GUEST SPEAKERS

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO – MOSCOW

U. S. Representative Walter C. “Walt” Minnick is serving in his first term as the Congressman from Idaho’s First Congressional District. He took the oath of office for the 111th Congress on Jan. 6, 2009.

Representative Minnick serves on the House Agriculture Committee, where he helps craft policy for Idaho farmers and where he helps oversee the U.S. Forest Service lands throughout Idaho and the West. He also serves on the House Financial Services Committee that helps develop the nation’s economic policy and regulations.

Representative Minnick grew up near Walla Walla, Wash., on his family’s dryland wheat farm. He earned an economics degree from Whitman College in his hometown and then graduated from Harvard Business School and Harvard Law School. Minnick spent two years in the U.S. Army and then went to work in the White House Office of Management and Budget. He resigned from the Nixon Administration in protest the day after the president fired a special prosecutor investigating the Watergate burglary.

Minnick moved to Idaho soon after and began his 35-year career as a businessman. He went to work for Trus Joist, a wood-products company headquartered in Boise. He rose quickly through the ranks and served as CEO for more than 15 years. During that time, the company’s revenue grew to more than $700 million in sales.

After an unsuccessful run for the U.S. Senate in 1996, Minnick founded Summerwinds, a company that has grown into one of the 10 largest retail-nursery chains in the country. He resigned as chairman of the board after winning election to Congress in November 2008.

Minnick has a special affection for education. He has been a trustee for two universities, co-founded a statewide initiative by businesses to help improve Idaho education and helped guide the Boise State University business school through accreditation. He also is an avid outdoorsman and enjoys Idaho’s backcountry by rafting rivers, fishing mountain lakes and hiking peaks.

Representative Minnick has four children and three grandchildren. He is married to A.K. Leinhart-Minnick.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO – BOISE

Nancy K. Vannorsdel is enjoying her second retirement after pursuing two varied and distinguished careers in Boise. She came to Idaho in 1979 as the marketing director for the Bank of Idaho, and her 30-year career in banking included management positions with First Interstate Bank and Wells Fargo Bank. She also served as president of the Idaho Bankers Association.

Ms. Vannorsdel’s retirement from banking lasted 90 days, and ended when she accepted the position of president and CEO of the Boise Metro Chamber of Commerce, the largest business organization in the state of Idaho that serves more than 2,000 businesses. She guided the Chamber for 11 years and developed a process of public-private collaboration and partnership that continues to serve the growth and promote the attractiveness of the Treasure Valley for citizens and industry alike. She retired from her second career this past January.

Ms. Vannorsdel served three years as president of the Boise Philharmonic and helped to guide the organization to a solid financial foundation. She also is the recipient of the Women’s and Children’s Alliance TWIN Award, the Chamber of Commerce’s Community Service Award and the Outstanding Citizen Award from the Idaho Statesman.

Ms. Vannorsdel is a passionate horsewoman, as well. She was an active member of the thoroughbred racing community in the Northwest, and involved in the breeding, raising and training of many successful thoroughbred racehorses. She currently prefers to ride her favorite paint horse, Buster, at locations throughout the West and Southwest.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO – IDAHO FALLS

Jeffrey D. Mousseau is president and general manager of the Advanced Mixed Waste Treatment Project, managed and operated for the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) by an affiliate of Bechtel National, Inc. Located at the Department of Energy's Idaho site, the mission of the Advanced Mixed Waste Treatment Project (AMWTP) is to safely and compliantly retrieve and treat some 65,000 cubic meters of legacy plutonium-contaminated mixed waste and safely ship it out of Idaho. The majority of the waste will be shipped to the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Carlsbad, New Mexico, for disposal.

Prior to this assignment, Mr. Mousseau served as vice president and plant manager of AMWTP. In this capacity, he consistently and successfully worked with DOE's Idaho Operations and Carlsbad Field Offices to facilitate difficult compliance requirements and shipping schedules. His leadership also was instrumental in AMWTP obtaining DOE's Integrated Safety Management System validation that has helped the project compile one of the DOE's best safety records.

