

Ce 1167

Sequence of slides and Captions for exhibit: Stone Toolmaking: Man's Oldest Craft Recreated February 18, 1970

- Frame 1: (Title) "Man's Oldest Craft Recreated: some steps in the making of stone tools"
- Frame 2: CAPTION A- "Rock is collected from natural quarries"
- Frame 3: SLIDE 1 -
- Frame 4: CAPTION B- "An Australian Aborigine gathers flint from a deposit"
- Frame 5: SLIDE 2 -
- Frame 6: CAPTION C- "A piece of rock is removed as a first step in making a biface tool"
- Frame 7: SLIDE 3 -
- Frame 8: CAPTION D- "The tool is shaped by trimming and thinning with a hammerstone..."
- Frame 9: SLIDE 4-
- Frame 10: SLIDE 5-
- Frame 11: CAPTION E- "...and flakes are removed to make a handaxe"
- Frame 12: SLIDE 6 -
- Frame 13: SLIDE 7-
- Frame 14: SLIDE 8-
- Frame 15: CAPTION F- "A hammerstone is used to strike off blades by means of indirect percussion"
- Frame 16: SLIDE 9-
- Frame 17: SLIDE 10-
- Frame 18: SLIDE 11-
- Frame 19: SLIDE 12-
- Frame 20: CAPTION G- "The edge of the axe is pecked to prepare it for polishing"
- Frame 21: SLIDE 13-
- Frame 22: CAPTION H- "Indirect percussion flaking- control is increased by striking an intermediate tool"

Ce. 29. 12. 5. 1

continued

- Frame 23: SLIDE 14-
- Frame 24: CAPTION I- "A shoulder crutch is used to flute a point"
- Frame 25: SLIDE 15-
- Frame 26: CAPTION J- "Delicate tools are shaped by pressure flaking"
- Frame 27: SLIDE 16-
- Frame 28: CAPTION K- "A microlith is trimmed with another stone"
- Frame 29: SLIDE 17-
- Frame 30: CAPTION L- "A flint adze is chipped with a hammerstone"
- Frame 31: SLIDE 18-
- Frame 32: CAPTION M- "Some times a flint adze flake is trimmed with a wood "baton"
- Frame 33: SLIDE 19-
- Frame 34: CAPTION N- "Australian Aborigines often trim adzes with their teeth"
- Frame 35: SLIDE 20-
- Frame 36: SLIDE 21-
- Frame 37: CAPTION O- "To haft stone tools a resinous gum from the spinifex plant is often used..."
- Frame 38: SLIDE
- Frame 39: SLIDE 22-
- Frame 40: CAPTION Q- "The adze blade is hafted to an oblong wooden tool"
- Frame 41: SLIDE 23-
- Frame 42: CAPTION R- "To haft a spear point, an Australian Aborigine selects wood from the mallee gum tree"
- Frame 43: SLIDE 24-
- Frame 44: CAPTION S- "An adze is used to shape the spear shaft"
- Frame 45: SLIDE 25-

6.29.12.5.2