

The 88th Commencement at the University of Idaho

Saturday, May 14, 1983

William H. Kibbie-ASUI Activity Center, Moscow, Idaho

HERE WE HAVE IDAHO

1 *Alma Mater, the hope of a pioneer race;
You're fashioned of dreams and of toil,
Your walls and your towers by stout-hearted men
Were raised from the rock and the soil.*

Chorus:

*And here we have Idaho
Winning her way to fame
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho.*

2 *Now ours is the heritage, rich and so full,
The gain of their toil and their tears;
And ours is the fruit, and the harvest is ours,
Oh, Idaho, gift of the years.*

Chorus:

*And here we have Idaho
Winning her way to fame
Silver and Gold in the sunlight blaze,
And romance lies in her name;
Singing, we're singing of you, ah, proudly too;
All our lives through we'll go singing,
singing of you, Alma Mater, our Idaho*

CRY ROOM

A cry room for parents with infants needing attention is available in the south concourse.

FIRST AID STATION

A first aid station with a nurse in attendance is located at the center of the south concourse. Restrooms are located near the center of the south concourse.

CAP AND GOWN RETURN

All graduates should return their cap and gowns to the tables set up in each of the eight different locations.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Image Studios, 222 Troy Road, Moscow, Idaho, will provide the photography for the 1983 Commencement.

Citations of Merit Upon Retirement

Robert C. Alldaffer, Extension Professor Emeritus

Professor R. Cecil Alldaffer, Caribou County extension agricultural agent since 1955, first came to the University of Idaho in 1955 as Dairy Herdsman and worked in that capacity until 1953, when he moved to Malad to work on a large dryland farm operation. He holds a B.S. degree in agriculture from the University of Idaho and has attended many shortcourses and workshops on subjects related to agriculture in his years as agriculture agent. He has assisted the farmers and ranchers of Caribou County with demonstration programs on a variety of crops. He helped organize the Grace Seed Grower's Association in 1957, served as secretary of the District 5 Seed Growers since 1965 and as secretary-treasurer of the Caribou County Wool Pool since its beginning in 1960. He has served on various 4-H Extension Service committees for his area and is a member of the Idaho County Agent Association, the National County Agent Association and Epsilon Sigma Phi.

William F. Barr, Professor of Entomology and Department Head Emeritus

Professor William F. Barr, recognized internationally as an expert on the Buprestidae and Cleridae beetle families, retired last August after thirty-five years on the Idaho entomology faculty. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of California, Berkeley, and returned to that institution to receive his doctoral degree in 1950. He came to UI in 1947, doubling the size of the entomology faculty from one to two. Barr served in World War II as a fighter pilot in the U.S. Army Air Corps and flew fifty missions over eastern and central Europe. He has helped develop programs in biological control of weeds, insect pollination and rangeland insects while at UI, in addition to teaching classes and serving as major professor for many graduate students. He was head of the UI Entomology Department, now part of the Department of Plant, Soil and Entomological Sciences, during his last four years at UI. He continues his interest in and work with his insect specialty in retirement.

LeRoy O. Bauer, Professor Emeritus of Music

Professor Bauer is bringing a twenty-seven-year career of teaching orchestra conducting, string techniques and pedagogy to a close this year. He came to UI in 1956 and revived the UI Orchestra, and founded the Idaho Chamber Orchestra and the annual High School String Festival. He is a member of the Kennard Artists, chamber artists in residence at UI, and has been president of the American String Teachers Association. He is a native of Milwaukee, Wis., and holds a bachelor's degree in music education from the University of Wisconsin, a Master of Music degree from Northwestern University and has done post graduate study at the University of Iowa and the University of Illinois. He taught at Kearney State College, Kearney, Neb., and was chairman of the Music Department of Parson College, Fairfield, Iowa, before coming to UI. He is a member of the American Viola Research Society, Music Educators National Conference, a founding member of the National School Orchestra Association and is president of Phi Kappa Lambda music honorary.

Sidney M. Beck, Professor Emeritus of Bacteriology

With nearly thirty-two years teaching and research in the field of bacteriology, Professor Sidney Beck is retiring from the University of Idaho. He came to the university in 1951, after completing his Ph.D. degree in bacteriology at Pennsylvania State University. He holds A.B. and M.A. degrees in chemistry from Brigham Young University. In addition to teaching microbiology classes here, he has conducted research and written technical papers for publication in various professional journals. He served three years with the U.S. Naval Reserve during World War II. In addition to his years at UI, he has taught at BYU and been employed as a research chemist for the U.S. Bureau of Mines in Salt Lake City. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, Sigma Xi, the Research Society of America, Gamma Sigma Delta agriculture honorary and the American Society for Microbiology, serving as vice president and president of the Northwest branch of that organization in 1962-63 and 1963-64.

