Who's Who in America

Dear Marquis Biographee:

Here is your biographical sketch as compiled by our editors on the basis of information supplied by you. It is scheduled for inclusion in Volume 13 of WHO'S WHO IN THE WEST.

On the sketch form is information that may be helpful to you in checking your Who's Who data. Please read your sketch carefully, make the necessary corrections, deletions, or additions, and sign on the line provided.

As you know, each biography is entered in alphabetical order. We cannot make up the volume until all sketches within a given letter of the alphabet are in hand. That is why it is essential that you return your verified sketch as quickly as possible, whether or not changes or corrections are indicated. A postage-paid envelope is provided for your convenience.

There is no further obligation on your part. Indeed, it is we who are indebted to you for making it possible for us to publish this reference work--one that is greatly in demand by public and private libraries, the communications media, educators, pupils and scholars, and countless other individuals and organizations.

As one way in which we can show our appreciation for your help, I call your attention to the substantial discounts available to biographees. WHO'S WHO IN THE WEST will list at $44.50. But as a biographee, you are entitled to these special prepublication terms:

about the New...
thirteenth edition of

Who'sWho in the West

There's something very special about WHO'S WHO IN THE WEST. During compilation, Marquis Who's Who editors are never quite sure that Capt. John Sutter or Dr. Marcus Whitman, for example, should not be included. The truth is, the courage and daring of such pioneers linger on, imparting to each new edition of WHO'S WHO IN THE WEST an aura of excitement.

The Thirteenth Edition is no exception. Among the biographies are significant new names, attesting to the dynamic growth and development that have characterized the West since the days of Lewis and Clark. Members of a new generation of Westerners have achieved distinction in keeping with both tradition and modern times. They are of reference value not only regionally, but to the rest of the world as well. People want to know about them.

Reference users need WHO'S WHO IN THE WEST—

- because it lists men and women whose current position or continuing accomplishments set them apart as subjects of extensive interest, inquiry, or discussion.
- because only 20 percent of the names are also listed in "Who's Who in America"; the remaining 80 percent can be found in no other single volume.
- because the editors rigorously adhere to high standards in names selection.
- because each edition is completely re-edited, to assure timeliness and accuracy.
