Don

I had hoped to be able to change some of the terminology in this paper - E.G. "battered edges" - after returning from the class this summer. Unfortunately it appeared too soon. I still hope it is an "addition" and shows the kind of typological approach I think will be best for comparing debitage assemblages. Those computer attribute analyses are pure Greek to me.

It is a beautiful "spring" day and life is good. I hope both of you are well and feel the same.
