Dear Mr. Crabtree:

Thank you so much for these materials. They were really a big help in condensing the needed information to send with your nomination for consideration for the AFMS Scholarship Plaque for the Northwest Federation. I'm more convinced than ever that you should be a top contender. Mr. Glenn Lee has said that he hopes to be able to announce the winner for the NFMS sometime in January. I'm keeping my fingers crossed for you.

While I was duplicating your Resume to send along with the other information, I took the liberty of making a few extra copies for you since you said that that was your last one.

Is there any way, I could obtain an issue or copy of the article you sent from the Curator? My son John has always been deeply interested in Indian artifacts and how man made them. He is due out of the Navy in May and will start at CSI in June to prepare to teach earth science and math. I know he would fully enjoy having this article for reference as well as for his own information. When he was 15, he spent six weeks with one of Dr. Swanson's digging crews on Birch Creek.

Yours truly,
