Dear Don,

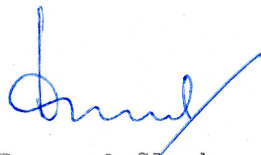

Just a line to say that I hope you were not too exhausted when you got back and that the journey was a comfortable one. It was terribly good of you both to come down and I cannot tell you what a pleasure it was to meet and talk with you as well as to see pressure flaking such as I never expected to see. There are some really first class sequences in the film - most of what they took came out extremely well - we saw the last of it on Tuesday. Now Clyde will proceed with the cutting and we hope to have something roughed out before Betty and I leave for Africa on the 8th June although we shan't be able to finish it until the spring after we return here.

Thank you both so much for coming to Berkeley and collaborating in what is a unique record that will, I predict, do much to revolutionise thought on stone technology when the film is released as being archaeological material of the greatest interest. Clyde is now talking in terms of three films - and I agree.

We did so enjoy your visit from which I learned a great deal I did not know before and we must keep in touch and ensure that it will not be long before we see you again in Berkeley.

With warmest greetings and every good wish to you both from Betty and myself,

Yours,

J. Desmond Clark.
