Dear Mr. & Mrs. Crabtree:

The Corner Gallery has been a mighty quiet place since your departure. We in the Public Relations office are still talking about the big hit Mr. Crabtree made with our visitors. He was always so patient, so obliging and so professional, of course, in his skills. They finally removed the last of the rocks yesterday from our corridor, so we finally must admit that you folks have left us.

Gregory asked me to send you this clipping from the Times. You must have had a magic way with the "rude" New Yorkers. With best wishes from all of us in PR.

Cordially,

Bob Dana
