1 *Alma Mater, the hope of a pioneer race;
You're fashioned of dreams and of toil,
Your walls and your towers by stout-hearted men
Were raised from the rock and the soil.*

Chorus

*And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame;
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
Singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho.*

2 *Now ours is the heritage, rich and so full,
The gain of their toil and their tears;
And ours is the fruit, and the harvest is ours,
Oh, Idaho, gift of the years.*

Chorus

*And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame;
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
Singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho.*

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The President's Medallion, an award initiated by President Bob Hoover in 1998, is presented to individuals who have made significant contributions to the cultural, economic, scientific and/or social advancement of Idaho and its people, and have provided exceptional service to the state or nation that has influenced the well being of humankind.

This year's recipients are:

A native of Nampa, Hall graduated from Boise High School. He attended Idaho State College (now Idaho State University), where he was the editor-in-chief of the student newspaper. He worked for seven years for Pocatello's community newspaper, the Idaho State Journal, as a reporter, city editor, political editor and editorial writer.

Bill Hall moved to Lewiston in 1965 to become the Tribune's editorial page editor and political columnist. In 1975, he resigned to become press secretary to the late Senator Frank Church of Idaho. He also worked as press secretary to Church's 1976 presidential campaign before returning to his previous position at the Tribune. In the late 1970s, he began writing four humor columns a week.

As an editorial writer, Mr. Hall is known for his support for public schools, higher education, openness in government, civil liberties, and protection of the environment. He has opposed fee increases for college and university students, arguing passionately that the state's citizens have an obligation to keep post-secondary education affordable for the next generation of Idahoans.

He is the author of a play, "Gifford Eaton, a Leader for Our Time," produced by the Lewiston Civic Theatre; a book about his experience as a Capitol Hill press secretary, "Frank Church, D.C. and Me;" and several book-length collections of his humor columns.

In 2000, Bill Hall received a Free Press Award from the Idaho chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union in recognition of his commitment to human, civil and constitutional rights of all people.

Velma Morrison, president of the Harry W. Morrison Foundation. As a civic and philanthropic leader, Velma Morrison is revered as a humanitarian and arts patron. She is regarded as the "first patron saint of the arts in Idaho," and her generosity and vision have contributed to the cultural well being of the state.

With community support, she fulfilled the life dream of her late husband, Harry Morrison, co-founder of Morrison Knudsen, for a performing arts center in Boise. The Velma V. Morrison Center for the Performing Arts is noted as Idaho's most prestigious performance complex and brings theater and dance from around the world to the state.

The Harry W. Morrison Foundation, established in 1952, is a philanthropic organization that provides funds to educational, medical, church, cultural and community service organizations, mostly in Idaho.

She is a trustee of Sansum Medical Research Foundation and Boise State University Foundation, a member of the Board of Trustees of Pepperdine University and Alberston College of Idaho and a member of the National Board of Directors of the American Council for the Arts.

At her birthday celebration in summer 2000, former Governor Phil Batt said, "No Idahoan has had more influence on our state's outstanding character than Velma Morrison."

Joann Muneta, education/outreach coordinator of Festival Dance and Performing Arts, and chair of the Latah County Human Rights Task Force.

Born in New York City and graduated from Cornell University with both a bachelor's and master's degree, Joann Muneta moved to Moscow with her husband, Paul, in 1959. In the 1960s, Joann was active in the League of Women Voters, and she served on the Moscow Planning and Zoning Commission. In 1972, she helped establish Ballet Folk of Moscow, the first professional ballet company in the state, which she later managed.

Muneta is highly respected throughout the state and region for her untiring efforts for human rights and human dignity. She was a founding member of the Latah County Human Rights Task Force, established in 1991. She also served on the Idaho State Centennial Ethnic Heritage Committee and on several local arts organizations, including the Moscow Arts Commission, Rendezvous in the Park board of directors and the Moscow Centennial Fine Arts Committee. Her support of the arts has been marked by an active promotion of diversity and accessibility, realized through many multicultural arts events for the community and area schools.