Mr. Mousseau's background includes 20 years of progressive responsibilities at the Idaho National Laboratory. In total, he has more than 28 years experience working and managing environmental cleanup and plant operations that include compliant disposition of radioactive and hazardous waste for both commercial and federal customers.

An engineering graduate of the University of Idaho, Mr. Mousseau is licensed as a professional engineer in mechanical engineering in the state of Idaho. He currently serves on the Idaho board of directors of the American Red Cross, as co-chair of the United Way of Idaho Falls and Bonneville County, and was recently named to the board of directors of the YMCA of Idaho Falls.

Mr. Mousseau is a native of Idaho Falls where he lives with his wife, AJ, who is a procurement specialist with BBWI. The Mousseau's have made a serious investment in the University of Idaho, from which four of their five children have graduated.

HONORARY DEGREES

Honorary degrees are awarded to a person deserving of honor by virtue of scholarly distinction, noteworthy public service or significant contributions to the state of Idaho. In the selection of candidates for honorary degrees, preference is given to those who are Idaho residents or University of Idaho graduates.

Fredric D. Johnson, professor emeritus of forest ecology, educator, researcher and mentor.

For more than half a century, Professor Emeritus Fred Johnson has made outstanding contributions to forest ecology and botanical education and science. He served as a professor in the then-College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences at the University of Idaho from 1956-90. During his career, he influenced, inspired and educated generations of students who went on to careers as ecological scholars and leaders in national and international forest ecology and management.

Professor Johnson's vision and expertise are broad, and radiate from his infectious enthusiasm to learn everything one can about plants. His interests range from the forest ecosystems in Idaho to the tropical forests of Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. He has achieved scholarly distinction through his work on understanding the types of forest habitats, the ecological processes in ancient cedar groves and Pacific yew communities, and his knowledge of the plants of the northern Rockies. He was a leader in advancing natural resource science by working to expand the number of Research Natural Areas in Idaho from 20 in 1974 to 113 today.

In the classroom and the field, Professor Johnson was an inspiring mentor to students. He was recognized four times as the College's Teacher of the Year, among many other honors and awards. His outreach efforts include authoring "Wild Trees of Idaho" and starting the Idaho Big Tree Program that has inspired many Idahoans to learn more about trees and their natural surroundings. He also has been an active supporter and contributor to the University's Stillinger Herbarium, the official state repository for plant specimens.

Said a former student of Professor Johnson, "He is the best example of a university professor, with his life-long dedication to the world, focused on the globe's forests and the people who use, manage and love them."

Professor Johnson earned a bachelor's degree in botany from Oregon State University in 1950 and a master's degree in forestry from the University of Idaho in 1952.

In recognition of his many contributions to the state of Idaho, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon Fredric D. Johnson, a most distinguished citizen and leading alumnus, the degree of Doctor of Natural Resources.

Gordon F. Law, Idaho public broadcasting and instructional television pioneer.

Professor Gordon Law came to the University of Idaho in 1962 to head the Department of Communication. His mission was to create a viable academic program in radio and television broadcasting and to address growing student interest in this field. Law advocated a practical, hands-on approach that allowed students to gain real-life experience. But at that time, there were no professional broadcast outlets on campus. That changed under Law's leadership.

A year later, in December 1963, KUID-FM went on the air. It was the first educational FM radio station in Idaho. Now known as KRFA-FM, its signal is relayed across Washington, Oregon and Idaho as part of Northwest Public Radio. In 1965, Law received a federal grant for the construction of a television station and transmitter, and soon after, Idaho's first public television station, KUID-TV, began broadcasting. Today, it has evolved into the statewide Idaho Public Broadcasting system.

Law served as station manager for both stations. With his encouragement, students found ways to be innovative, daring, challenging and creative. They produced the first statewide live telecast, they broadcast the first live political debate in Idaho, and they brought the Borah Symposium into homes along with Idaho football and basketball games.

After leaving the University in 1976, Law became an internationally known expert and pioneer in instructional television. He worked to establish educational television opportunities in remote areas using the new technology of communications satellites. He worked for a number of federal agencies to promote television as a medium of instruction across the United States and around the world.

