Mr. Crabtree:

Early in November of 1974 I wrote to you inquiring about the Flintworking Field School. Mr. Swanson wrote back and informed me that the Field School of 1975 had been postponed.

Would it be possible for you to help me in my learning to work stone sometime, even though there will be no Field School this year? I do not want to cause you any inconvenience, and am willing to pay for your guidance, although I cannot afford a large amount at present.

Mr. Guy Mato let me get a start on working stone in his lab. Mr. Mato told me that you are the best flintworking teacher in the nation.

I would value the opportunity to work stone under your instruction.

Sincerely,

Bradley M. Thompson
