Dear Don,

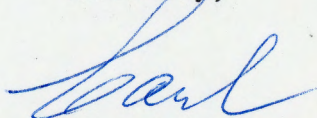

I have been so busy winding up summer research and starting our new university term that I have had no chance yet to thank for that wonderful sack full of obsidian nodules. It was extremely kind of you to go to all the trouble of first collecting all this material and then forwarding it. What a treasure!! We shall certainly put it to good use. I have some ~~few~~ students in my Anthropology 420 class (Archaeology in Brit.-Col.-) who are eager to try their hand at the art of flint knapping. Of course, I am not nearly so good a teacher as you would be.

What has become of François Bordes' visit? Do you still expect him to come this year? I am afraid that I would not be able to get away now that the term has started. Is there any chance that he would be passing through Vancouver? I am sure he would be interested in our Fraser Canyon material, and naturally we would love to have him visit here,

I trust that you and Evelyn had a good summer and that you are making good progress on your articles on flint-knapping. As usual, I would be grateful for any off-prints you can spare. Please let us know in advance whenever you should happen to pass through here again.

All the best to both of you, and thanks again for the obsidian!

Sincerely,

Charles E. Borden
Professor.