Professor Law earned a bachelor's degree in radio/journalism from the University of Denver, a master's degree in television management production and sales from Syracuse University, and a doctorate in education from Washington State University.

In recognition of his vision and understanding of the broadcast industry, and his contributions to public broadcasting and instructional television in Idaho and throughout the world, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon Gordon F. Law, a most distinguished citizen, the degree of Doctor of Administrative Science.

John S. Chapman, attorney, civic leader and peace studies benefactor

John Chapman's family roots reach deeply into University of Idaho history. His grandfather, Lafayette Russell Parsons, helped the youthful university mature by serving as comptroller of the institution and twice filled in as university president during the 1920s.

Thirty years later, Chapman came to the University and earned a bachelor's degree in political science, and gained mentors and friends in Professor Boyd Martin and his wife, Grace. Chapman went on to earn a law degree at Stanford University and established a law career in Boise, Twin Falls and Sun Valley. He also served in the U.S. Army Reserve as a captain in the Judge Advocate General's (JAG) Corps.

Community service has been a significant aspect of Mr. Chapman's career. He was president of the Boise chapter of the American Red Cross, Boise United Way and the Boise Rotary Foundation. He worked to establish a senior community center in the Wood River Valley. He founded the Gamma Mu Foundation to provide financial help to people with AIDS who live in rural communities.

He also has been active in his support of the arts and historic preservation. Mr. Chapman was chairman of the Idaho Commission for the Arts, on the board of directors for the Boise Museum of Art and the Boise Philharmonic, and president of the board of Ballet of Idaho. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Idaho Heritage Trust and worked to preserve the Bishop's House in Boise, the Silver City schoolhouse and the Ezra Pound House in Hailey. He received the Biennial Mayor's Award for the Support of the Arts in 1992 and the Governor's Award for the Support of the Arts in 1994.

Mr. Chapman has been a passionate benefactor of the University's Martin Institute, a center for peace studies and conflict resolution, as well as the Martin School of International Studies. Both the Institute and School are named to honor Mr. Chapman's mentor, Boyd Martin, who was one of the country's most distinguished political scientists. Chapman has been a leading contributor to Professor Martin's vision for a political science teaching and research center at the University of Idaho and he has endowed a Chair of World Peace in the Martin Institute.

In recognition of his many contributions to the people of the state of Idaho, the University of Idaho is proud to confer upon John S. Chapman, a most distinguished citizen and leading alumnus, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

The University of Idaho Alumni Association (UIAA), founded in 1898, is comprised of more than 90,000 alumni worldwide. The mission of the Alumni Association is to develop and strengthen lifelong alumni relationships with their alma mater. Active leadership include the UIAA national board of directors, club and chapter volunteers and the Alumni Office staff. The UIAA provides award and recognition programs, assists the university with information and communication efforts, assists with student recruitment and advocates for the University.

Once a University of Idaho student reaches 90 credits or receives a University of Idaho degree, he or she is considered part of the alumni community. The UIAA is not a dues paying organization.

SIGNIFICANCE OF ACADEMIC APPAREL AND MACE

By observing certain features of the academic apparel, it is possible to learn several things about the academic status of the scholar: the level of the degree attained, the branch of learning in which it was earned, and the college or university conferring the degree.

Gowns

The gowns differ according to the level of the degree. The sleeves are the principal indicator – gowns of bachelors have pointed sleeves; those of masters have oblong sleeves with an arc cut away at the front; and doctors have round, bell-shaped sleeves. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. Doctoral gowns have distinctive velvet facing down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve.

Caps

The color of the tassel worn on the cap varies with the level of degree. The bachelor's tassel represents the color appropriate to the major field of study; the master's and specialist's tassels are black; and the doctoral tassels are old gold.

