

Exposition

tion tomorrow, President
Then Susana Foster,
that its vibrations will
bow lights.

Cascade Dam Has Not Been Vetoed; Rumors Are Wrong Officials Say

TWO BOWLING ALLEYS, ONE INSIDE—ONE OUTSIDE TO OPEN HERE SOON

For the first time in the history of Cascade an attempt is being made to make residents of this community bowling conscious.

Consequently, two bowling alleys are now under construction in the town, an indoor alley in the building formerly occupied by the theatre, and the other an outdoor alley in the lot between the Boston Cafe and the English barber shop.

Although neither place has opened for business yet, it is expected that both will be ready for active play within a few days.

Cascade welcomes both of these places as new businesses and as an additional opportunity for clean, healthful exercise.

The outdoor alley will be in use only during the summer months. However the one in the theatre building, which is being installed by Sam Egger, will remain open to the public all winter. Incidentally Mr. Egger is in search of a name for the institution and welcomes all suggestions.

HOTALING—TORRENCE WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Friends were surprised to learn this week of the marriage of Wilma Louise Hotaling, 19 to Arlan Russel Torrence, 23, both residents of Cascade.

The young couple were married Monday evening by Reverend P. C. Bent and wear immediately taken on a charivari by friends and relatives.

Mr. Torrence is employed by the Mission Cigar store and will continue work there. The young couple will live in Cascade.

MERIDAIAN MAN WILL MOVE TO ARLING SOON

Eugene McCoy was attending to business matters in town from Meridian Thursday. He will return to Boise where he will enter a hospital for an operation. He expects to be back to his old stomping grounds at Arling in about three weeks.

Killing of Rivers And Harbors Bill Confusing to Many

Rumors that President Roosevelt had vetoed the bill that included appropriations for the Cascade dam are without foundation according to officers of the Southwest Idaho Water Conservation Project.

Many persons thought that the Cascade project was included in the rivers and harbors bill which the President vetoed early this week to allow more money for the huge armaments program now under way. It was, however, a separate and entirely different bill.

According to reports from the Conservation project office E. W. Rising, vice president of the organization who has just returned from Washington, D. C. and has been keeping close track of the bill, there is every reason to believe that the president will endorse the Cascade project in a short time.

In a telephone conversation with officials of the organization yesterday, they stated that they were certain that the bill would receive presidential approval.

Many persons in this vicinity will be affected a great deal in one way or another by the outcome of the president's decision and it is expected that there will be many rumors and reports flying around before a definite answer can be given. However, the News is endeavoring to keep in contact with officials in that department and will publish the facts as soon as they are known.

McCALL WOMAN DIES; FUNERAL SUNDAY

Mrs. Clarence Shaw, 73 died at 5 a. m. Thursday morning at her home near McCall.

Funeral services will be held at the Community church in McCall Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body is now at the Robb Mortuary in Cascade.

A complete obituary will be published next week.

Sportsmen Stand Against of Streams

ted effort to reduce the
in fishing streams by will be the next issue tae Valley County Sports-
tion, it was announced
od, president of the or-

with the state fish and ent, some kind of agree-
attempted with mine
operators whereby the ng near mines will not debris from the mine
d J. Maclay, biologist
fish culturist of the state promised support in the
his office.

al of damage has been fishing streams in the state as a result of the sing running streams to ine and mill debris, the