Edith Betts, Professor Emerita of Physical Education

Professor Edith Betts can claim what she calls "forty years in the business of teaching," and thirty-two of them have been at the University of Idaho. A professor of physical education, she came to UI in 1951, when men's and women's physical education programs were segregated. Since then, the programs have become co-educational. She was head of women's physical education for ten years, before returning to full time teaching in 1978. She was born in Denver, Colo., and received her Bachelor of Science degree in physical education from the University of Wisconsin. Her Master of Science degree in Physical Education is from Smith College, and her Doctor of Philosophy degree in Physical Education is from the University of Oregon. She has served in a wide variety of offices and committee positions with professional physical education organizations and has been honored as a distinguished faculty member and ASUI outstanding teacher twice, and she has received a variety of other state and national honors.

Harry H. Caldwell, Professor Emeritus of Geography

Professor Harry Caldwell, the first full time geographer at UI, has taught geography courses at the university since 1948. He was the university's only geography teacher until 1958, when another staff member was hired. He was born in Worcester, Mass., and holds B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Clark University. His M.A. degree is from the University of Nebraska. He has been visiting professor at a number of western universities and has lectured at universities in Indonesia, the Philippines, Japan and, most recently, Northern Ireland. He wrote the original city plans for Orofino, Lewiston, Kamiah, Post Falls and towns in California, Nebraska and Pennsylvania. He has had a number of federal research grants for studies in population and city planning.

Harry E. Davey, Jr., Professor of Naval Science and Director of Student Financial Aid Emeritus

Professor Harry Davey first came to the University of Idaho in 1950 as an associate professor of naval science and left the institution in January as director of Student Financial Aid. He was a professor of naval science until 1966, when he entered administration as assistant dean of students. He held that position until 1968, when he became dean of men. In 1974, he became director of Student Financial Aid. He was also a lecturer of German at UI in 1964-65. He holds a bachelor's degree from the U.S. Naval Academy and a Master of Education degree from UI. He served with the U.S. Navy for thirty-one years, twenty-seven as a commissioned officer.

Richard L. Day, Professor Emeritus of Geography

Professor Richard Day has nearly twenty-two years of teaching and research at the University of Idaho to his credit. He began his career at UI in September of 1961, coming here from the University of Florida where he was an assistant professor of geography. In addition to teaching a variety of geography courses, Day spent the 1975-76 academic year as a market analyst for Amtrak and has been involved in passenger train service research for Idaho. He has also conducted studies of the microclimates of the Palouse Hills, Clearwater Mountains and Snake River Canyon. A native of Templeton, Mass., Day holds A.B. and M.A. degrees from Clark University. His Ph.D. is from the University of Illinois at Urbana. He has also been a meteorological observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau and a National Audubon Society summer instructor.

Ruth G. Dyer, Extension Professor Emerita

Professor Ruth Dyer, a long-time extension clothing specialist and home economist, retired in October after fourteen years in Bannock County. She served in Power County for three years before moving to Bannock County. She was clothing specialist for Power and Bingham Counties and the Fort Hall Indian Reservation. She is a native of Minnesota and began her work with the Cooperative Extension Service there thirty years ago, moving to Klamath County, Oregon, before coming to Idaho. She was awarded the Distinguished Service Award for Extension Home Economists by the National Association of Extension Home Economists in 1969, and in 1972 and 1981, won the Outstanding Work Award of the Idaho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, the Cooperative Extension Service honorary. She served as secretary-treasurer of the Idaho Home Economics Association, state president of the Idaho Association of Extension Home Economists and vice president of the Pocatello chapter of the IHEA.

Edward F. Koester, Extension Professor Emeritus

Professor Edward Koester is retiring after thirty years as extension agricultural agent in Gooding County. He began his Cooperative Extension Service career in 1950 in Bingham County and before that was owner-operator of a bakery in Idaho Falls. He holds bachelor of science and master's degrees in agriculture and agricultural economics from UI. He served as president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents and has been active in the state association also. He served as chairman of two NACAA policy committees and editor of the organization's magazine. He holds a NACAA record for news column writing by a UI county agent, submitting columns for twenty-eight of his thirty years in Gooding County. Gooding County was the pilot county for UI Cooperative Extension program planning under his leadership and he was active in a program of peach tree spraying to control spread of potato leafroll virus. He initiated the Gooding County farmer-of-the-year program three years ago and served 30 years on the Gooding County Fair Board and 20 years as secretary of the Gooding Soil Conservation District. He is a past president of the Gooding Rotary Club and has been active in community affairs.