Hoods

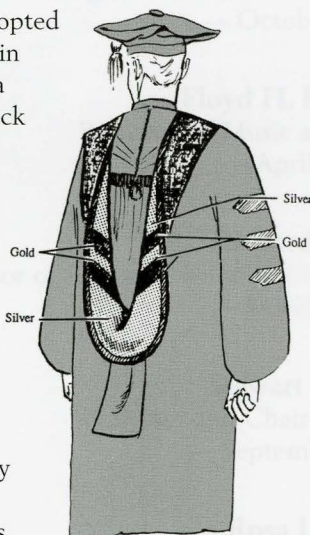

The length of the hood also varies according to the level of degree. The bachelor's gown is worn without a hood. A master's hood is three and one-half feet long, and a doctor's hood is four feet in length and has panels at the sides. It is from the colors adorning the hood that one can learn two other facts. Lining- the hood is lined with the official color or colors of the college or university conferring the degree (silver and gold, signifying the University of Idaho). Trimming- the hood is trimmed with velvet of a color appropriate to the wearer's branch of learning. For example, the trimming for the degree of Master of Science in Agriculture is maize, representing agriculture, rather than golden yellow, representing science. (In the case of the Doctor of Philosophy degree, the dark blue color is used, representing the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship, regardless of the branch of learning.) Colors associated with the different disciplines are as follows:

Architecture (MArch)	Violet	Medicine	Green
Agriculture	Maize	Music	Pink
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Nursing	Apricot
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab	Oratory (Speech)	Silver Gray
Dentistry	Lilac	Pharmacy	Olive Green
Economics	Copper	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Education	Light Blue	Physical Education	Sage Green
Engineering	Orange	Public Administration	Peacock Blue
Fine Arts	Brown	Public Health	Salmon Pink
Forestry	Russet	Science	Golden Yellow
Journalism	Crimson	Social Work	Citron
Law	Purple	Theology	Scarlet
Library Science	Lemon	Veterinary Science (DVM)	Gray

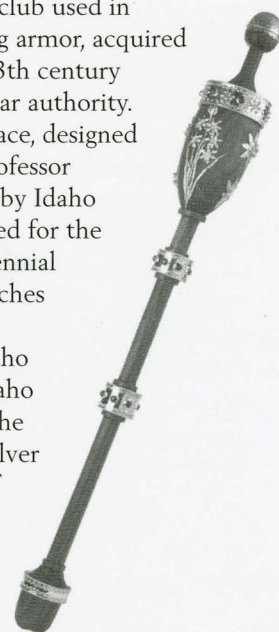

Honor Cords

Honor Cords, worn around the neck and hanging loosely down the front, identify students who are graduating with honors: gold, summa cum laude (with highest distinction); silver, magna cum laude (with great distinction); and bronze cords designate graduation cum laude (with distinction). The cords are provided by the University of Idaho and are worn on this one occasion only.

The University of Idaho adopted a doctoral gown of its own in 1989. The silver gown has a panel and sleeve bars of black velvet outlined in antique gold. The beret styled soft cap is patterned after the Cambridge version instead of the traditional Oxford-style mortarboard. The cap and gown were designed by Emeritus Professor Edmund Chavez in the university's centennial year and is worn today by faculty serving as officials at the University commencements.

The mace, a heavy staff or club used in medieval times for breaking armor, acquired a ceremonial function in 13th century France as a symbol of secular authority. The University of Idaho mace, designed by Edmund M. Chavez, professor emeritus, with metal work by Idaho artist Ray Goodner, was used for the first time at the 1989 centennial commencement. It is 32 inches long, made of walnut, and encircled with bands of Idaho gold and silver in which Idaho garnets and opals are set. The head is embellished with silver and gold representations of camas plants and syringa flowers.

To enrich education through diversity, the University of Idaho does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, disability, or status as a Vietnam-era veteran in employment or in admission to or the operation of its educational program and activities, as required by state and federal laws and regulation. Inquiries may be directed to the University's Human Rights Compliance Office.

“HERE WE HAVE IDAHO”

1 Alma Mater, the hope of a pioneer race;
You're fashioned of dreams and of toil,
Your walls and your towers by stout-hearted men
Were raised from the rock and the soil.

Chorus

And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame;
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
Singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho.

2 Now ours is the heritage, rich and so full,
The gain of their toil and their tears;
And ours is the fruit, and the harvest is ours,
Oh, Idaho, gift of the years.

Chorus

And here we have Idaho,
Winning her way to fame;
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
Singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho.
