Dear Jim:

Thank you so much for your thought in sending the paper by Floyd Painter from the Chesoplean. I am pleased to have a copy for I did a review of this article for Ed wilmsen for American Antiquity. I could not recommend it for publication as there are just too many technological errors in the description of manufacturing techniques and a fluted point can not be made by the methods he suggests or in the thirty minutes allotted time. I would love to see him do a punch technique from a perfect 90° angle.

It was good to see all the people from Tucson at Norman and I hope this winter we will be able to vacation in Arizona and have a chance to stop by the University.

Please give our best to all the friends in the department.

Your friends,

Don and Evelyn