In 1993, Joann Muneta helped establish Voices for Human Rights, a local organization that coordinated the efforts of many Moscow residents who were working to educate people about the dangers of the anti-gay, anti-human rights Proposition One that was defeated in the 1994 Idaho elections.

For the last four years, Muneta has served on the Washington State University Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration Committee. In 1999, she received the WSU Martin Luther King, Jr. Achievement Award. This year, she received an Extraordinary Witness award in Boise, in connection with an address given by Nobel Peace Prize-winner Eli Weisel, for her "contribution and commitment to human rights" in the state of Idaho.

Ernesto Sánchez, executive director of Idaho Legal Aid Services. The University of Idaho is honored to claim Ernesto Sánchez among its law alumni; he graduated from the College of Law in 1971. Not only is he the first person of Hispanic descent to graduate from the College of Law, but he also is the first to be licensed to practice law in the state of Idaho.

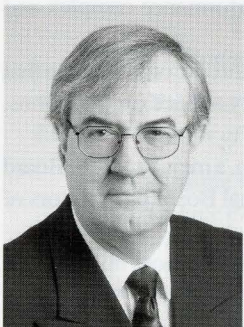

For over 30 years he has worked to provide legal services to the poor and has volunteered his time to serve his profession and the court system. His public service includes membership on the Idaho Supreme Court's Fairness and Equality Committee and on its Committee to Increase Access to the Court. He has served as director of the Idaho Law Foundation, president of the Idaho Hispanic Caucus, as well as serving on numerous other boards and committees.

Mr. Sánchez is a former farmworker, having moved to eastern Idaho at a young age from Donner, Texas, with his family to work the crops. He took his education seriously and charted a course that many other Hispanics in Idaho would follow.

His story is one of inspiration and perseverance as he experienced obstacles and isolation to break new ground for Hispanics. Ernesto Sánchez believed it was possible to extend justice to those who could not afford it, and his legal career has been dedicated to this effort. It has been a continuing struggle—a battle that would cause many to give up—but not Ernesto Sánchez. His efforts to afford Idaho's low-income citizens with access to the justice system have been valiant. He helped found the Migrant Farmworker's Unit and the Indian Law Unit of Idaho Legal Aid Services.

He has had many opportunities for a different career direction, but chose to continue as an advocate for Idaho's low-income population. His commitment has brought about significant improvements in the areas of education, mental health, domestic violence, discrimination and public entitlements for farmworkers and senior citizens.

He has sought to make a difference in the lives of many. His compassion for the poor and his passion for justice have been examples for every citizen. He is highly respected by his peers as a truly remarkable individual—humble, patient, committed, unselfish and dedicated. He continues to make a difference, especially in those who are fortunate to know him.

Lynn J. "Doc" Skinner, executive director of the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. Lynn Skinner is a third-generation Idahoan, born and raised on a cattle ranch in Nounan, near Montpelier in southern Idaho. His grandfather was the first child born to pioneers in the Northwest Territory in 1875.

Doc Skinner has been pursuing his love of jazz since his early childhood. He used his tricycle to get to his first piano lessons. When he was 11 years old, his father sold the family's best milk cow and purchased a tenor saxophone for him; he spent the remainder of his childhood in the quiet mountains of Idaho studying the urbane sounds of classic jazz.

During his early years as a high school teacher in Rexburg, Idaho, he was regarded as a highly skilled and dedicated educator. At Madison High School in Rexburg, he established the first jazz band in the state that was part of the musical curriculum.

He joined the University of Idaho in 1971. When the Jazz Festival came under his direction in 1977, it was but a small regional band competition. Since then, Doc Skinner has attracted the corporate support that has allowed the festival to feature world-class jazz artists. He developed an enduring friendship with the legendary Lionel Hampton. Together, through their mutual desire to help young people and spread the love of jazz, Lynn Skinner and Lionel Hampton began a camaraderie that would result in phenomenal growth for the festival and provide an entirely unique educational experience for music students throughout the West.

