Dear Dr. Crabtree:

We are preparing a book for young readers: WHO DISCOVERED AMERICA by Pat Lauber.

Among the illustrations we would like to use in this book, are some stills from Craig Fisher's film for N.B.C., THE FIRST AMERICANS. There is a series of three pictures we would like to use showing you making a spear point (do I dare say "knapping flint"?).

We would like to have your permission to use these pictures, and would also like to know a little bit, for the caption, about how you came to learn this skill.

Thank you very much for your help and consideration. I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Karen Tobias
