Dear Don,

It was kind of you to call up and it was especially good of you since we had been wondering how you were doing. Am glad that you are gradually getting better. The project you are connected with sounds very interesting. I hope that you will be able to go back there soon.

I told the Braidwoods that you will soon have a PhD from Idaho. This is terrific, and we are all pleased for you.

My husband and I work on a Bronze Age site on the southern coast of Crete, in Greece. We will be there this summer, starting around June 10. I will write to you from there. It is a harbour town from about 2000 BC - 1300 BC with very little chipped stone (all obsidian), and lots of ground stone implements (hundreds of tools). Very odd. It should prove interesting, and I will let you know what turns up.

We will call you up soon

Warmest regards,

Harriet