Through his leadership and his partnership with Lionel Hampton, more than 14,000 students now attend the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival. He is responsible for the clinics that the professional musicians conduct throughout the festival, as well as musical concerts presented to local schools. The concerts each February feature more than 50 internationally renowned jazz artists. The Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival truly has become an internationally recognized event.

The University of Idaho is very proud that both the festival and school of music hold the distinction of being the first to be named for a jazz musician. This national recognition is due in large part to Lynn Skinner's leadership, vision, and guidance.

Honorary degrees may be awarded to a person deserving of honor by virtue of scholarly distinction, noteworthy public service or significant contributions to the state of Idaho. In the selection of candidates for honorary degrees, preference is given to those who are Idaho residents or UI graduates.

Stephen A. Beebe, agribusiness leader, visionary and public servant. Steve Beebe is vice chairman and CEO of the J. R. Simplot Company. Mr. Beebe joined the Simplot Company in 1970 as a staff attorney. He subsequently served as chief legal counsel and administrative vice president before transferring to the company's Food Group in 1988. He was named Food Group president in 1992 and remained in that position until being appointed company president and CEO on March 1, 1994.

Under his leadership, the Simplot Company has experienced rapid growth, both domestically and globally. Expansions and acquisitions have significantly improved the company's competitive position in food processing and agricultural fertilizers, making it one of the leading privately held agribusiness companies in the nation. Named for its founder, the company is based in Boise and is engaged principally in food processing, fertilizer manufacturing and agriculture.

Due in large part to Mr. Beebe's management, a new spirit of cooperation has developed between the university and the company. With annual revenues of $3 billion and more than 12,000 employees, the J. R. Simplot Company has had a tremendous impact upon the state economy. This impact is made possible by the partnership of Mr. Simplot's legendary vision and entrepreneurial flair and Mr. Beebe's ability to build strong partnerships and provide clear leadership.

Steve Beebe also has served as an advocate for sound, science-based research in solving agriculture's challenges. The biotechnology laboratory addition to the College of Agriculture Building is a culmination of his passionate commitment and leadership and will benefit the entire state through the expanded research capabilities available in the new facility.

In recognition of his many contributions to the economic and agricultural well being of the state, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon Stephen A. Beebe, a most distinguished citizen, the degree of Doctor of Administrative Science.

William J. Perry, government adviser, international security authority and technology consultant. William Perry is the Michael and Barbara Berberian Professor at Stanford University, with a joint appointment in the Institute for International Studies and the School of Engineering. He also is a senior fellow of the Hoover Institution and co-directs the Preventive Defense Project, a Stanford-Harvard research collaboration.

William Perry received his bachelor's and master's degrees in mathematics from Stanford University and his Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State University, also in mathematics. During the 1950-51 academic year, and before he began his doctoral studies, he taught mathematics as an instructor at the University of Idaho.

Upon completing his formal education at Penn State, Dr. Perry entered the electronics industry where he was increasingly called upon to advise the government on technologies with possible applications in national security. His growing reputation led to his appointment as United States Undersecretary of Defense for research and engineering in 1977.

Professor Perry is well known for his many contributions to international security and cooperation. In 1993 he returned to Washington, D.C., first to serve as Deputy Secretary of Defense and then, from 1994 to 1997, as Secretary of Defense. He is the nineteenth individual in our nation's history to hold that appointment.

For his distinguished service in a variety of capacities, he has been awarded many honors, including the Presidential Medal of Freedom and other awards in this country, as well as decorations from many other countries.

He is a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. He co-chairs the Aspen Strategy Group of the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies. He is a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, a member of the National Academy of Engineering and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

In recognition to his many contributions to international peace, security and cooperation, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon William J. Perry, a most distinguished citizen, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

Marie Haasch Whitesel, education proponent, public servant and alumna. Marie Whitesel has made significant contributions to the state of Idaho through her noteworthy public service and a remarkable dedication to the University of Idaho.

After receiving her undergraduate degree in art, she completed a master's degree at the University of Iowa. Her watercolor paintings depicting Idaho landscapes, from the Salmon River to Payette Lake, have been shown at the New York's World Fair and the Denver Art Museum, as well as many shows at the UI Student Union Building. Her most recent exhibition was in the Reflections Gallery in the Idaho Commons.