Fred E. Kohl, Extension Professor Emeritus

Professor Fred Kohl first came to UI in 1950 as assistant county agent with the UI Cooperative Extension Service for Canyon and Payette Counties. Later that year he was assigned as extension agricultural agent for Lincoln County and in 1955 was moved from there to Bonneville County, where he held a similar position until 1964. In 1968 he became central district extension agent supervisor in Boise and in 1970 was named extension program leader for Boise and Moscow. In 1971 he became state ANR leader and in 1974 was named assistant to the director of the Extension Service. From January to September 1981 he served as acting director and from 1975 to his retirement was assistant director. He has been active in adult education and is a member of Alpha Zeta and Gamma Sigma Delta agriculture honoraries.

Marshall J. LeBaron, Professor Emeritus of Crop Management

Professor Marshall LeBaron retires with thirty years as the first superintendent of the UI Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Kimberly and one year as assistant to the Dean of the College of Agriculture. He was named superintendent of the Kimberly facility when it opened in 1951 and has been active in crop production research since. One of the production problems he helped to solve was the threat posed to the bean industry when seed contaminated with halo blight bacteria was used in 1963. He and other UI scientists, the bean industry and state's Department of Agriculture representatives developed a quarantine that reduced halo blight problems and prevented severe economic losses. Professor LeBaron holds bachelor's and master's degrees in agriculture from UI and is the author of numerous publications on beans, soils, wheat straw management and sugarbeets.

Leon P. Lind, Professor of Communication and Director of Audiovisual and Photography Services Emeritus

Professor Leon Lind's career at UI has spanned thirty-two years, and ranged from radio announcing to directing Audio Visual Services. He came to UI in September 1951 as radio announcer for the Radio Center disk transcription program under the Physics Department. During his tenure broadcasting from campus began with KUID-FM in January 1963 followed by television broadcasting in September 1965. He was made director of Audio Visual Services in 1970 with the creation of the Department of Instructional Services in 1970. He saw the creation of the Department of Communication in 1958 with the consolidation of the existing programs in speech and journalism and the addition of radio and television broadcasting courses.

Lind was born in Kendrick and has lived in northern Idaho most of his life except for the years 1942-1945, which he spent with the U.S. Army in England working as psychiatric social worker. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology and a Master of Arts degree in education from UI.

Walter H. McLeod, Professor of Law and Director of the Law Library Emeritus

Professor Walter McLeod has been the university's law librarian and legal research professor since 1972. He is a native of Missoula, Mont., and holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from New York University, a Juris Doctor degree from William Mitchell College of Law and a Master of Law Librarianship degree from the University of Washington. He worked in business administration for many years before coming to UI. He had been employed by Sears, Roebuck and Co., the Kalispell Mercantile Co. and the Montana Mercantile Co. in a variety of administrative and public relations positions. He also worked as vice president for business development for the Bank of Scottsdale in Scottsdale, Ariz., for two years. He is a member of the American Association of Law Libraries and has served on several local, state and national committees for that organization. He is also a member of the Association of Legal Administrators and the American Arbitration Association. He served as a Captain in the U.S. Army infantry from 1942-46. He was active in a variety of civic affairs in Montana.

Edward F. Mink, Extension Professor Emeritus

After twenty-six years with University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service, Professor Edward Mink has retired. He was extension agricultural agent for Owyhee County from 1957 to 1966 and then extension agricultural agent for Idaho County from 1966 until his retirement. He has been active in projects aimed at introducing new crops to northern Idaho and improving cultural practices for those presently grown in the area. He spent ten weeks in Egypt in 1981 under the Egyptian Major Cereal Improvement Project. He holds a bachelor's degree in agriculture from UI and has attended numerous short courses and training programs during his career. He has been honored with the Outstanding Work Award for Plot Work from Epsilon Sigma Phi, a plaque from the Idaho County Cattlemen's Association for his assistance to the organization and the International Award of Gamma Sigma Delta.

