).

Meat animals fell off from 113 per cent to 109 per cent of their prewar level. However, with poultry, dairy products and dairy products increasing sharply, the index for all livestock and livestock products advanced one point, going from 113 to 114 per cent of prewar. Eggs and poultry were the two main items contributing to the gain made by the index for livestock.

Donnelly

the Big Creek section for several years.

378 Idaho WPA Projects Will Be Under Way During December

Idaho's 378 Works Progress Administration projects underway in December will bring expenditures of $1,851,784 of Federal funds upon completion and include 140 highway, street and road projects with federal contributions of $621,714. J. L. Hood, administrator, has announced.

Projects are selected to give jobs to employable relief clients in sections where workers are available and the project must be of useful, permanent value to the community, Hood declared.

The 140 highway, street and road projects include a majority of farm-market roads in all sections of the state, particularly planned to facilitate transportation of farm produce to market centers. Street improvement in many cities and towns are bringing double benefits by providing jobs close to the homes of relief cases and by adding to the value of property, Hood said.

"Twenty-nine cities and towns are benefited from utilities improvements, which include water systems, sewage disposal, purification, construction of reservoirs and wells. Federal funds for these projects total $81,024."

Water conservation projects number 47 to date, Hood said, as he pointed to the permanent value of "insured irrigation water for southern Idaho farmers." Federal funds for conservation of water through dam and reservoir construction and other improvements total $242,130.

Fifty-two public buildings, including community halls, schools, gymnasiums and recreation centers are under way and will entail expenditures of $126,000 of federal funds.

Idaho's list of projects also includes bridge repair and construction, drainage, park construction and improvement, sanitation work, professional, technical, clerical and educational, sidewalk construction, community service and playground

Current

Willis Deaton has been crippled about the past week, having been injured by a refractory log.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Matson were through town Wednesday while their way east to visit their daughter, Mrs. Thielke, at St. Louis.

The Cascade Ladies' Aid will hold a Bazaar and Cooked Food Sale at the M. E. Church, Saturday, December 14. Be sure to attend.

Miss Glendora Nock returned home Thursday from Gannett where she has been visiting since Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Anna Patterson who is now operating a restaurant at Donnelly was down Sunday visiting the home folks.

COMING—Dr. O. M. Drake, the Eye Specialist will be here again, at the Cascade Rooms, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, December 21, 22, 23. Remember that Dr. Drake has been coming here for many years and guarantees all work. 3-12.

John Kangas of the Kangas Lumber Co., Donnelly, was in town Monday just back from Boise where he spent an eight weeks stretch in the hospital with a badly broken leg.

Clark Cox and family left Wednesday for Durham, California by way of Spokane and Canada, to go down the coast. They expect to be gone about six weeks.

We note a newspaper report from Boise that John Rogers Roberts, Arling and Annis Marie Nelson, of Arling, had been issued a marriage license at that place.

Roller Skating—at the Moonlight Sunday afternoons and evenings, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Robert Coulter and M. B. Year... members of the State...