She did not pursue art as a career but directed her passion to supporting education and arts both at the University of Idaho and throughout the state. Her volunteerism is quite remarkable; she has served on various university, college and community service boards.

When Marie Whitesel learned that a campus facility was to be razed, she helped support the removal and restoration of the WPA-era fresco murals painted on the walls of the building. Last year, the Latah County Historical Society presented her with their Orchid Award for this contribution.

Her support of and commitment to the University of Idaho has been strong and consistent. She has served on the UI Alumni Association, UI Foundation Board and the Prichard Art Gallery Advisory Board, and she continues to serve on the College of Art and Architecture Advisory Board.

In recognition of her remarkable dedication to the community, state and her alma mater, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon Marie H. Whitesel, a most distinguished citizen, the degree of Doctor of Arts.

By observing certain features of the academic apparel, it is possible to learn several things about the academic status of the scholar: the level of the degree attained, the branch of learning in which it was earned, and the college or university conferring the degree.

Gowns-

The gowns differ according to the level of the degree. The sleeves are the principal indicator —gowns of bachelor’s have pointed sleeves; those of master’s have oblong sleeves with an arc cut away at the wrist; and doctor’s have round, bell-shaped sleeves. Bachelor’s and master’s gowns are untrimmed. Doctoral gowns have distinctive velvet facing down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve.

Caps-

The color of the tassel worn on the cap varies with the level of degree. The bachelor’s tassel represents the color appropriate to the major field of study; the master’s and specialists tassels are black; and the doctoral tassels are old gold.

Hoods-

The length of the hood also varies according to the level of degree. The bachelor’s gown is worn without a hood. A master’s hood is three and one-half feet long, and a doctor’s hood is four feet in length and has panels at the sides. It is from the colors adorning the hood that one can learn two other facts. Lining- the hood is lined with the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree (silver and gold, signifying the University of Idaho). Trimming- the hood is trimmed with velvet of a color appropriate to the wearer’s branch of learning. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture is maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. (In the case of the Doctor of Philosophy degree, the dark blue color is used, representing the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship, regardless of the branch of learning.) Colors associated with the different disciplines are as follows:

Architecture (MArch)	Violet	Medicine	Green
Agriculture	Maize	Music	Pink
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Nursing	Apricot
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab	Oratory (Speech)	Silver Gray
Dentistry	Lilac	Pharmacy	Olive Green
Economics	Copper	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Education	Light Blue	Physical Education	Sage Green
Engineering	Orange	Public Administration	Peacock Blue
Fine Arts	Brown	Public Health	Salmon Pink
Forestry	Russet	Science	Golden Yellow
Journalism	Crimson	Social Work	Citron
Law	Purple	Theology	Scarlet
Library Science	Lemon	Veterinary Science (DVM)	Gray

Honor Cords—

Honor Cords, worn around the neck and hanging loosely down the front, identify students who are graduating with honors: gold, summa cum laude (with highest distinction); silver, magna cum laude (with great distinction); and bronze cords designate graduation cum laude (with distinction). The cords are provided by the University of Idaho and are worn on this one occasion only.

The University of Idaho adopted a doctoral gown of its own in 1989. The silver gown has a panel and sleeve bars of black velvet outlined in antique gold. The beret styled soft cap is patterned after the Cambridge version instead of the traditional Oxford-style mortar-board. The cap and gown were designed by Emeritus Professor Edmund Chavez in the university’s centennial year and is worn today by faculty serving as officials at the university commencements.

The MACE, a heavy staff or club used in medieval times for breaking armor, acquired a ceremonial function in 13th century France as a symbol of secular authority. The University of Idaho mace, designed by Edmund M. Chavez, professor emeritus, with metal work by Idaho artist Ray Goodner, was used for the first time at the 1989 centennial commencement. It is 32 inches long, made of walnut, and encircled with bands of Idaho gold and silver in which Idaho garnets and opals are set. The head is embellished with silver and gold representations of camas plants and syringa flowers.