Bernice M. Morin, Director of Food Services and Adjunct Professor of Home Economics Emerita

In her thirty-nine years at the university, Professor Bernice Morin has overseen the preparation of daily meals for students, staff and faculty. As director of the UI Food Service since 1949, she has supervised building and remodeling all of the campus food service facilities during that time, climaxing with the remodeling of Wallace Cafeteria into a modern complex charged with serving meals to all of UI's dormitory residents. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in foods and nutrition from the University of Montana and has been a registered dietitian and member of the American Dietetics Association since 1942.

R. John Moss, Jr., Extension Professor Emeritus

Professor R. John Moss, Jr., has spent twenty-eight years in the UI Cooperative Extension Service. He holds a bachelor of science degree in animal science from Utah State University. He began work with the Cooperative Extension Service as assistant county agricultural agent with 4-H and livestock responsibilities in Bonneville County in 1954. In 1963, he became area livestock specialist for Madison, Fremont and Teton counties, based in St. Anthony. He returned to Bonneville County in 1965 as staff chairman of the UI Cooperative Extension office. He also worked as farm management specialist with the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Fort Hall and served with the U.S. Army in Korea in 1951 and 1952.

William R. Parish, Professor Emeritus of Electrical Engineering

In his thirty-six years at the University of Idaho, Professor William R. Parish has seen the field of electrical engineering change from a field of generalists to a field of specialists. When he came to UI in 1948, there were four members of the Electrical Engineering Department who were charged with teaching all of the courses the department offered. The department has since grown, and the professors are more specialized. Professor Parish, an Iowa native, holds a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Iowa State University and a master's degree from UI. He has been a member of the Officer Education Committee and for the past seven years has served as the UI representative to the Association of Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps Colleges and Universities. He has twice served as acting head of the Department of Electrical Engineering, from 1966 to 1968 and from 1978 to 1979. He is active in the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, the American Society for Engineering Education, the UI chapter of Sigma Xi and Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honorary. He was a flight instructor and electrical systems instructor for the U.S. Air Force from 1942 to 1945, and is a pilot.

Charlie F. Petersen, Professor of Animal Sciences and Department Head Emeritus

Professor Charlie Petersen has taught on the UI faculty for more years than any other current faculty member — thirty-nine years. He came to UI to teach in the College of Agriculture in 1943. Affectionately known across campus as "Chicken Charlie," he has been active in research in poultry production. The nickname apparently was bestowed by the UI Agricultural Information broadcaster he worked with in preparing radio news shows about poultry. He is a native of Buhl and a graduate of Emmett High School and was graduated from UI in 1940 with a degree in dairy and poultry science. After serving with the U.S. Army during World War II, he returned to UI as a member of the poultry faculty in 1943. He was the 1967 recipient of the R.M. Wade award for the outstanding counseling award in the College of Agriculture and the Phi Kappa Phi distinguished faculty award. He has been named a Fellow by the American Historical Poultry Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Poultry Science Association. Her served as head of the UI Department of Poultry Science from 1961 to 1970 and was twice head of the Department of Animal Sciences.

Doran A. Peterson, Extension Professor Emeritus

Ada County's agricultural extension agent, since 1959 has been Professor Doran Peterson. An Idaho native, he joined the Cooperative Extension Service staff in 1959 and has served as chairman of Ada County's extension office since 1969. He is a 1940 graduate of the UI College of Agriculture. He taught vocational agriculture at Midway High School in Jefferson County 1940-1942 and 1946-1949, and at Meridian High School 1949-1959. He served with the U.S. Navy from 1942-1946. In 1980, he was named outstanding citizen by the Meridian Chamber of Commerce and by the Treasure Valley Chamber of Commerce in 1981. He was chairman of the national meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in Boise in 1978 and placed first that year in the organization's national newsletter competition.

Eugene E. Reed, Professor Emeritus of Foreign Languages and Literatures

Professor Eugene Reed will bring to a close a teaching and research career that covers thirty-six years and six universities when he retires at the close of this academic year. He has been a member of the German faculty at UI since 1960, coming here from the University of California at Berkeley. He was visiting professor of German to that university in 1964 and to the University of Colorado at Boulder in 1965. He has written many articles for publication in scholarly journals. A native of Burlington, Vermont, his bachelor's degree is from Texas Christian University. He holds master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Texas at Austin. While at UI, he served as chairman of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures 1962-1965 and was director of graduate studies for that department 1975-76. He has been active in university governance, serving on the Research Council, the Graduate Council, the Faculty Council Committee on Final Examination Policy and Procedure, the Dean's Committee on Tenure and Promotion, and others.

