

Bill CHENG, ANTHRO 3908, Aug. 3/79

This is my third anthropology course. I enjoyed this course the most. Although the course lasts only one week, Dr. Crabtree has shown me a lot of amazing techniques. Before I took this class, I always doubted the sharpness of the stone blade, and now I have no question about it.

I am a chemistry major. I think this class might not help my major, but it has met my interest. And I think a lot of other students would like to join the class, so I suggest that the department set this class in regular fall or spring sections (semesters) as well, in order that more students may join the class.
