Dear Don and Evelyn,

You probably have had a similar note from Dick Gould - just in case not, here is this one.

Your latest opus came in this morning's mail and I should have left it in the envelope as far as other work was concerned. You two have done it again, and we are all in your debt. I say two advisedly, for I know, Evelyn, how much Don values your part in it all.

Damn the way time flies and my laziness. There is so much to be done and my capacity for doing is much too limited. I may feel like 26 in some departments, but I am still lazy and do not do all I should like writing letters and producing ms. Even though, I don't keep in touch, you are, dear friends, always with me.

Sincerely,

Junius B. Bird
