Dear Mr. Callahan

Receipt is acknowledged of the reprint of the article on Chipping from Bow and Arrow and thank you very much.

I am always glad to know of anyone interested in replicating stone tools and do hope that you have success in your work at the Universities. This is a really unexplored field and much to be done yet to help the archaeologist, but I always emphasize duplication of the aboriginal tools and not imitation. It is the surface techniques that are important and not just form. Would be interested to learn of you success with fluting.

Thank you again and good luck.

Sincerely,

Don E. Crabtree