Erwin A. Sauter, Jr., Research Professor Emeritus of Animal Sciences

Teaching and research into poultry feeds have occupied Professor Erwin A. Sauter, Jr. since he came to UI twenty-seven years ago. In addition he has researched egg production and marketing, and other aspects of the poultry industry. He has a long list of technical papers published in scientific journals detailing his work. He holds bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees from Washington State University, in poultry and animal science. He is a member of the American Meat Science Association, the American Society of Animal Science, the Institute of Food Technologists, the Poultry Science Association, the World Poultry Science Association, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta and Sigma Xi. He served with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Sterling W. Schow, Extension Professor Emeritus

Power County agricultural agent, Professor Sterling Schow, leaves a lasting memorial of his 38 years' service as he retires, in the form of some 227,550 trees and shrubs in Power County. He was responsible for establishing a county-wide tree planting program to provide for windbreaks and woodlots in the nearly treeless area he found in 1946 when he began work there after a year and a half as Bannock County 4-H agent. He holds a bachelor's degree in livestock production and agronomy from Utah State University and worked as state audit supervisor for the U.S. Department of Agricultural Adjustment Administration. He was instrumental in establishing the Power County Weed Control Unit, Soil Conservation District, American Falls Rural Fire Protection District and the Power County Potato Growers Association, the parent organization of the Potato Growers of Idaho.

Donald G. Waldhalm, Research Professor Emeritus of Veterinary Science

A man who has made major contributions to Idaho's cattle and sheep industries by researching prevention and treatment of a variety of diseases is Professor Donald Waldhalm. He began his UI career in 1960 as a professor in bacteriology, but transferred to the Caldwell Veterinary Research Center after a year. His primary interest has been in researching abortion diseases of sheep and diseases of newborn calves and lambs. He has studied the role of colostrum in prevention of calf scours and developed tissue culture methods for growing chlamydia bacteria in the laboratory in preparation of a sheep anti-abortion vaccine. He is a native of Enderlin, N.D., and holds bachelor's and master's degrees in bacteriology from the University of Minnesota and a doctoral degree in bacteriology from the University of Illinois.

Calvin C. Warnick, Professor Emeritus of Civil Engineering

A member of the University of Idaho civil engineering faculty who was instrumental in the formation of the Idaho Water and Energy Resources Research Institute in 1963 is Professor Calvin Warnick who is retiring after thirty-six years of service to the university. Warnick, who believes in teaching by example, came here in 1947. He was born in Hinkley, Utah, and holds a bachelor's degree from Utah State University. His master's degree is from the University of Wisconsin and he holds a Diploma Delft from the International Institute Hydraulic and Sanitary, in Delft, Netherlands. He has 74 scholarly publications to his credit, including a new hydropower textbook, which will be published this fall. He did the research that led to the development of the snow pillow, a device used around the world for the measurement of snow. He also did research on the shielding of precipitation gauges, work which has been adapted and used across the U.S. One of his satisfactions has been his work with graduate students, something he hopes to continue part time after he retires.

Fred H. Winkler, Professor Emeritus of History and Political Science

Consistently high ratings by both students and his superiors show that students and teachers alike have considered Professor Fred Winkler an outstanding faculty member. A diplomatic historian, he has taught at UI since September 1955, and is ending a teaching career spanning some 35 years. He was born in New Orleans, La., and holds Associate of Arts, Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Florida. His Doctor of Philosophy degree is from Northwestern University. He is a member of the American Historical Association and the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations. He served with the U.S. Army during World War II. Before he came to UI, he taught at the University of Florida, Denison University, and the University of North Dakota.

Significance of Academic Costume

DOCTORS wear the round, bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or velvet of color indicating the degree; the doctor's hood is large. The doctor may, if he or she chooses, wear the gold tassel on the cap.

MASTERS wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part for the arm; the master's hood is of more moderate size.

BACHELORS wear the long pointed sleeve; the hood is small.

UNDERGRADUATES wear the round or pointed sleeve, and wear no hood.

Hoods are lined with the colors of the institutions granting the degree, or with which the wearer is connected, and are trimmed with velvet of the color distinctive of the degree — for example, arts and letters, white; fine arts, brown; philosophy, blue; science, gold-yellow; music, pink; agriculture, maize; engineering, orange; forestry, russet; pedagogy, light blue; commerce and accounting, drab.

HONOR CORDS draped over the shoulders designate the students who are graduating with honors; cum laude with silver cords and summa cum laude with gold cords. These are recognition cords and are worn on this one occasion only — they are not part of the academic costume.

Honor Cords are provided by the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi.
